

When His Eyes Opened Read Novel Chapter 3038

Novel Chapter 3038 -Robert suddenly stopped and looked upstairs!

The crying of the baby was obviously coming from upstairs.

Were there children upstairs?

Mrs. Picard's expression changed drastically in shock. She wanted to go up to coax the child, but Robert hadn't left yet.

"Auntie, are there any children upstairs?" Robert asked with an embarrassed smile.

Mrs. Picard nodded with a stiff expression: "Yes! I have a relative who came to play today and brought a child. I didn't know you would come, so I asked the relative to come. I'm so sorry!"

Robert laughed out loud: "Auntie, it's okay. It's normal for you to invite relatives over to play. I won't tell my brother, and even if my brother knows, he won't say anything. You can rest assured to celebrate the festival! I won't bother you. "

After sending Robert away, Mrs. Picard returned to the house and took a deep breath.

Finn went upstairs and called his father down.

Mr. Picard went downstairs with the tear-stained little Gia in his arms, and handed Gia to his wife in a panic.

"I don't know why she's crying so much. She kept pushing me to bring her some snacks. It means she's not hungry..." Mr. Picard didn't know what to do with this little ancestor.

Mrs. Picard put Gia on the sofa, skillfully opened the diaper and took a look.

"Our Gia's stomach hurts and she cries... why don't you go get water?" Mrs. Picard ordered, "Finn, go get diapers and wet tissues."

The father and son separated immediately to act.

.....

After the car drove for forty minutes on the road, Joanna became a little sleepy.

She turned on her phone, found her favorite radio station, and took out her Bluetooth headset.

“Do you want to listen to the radio station?” She handed Hayden an earphone, “I like this host very much, do you want to listen to it?”

Out of curiosity, Hayden took the earphone she handed over.

Her headphones were clean, like new.

Immediately after putting on the earphones, a pleasant female voice came from inside.

That voice was like a friend talking slowly, and it was really comfortable to listen to.

After a while, the music started to play.

Hayden had never studied music before. He only knew that the songs played in foreign languages were relatively light, which could relieve some fatigue.

Listening to the song, Hayden picked up the chewing gum she gave when she got in the car.

Just when Hayden was about to ask her if she wanted one, she leaned on the seat, closed her eyes, and seemed to be asleep.

Joanna got up very early today.

It wasn't that she wanted to get up early, but that she was nervous about going out to team building with Hayden today.

When people are worried, it is easy to suffer from insomnia.

Joanna suffered from insomnia last night. She fell asleep when it was almost dawn.

After falling asleep for a few hours, she was woken up by the alarm clock.

After waking up, she faced the mirror again and put on makeup.

Because she didn't sleep well, her complexion was not very good, and her dark circles were a bit heavy. If she didn't wear foundation, she would look very listless.

It was probably because Joanna slept so soundly that Hayden was also a little sleepy.

After the song in the earphones was played, Hayden picked up her mobile phone that was placed between the two of them, trying to see if she could turn off the radio.

Picking up her mobile phone, pressing the power button, the screen slid and turned on directly.

Her phone was an old model, with a bit of chipped paint, but it was wiped clean.

After turning off the radio, Hayden saw that someone had sent her many messages on the notification bar.

Hayden didn't have a penchant for peeking at other people's messages, but by accident, he clicked on Joanna's messages.

After clicking on the message, he saw that the message was from Juliette.

Juliette: [Joanna, did you put on makeup today? Anyway, it's a date, so don't be too casual! Men who say they don't care about a woman's appearance are lying! Although you have a good background, dressing up is the icing on the cake! Fight to hang out this time and take him down! [Come on] [Come on] [Come on]

Juliette: [Have you started yet? Have you spoken yet? You haven't replied to my messages, are you sitting together?]

Recommended Novels