When His Eyes Opened Chapter 3168-Hazel blushed: "Brother, I didn't play games before because I was busy studying. Now that I have graduated, I can learn to play."

Hayden: "There's no need to learn this. Playing games is a waste of time and life."

Hazel: "..."

Lucas: "... Do you feel like your elder brother is targeting me?"

Joanna shook Hayden's hand and reminded him that he was talking too much.

"Actually, it's good to play games occasionally. It can relax you! Although I don't know how to play more complicated games, I also like to play simple games." Joanna smoothed things over: "For example, some elimination games and landlord fighting of some type."

Lucas gave an awkward yet polite smile.

He didn't know how to answer the call or what to say.

Because the game he played was completely different from what Joanna said.

Facing three people who didn't play games, how could he continue talking?

"Lucas, although we don't understand games, I believe you can do a good job." Hazel saw that Lucas was embarrassed, so she encouraged him.

Lucas: "How about we talk about something else?"

Joanna burst out laughing: "Let's talk about something else then! When your game is online, you can tell us that although we don't know how to play games, we can join in the fun."

Lucas: "Yes."

Hayden picked up the water glass and took a sip of water: "I heard that your mother is ill; how is she doing now?"

The smile on Joanna's face disappeared immediately.

Why did he talk about such a serious subject when they first met?

Lucas: "The cancer is terminal, and she's living in the hospital."

Hayden: "Waiting to die?"

Lucas: "Yes."

Joanna and Hazel were stunned and did not dare to speak at all.

Hayden put down the water glass and asked, "Where's your dad's side?"

Lucas: "No relationship."

Hayden: "Severed the relationship?"

Lucas: "Yes."

Hazel glanced at Hayden and then at Lucas.

Originally, in Hazel's opinion, Lucas was a very unruly man, but in front of Hayden, Lucas seemed very well-behaved and honest.

What if someone else said to Lucas, Your mother is waiting to die in the hospital? Lucas would definitely explode in anger.

But when this sentence came from Hayden's mouth, Lucas would not think wildly.

Because he could probably tell what kind of character Hayden was.

"You studied in Eozambiulle. You probably have no feelings for your motherland, right?" Hayden asked slowly.

Lucas: "A little, but not much."

Hayden: "Let me make it clear to you. If you want to be with Hazel, you must go to Aryadelle. Our whole family will not agree to Hazel marrying to this h*llish place."

Lucas: "I know."

Hayden: "Even if you are willing to go to Aryadelle for development, we may not accept you. Going to Aryadelle is just a basic condition. Do you understand?"

Lucas: "Yes."

Hayden: "Do you think I spoke too much?"

Lucas: "No. I know my conditions and Hazel's conditions very well."

Hayden: "Then what do you think? Tell me clearly now."

Hazel couldn't help interjecting: "Brother, Lucas just graduated and is now starting a business. I don't want him to spend too much energy in other places. I let him work hard and don't think about other things. Even if I like him, I don't even think about getting married now."
