Chapter 31

Chapter 31

“But I am worried about you,” Mona said to Sally, “I heard that Tiffany attached great importance to her lost daughter and even bought her a car.”

Hearing this, Sally frowned and asked, “How did you know this?”

Mona said, a little unhappy. “You would never tell me about this, right?”

Sally was a little impatient and said, “Don’t make any more trouble for me. If you hadn’t asked someone to hurt Lauren, Grandpa wouldn’t have given her shares of the company.

Don’t make matters worse

Mona said in a low voice, “It was my fault.”

Sally sighed, and raised her hand to press her temples. She was already struggling in the Bennett family, but Mona kept causing troubles for her. If what Mona did was known by the public, Sally’s reputation be ruined, and even her marriage with Sandy would have been ruined. Who would want to marry a vicious wife?

Mona sighed and regretted it, “I should have sold her into a remote village in the first place. I didn’t expect her to come back after these years!”

“Shut up!” Sally couldn’t prevent herself from roaring, and she warned Mona, “Never ever mention this in the future. Never let Dad know that you deliberately make Lauren missing.”

“I know. I’m not that stupid,” Mona muttered.

Sally knew Mona too well, and as soon as she heard this, she knew Mona didn’t pay attention to what her said. Eighteen years ago, Mr. Bennett took Lauren to have a secret meeting with Mona but in the middle of the meeting, he had something urgent to do so he asked Mona to take care of her. But Mona purposely made Lauren missing and then told Mr. Bennett that Lauren was lost. Mr. Bennett believed her and everyone thought it was Mr. Bennett who accidentally made Lauren missing. No one knew that it was Mona who planned to do this.

Although Mr. Bennett loved Sally more than Lauren, Lauren was still his biological daughter. And as Mona grew older, Mr. Bennett’s feelings for her faded. If he knew that Mona deliberately made Lauren missing, Mona would definitely be in trouble.

At that time, not only Mona but also Sally would be punished. Even if Mrs. Bennett loved Sally very much, she would not be able to accept the fact that Sally was the daughter of her husband and another woman.

Indoors, there was only Lauren and Darren.

That kick did not fell on Lauren’s body and Darren himself was also relieved. He didn’t want to hurt

Lauren in his heart but sometimes he lost his temper and couldn’t control himself.

“What do you want to do?” Darren frowned and asked Lauren.

Lauren raised her head and said indifferently, “You think you are powerful?”

Darren replied, “So are you gong to teach a lesson to me?”

Darren knew it was wrong to use force, but even if he injured someone, the Bennett family would help him to solve the problem. Darren still didn't realize his mistake.

For the first time, Lauren saw such an arrogant person who used his fists and power to hurt others, and even was proud of himself.

Lowering her head, Lauren clenched her fist and then raised her head, asking, "How do you think of my fist?"

What is she talking about? Darren was confused. While he was still thinking, he suddenly felt that his world turned dark. Lauren gave him a punch on his eyes.

Chapter 32

Darren was a little surprised and then immediately turned angry. He subconsciously wanted to fight back, but strangely, he lost all his strength.

When his fist landed on Lauren's shoulder, Lauren didn't move at all while he himself took a few steps back. "What is going on?" Darren thought. He looked down at his fist and didn't understand why he suddenly lost his strength. In order to figure it out, he punched the wall but screamed in pain.

"What did you do to me?" Darren raised his head in shock and looked at Lauren in disbelief.

Lauren suddenly raised her hand and then pulled out a silver needle shining with cold light from his neck, saying, "I rarely did this to other people."

This tone made Darren feel that he should feel honored.

After speaking, Lauren applied something on her arms, cheeks, neck, and so on. Immediately, bruises appeared on those places, as if she had been beaten hard. After doing all this, she pushed down the chairs and tables, making a mess in the room.

Then Lauren walked to the door, put her hand on the doorknob, and glanced back at Darren.

Her look made Darren feel that he was firmly nailed in place.

“Do you know the feelings of being weak and helpless?” She asked Darren.

Darren trembled, looking at Lauren who was like a devil, and thought, “What did she do? Why did my strength disappear? Why is this?”

“Why didn’t you answer my question?” Lauren said in a low but pleasant voice. But it made Darren tremble more violently. He shook his head in a panic and said, “I don’t know...”

