

His Mistress My Nightmare Novel

Chapter 25

Chapter25 In Averia , a mysterious man outside a convenience store caught everyones attention .

He was slender , tall , and handsome , and what stood out most were his eyes , which were even more captivating coupled with his cold features .

They were lled with loneliness , indicating it was a man with countless secrets and stories .

No one knew how fast Antonios heart was beating .

He was so excited that he was even trembling slightly .

Ever since he knew Grace might still be alive , he had clung to this trace of hope .

For the past six months , he had been sending people searching for her globally .

As long as there was a lead , hed follow it further himself .

His wish was humble .

It didnt matter whether she resented him or resisted him .

All he wanted was for her to be alive .

A ding rang out .

Taking a deep breath , he nally mustered his courage and pushed open the door .

Yet instantly , his sincere hope turned into disappointment .

It wasnt Grace .

It was just a stranger who looked somewhat like her .

It was such a big world .

Was his beloved still alive ? Two months later , Antonio ew abroad for the nineteenth time .

This time , he came to a ower shop in Caumar .

The owner said to him apologetically , The lady has already left .

Noticing the disappointed expression on his face , she felt bad and added with gestures , Oh , she bought a bouquet of lilies of the valley .

Antonio was stunned for a second .

Then he immediately rushed out and looked around frantically in the crowd .

But no matter how hard he tried , he spotted no one with a bouquet of lilies of the valley .

It had been almost a year since Grace left .

For the past year , he had held onto hope , only to be disappointed over and over again .

Finally , he started to feel that he couldnt hold on any longer .

Just then , snow akes started to drift down from the sky slowly .

It was Christmas .

Pedestrians on the streets walked past him in a hurry , their faces lit up with festive smiles .

Only Antonio walked aimlessly , his eyes dull , his heart empty .

He had no idea how long he had walked and where he was now .

In a daze , he remembered that once upon a time , he came here with Grace .

Back then , he held her in his arms and stuffed her hand into his coat pocket .

They smiled and chatted while walking on the streets sweetly .

But now ? He had become a lost cause , and he lost her ..

Finally , he couldnt hold on any longer and had a breakdown .

He stumbled and knelt in the snow .
