

HIS LORDSHIP ALEXANDER KANE BY USELESS CAESAR

Chapter 461

Chapter 0401 Zabaleta.) Ever since the restructuring of the three major families, the Saunders family became the underground overlord of the entire Zabaleta. Even the mayor had to yield a bit, and all other forces did not comply.

All of them, except for the Duncan I Institute of Research.

In Zabaleta, Duncan Corporation's Daily Chemicals Research Institute, as the name suggests, was an industry under the command of the Duncan family in the North. It mainly conducted research and development on daily products in the northern market, while also overseeing comprehensive analysis. It was the largest integrated information company in the entire northeastern region. es 5

A gathering of talents, so to speak.

Within the institute, it virtually housed the most authoritative healthcare experts in Zabaleta, renowned in the industry with unquestionable credibility. Each research report could command a sky-high price.

"Amber and Alexander of the New Chesire Group want to purchase our research materials?" In the office building of the research institute, a middle-aged woman in a tight dress held a high-footed cup in her hand.

She looked out of the floor-to-ceiling window at the bustling traffic below with a peculiar smile. Slal*th the Findlovelet website on Google to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

"Lucian, can this information be confirmed?" Lucian Marshall, the current vice" director of the institute, respectfully bowed to the middle-aged woman, his face filled with pride.

"The Xanthos family and the New Chesire Group both want to buy our data. We can justifiably demand a high price. Without ten billion, no one can think of buying our information!" The middle-aged woman chuckled, a sound like a young girl experiencing her first love.

She was beautiful, playful, charming, elegant-various contrasting qualities perfectly manifested in her. It seemed natural and unforced, emitting an indescribable charm with every frown and smile as if possessing an innate and unique allure that almost mesmerized everyone. She was truly deserving of the title 'Peerless Beauty. She was Hazel Duncan, the eldest daughter of the Duncan family in the North.

"When Alexander and Amber come later, it'll be your responsibility to receive them." She took a sip of red wine, a playful smile appearing on her rosy lips.

"Selling the data to the Xanthos family, one of the four major northern aristocratic families, is just adding icing on the cake. What benefits can they really offer us? "Selling to the New Chesire Group is like a timely gift of charcoal in snowy weather. Of course, we can make bold demands!

"Remember, we don't want cash or transfers. We want shares! If they want to buy our information, they must offer thirty percent of the shares in the New Chesire Group. Otherwise, we'll only discuss it in person." Lucian's face lit up, then he furrowed his brow and whispered, "Miss Duncan, isn't this asking price a bit too tough? Alexander is not someone to be trifled with. What if he becomes desperate and does something drastic..." Hazel chuckled, covering her mouth.

"Desperate? Where can he go? Although the Duncan family's influence is modest, it's not something Alexander can casually provoke! Don't forget, the Duncan family in the north is a branch of Walganus Capital Duncan family. If he dares to act recklessly, Walganus Capital Duncan family will not stand idly by.

"provoking the Walganus Capital Duncan family, even the four northern giants won't be able to handle it!" Lucian straightened up, suddenly full of confidence.

In the North, the Duncan family was just a third-rate power. However, even the four major powers have to meet and respect them. "Don't be too polite to them. Show a bit of dominance. Remember they're the ones seeking us, not the other way around. Thirty percent of the shares— not a fraction less!"

Chapter 462

Chapter 0462 About half an hour later, a bright red : Porsche came to a slow stop beneath the research institute building.

"Alexander, this is it," Amber said as she opened the door and got out of the car. She nervously held onto Alexander's arm, looking at the imposing research institute building in front of them. Her pretty face betrayed a hint of unease.

"If the negotiations fail, our new product might not hit the market for at least another six months. The Xanthos family's advantage will be established, and it'll be hard for us to turn the tables." Alexander shook his head and smiled. After returning from Yewspire Mountain, he barely touched the ground, immediately coming to Zabaleta with Amber. Although he was extremely familiar with the city, this research institute was relatively unfamiliar.

The Duncan family in the north did not seem to have much fame.