“It’s okay,” Lauren smiled, “You will know soon.” Then Lauren opened the door.

Outside of the door, stood a lot of people, including Mr. Bennett senior, Mr. Bennett junior, Mrs. Bennett,

Jeffery, and some servants.

Because of the big noise, Sally hurried to call everyone come, and some of them were even about to kick the door before Lauren opened it.

At this moment, everyone found the bruises on Lauren at the door and Darren, who was full of anger.

After seeing this, everyone almost froze. Though Mr. Bennett senior didn’t like Lauren, he turned extremely angry, roaring and rushing up to beat Darren. “What are you doing??? It is violence!”

In the past, if Darren beat someone, the Bennett family could use money to deal with the matter.

But now, Darren was beating his own sister. How could he do this? Mr. Bennett couldn't believe this and Mr. Bennett senior's hand supporting the crutch even trembled lightly because of anger. If Jeffery hadn't supported him, Mr. Bennett senior would fall to the ground. Mrs. Bennett and Sally both gasped in surprise. It was so terrible! They knew that Darren had a bad temper, but they never thought that he would be so fractious. If they hadn't come in time, Mrs. Bennett thought Lauren might even die.

There was fear in Sally's eyes when she looked at Darren.

In the past, Darren had always been unafraid of nothing, no matter how big trouble he caused. He didn't care what his parents would punish him. But at this moment, he was really afraid.

He dared to admit what he had done, but no one could blame him for something that he didn't do.

His Secret Millionaire's Wife

Chapter 33

Chapter 33

While Darren was dodging his father's beat, he raised his head and said, “I didn't beat her! She made those bruises herself!”

When people outside the door heard this, they started to look at Darren in contempt, even including the maids.

In the past, although Darren was irritable, he would never deny what he had done. But now he lied! The maids thought in their heart. The Bennett family was disappointed in Darren, and the servants showed disgust in their eyes.

Darren wanted to explain, but when he saw people's eyes, he suddenly lost the strength to argue. No one would believe him, no one. Everyone thought he was lying.

Lauren was right in front of him, indifferently watching him being beaten by his father. Darren suffered great pain because he couldn't avoid Mr. Bennett senior.

He raised his head to look at Lauren. As if sensing his gaze, Lauren lowered her head, smiling quietly.

Seeing this smile, Darren even trembled and he realized that he was afraid of Lauren at this moment.

In his lifetime, Lauren was the most beautiful woman he had ever seen, but she was also very dangerous at the same time. "Is she a beautiful demon? Hadn't she lived a miserable life for 18 years?

How could she be so clever? Is she really my lost sister? Who is she?" Darren thought.

"Stop," Lauren said with a cold face and voice.

Mr. Bennett, who was in a rage, didn't know who was speaking but he finally stopped. And then he realized that it was Lauren who stopped him.

Facing Lauren, Mr. Bennett junior felt guilty in his heart because it was he who caused Lauren's missing while he was dating with Mona, his mistress. So the sight of Lauren would always reminded

Mr. Bennett of his mistake that he made eighteen years ago.

He loved his daughter Sally very much, but he didn't like Lauren after these eighteen years.

He didn't want to get along with her and wanted to make it up for Lauren with money.

But anyway, Lauren was his daughter. Thinking of Darren, Mr. Bennett turned angry again and said,

"I'm going to beat him to death."

Lauren looked at him and did not speak because she was not interested in Mr. Bennett punishing Darren. The reason why she stopped Mr. Bennett was that they blocked the door and Lauren wanted to take her backpack and leave.

Lauren's indifference surprised Mr. Bennett senior. "Even if she didn't care about her father beating her brother, she should at least pay attention to her injuries. Why is she so emotionless?" Mr. Bennett senior thought. So she stopped Lauren who was about to leave and said, "Lauren, could you stay here?"

Lauren raised her eyes and her curled eyelashes flickered, like a fluttering butterfly. It could make people felt pity for her. Lauren said to Mr. Bennett senior, "But it hurts, Grandpa."

Her words made everyone present silent. Everyone seemed to care about her.

His Secret Millionaire's Wife

Chapter 34

Chapter 34

Care came so easily at this moment but Lauren thought it was not truth care and love. The true concern and true love, in Lauren's mind, should be something from the bottom of one's heart. No one should pray or beg for love.

