Chapter 21

Chapter 21

Today Lauren brought a gift to Leo, but because of Charlie's sudden appearance, she did not take it out. After she and Leo finished, and washed their hands and feet, they sat on the sofa in Leo's bedroom. Then Lauren took the gift out of her bag.

"Wow!" Seeing the gift bag, Leo exclaimed in surprise and then raised his head with his bright eyes. He looked at Lauren with expectation.

you."

Lauren took out the gift bag and placed it on the sofa.

Leo was so excited and he couldn't wait to see what it was. Lauren took out the gift in the bag and handed it to Leo, "This is for "All?" Leo was surprised and also excited.

Lauren had given many people gifts, but this was first time that she felt fulfilling. Her heart was full of happiness when she saw

Leo was happy.

"Yes," Lauren nodded and said, "I don't know what you like, so I bought all of these for you."

She continued. "See if you like them?"

Leo looked at the gifts on the sofa, and his heart was full of joy. His little face showed happiness and he said, "As long as they are from you. I would like them.”

Lauren was a little touched by Leo, and she held him in her arms, saying, “Why are you so cute?”

Leo blinked his beautiful eyes, looking so happy.

“Lauren likes me!” Leo thought in happiness.

Lauren had been staying with Leo for the afternoon, and at first she wanted to stay

Charlie. Lauren decided to leave before dinner.

with Leo a little longer, but when thinking of Leo didn’t want Lauren to leave so he kept holding her hands for a long time at the door.

To stop Leo from crying, Lauren said, “If you cry, you won’t be so cute anymore.”

The villa of the Bennett family was far from the city center, and there were no cars nearby. Lauren stood at the gate of the villa for a moment, and then took out her phone and hailed a car online.

Lauren usually stayed in the laboratory and rarely went out. If something urgent happened, the company would send a car to pick her up, so she thought there was no need to buy a car.

However, she wanted to buy a car now. With a car, she could drive to see Leo at any time and could drive him out to play. Lauren lowered her head and chuckled.

A silver–gray Porsche stopped in front of Lauren, but Lauren didn’t notice that and she thought it was the car that picked her up. She didn’t think much and pulled the car door, sitting in the back seat. But the car didn’t move.

Lauren looked up and she saw Charlie in the driver’s seat!

Charlie didn’t wear the pink shirt, but a white one. He was not wearing a suit jacket, revealing a tight and firm chest. His arms were on the steering wheel.

He glanced at Lauren through the rear view mirror, and he sneered coldly, "Am I your driver, Miss Bennett?"

Lauren's first thought was that she get into the wrong car and she also felt a little bit sorry about this.

Charlie obviously misunderstood her.

Lauren explained, "I'm Sorry. I thought it was the car that I hailed online." Then she put her hand on the doorknob and prepared to open the door and get out of the car.

But just before she opened the door, a small and crisp sound suddenly came.

It was Charlie who pressed the door lock!

Lauren raised her eyes and looked at Charlie in front of her with confusion, "It is really a mistake, Mr.

Frank!"

"I'll send you home," Charlie stepped on the accelerator, and drove the car.

Lauren didn't say anymore and she said thanks to Charlie.

Inside the car, it was very quiet. Neither of them spoke, but Lauren was not calm as if she was sitting on pins and needles.

Strangely, she was used to be a calm person but today, she was very emotional when she faced

There were very few cars so there was no traffic jam at all, but Charlie drove very slowly. Lauren had no driver's license, let alone drove a car, but she knew the car was so slow!

His Secret Millionairess Wife

Chapter 22

Chapter 22

Who drives 20 mph? On a wide road?

However, Charlie was not her driver, so Lauren would not ask him to adjust his speed. She could only take out her phone and cancel the order.

Lauren blamed herself for being distracted, otherwise, she would not get into Charlie's car without looking at the license plate.

Noticing that Lauren looked at her phone for a long time, Charlie was a little dissatisfied, and said coldly. "Do you really treat me as your driver?"

Lauren was still immersed in her thought of getting into the wrong car, so she said 'yes'.

Charlie smiled and became considerate for Lauren, saying, "It's okay.