"Halt!" Just as they reached the entrance of the first-floor lobby, two security guards, one on each side, crossed their arms to block their way. Their faces were unfriendly. "Do you have an invitation? This is a crucial area for the institute, and access without an invitation is strictly prohibited!" Huh?

Amber was slightly surprised. Before coming here, she had sent a corporate letter to Duncan Institute of Research through the company's business department. Deputy Director Lucian personally replied, and there was no mention of any invitation.

"None?" The two security guards looked at each other, then suddenly pulled out rubber batons from their waists, their faces fierce. "Since there's no invitation, get lost now. This is not a place where anyone and everyone can come. If there's a data leak, your heads won't be enough to compensate!"

Amber's face turned pale, and she sighed softly in her heart.

This was an intimidation tactic.

Deputy Director Lucian must be aware that they, along with Alexander, have come. The security's attitude was unexpectedly hostile, insisting on holding onto the invitation and not allowing them in. It was evident that today's negotiations would be difficult.

In fact, there might not even be negotiations.

"Apologies." By Amber's side, Alexander remained expressionless, calmly observing the two security guards. "Whether it was instructed by Lucian or your own initiative, if you dare show disrespect to my wife, you'll have to face the consequences. They had just received Lucian's orders not to let Amber and Alexander easily enter, needing to give them a taste of their authority. However, Alexander's reaction clearly exceeded their expectations.

Insults against Amber had touched a nerve with Alexander.

Clap, clap, clap! An unexpected round of applause, accompanied by laughter, echoed from the first-floor hall. "Haha, truly famous! But meeting you is even better. Mister Kane and Miss Chesire are deeply in love, ordering around the security guards of the Duncan family.

How imposing, how domineering!"

"Don't bother negotiating with me.

Chapter 463

Chapter 0463 "Thirty percent shares?!" Beside him, Amber's beautiful eyes widened in disbelief.

New Chesire Group, formerly known as the 01' Mare Severn Group, had continuously increased its overall value through a year of development and expansion, coupled with the blockbuster launch of the Crystal Elegance Skin series.

It was not an exaggeration to say that even a mere 10 percent shares could sustain a third-rate family for generations. As for 30 percent... Even in Zabaleta, it could prop up a second-rate family! "30 percent shares. That's Miss Duncan's requirement," Lucian repeated, looking at Amber's expression with a few low laughs. He raised three fingers again, "Miss Duncan and I are different. She wants shares, and I want money! "Besides the shares, transfer 150 million to my account, and the information you want will be handed over immediately. Otherwise..." He chuckled. "Sorry, but you'll have to leave without it, no delivery service!" Such arrogance.

Alexander shook his head slowly, his gaze indifferent. "In that case, there's nothing to discuss. Although data is precious, it's not something that the New Chesire Group must buy. Now, let's get back to our previous topic.

Your two security guards must apologize to my wife." Lucian was first stunned, then smirked. "Mister Kane, this is getting dull. You, after all, are a well-known figure. Why bother with two small security guards? They're just doing their job, loyal to their duties. If you want them to apologize, do you still recognize our research institute? 't's worth reminding you that Miss Duncan is upstairs. The research institute belongs to the Duncan family, backed by the Northern Duncan family!" The Duncan family? Alexander chuckled.

In Wyverna, there were numerous prestigious families, and the Duncan family was one of them. However, it was not some Northern Duncan family but the Duncan family in the capital.

Moreover, even if it were Walganus Capital's Duncan family, what significance did it hold to the Temple of War? They were just slightly larger ants, easily crushed with a wave of his hand.

"Business is all about attitude," Alexander said lightly as he glanced at Lucian. "The attitudes of the two security guards and yours don't represent individuals; they represent the will of the Duncan family. Showing disrespect to my wife is an unforgivable crime. Apologize to my wife immediately. This is your only chance!"

Lucian blinked his eyes and then burst I into arrogant laughter.