Because she had expectations for the Bennett family and she wanted to get true love in this family. But, now... She lowered her eyes which turned indifferent and disappointed.

Lauren knew how to get people's love but she didn't want to. She just wanted to be loved wholeheartedly. Lauren thought she didn't need sympathy of any others. So she calmed herself in an instant, as if nothing had happened. Lauren's face turned cold again.

Lauren turned her head to Mr. Bennett senior and said, "Grandpa. I have to leave now. I have some work urgent to do these days." "Do you have to leave now?" Mr. Bennett hurriedly said and she worriedly looked at those bruises on Lauren's body, saying, "Do you need to go to the hospital at first?"

Lauren replied, "No need. It is not a big deal. I can take care of myself. I have to leave."

"What is so urgent? Your health should come first," Mrs. Bennett was so worried that she was even about to cry. She wanted to get close to Lauren but she didn't dare to do it.

"If you're too tired, you can just quit. You needn't to work hard now since you are back to the Bennett family. I can give you as much money as you want."

Mrs. Bennett was worried about Lauren. In her opinion, a girl shouldn't work hard since the Bennett family is enough rich. Mrs. Bennett thought Lauren just needed to be dressed up and hung out with other ladies at the same age of her.

Lauren just ignored Mrs. Bennett and said. "I'm leaving."

Mrs. Bennett stood at the entrance of the stairs, watching Lauren leaving. She sighed, "Lauren is so stubborn."

Sally stepped forward and hugged Mrs. Bennett, silently comforting her.

Mrs. Bennett turned her head and smiled at Sally. She thought, "Sally is really a good daughter."

After this. Mr. Bennett took Darren to the study and taught a lesson to him. The others returned to their rooms. Sally still accompanied Mrs. Bennett, who recalled Lauren's leaving, and complained to Sally,

"Why is Lauren so stubborn?"

Sally was careful and intelligent and she knew although Mrs. Bennett complained about Lauren, she actually cared about her. In front of Mrs. Bennett, and even in front of the Bennett family, Sally never say bad things about Lauren, nor would she imply that Lauren is bad. She had always been acting as a gentle and considerate girl.

What Sally wanted was the power of the Bennett family, the trust of her eldest brother Jeffery and her parents and the dependence of Mrs. Bennett on her.

Sally wanted to be in charge of the Bennett family one day, but not a pitiful one hiding under her parent's wings, crying and begging.

"Mom," Sally patted the back of Mrs. Bennett's hand and comforted her, "I know you care about Lauren, but you need to give her some time to let her accept it."

"I know," Mrs. Bennett nodded. "I didn't ask her to accept me and get close to me immediately, but I just want to care about her. She got so many injuries on her body but she insisted on going back to the college. I just don't understand her. Why didn't she care about her own body?"

"Mom, maybe Lauren was afraid of her teachers criticizing her in the college," Sally comforted Mrs.

Bennett patiently. Mrs. Bennett nodded and agreed with Sally. She thought Sally was right. Lauren must care much about her studies, so that she could have a bright future.

After understanding this, Mrs. Bennett decided to call Lauren's teacher.

When the teacher was about to have a rest, she received a strange call and then picked it up, "Hello?"

"Hi. This is Lauren Bennett's mother."

Lauren's mother? The teacher was rather surprised because as she knew, Lauren was an orphan who was raised up by an old man. She didn't know why Lauren's mother called her.

Worrying if something bad happened to Lauren, the teacher was a little nervous and asked, "Is there something wrong with

Lauren? What happened?"

"Lauren is alright," Mrs. Bennett shook her head and said, "I just want to talk with you Lauren."

The teacher was relieved when she heard that Lauren was alright and she said, "Okay, what do you want to know about Lauren?" Mrs. Bennett said that she wanted the teacher to reduce the burden on Lauren's shoulders and she also asked the teacher to find someone else to replace Lauren.

After listening, the teacher did not speak for a long time.

Mrs. Bennett continued, "Lauren is my daughter and I didn't want her to be so tired. She didn't have to work so hard and she just needed to stay at home."

"What are you taking about?" The teacher was so shocked that she didn't know what to say at that moment, and it took a long time before he continued, "Do you know about Lauren's research?"

Mrs. Bennett didn't care about her research at all and she just didn't want Lauren to be so tired. Even if it was a great research, Lauren wouldn't take a big part of it. Mrs. Bennett said. Her mentor would be the core leader of that research.