Probably you just don't like me and have no topic to talk with me, so you would rather spend time in your phone. It's my bad. I know that. I am just not as cute as Leo."

Lauren, "..."

Lauren was so tired that she didn't want to explain anything. If Charlie wanted to be angry and let him be. She didn't want to say anything.

Then her phone rang and it was a call from her grandpa. She picked it up.

The old man went fishing with the old guy today, and found that the old guy had an excellent grandson, thinking of his granddaughter, he wanted to match the two.

"Lauren, I wanted to ask you something," Mr. Bennett senior said.

"Okay."

"Do you have a boyfriend?" Mr. Bennett asked.

I don't have a boyfriend," Lauren shook her head.

Mr. Bennett continued, "Have you been in a relationship before? What kind of man do you like?"

Lauren smiled and said, "I have never been in a relationship before. As for men, I like him to be gentle and good-tempered." Knowing that her grandfather was going to introduce some guy to her, Lauren just said it.

She had never thought of falling in love with someone before, but after meeting Leo, Lauren suddenly thought getting married was not such a bad thing. She wanted to give birth to a cute baby like Leo.

"Are there any other requirements?" Mr. Bennett still asked.

Lauren was thinking about it and when she was about to say, her body suddenly jerked forward, with her head hitting the back of the front seat.

It was Charlie who suddenly increased his speed!

Lauren rubbed her forehead and found that the speed had reached 80 mph.

She didn't know why and felt that Charlie was too strange.

"Grandpa, I am in the middle of something here and I will talk with you when I come back," Lauren said and then hung up the phone. She looked up at Charlie and said, "Mr. Frank, please pull over. I can take a taxi back."

"Why? Because I am driving too slowly? Can't you wait to go back to start your date?" Charlie said, frowning.

Lauren also frowned, and said impatiently, "It is none of your business, Mr. Bennett."

The car came to a sudden stop, making a sharp and screeching sound.

He was such a crazy man! Lauren thought.

“You can leave now,” Charlie said, wearing a cold and depressed face. After Lauren got out of the car, Charlie smashed the steering wheel angrily. Charlie couldn’t understand why Lauren said that she had never been in a relationship before. Did she forget him at all! Did he mean nothing to her?

Chapter 23

Chapter 23

Because of Charlie, it was already past eight o’clock in the evening when she returned to the Bennett family’s house. They all finished the meal.

Lauren went to the dinning hall to eat something, and decided to went back to her room. Her leader had urged her to come back many times, so she had to go back tomorrow.

Going back to her room, Lauren took a shower. After that, she sat on the edge of the bed with a bath towel and dried her hair. At that moment, someone knocked on the door.

“Lauren, are you still awake? It’s me.”

It was Mrs. Bennett’s voice so Lauren put the towel on her shoulder and went to open the door.

Standing at the door, Mrs. Bennett was dressed in a simple style, which made her look more gentle and soft.

“I want to see you so I come here,” Mrs. Bennett said in a soft voice.

Lauren turned sideways and let her in.

Mrs. Bennett sat on the sofa and, placing a car key on the table.

Lauren took a look at it and it was a Ferrari.

“This is a gift for you.” Mrs. Bennett said and smiled, “I planned to give it to you yesterday, but I missed the chance and during the day, you were not at home.”

It was a gift from Mom! Looking at the car key on the table, Lauren turned soft. She remembered what

Jeffery had told her about

Mrs. Bennett. She knew how much she loved her when Lauren was linle

But she was lost for 18 years. At that moment, Lauren didn't know what to say

Neither of Lauren and Mrs. Bennett was going to say anything but Lauren still felt warm inside.

“Thank you,” Lauren wanted to add ‘Mom’, but when she opened her mouth, she found it was hard to say that. Lauren lowered her head in annoyance, a little angry with herself.

Mrs. Bennett had been looking at Lauren nervously, and when she saw Lauren kept her head down, she thought that maybe

Lauren didn't like her gift. When she was about to say something, she saw Lauren's wet hair.

Mrs. Bennett stood up, picked up the towel on Lauren's shoulder, and carefully dried her hair.

