

3

"Why would you let her leave!" Druig yelled at Ikaris as he told everyone what happened. The whole town heard the scream.

Ikaris found Cora screaming on the floor and Thena next to the deviant. Ikaris brought Cora to the domo with Ajak who healed her. She wasn't hurt physically but she healed her internally. Ajak knew she connected to the deviant. Ajak also knew the deviants were connected as one so when Cora connected to them, she felt it all, hundreds of years of the deviants dying. Each soul being killed o , each monsters pain. She knew how to put her to rest for now.

"Enough!" Ajak spoke loudly. I woke up and turned squinting my eyes since it's so bright..

"It wasn't Ikaris fault. Druig calm down." I saw Ajak talking to druig who looked very upset, I turned to see Ikaris upset as well. Sprite and Thena were in the argument. I sat up and faced them as Ajak continues talking. I'm trying to remember what happened. I feel numb. I don't feel

Anything

"None of this would have happened if Ikaris would have kept her here safe!" Druig pointed to me and continued.

"If she doesn't wake up I swear-" Ikaris interrupted druig.

"She will! The deviant didn't kill her you know how strong she is." Ikaris said and I chimed in annoyed of how long I've been sitting here and no one has looked at me.

"Yeah I'll be fine." I forced the smile.

"Not now Cora. Anyways why do you care druig!" Ikaris said and everyone looked at me as a few seconds shocked.

"Is it just me or the greetings have gone downhill?" I laughed as everyone realized I was awake. Sprite and Thena came to hug me.

"Are you doing okay?" Sprite asked

"Are you okay?" Thena looked at me holding my head in her hands.

"Oh Cora what happened? Are you still hurt?" Ikaris said coming as well followed by Ajak. Druig only looked at me. I looked at him and smiled.

"I'm okay I feel fine. My head hurts a bit but im okay. So please stop worrying I can feel it." I wince at all the flying emotions.

"Sorry!" Sprite and Thena stepped back. I smile at them but Ajak took my hands.

"Cora. What happened out there." Everyone looked at me. Phastos, Kingo, and sersi joined us as well as Gilgamesh.

"Guys I'm fine really. I just, I think I felt them. Felt them all." I said looking down. My hands started to pull my power leaving a bright light showing them.

"This is what I feel right now..." the light is bright and has a pink glimmer. I see druig stare at me, then see everyone else is looking at my force.

"But.. when I was holding him, he looked into my eyes and connected us. Then I felt, this." I waved my hand up and showed the empathetic cosmic energy inside of me. It turned into a black beam with grey Smokey rings.

"I don't know what it was but it was hurting me. I'm sorry Ajak I didn't mean to connect to them. I didn't know it would hurt that bad." I apologized and as I put the dark energy back inside I winced at the pain causing druig to come to my right side and hold my hand. I look at him and looked at Ajak.

"Can it kill her." He asked Ajak in a dark tone. I looked at her. Woah kill ? Can it kill me?!

"I don't know. We will have to wait and proceed with our mission with extra caution. Some days you might have to sit out Cora, just until you recover and your force turns back." Ajak smiled. I nodded my head and let go of druig and went into my room. I closed the door and changed. I used my force that was no longer bright and opened the curtains to my window showing the bright lights of the city and shining stars. Why can't I control myself.

I heard a knock on my door and unlocked it with my hand not leaving my spot on the window ledge.

"How are you holding up?" Sersi asked as she walked in with bread. I smiled at the bread remembering the last memory I had with the bread.

"Druig told me to bring this up while I came to check on you." Sersi smiled and sat in front of me on the window.

"Of course he did." I laughed and looked back at the city. I didn't have to force the smile this time.

"Why are you nervous around me?" I asked Sersi. Her smile dropped.

"I'm just concerned. I don't want to push but Cora you mean a lot to us. It's weird not seeing your smile. Even if it's been a day already. Even druig seems more dark than usual." We laugh. Druig. I smile at his name.

"I'll be fine in a bit. I just need to get my energy back." I tell her.

"So you and druig. I saw the dance you guys had. And did you see the way he was upset about what happened. It's the most emotion I've seen him show in hundreds of years. Plus he's always watching you from the Domo when we look at er you guys fighting." Sersi laughed and I smile.

"We are just friends Sersi, and I should ask the same thing with you and Ikaris! He's always watching you take care of the young ones." I laughed and took a bite of my bread. I like their bread.

"Well I don't know maybe." She blushed. Yeah maybe my ass!

"Can you still feel? You know like us? Or anyone?" She asked seriously. I looked down.

"I don't want to. Sersi I've never felt that feeling. It was terrible. I felt it through my veins crushing my heart and it was so loud and cold. I don't want to feel anyone anymore." I looked at the bread. I heard someone walk away. I turn to the door and see no bread.

"Listen we are here okay. We can handle the deviants until you get back on your feet. Whatever you felt we will make sure you never feel like that again." Sersi smiled and I hugged her.

"Thanks but if I want to get back on the field I kinda have to learn control around them. Well I'm going to go get something to eat. Want to come?" I ask and we both head out. I'll probably go get more bread.

3 weeks after the accident.

"I'm okay druig you don't need to babysit me as I eat. I look up from my plate and see druig watching me from across the room. I roll my eyes. Everyone has been walking on eggshells around me.

"Just making sure you're safe Cora." He said. I smiled.

"Since when do you care about my safety druig." I look at my plate and put it in the sink to wash.

"Since the day I first met you. Cora." He said in a deep tone. Since the first day?

"Really?" I turn and see him right behind me. I look up.

"Everyday id watch that window, make sure you're safe when you fight, every time I'm at that window, I try to find you and make sure you're okay. Every day for the past few weeks I leave you food and bread at your door so you don't have to come out and risk feeling all the emotions everyone has at once. These past weeks I'm the only one who's made sure you're okay." He said moving closer. I'm against the counter and I look at him. I didn't know, he cared this much. We have been getting closer these past weeks and casually mess with each other but I never knew it was more than just taunting. I feel bad for tripping him so many times now.

My breathing gets faster and I feel. Nervous. I'm feeling something! I can feel.

"You watch me when I fight?" I asked looking into his eyes.

"Every. Day. Cora." He said.

"Why." I ask

"Because you're my light. I won't let anything or anyone hurt you." Druig tells me and I smile.

"Woah am I interrupting anything here?" Kingo walks in and we pull apart. Kingo looks at us then smiles.

"Awww is this happening too? Can plan the wedding? Sersi won't let me do hers!" Kingo comes up to us and druig leaves.

"No kingo." Druig says before he's completely gone. I slap him on the shoulder.

"Kingo!" We both laugh and continue until I feel again. What ever happened with druig opened my emotions back up and I feel.

Laughter

Kingo... but I'm feeling something else from people who are close to me...

Love...

Love...

Lust?

Horn-OH NAH NO NO NO CLOSING THAT BACK UP RIGHT AWAY... my eyes close and Kingo asked

"Are you okay Cora?" Kingo looked at me and I laughed.

"Yeah I'm fine! A little grossed out. But okay! By any chance are Sersi and Ikaris together?" I laugh through the awkward feelings. Kingo nodded his head.

"Yeah they are down by the shore together." Kingo said. Okay remind me to never open their feelings up again. Ikaris and Sersi I will never feel you guys again.

A/N

Hi so I don't know if this is any good? It's my first time writing so go ahead and leave tips or what else you want to see :)

Continue reading next part □