Hahaha!" Stepping back, he looked at Alexander with disdain and mocked, Alexander, if it were another power, maybe they would be afraid of you, but this time, you've picked the wrong place! Let me tell you, there is no way we're going to apologize, and as for saving face, don't even think about it! The Duncan family in the north is a branch of the Duncan family in Walganus Capital. Even the four major northern powerhouses have to respect us! You want to show off in front of the Duncan family? You're far from qualified!" The Duncan family in Walganus Capital? This time, Alexander genuinely laughed. "11" remember what you said." He smirked at Lucian and continued, "You better not forget what I'm saying now. Within an hour, I'll have you bring these two security guards to the Saunders family villa to see me.

Chapter 0464 A "Miss Duncan!" As Lucian returned to the office of the research institute, he recounted the recent events to Hazel. His face was filled with mockery as he spoke, "Alexander and Amber dared to be arrogant in front of the Duncan family! "I've already kicked them out. It won't be long before they come begging at our door, pleading for us to sell them the data!" Hazel held a tall glass, the amber liquid inside gently swaying. Her eyes were slightly narrowed, and her bright red lips formed a playful smirk.

Alexander and Amber were being audacious? Alright, then. The information and files held by the research institute originally required only a 40 percent share from the New Chesire Group. After the recent 'incident', the shares would have to be raised to at least 50 percent. That was the price they would have to pay! Just as Hazel reveled in her triumph, the delicate phone on the nearby desk suddenly vibrated slightly. It was an incoming call.

"Miss Duncan, it's the family head!" Lucian took a step forward, looking at the incoming call display on the screen. His heart suddenly shook, and he quickly handed the phone to Hazel.

This was Hazel's father, Flynn Duncan, the current head of the Duncan family.

"Dad?" Hazel held the tall glass in her left hand, answered the phone with her right hand, and giggled softly. "I was just about to inform you, but you called just in time. The New Chesire Group indeed wants to buy our data. There was a conflict with Lucian.

However, reality unfolded quite differently.

"B*stard!" At this moment, in the living room of the Duncan family estate in the northern region, Flynn clutched his phone, his usually composed demeanor now replaced by an unprecedented rage. ""Do you have any idea who just called me? "The heir of the Duncan family in Walganus Capital, the future heir to the Duncan Clan, Fitch Duncan!" Hazel's mind buzzed, and her heavily made-up face betrayed an undisguisable shock.

Fitch Duncan? He was the legitimate successor of the entire Duncan family, the designated heir chosen by the head of the clan, embodying the will of the Duncan Clan.

Such a lofty figure would never concern himself with the northern branch of the Duncan family. Why would he call his father and elicit such fury? Could it be...

"I don't care about your plans. Cease them immediately!" Flynn, sensing Hazel's astonishment, gritted his teeth tightly.

He declared, voice seething with anger, "The northern Duncan family cannot be ruined by you, much less face destruction! "If this matter isn't handled

Chapter 465

Chapter 0465 "Miss Duncan, what happened to you?" During the phone call, Hazel did not activate the speakerphone mode.

Lucian observed Hazel's pale face and cautiously approached, inquiring, "Is it because of the New Chesire Group? Say something, and I'll find a solution. I'll make sure to punish Alexander and Amber severely! You'll definitely be satisfied!" 'Punish'? Hazel suddenly looked up, staring fiercely into Lucian's eyes, wishing she could strangle him alive.

This b*stard!

If not for him, she would not have been scolded by her father, threatened with expulsion from the family, and cut off from any connection with him! All that, and he still had the audacity to be pleased with himself, thinking he had achieved something significant? He had no idea of the mess he created. He tore apart the heavens! "Lucian!" The more Hazel thought, the angrier she became. Her teeth gnashed, making a 'crunching' sound.

"I don't care how you do it, but send the information to Alexander. Make him and Amber happy, make them satisfied! "Do it immediately, right away! Not even a minute can be delayed!" With that, she stood up, hands swinging like a bow, fiercely slapping Lucian's face over a dozen times. In a hoarse and screaming voice, she said, "If they're not satisfied, you kneel and bow until they are! "If they're still not satisfied, cut off your own head for them to kick like a ball. Let them vent, let them be happy, let them release their anger! "Now get lost!" Lucian was completely terrified.

Clutching his face, he fell to the ground as he stared at Hazel, who seemed to be in a frenzy.