Lauren was surprised by Mrs. Bennett's actions, and she even froze.

“Sit down,” Mrs. Bennett's voice was still very gentle.

Lauren sat on the sofa, while Mrs. Bennett standing behind her to dry her hair slowly.

At this moment, Lauren suddenly wanted to turn back time and become a child, so that she could throw herself into her mother's arms without hesitation. So there wouldn't be a eighteen-year river between them.

Lauren reviewed herself and thought she shouldn't take a tough attitude before. There must always be someone who takes a step backwards first. She should do that for her mother. She was her mother's daughter.

After practicing saying Mom quietly, Lauren clenched her fists and summoned up her courage to pronounce the word Mom which she had been reading in her dreams for more than ten years.

However, before she could say it, Mrs. Bennett said, "You have really beautiful hair."

Lauren observed her mother's hair, which was also very silky.

"I got in from you," After saying that, Lauren immediately lowered her head in shyness. Mrs. Bennett said. "Yes, you are my daughter and of course you like me."

Chapter 24

Chapter 24

Mrs. Bennett was finally relieved

By the way, do you have a boyfriend? Mrs. Bennen asked Lauren

Lauren shook her head

Mrs. Bennett thought and then asked. "What kind of man do you like? I can introduce some good guy to you."

Lauren thought that her mother, like her grandfather, cared about her so she repeated what she said to her grandfather

After lining. Mrs. Bennen seemed a little relieved and said, "It turns out that you like gentleman, then it's good."

What did she mean? Lauren was a little confused and she heard Mrs. Bennett say "Bandy was not gende at all. He and Sally.

grow up together and they have a deep relationship. I think he likes Sally"

Lauren had a good memory and she remembered that Sandy was the one who was supposed to dance with her last night.

Lauren was still siming on the sofa, but all the warm and soft feelings disappeared, and only the coldness remained. It turned out thur Mrs. Bennen did not come to give her gift, nor did she care about her, but she came because of

Sally:

She didn't know Sandy at all so she couldn't have any feelings for a man who she only met once. If

Mrs. Bennett hadn't mention it today, she would probably never think of him.

After Mrs. Bennen mentioning him, Lauren remembered that Sandy was the reason why Sally fainted at the banquet. Was her father threatening her not to be close to Sandy?

Suddenly, Lauren felt bored and she withdrew the towel from Mrs. Bennett.

Lauren said. "I want to rest

now."

Mrs. Bennen did not notice Lauren's mood change, and she still had some words to say. She was a litde anxious, and said directly,

""Lauren, you saw Sally faint yesterday, right? That was because she was worried that you and Sandy might get together."

Mrs. Bennett grabbed Lauren's hand, and her tone was a little pleading.
"Lauren, please, don't get involved in their relationship

They grew up together so Sandy won't like you."

"When did I get involved?" Lauren raised her head with sharp eyes, but the other hand hidden behind her back was shaking terribly

"I know you are not involved now," Mr. Bennett nodded and continued. "You just came back to the Bennett family and you are still not very close to Sandy But I know you hate me and you hate Sally, because Sally took everything from you. Jealousy is unavoidable and it is human nature so I understand you."

"After all, when you were trying to survive outside, Sally was living as a little princess in the Bennett family. When you studied hard at night for access to a good university, Sally can easily apply to famous colleges: When you took part-time jobs just to earn living expenses, Sally played the piano in a beautiful mansion

"Sally did take your place, but that was not her fault, Lauren. Don't hate her.
You can blame me for not taking good care of you but please don't take revenge on Sally and get involved in her relationship with Sandy"

Lauren did not say anything but slowly withdrew her hand from Mrs. Bennett's.
She raised her head to look at Mrs. Bennett seriously

Even Mrs. Bennett was a little scared.

“Mrs. Bennett, Lauren said coldly and there was only indifference on her face.

Lauren no longer cared about Mrs. Bennett but just asked, “Who said that I lived a bad life? When did I say I couldn’t play the piano and do part-time jobs?

“You dider)— say th ‘Mrs. Bennett even stammered when she spoke.