Mrs. Bennett didn't want to talk to the teacher anymore, and said, "Don't Lauren too tired."

The teacher, "..."

After the phone was hung up, the teacher was still stunned.

One teacher came over and then she finally returned to her senses.

"What's wrong?"

Lauren's teacher slowly turned her head and said, "It's too crazy. Just now Lauren's mother called me and asked me to find someone else to do that research. Lauren is the leader of her team! How could her mother say this?"

The other teacher said, "You mean Lauren Bennett? The girl who got the National Youth Science Fund?"

Lauren's teacher nodded.

Lauren in the college was known as the most promising genius. Her mother actually ran over and said that she didn't want Lauren to be so tired! At this moment, Lauren's teacher thought Lauren's mother was so ignorant or arrogant.

After all this, it was pretty sure that Darren had to go abroad. Since that, he was not in the mood to go to school, and he hung around all day.

He went to the hospital for several examinations, but no abnormalities were found. The doctors, including everyone in the Bennett family, felt that he was alright and he just had a bad mood because he had to go abroad.

His grandpa and others in the Bennett family were all disappointed in Darren, thinking that he lied.

People thought Darren even lied that he had no strength after the doctors said that he was alright,

Darren was going crazy in the family because everyone didn't believe him.

Even Sally thought he was lying too. Darren could see the disbelief in Sally's face.

Bang!

Darren got up and his movements were so fast that he accidentally hit the table. He really couldn't stand staying at home so he ran outside irritably.

However, after running a while outside, he stopped. The outside was vast, but there was nowhere to go. Realizing this, Darren became even more irritable. How could he have nowhere to go?

The phone in his pocket came to ring at this time.

He picked up and said in an unfriendly voice, "Who?"

"Why are you so angry?" Someone on the other side of the phone asked deliberately.

Darren frowned. He knew this voice and it was from Bob who did not like him in the college. At the beginning, Bob liked a girl and confessed to her, but that girl ignored him, and went to confess to Darren, which, Bob thought, made him lose face.

Bob couldn't bear this humiliation, so he just came to Darren for a fight.

Darren was not afraid of Bob so they had a big fight and Darren beat Bob up.

Bob was also from a powerful family so he was as proud as Darren. He wanted to beat Darren up one day. So Darren knew that it was not a good thing when Bob called him and Darren was about to hang up the phone. But Bob kept angering Darren so they made an appointment.

Darren went there directly.

Bob hit a ball with a billiard cue and glanced up at Darren.

Darren leaned on the billiard case, and said, "What do you want to do?"

Bob raised his chin and signaled people around to rearrange the billiards, saying, "You are going abroad, and I won't see you again in the future, right?"

Darren's face was gloomy and said in anger. "Are you laughing at me?"

"No!" Bob smiled playfully and said, "I just want to say "Congratulations!""

Before Bob finished, Darren's fist had already hit the table.

Bob glanced at him and snorted coldly, "Why are you so weak now? That's not you!"

After that, he stepped forward with bad intentions, clenched his fists, and took a hit on Darren's chest.

Darren was irritable and raised his hand to push Bob's hand away, but as a result, Bob didn't move at all.

Seeing this, Bob smiled, "It turns out that you really lost your strength! I thought it was a rumor." Bob laughed for a while, and then his face instantly turned cold, his hand grabbed Darren's collar, and his eyes were cold. "You are in trouble today." Throwing him to the ground, Bob said to the people around him, "Teach him a lesson! There is no safety cameras!"

Bob said evilly, "Today is not a good day for you, Darren."

The people around slowly gathered. Darren's face was calm, but his heart was panicked. It was the first time he felt afraid.

At this moment, he suddenly remembered Lauren's words: Do you know the feeling of being weak and helpless? It turned out that this was how it felt. No one could help Darren so he had to squat and covered his head with his hands.

Chapter 37

Chapter 37

This was the only thing could do to prevent himself from Bob's fists.

However, Bob finally didn't beat him and Darren only heard a sneer from Bob.

So Darren raised his head and looked at Bob who was sitting on the table, supporting his arm with a cue, and looking at Darren narrowly.

Darren had never seen Bob behaving like this before. In Darren's mind, Bob had always been arrogant and he had never looked like this. Bob was so calm and there was even a trace of jealousy in his eyes.