He could not help but shiver. "Miss Duncan, what... What's going on? Wasn't it you who said you wanted to show them who's in charge, and now..." This man still dared to talk back?!

Hazel no longer cared about her 'noblewoman' demeanor. The refined makeup on her face twisted, no longer the previous dignified appearance, more like a hysterical madwoman.

"I told you to get out! Take the documents, and get out! What do you think will happen if Alexander and Amber aren't satisfied? Prepare two coffins directly, one for me, and one for yourself! If they're unhappy, none of us can escape.

We'll all die! "Even... Even Father may be implicated! The entire Duncan Clan I may be destroyed!" What? Even the Duncan Clan could be implicated?!

Lucian's legs went weak with fear.

Trembling, he crawled up from the floor, running toward the archive room as if his life depended on it. He cursed his parents for giving him only two legs, quickly finding the information that Alexander and Amber needed and rushing to Saunders family estate.

Like a fire burning under his butt, every second counted.

He did not know what Flynn said to Hazel on the phone to make her so scared, but he knew that if he could not satisfy Alexander and Amber, Hazel would demand his life! Meanwhile, in the living room of the saunders family estate...

"t's about time. They'll be delivering the data soon!"

Chapter 466

Chapter 0466 The data would be...delivered? Roslyn and Blaine glanced at each other, both seeing the surprise in each other's eyes. Ever since the restructuring of the Zabaleta landscape, the Saunders family rightfully became the top powerhouse in Zabaleta. However, compared to the forces in the north, they were still a far cry, unable to be mentioned in the same breath. As for the Duncan family, their position among the northern powerhouses was extremely unique, specializing in the sale of intelligence information. Any piece of information could be sold for a sky-high price. Who could make the Duncan family hand I over invaluable information willingly? The New Chesire Group could not do it, Amber could not do it, and even if Alexander personally intervened, it was absolutely impossible. "Alexander?" Amber sat beside Alexander, looking in the direction of the Saunders family estate from a distance, then turned back, gently biting her lip.

A hint of worry faintly hung on her beautiful face. "Are they really willing to give us the information? It's not that I don't trust you, but..." She was cut off.

"Miss Chesire!" At the entrance of the estate, an elite bodyguard swiftly approached, bowing respectfully outside the living room, bowing low and whispering, "Lucian Marshall, the deputy director of the Duncan Institute of Research, is seeking an audience outside!" Amber, Roslyn, and Blaine all focused their gaze on Alexander, their faces full of disbelief.

Alexander had really hit the mark.

Lucian had indeed come! "Let him in." Alexander's gaze was indifferent. He smiled in response to Amber and the others, then turned to the bodyguard outside the door, speaking softly, "Tell him not to forget what I said. He knows what to do." The bodyguard immediately bowed and said, "Yes!" He quickly turned and ran toward the entrance of the estate.

Meanwhile, Lucian drove a Land Rover, holding a metal USB flash drive in his hand. He paced back and forth in front of the door, his expression indescribably anxious.

"Sir!" Seeing the bodyguard returning from afar, he hurriedly approached. "What did Mister Kane say? Is he willing to see me?" The Saunders family's bodyguard grunted, reciting Alexander's words, and then added with a low hum, "Be honest after entering, don't wander around. Mister Kane and Miss Chesire are both in the living room. You know what to do!" Lucian's face instantly turned pale.

He certainly remembered what Alexander had said. He said Lucian would end up bringing the data from the research institute, crawl before them like a cat or dog, and beg Amber for forgiveness.

"Crawling through the door..." Lucian clenched his teeth tightly, his face showing an indescribable humiliation.

He dared not show the slightest disobedience, kneeling in front of the bodyguards, and crawled into the manor's living room.

The more he crawled, the faster and more proficient he became. The look of humiliation on his face gradually disappeared, replaced by anticipation.

As long as he could satisfy Alexander and Amber, he would even bark like a dog.

In comparison to saving face, his life was obviously more important! About two minutes later... hi "Mister Kane, Miss Chesire!" Lucian finally crawled into the Saunders family's living room, looking at Alexander and Amber sitting on the sofa.