Then Lauren said. “That was just your guess and I don’t need your pity” can leave now.” Lauren opened the door

When Mrs. Bennett stood outside the door, there was a car key in her palm, which she planned to give to Lauren. She stared at the closed door and suddenly realized Lauren was not what she had imagined!

Chapter 25

Chapter 25

After leaving Lauren’s room, Mrs. Bennett called her sister Lydia Betty.

After hearing what her sister said, Lydia was speechless and said. “How could you say this to Lauren?

It only makes Lauren dislike you and Sally more.”

“So what should I do now?” Mrs. Bennett was anxious and she still remembered that when she was in the hospital, Sally tightly held Sandy’s hand even if she was in a coma.

Sally liked Sandy since she was a child, and it had been more than ten years. Everyone thought that

Sandy and Sally would get married one day, but now Lauren appeared.

At yesterday's banquet. Sally looked at Lauren seriously, which made her and Sally start to get worried.

That was clearly a sign of a man's interest in a woman.

If it weren't for Sandy's obvious behavior and Sally's fainting, Mrs. Bennett wouldn't have gone to Lauren and asked her not to get involved.

"Tiffany," Lydia interrupted Mrs. Bennett and said, "I have something to ask you."

Hearing her sister's serious tone, Mrs. Bennett became a little nervous and then asked Lydia, "What happened?"

"You must be honest with me," Lydia's voice sounded not friendly, "Half a month ago, did you have lunch with my husband?"

"Yes," Mrs. Bennett nodded. She met him by chance and had lunch together.

"Why didn't you keep distance from him? Don't you know he is your sister's husband?"

"What are you talking about? That's nonsense!" Mrs. Bennett was anxious and also angry. She even wanted to face Lydia in person right now, "How can you think of me like that? I'm your sister!" Mrs.

Bennett's chest rose and fell with her eyes turning red.

Since you know this," Lydia sneered, "You should now know how your daughter Lauren feel when you said those things to her.

Lauren didn't do anything yet but you started to blame her."

Mrs. Bennett was immersed in thinking and she immediately understood what her sister meant.

Mrs. Bennett said, "I... I didn't mean to hurt her."

“Of course you didn’t mean to do that,” Lydia kept saying. “You care so much about Sally that you even ignored Lauren’s feelings Your heart was full of Sally and there was not even a tiny place for Lauren.

You went to see Lauren and criticized her without any evidence. Lauren must be very disappointed in you now!”

There was silence for a long time before Mrs. Bennett said, “I...I just forgot.” She forgot to think about Lauren as her mother. Lydia sighed, “Don’t be sad. It was not your fault anyway. Lauren had been lost for 18 years and now you might not accustomed get along with her when she is back.”

“No, it is my fault.” Mrs. Bennett said, “But I just hope that Lauren could not hate Sally. After all Lauren was supposed to enjoy h life in the Bennett family.”

Chapter 26

Chapter 26

“I feel sorry for Lauren,” Lydia nodded and said. “But even if Lauren envy and hate Sally, I could understand her. After all, everything belongs to Sally is supposed to be Lauren’s, including Sandy.”

“I could make it for her.” Mrs. Bennett hurriedly said, “but Sandy loves Sally”

Lydia didn’t agree and sneered. “Only you think so. Lauren is the offspring of the Bennett family and the Betty family and she was better than Sally in very respect.”

“What are you talking about?” Mrs. Bennett was not happy and said, “What is wrong with Sally? In the circle of celebrities, Sally is one of the best. She is good at playing the piano and even held a personal concert.”

“How do you know that Lauren couldn’t play the piano?” Lydia asked.

Hearing this. Mrs. Bennett was stunned for a moment and she felt she had heard it before.

After a while, she remembered that it was what Lauren said to her before.

Mrs. Bennett was silent for a moment, and then told Lydia what Lauren said to just now. She wanted to say that Lauren didn’t want people to talk about her past life, but Lydia thought differently. “Don’t look down on Lauren. Maybe she was raised by a more powerful family.”