"What is he jealous of? Is he jealous of me?" Darren thought in surprise.

Darren suddenly wanted to laugh because he couldn't understand why someone would be jealousy of him.

"You can leave now," Bob nodded his chin.

But Darren didn't move.

"What's wrong with you?" Bob sneered, "Do you still want to stay here? Do you want me to beat you?"

Darren looked at Bob seriously and asked, "Why do you let me go?" Darren didn't believe that Bob would be so kind and just wanted to scare him.

They were the children of powerful families, and Darren knew that Bob would not seriously injure him.

Because in the end, their parents would solve the problem for them.

It was a perfect chance for Bob to beat Darren but Bob didn't, which made Darren confused.

"Why didn't you beat me?" Darren asked again.

This obviously irritated Bob and he threw the billiard cue, stepped forward, and grabbed Darren's collar.

Bob clenched his fist tightly, wanting to punch Darren hard. But he controlled himself and didn't do that.

Seeing this, Darren was even more confused.

"You are just lucky!" Bob released Darren and said in anger and jealousy.

"What did Bob mean?" Darren frowned and thought.

They were both from rich families and did whatever they wanted to do. Why did Bob say that Darren was lucky? Darren was very confused by Bob.

Bob didn't want to talk to Darren anymore and took out a simple small wooden box from his pocket. He threw it over and said to Darren, "Take it. This is good for your health." Darren became more and more confused.

"Lauren told me to give this to you," Bob said with red eyes. He followed behind Lauren for several years, and even chose to study medicine for her. But Lauren was still cold and indifferent to him.

"Why Lauren is so kind to Darren? Is it because he is her brother? Why did he get so much attention from her?" Bob thought in anger, sadness, and jealousy.

"You'd better have a blood test," Bob said angrily "Lauren said that since your childhood, you were fed medicine which could make it easy for you to become irritable. She was not sure whether there was a cure for this and she told you to restrain yourself when you lose your temper." Darren was confused, not knowing if what Bob said was true.

How could Bob know Lauren?

"Remember to have a blood test. She said you have something in your blood but I can't remember what it was," Bob took out a note with a molecular formula written on it from his pocket and threw it over, "It is this."

After speaking, he left with a group of people, leaving Darren alone reading the note.

"This was what Lauren wanted to say to me?" Darren thought.

From childhood to adulthood, he had been facing preaching and scolding so Darren was now surprised by Lauren's care!

His Secret Millionaire's Wife

Chapter 38

Chapter 38

After returning to the college, Lauren rushed to the laboratory and spent all her time doing research, even without eating and sleeping. Her tutor was worried that it might influence her health, so her tutor asked someone to remind Lauren to have meals at specific time.

Lauren was really busy. Although she was just an postgraduate, she was in the charge of everything about the research. Because she stayed in the Bennett family for some time, she had to work harder to make some progress.

Some teammates in her team made some mistakes, and she had to correct them.

After a busy morning. Lauren stayed in the rest room, having lunch. Several Lauren's seniors came to her to ask her for advice on their research.

Lauren took a bite of her hamburger, thinking about how to answer the question. The questions that her seniors asked were not difficult but a little complex so she wanted to answer them in a way that they can understand easily.

But at that moment, her phone rang. She subconsciously stretched out her hand, wanting to hang up the phone but when she saw it was a call from Leo, she was hesitant.

Her heart softened with joy.

She put down her hamburger and picked up her phone, nodding to the people around her and saying.

“Excuse me, I have a phone call.”

Then she walked to the window and picked up the phone.

“Lauren!” Leo said with excitement on the other side of the phone and asked, “Are you busy recently?”

Lauren shook her head and said, “I am not busy.”

Leo was a little disappointed and thought, “Why didn’t Lauren call me since she wasn’t busy? Did Lauren not like me?” Thinking of this, Leo became nervous, and his beautiful eyes were bright, saying,

“Lauren, thank you for the gift you gave me last time. I like it very much, so I want to call you to thank you.”

Leo was a polite boy and he used the gift as an excuse to call Lauren. He didn’t want to bother Lauren

so he immediately changed

he topic.

Charlie, who was sitting next to Leo and watching him calling, raised his eyebrows. Charlie didn’t expect Leo was so smart. “Really?” Lauren said in a gentle voice, “I’m glad to know that you like my gift.”