He handed over a USB flash drive, kneeling on the ground and repeatedly kowtowing. "All the data from the research institute has been brought here. Please accept it!" "Not a bad attitude," Alexander glanced at him faintly, smiling. "Are you sure all the data we need is here?" Lucian pointed to the USB flash drive on the coffee table, nodding eagerly.

He cautiously lifted his head, glanced at Alexander's calm face, and tentatively asked, "Mister Kane, don't you need information related to the Xanthos family and the consumers in the North? I don't understand why you want those formulas." Alexander smiled.

Reverse engineering, a research method every enterprise would attempt, and the Duncan family in the North excelled in this field. Acquiring these formulas meant that the New Chesire Group could save a significant amount of research funds, gaining the initiative in domestic and international market competition.

Since the Duncan family had it, why not take advantage of it? They dared to offend Amber, and this was the price they had to pay.

"Why do we need these formulas, you ask? That's not a question you should ask." After laughing, Alexander restrained his smile, speaking softly again, "Take the USB flash drive back, and organize all the data properly- domestic, foreign, nothing should be missing!" Lucian stiffened.

In this era, data was a secret weapon. If a person could grasp the core formulas of major enterprises domestically and internationally, he or she could easily build an incredibly vast business empire.

It was precisely for this reason that the reverse analysis work at the Duncan Institute of Research was strictly confidential, and the sale of each piece of data was conducted secretly-never openly displayed. If all this information were leaked, the consequences were simply unimaginable! "Mister Kane..." Lucian struggled to even gulp, trembling. "This information is too crucial. If..." "If"? There was no 'if'! Alexander narrowed his eyes, suddenly smiling. "Mister Lucian Marshall, if you find it difficult, then forget it. I have never liked forcing people into difficult situations. Today's matter / ends here. What do you think about that?" Lucian's heart trembled, and he forced a smile on his face, a smile uglier than crying! What did he think? Before the departure, Hazel made it crystal clear that if he could not satisfy both Alexander and Amber, he and Hazel would die, and the entire Duncan family would be implicated! "No trouble at all, not one bit!" The thought crossed his mind, and he dared not hesitate any longer. He bowed repeatedly to Alexander and said, "Mister Kane, I'll go back immediately to prepare. I'll provide all the information without any reservation, for sure!"

Having said that, he quickly wiped the cold sweat from his forehead and rushed out, scrambling to inform Hazel.

The matter of the information was completely beyond his authority. Hazel must decide this herself.

Back in the Saunders family living room, Amber could not help but feel her heart racing, her pretty face slightly flushed.

What a surprising twist of events.

She and Alexander traveled all the way from Rabaldiston to Zabaleta just to obtain research data from the Duncan Institute of Research, preparing for the expansion into the northern regions.

However, she never imagined that her taken were indeed too large! "Following the plan is indeed safe, but making great strides forward is not necessarily a bad thing." Turning to look at Amber's charming face, Alexander smiled faintly. "I know what you're worried about, but you can rest assured.

"A hundred years is too long. We should seize the moment. To turn the New Chesire Group into a century-old brand, let's start from this moment!" 100 years was indeed too long. Seizing this moment, this could easily become the corporate culture of the New Chesire Group.

Chapter 468

Chapter 0468 | At this very moment, in the Duncan Institute of Research..., Hazel stood at the entrance, holding a brand-new black USB flash drive. She looked at Lucian, whose face was pale, and deeply exhaled a long breath.

She felt utterly helpless.

In just one hour, Flynn repeatedly called her a dozen times-urging, threatening, scolding... The only demand was to ensure the satisfaction of Alexander and Amber, no matter what.

Each call felt like a death warrant from Hades, and Hazel was on the verge of collapse.

Once a dignified and noble young lady of the Duncan family, at this moment, she resembled a dog that had lost its home. Beside her, Lucian was even worse than a dog, keeping his neck tightly constricted, not daring to lift his head.

The two security guards at the entrance were no better.

When Alexander and Amber came for the first time, they followed Lucian's orders and spoke to them disrespectfully. They intended to assert dominance over them. They finally realized the gravity of the situation, standing nervously behind Hazel and Lucian, their courage almost shattered.