“She had no adoptive parents,” Mrs. Bennett frowned. She once heard Mr. Bennett mention that Lauren was adopted by an old man and they only knew his surname was Bach, who also adopted two other children.

It was said that his situation was not too bad and was incomparable to the Bennett family.

After listening to Tiffany’s words, Lydia nodded and said. “Then you’d better not to mention Lauren’s past. Young girls at this age have the strongest self-esteem.”

“That’s what I think about,” Mrs. Bennett agreed. It was what she meant. She didn’t mean to mock Lauren at all and she just felt sorry for Lauren and her past.

Sally had been in the Bennett family for more than ten years so this was a fact that could not be changed. Sally’s knowledge, temperament, and vision, belong to her. Even if Lauren was jealous, she couldn’t take them away.

Mrs. Bennett felt that she cared about Lauren, but unfortunately no one understood her. She said, “I’m really afraid that my two daughters couldn't get along well," she gave an example, "Take clothes, Sally worn luxury brand since she was a child while Lauren doesn't even wear earrings. Lauren must be uncomfortable when she sees it."

The more Mrs. Bennett said, the more she was worried. Sally knew much more about the sight, the understanding of big brands, and the appreciation of jewelry. Lauren knew few about this and if she didn't have a good relationship with Sally, she might be embarrassed in the future in the social event.

Then others will definitely laugh at her and laugh at the Bennett family."

Lydia said, "It's useless to say this now. It's better to give a competent assistant to her, who might help her in the future."

It was not an easy thing to handle different kinds of people for Lauren who just came back to the Bennett family.

"But I'm afraid that Lauren won't trust me," Mrs. Bennett was angry when she said this. Because of Wendy and Monica, it made Lauren and Sally harder to get together. So Mrs. Bennett was afraid that Lauren might not trust her anymore.

Lydia said, "You can ask Jeffery to do this for you."

At the mention of her eldest son, Mrs. Bennett's eyes lit up.

Chapter 27

Chapter 27

After Mrs. Bennett left, Lauren stood at the door for a while. She suddenly sneered and then grabbed a towel to dry her hair. Her hair was no longer dripping water, but it was still a little wet. There was messy hair plastering on her cheeks, reflecting her delicate and beautiful face. Lauren always looked perfect on any occasion.

At that time, someone knocked on the door!

It was so noisy! Lauren thought. She frowned and threw the towel in her hand. Darren outside the door behaved impatiently as Sally knocked on the door in front of him. He looked rather irritated.

Til knock the door!" He pulled Sally aside and raised his fist.

Knock knock! It was like dense drum beat and it seemed that he wanted to smash the door.

Seeing this, Sally was nervous and said, "Darren, don't knock the door so hard."

Darren frowned impatiently. He had a bad temper and it was like he was in a bad mood at any time. He often got angry for no reason. At this moment, Darren was already on the verge of rage, but he suppressed his anger because Sally was there too.

Sally came closer to the door and whispered, "Lauren, are you still awake? I really want to talk to you."

Inside the door. Lauren took a sip of water and changed her clothes.

Sally and Darren were waiting for a long time outside the door, but Lauren still didn't come out. Sally bit her lip and didn't know what to do.

"Darren," Sally raised her head and said, "Maybe Lauren is sleeping now. We can see her tomorrow."

Darren hit the door so hard that several servants had noticed it. Sally didn't want her Grandpa to know about this.

Darren didn't want to see Lauren at all and it was Sally who asked him to come here so Darren now of course wanted to leave. They turned around and wanted to go downstairs. The moment they raised their feet, the door opened.

Darren and Sally turned around together and looked at Lauren, who wore a set of sportswear. Even though it was the most ordinary style but it made Lauren look tall and energetic. Her hair was a little messy but it didn't make her look less beautiful.

Sally never thought of Lauren as a threat, but in the face of such a beautiful woman, no man could remove his eyesight from Lauren. When Sally thought of the surprise in Sandy's eyes when he met Lauren at the first sight, she lowered her head and suppressed the gloom in her heart.

Lauren glanced at them and said, "You can come in."

