

Chapter 0010

David

She was pregnant. She was fucking pregnant for Ellis Carter. I scrutinized the beauty lying in bed. Love Jane Chasia is a woman to behold. She was deadly gorgeous and had an aura that made her irresistible. How could Ellis Carter leave her? What a fool.

I sat on the edge of her bed, stroking her blonde hair. For the last two months, she has been working so hard and getting praise from her superiors. One wouldn't even know she was a billionaire alpha's daughter because of how dedicated she was to her work. She was skilled, and learned quickly, the test intern we've had in her field. Her supervisor even thought about offering her a full-time position job after she graduates, and I seconded it. She would do great things for the company.

I sighed when I received a call from my mother; she wanted me to go to dinner with one of the women she arranged for me. I met every woman each week to appease her, she wanted me to find a bride so badly, but I wasn't ready to settle down. I was only thirty years old.

I answered the call dejectedly,

" Why did you stand up to the mayor's daughter, David," she shouted. When I didn't answer, she continued.

" You know it's the reason your father won't give you the pack."

My father, Kenny Kofflin, was reluctant to hand over his position as pack alpha to me because, according to him, I was unstable, and only a wife would tie me down. I wanted the pack position, and to be CEO of my company, not president, but I didn't want to marry a random woman.

"I'll meet her tomorrow, Mother," I sighed, bored with her ranting. She was about to say something when I ended the call.

I wouldn't be subjected to this torture of going on dates every week with a different woman if I hadn't broken off my engagement to Zoe.

My inner lycan growled at the thought of that woman. Six months ago, I caught Zoe pleasuring an old man for a fucking business deal. Cuss that woman.

My eyes were back on Love Chasia again. She was beautiful and from an affluent family, even more wealthy than us. She could make the perfect bride for me. I smiled and stroked her hair. That would shut my parents up for good. I would get a bonus by pissing off Carter when he found out. I'd been holding my tongue for so long against him because his pack was larger and stronger than mine, but with the Chasia by our side, we'd be invincible. After all, they were royalty in a sense. Alpha Edward Chasia's first cousin was the king of the Lycans, Leondre Lavista.

I removed that idea from my head. I couldn't marry Love... She wouldn't accept me as she refused all my advances in the past. The best thing I could do now is to befriend her as she would want to focus on being a mom if she doesn't get an abortion. I wouldn't mind that.

I checked the time on my phone. Love won't be waking up soon, so I went to the restaurant for coffee. Zoe kept calling me, but I ignored her call.

Love's POV

I was looking at the doctor, shocked. I could not say a word, and so many emotions coursed through me.

"I'm Pregnant," I murmured, bringing my hands to my tummy. A baby was in there, and this doctor was sure about that. He ran all the tests.

The doctor's lips were moving, but I hadn't processed what he told me. It came in and out the other ear. How could I have a baby right now? I wasn't stable enough to bring a child into this world.

"I'm pregnant," I murmured again. Ellis' baby is growing within me.

"Yes, you need to come to terms with it, Miss Chasia," I finally heard what the doctor said before I zoned out again. I was conflicted with my new reality. I was going to raise a