"They... They're here!" Lucian's gaze trembled, looking at a roaring bright red Porsche in the distance. His voice could not help but tremble, "Miss Duncan, that's Alexander and Amber's car. They're here!" They came? Hazel's heart tightened as she watched the swiftly approaching Porsche.

Suddenly, she gritted her teeth and said, "Kneel, all of you. Kneel together!" Thump! She knelt on the ground. Her fair forehead harshly met the ground, creating a bruise.

Lucian and the two security guards dared not delay for even half a second. They quickly imitated Hazel, kneeling on both knees next to her, foreheads touching the ground. Especially Lucian, who even had a few traces of blood on his forehead. ee Compared to their lives, what was dignity? Flynn had sternly made his position clear.

If they could not overcome this hurdle, the northern Duncan family would be buried with them. There was even a possibility of implicating the Duncan family in Walganus Capital, potentially dragging down the entire Duncan Clan! The bright red Porsche came to a gradual halt at the entrance of the research institute. Slalch Thi (ind) vel.not website on Googll to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

"Mister Kane, Miss Chesire." Hazel, accompanied by Lucian and two security guards, knelt and bowed forward. Looking at Alexander and Amber sitting in the car, her expression was nothing but respectful.

"You've finally arrived. Please come inside for a detailed discussion. We've already prepared the documents." Creak! The Porsche's window lowered slowly.

Alexander was gripping the steering wheel with one hand. He did not bother to glance at Hazel and Lucian.

He said nonchalantly, "The documents." Hazel blinked slightly, quickly handing the USB flash drive to Amber in the passenger seat. She tentatively suggested, "Won't you both come in and have a seat? I've prepared the finest tea and some imported..."

I She did not get to finish.

Throughout, Alexander had not even _ looked at her face once. He ignored Lucian and the two security guards kneeling behind, the electric window closing again. Stepping on the gas, he drove the Porsche away.

The documents were obtained, so there was no need to waste time with such minor characters. They were not worthy.

Staring at the roaring departure of the Porsche, Hazel knelt in place for a while. It took quite some time for her to react, slowly rising with the support of Lucian. Her complexion finally improved slightly.

"Miss Duncan?" Lucian supported Hazel's arm, watching the direction in which the Porsche left, anxiously asking, "What does Mister Kane mean by this? The USB flash drive is taken.

Are we in the clear now?" -- I Hazel remained silent for a long time, softly chuckling.

Indeed.

Even the Duncan Clan was extremely wary. The position of Alexander was evident. How could such a prominent figure be on the same level as them, mere ants? Even though she was the lady of the Duncan family in the North, in the eyes of Alexander, she

Chapter 469

Chapter 0469 In the northern region, the Xanthos family, the Callie Group... Callie had been absent from the company for a long time. The once Chairman's office, tightly sealed, had not seen any visitors for ages. The current head honcho was a man named Walter Shennagan. He was a Ph.

D. returnee with an exceptional academic background and financial acumen, and he ascended to the position of director at the youthful age of 30 within Callie group. This made him the youngest among all the directors.

At some point, the power within the Callie Group had gradually concentrated in his hands. At this point, he held the utmost authority within the entire conglomerate and orchestrated the relentless suppression of the Chesire family on behalf of the Xanthos family.

"Mister Shennagan." In the comprehensive office of the conglomerate, a middle-aged man with a stout build held a procurement list and respectfully inclined his body toward Walter. He then chuckled and said, "Your orders have been set in motion. All the raw materials on the list have been purchased at a high price. Without these materials, even if Alexander and Amber get hold of the formula, it won't be of any use." Seated behind his desk, Walter meticulously cleaned his glasses without even lifting his head. He smiled slyly.

Undermining their foundation? j This was not a directive from the higher-ups.

He looked at the man before him, replaced his glasses, and spoke with a sinister grin, "Omar, when I asked you to stockpile materials, it wasn't to cut off the supply channels for the New Chesire Group. It's to lend them a hand. "Purchase all the materials at a high price and sell them to the New Chesire Group at a low price. It doesn't matter if we incur losses. Help them bring out the new product!" "What?!" Omar's eyes widened in disbelief. Such a golden opportunity presented the perfect chance to exploit the Chesire family, perhaps even control their supply chain and leave them in a dire situation.