Sally turned calm and showed a smile on her face. She stepped forward and said enthusiastically,

"Lauren, I am sorry to bother you"

Hearing this, Lauren quietly looked at Sally.

Sally suddenly turned a little nervous and she subconsciously apologized to Lauren, "I'm so sorry. We shouldn't knock the door so hard. Sorry to bother you!"

After saying this, Sally froze for a moment. It was a little strange. She didn't know why she apologized to Lauren before Lauren said anything. It seemed that as long as she faced Lauren, she would become nervous.

This was not a good thing, Sally thought. She should be more proud in front of Lauren.

After entering the room, Sally changed her attitude. Her expression was gentle but she said with a faint condescension, "Lauren, we want to talk to you now."

Chapter 28

Chapter 28

Lauren sat on the edge of the bed and when she heard what Sally said, she raised her head and asked, looking at Darren on the sofa, "Is it because you don't want to go abroad?"

How did she know? Sally was surprised and so was Darren.

After a while, Sally came back to her senses and she had to say, "Lauren, Darren will be very lonely if he goes abroad. I know you also care about him and don't want him to go abroad, right?"

Lauren didn't say anything and just stared at a place.

Sally continued, "Moreover, It is because of you that Darren has to be sent abroad by Jeffery. As long as you tell Jeffery that you forgive Darren, he will not have to go abroad."

"Don't beg her!" Darren couldn't allow Sally to be so humble in front of Lauren.

"Darren!" Sally whispered, "Do you want to go abroad?"

Darren frowned, and his tone was contemptuous, "I don't but I don't want you to beg her."

Sally patted Darren's hand, and then turned her head to look at Lauren, saying with a smile, "He is still young, so I hope you can forgive him."

Lauren finally began to look at them and said, "Since you don't want to beg me so why do you come?"

Sally and Darren had nothing to say.

Sally smiled. She rarely smiled, but as long as she smiled, she was like a flower blooming. Sally said,

“Do you think you can ask me to do anything? Is it my fault? Should I be sorry to you?”

“I just returned to the Bennett family and I am not close to you now so you think I will definitely do what you tell me.”

“In this family, I have no power to make any decision. Grandpa was the one who can make the final decision. Jeffery would not say no to Grandpa. You can also go to beg Mr. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett to help you.”

“If you don’t want to turn to Grandpa or your parents, you two can go to see Jeffery yourselves since he is your elder brother. You can cry and beg, and swear that you will never make the same mistake in the future. Then Jeffery might forgive Darren.”

“There are so many things you can do,” Lauren sighed, and then asked, “Why do you ask me for help?”

There is nothing I could do to you, actually,” Lauren said calmly and coldly.

“Is it because you two think that I am weak and I will do anything you tell me?” Lauren said.

“If I don’t do it, I think you are going to criticize me of being cold and indifferent; If I do that for you, you will think I am supposed to do that, right?”

“That’s so smart! Who came up with this idea?” Lauren asked and looked at Sally and Darren.

Sally immediately became embarrassed. Darren didn’t like Lauren at all so he would never apologize to her.

Darren said to Lauren in anger and arrogance, "I just want to know whether you are going to help me.

Just tell me that."

Lauren raised her head and glanced at him coldly. She didn't care how angry Darren was because that was none of her business. Darren was irritable in his heart and he could no longer suppress the anger so he raised his foot and kicked the small table in front of him.

Bang! The wooden table was kicked to pieces by Darren!

Chapter 29

Chapter 29

Sally was sitting next to Darren and she was startled by his sudden movement. Her face immediately turned pale and then turned around to appease Darren, "You should calm down."

Darren failed to calm down and his fists clenched tightly as if he was going to beat Lauren.

"Don't make trouble here! I don't care if you help me or not!" Darren said.

Lauren raised her eyes to look at him, and still said calmly, "You are just such a simple man. Do you solve problems only by force?" Darren was a little embarrassed when he heard this. He looked at Lauren and said, "Who are you? How dare you judge me?"

"Then get out of here right now," Lauren pointed to the door..

In fact, when she heard Sally's voice, Lauren knew her and Darren's intentions.

