

When His Eyes Opened Read Novel Chapter 3050

Novel Chapter 3050 -In the tent.

Joanna slapped the mosquito to death, Hayden handed her a wet tissue and asked her to wipe her hands.

After Joanna wiped her hands clean, she asked him if he still had any trash, so she could take it out together.

Hayden looked at her quietly without speaking.

Joanna didn't know what he was thinking, so she just sat there without moving.

She felt that something would happen next, and she's a little looking forward to it, but also a little nervous.

Based on her simple understanding of Hayden, she felt that Hayden was not the kind of proactive person.

Because Hayden grew up, it was easy to get whatever he wanted, so he didn't have to take the initiative at all.

In fact, Joanna wasn't proactive either, but in the face of enough temptations, she was able to let go.

For example, the night she met Hayden for the first time.

For another example, now.

She only hesitated for a moment, and then she took the initiative to move in front of Hayden and kissed his lips.

There was a slight coolness on his lips, and a faint fragrance.

It seemed to be the fragrance of the toothpaste she gave.

After the lips of the two touched together, Hayden's frozen body seemed to have been released.

His big palm supported the back of her head and fixed her head.

Immediately, the kiss gradually deepened.

...

After a while, Hayden looked at the woman under him with blurred eyes, and asked, "Are you wearing a con-d-om?"

Joanna was stunned for a moment, before recovering: "...No."

He got an answer, the desire in Hayden's eyes dissipated little by little.

When he was about to get up, Joanna put her hands around his neck, not wanting him to leave.

Joanna: "I want to hug for a while, can I?"

On weekdays, when she was with him, she always felt a sense of distance, probably because they were not really familiar.

It was because of the children that they had a connection.

Now that the children were not around, she wanted to feel the real him.

Hayden was afraid that he would hurt her, so he hugged her body and turned over.

Let her be on top of herself.

Joanna blushed in embarrassment.

Joanna: "Hayden, if I didn't take the initiative to kiss you just now, wouldn't you have kissed me?"

Hayden buried his head beside her face, and Joanna could clearly feel Hayden's breathing.

She would like to know the answer to this question.

Hayden listened to her question, and after a few seconds of silence, he replied: "I was thinking about whether the environment would be bad."

Joanna couldn't help laughing: "A real couple can... .."

She didn't have the nerve to say the following words.

It felt like once she said it, she seemed to know a lot.

In fact, her emotional experience, apart from Hayden, had no other opposite s-e-x.

"In addition to the environment, I'm also thinking about safety measures." Hayden continued to add.

Joanna's face turned even redder: "You're so confident that I'm willing to be with you... so what?"

Hayden raised his head and looked at Joanna's face in the dim light: "Didn't you say you like me?"

Joanna: "..."

She seemed to have said that.

"Joanna, you don't want to play hard to get with me, do you?" Hayden asked.

Joanna laughed dumbfounded: "Do you think I can bear it?"

Hayden breathed a sigh of relief: "I need a wife, and my children also need a mother. Although I don't know you well enough, I am confident that together we can form a good family. What do you think?"

Joanna looked into his eyes and listened carefully to every word he said.

If she understood correctly, Hayden was proposing to her.

Recommended Novels