

When His Eyes Opened Read Novel Chapter 3032

Novel Chapter 3032 -Juliette saw her message, and replied in seconds: [When are you free? I'll take you shopping for clothes!]

Joanna: [I'm going to see Dorian tomorrow, the day after tomorrow!]

Juliette: [Anyway, I'm free anytime! You are always there! Or tell me your measurements, and I'll go buy it for you!]

Joanna: [Juliette, I'm a little hesitant now, compare my beauty with others, I think I can't compare, so I'm thinking, maybe I don't need to dress up too grandly, as long as I'm a little more formal than I usually am.]

Juliette: [Why do you think you can't compare yourself to others? When the time comes for the team building, all the employees from his company will go, how can you not compare to those employees!]

Joanna: [The female employees in their company are all pretty. I went to his company before, and I saw a few female employees casually, and they were all so beautiful.]

Juliette: [Because you have a pair of eyes that discover beauty. You see, everyone thinks it is beautiful. Maybe others see you and think you are beautiful!]

Joanna was amused by Juliette's reply, and she wasn't even that nervous anymore.

After a while, Joanna replied: [Wait for him to send me the detailed information on team building first! If you go hiking or something, buy sportswear.]

Juliette: [You are too straightforward, even if you go to climb a mountain, do you believe that there will be women wearing high heels?]

Joanna: [I can't. I'm afraid of twisting my feet. More important than getting a man's attention is my own feelings.]

Juliette: [Maybe Hayden likes your true temperament!]

After a few seconds, Juliette sent another message: [Why don't you just go shopping with Hayden to buy clothes? Wouldn't it be better to let him pick for you?]

Joanna suddenly remembered the scene of shopping with Hayden last time.

Her face flushed red.

She replied: [I don't like shopping with him.]

Juliette: [Why? Have you two ever gone shopping together? Why didn't you tell me? What else happened to you two that I don't know about?]

Joanna: [I never went alone with him. Last time he took Gia to go shopping, and I accompanied them. He likes to shop around. It doesn't matter if it fits or not.]

Juliette laughed loudly: [Because he is not short of money! It's not like us ordinary people have to shop around to buy expensive things, and have to hesitate for a long time when finally paying the bill!]

Joanna: [You've never shopped around before shopping, have you? And every time you swipe your card, I don't see you hesitate.]

Juliette: [I hesitated, but the time for hesitation was relatively short, so you didn't see it.]

Joanna: [Alright! I didn't know him that well. I am embarrassed to call him shopping. And if we go shopping with him, he will definitely not let me spend money.]

Juliette: [Isn't it good not to let you spend money? If I were you, I'd ask him out right away.]

Joanna: [Juliette, he is very busy.]

Juliette: [So you should always ask him out to play and take him to relax! People not only have to be able to make money, but also have to be able to enjoy life!]

Joanna: ...

What Juliette said seemed to make sense!

It's just that she was too embarrassed to ask Hayden to go shopping.

Forget it, let's go to bed first.

This sleep passed in one afternoon.

When Joanna woke up, Hayden had already returned to Foster's house.

"Hayden originally wanted to wait for you to wake up and tell you before leaving, but I saw that you were sleeping too deeply, so I let Hayden go first." Mrs. Picard served her daughter a meal, "Joanna, you have worked hard this week to take care of mom; you must take good care of your health in the future, and don't hold you back anymore."

"Mom, why do you say that? Everyone gets sick. When I was sick when I was young, you took care of me. Now it's normal for me to take care of you." Joanna picked up the chopsticks and picked up some food for her mother, “Our lives will get better and better in the future. Just enjoy your life with peace of mind.”