But Lauren wanted to give them a chance. The moment she opened the door, Lauren had an idea:

They came here because they were family but not because they wanted use her to beg Jeffery. But the truth was cruel.

Suddenly, Lauren felt everything was very boring, and she didn't understand why she kept staying in the Bennett family these years since they never treated her as a family member. What am I expecting?

Lauren thought.

Probably, she really looked forward to having a family.

She knew Grandpa and Jeffery in this family loved her so Lauren wanted to ask for more. She wanted to be part of the family. But now, the illusion and expectation were finally gone, and she didn't want to talk with Sally and Darren anymore.

Lauren told them to leave but Sally didn't want to leave. She came to Lauren's room tonight, not because she hoped that Lauren would intercede for Darren and make him stay, but because she wanted to make Darren dislike Lauren and hate Lauren.

But now, the goal had not been achieved, because Lauren saw through Sally's intention. Darren was also a little embarrassed.

Sally grew up with Darren since he was a child, and she knew him well.

Darren was angry but he also knew today it was his fault. No matter if Lauren helped him. Darren would not hate Lauren.

Therefore, Sally grabbed Darren's arm and looked him with tearful eyes, saying. "Darren, do you really want to go abroad? I will be worried about you if you are out alone. No one could take care of you then.

Mom and I will miss you so much."

Darren looked helpless and said, "Then what should we do?"

Darren of course didn't want to go abroad

Darren was not afraid to go abroad, but this time he didn't want to because Jeffery will definitely send someone to keep an eye on him, and will not give him much money. It was like staying in prison so Darren did not want to leave.

Lauren had already turned back to pack her backpack. When she looked up, she found they still standing in her room. She raised an eyebrow and picked up her backpack.

Her backpack made Lauren easy to come and go.

"Why don't you leave? She walked over to them who were now standing in the doorway, "Then I have to go."

Sally was talking to Darren just now so she didn't pay attention to Lauren. Now seeing this, Sally said,

"Are you going to leave here?"

Lauren nodded.

Chapter 30

Chapter 30

"If you leave now, what about Darren?" Sally was anxious and subconsciously grabbed Lauren's arm. Lauren sneered, "It's none of my business." And then she dodged Sally's grip.

But Sally leaned forward and took a few steps. Then she fell to the ground.

Darren immediately pulled Sally up with one hand, and raised his other hand, about to slap Lauren.

At this moment, Darren's face was red and his chest rose and fell in excitement. He looked at Lauren in disgust.

It can be seen through Darren's reaction that he didn't take Lauren seriously at all. He treated Lauren like a slave and subordinate.

This was not Lauren's fault, but Darren still blamed Lauren for this.

The moment Darren raised his hand, Lauren's eyes suddenly became cold. Do they really think that she was weak? Since her arrival, she had been tolerant with them all the time and even if Darren wanted to hurt her, Lauren didn't say anything.

In an instant, she took off her backpack and threw it at Darren's face.

Darren was immediately stunned for a moment. For the first time in so many years, he was slapped in the face by someone. He panicked, but because he had practiced martial arts for several years, his reaction was quite fast. He raised his leg and aimed at Lauren.

He was wearing leather shoes, and if he kicked Lauren with such force, Lauren might hurt badly.

Such a ruthless man!

Seeing this, Lauren's pupils narrowed violently. In such a situation, she still had time to observe his expression. It seemed that she wanted to make sure whether he was intentional.

This kick did not fall on Lauren's body. She just stood quietly in place and took her backpack to stop Darren's attack. After that, she threw her backpack on the bed, and then picked up Sally.

Sally didn't know what had happened, and she was somehow standing in the corridor.

She was pushed out. Sally was so anxious that she didn't know what to do and at this time, a call came. Glancing at the familiar number on the phone, Sally immediately said after picking up, "Mom, didn't I tell you not to call me when I was in the Bennett family?"

The caller was Sally's biological mother, Mona Tyler. Sally was not a orphan brought back to the Bennett family from the orphanage by Mr. Bennett. She was the illegitimate daughter of Mr. Bennett and his mistress Mona.