However, Mister Shennagan was aiding Alexander and Amber? They were enemies of the Xanthos family! "Are you questioning my decision?" Walter narrowed his eyes, staring coldly at Omar, and said softly, "Follow my instructions. You don't need to worry about anything else." Omar's heart trembled, and he dared not indulge in random thoughts anymore.

Immediately, he bowed and accepted the command. "Yes." Having said that, his forehead was covered in cold sweat as he quickly turned and left, closing the office door behind him.

"Foolish creature!" As the office door closed once again, Walter put down the specialized tissue for his glasses, casually tossing it into the trash bin. A cold smirk played on his lips.

Was the New Chesire Group truly frightening? In the eyes of the master, whether it was the Xanthos family, the Callie Group, or even the New Chesire Group, all were mere pawns to be utilized, gradually enhancing his strategic layout.

Nothing would change; be it at this moment or 30 years ago.

"The real show is about to begin!" Walter's lips quirked, muttering to himself. He raised his hand to touch the back of his neck, and the eerie smile on his lips grew more pronounced. - At the back of his neck, just below the

The New Chesire Group seemed completely oblivious to the approaching danger.

The transportation channels to the north were completely sealed off by the market supervision of 'Deephaven'!

Chapter 470

I Chapter 0470 I The cities of Rabaldiston, Emberton, I Deephaven, Blossomtown, and Veridian, situated between 01' Mare and northern regions, were historically vital strategic points, contested by I military forces throughout the ages.

In the modern era, these five cities remained crucial transportation hubs. Goods had to navigate through layers of approvals, unlocking all the intricacies. Otherwise, no matter the company or product, gaining access to the northern territories was impossible.

Ever since assuming the role of the head of the Rabaldiston branch, Alfred had been tirelessly working day and night. Things went relatively smoothly with Emberton and Rabaldiston.

However, the situation in Deephaven was complicated due to the market supervisor 'Paul Homer' putting a complete halt to progress.

"Paul, I'm afraid I'll be causing you trouble again," Alfred said, with the days counting down to the launch of the new product. He found himself once again in Paul's inspection office, maintaining a respectful demeanor.

"I've tried reaching out to you several times about the approval documents, but your secretary always said you were unavailable." Paul chuckled.

The office was tastefully decorated, resembling an ancient study, with various rare flowers and plants on the l a_gial TU SN rieu balcony. Paul, slender in stature, sat on an ornate chair, calmly practicing his painting with a small brush. He paid no further attention to Alfred.

"Paul!" Having been rejected several times and made to wait for three hours this time, Alfred was already burning with anger.

Still, he suppressed his frustration and forced a smile, "I'm Alfred, the head of the Chesire Corporation's Northern market. Regarding the approval documents..." Paul raised a finger, gently shaking it toward Alfred, and made a soft 'shh' sound.

The message was clear: 'Be silent.' "You..." Alfred wanted to speak but held back, withholding his anger.

He waited for more than half an hour until Paul put down the brush before speaking in a stern tone, "Paul, all the qualifications of our New Chesire Group meet the requirements. Why are you refusing the permit?" Paul furrowed his brow, picked up the brush again, and pretended to resume his painting.

"Paul!" This time, Alfred could not hold back any longer. His face flushed with anger as he said, "You constantly create obstacles, deliberately delay us, maliciously withhold approvals... What has the New Chesire Group done to offend you? Must I complain to the mayor?!" He was genuinely exasperated. results were outstanding, However, the delivery was inexplicably delayed. In just a few days, the market fervor would wane. By then, even if the product entered the market, both sales and reputation would plummet.

Meanwhile, in the northern district, there were continuous efforts to attract investment. The mayor had personally devised favorable policies for the New Cheshire Group. The related products had undergone rigorous testing, and only the final customs clearance document was pending.

Why was Paul refusing to sign? What was this guy trying to achieve? "In all matters, timing is crucial." Paul held the brush, looking at the uncontrollable anger on Alfred's face, a mocking smile playing on his lips. "On