Leo looked down at his watch, pursed his lips, and did not speak for a long time. Noticing this, Leo took a glance at him.

Leo looked up at Charlie and suddenly stood up, running to the door. He turned his back to his father because he didn’t want Charlie to know what he said to Lauren.

Seeing that there was no sound over there, Lauren thought Leo hung up the phone so she asked, “Leo, are you still there?” “Yes,” Leo said in a cute voice, “Lauren, I want to invite you to come to my home tomorrow.”

Coming to his home? Lauren thought of Charlie and then hesitated.

Leo immediately became nervous and said, “Lauren, will you come?”

Even if Lauren didn’t see Leo, she could still feel disappointment in Leo’s voice. So Lauren quickly replied, “Yes, I’ll go to see you tomorrow.”

Leo immediately became happy, tiptoed around and giggled. The happiness almost overflowed.

“Lauren, I can’t wait to see you tomorrow,” Leo happily hung up the phone and then ran back to the living room. Seeing Charlie, Leo ran to him and asked his father with cunning, “Dad, why do you let me call Lauren?” It was Charlie who wanted Leo to give Lauren a call.

Charlie sat on the sofa, leaning back with his legs folded.

He did not answer Leo’s question, but asked him, “Don’t you like Lauren? Why don’t you call her these days?”

Leo was staring at his father, but after hearing this question, he suddenly became sad as if he remembered something bad. Charlie was very surprised. “Why was Leo sad?” Charlie thought in surprise.

Leo thought for a while and then said to Charlie, “I miss Lauren very much, but...” He lowered his head and looked a little hesitant.

day.

“But what?” Charlie took Leo into his arms and asked him.

“But Lauren doesn’t like you,” Leo said with sadness, “If I she could be my mom, I will be very happy.

But she does not like you.” Charlie was a little embarrassed and he gritted his teeth, saying, “How do you know that she doesn’t like me?”

“I just know it!” Leo crossed his arms, and suddenly became excited, “She was not happy with you that day.”

Though Leo was just four year old and he didn’t know what was going on between adults, he was aware of Lauren’s anger that Charlie didn’t say anything for a long time, as if he didn’t believe this was what Leo said. He looked at Leo for a while. It wasn’t until Leo stood up that Charlie came back to his senses. He held his son and put him on the sofa, sitting side by side with Leo.

Charlie tilted his head and thought for a while. He explained, “I didn’t make Lauren angry.”

Leo also tilted his little head, not very convinced.

Charlie continued, “I just started to know Lauren, so we were not very close yet. She just didn’t know what to talk about with me.

That didn’t mean she didn’t like me.”

“Really?” Leo was ready to trust his father.

“Yes.” Leo’s expression was serious and he said, “If you don’t believe it, you can call her and ask her if she likes me.”

Leo lowered his head and hesitated.

Seeing this, Charlie continued to say, "Are you worrying that Lauren would be unhappy when she sees me? If you are, then you should ask her if she likes me. If she says that she doesn't like me, we will never bother her again."

Leo touched his little feet, frowning and thinking.

"You can call her now," Charlie persuaded his son to call Lauren, "If you don't call her right now, she will be busy later." Hearing this, Leo immediately called Lauren again.

Receiving the call from Leo again, Lauren was a little surprised.

Leo was silent for a long time, and then asked Lauren carefully. "Lauren, is it true that you don't like my dad?"

"Why did Leo ask this question?" Lauren was confused and she didn't expect that this four-year-old boy would be so sensitive. He could actually detect her emotions.

Lauren was always very soft-hearted when she faced Leo and she herself didn't know why. The moment Lauren remembered that Leo had no mother since he was little, she felt sad for him. So she quickly replied, "That's not true! I like your father very much." Lauren just wanted to comfort Leo. But after Charlie who overheard his son's phone call heard it, his whole body was full of happiness.

Hearing this, Leo was relieved and said goodbye to Lauren before hanging up the phone.

"I told you that Lauren won't hate me. She likes me," Charlie smiled brightly and his face showed delight.

Chapter 40

Chapter 40

The Bennett family sent an assistant to Lauren, but Lauren was in college these days, so Lauren didn't meet her. Because Lauren was going to see Leo the next day, she called her assistant in advance

This assistant was called Kelly Bush with short hair and a round face. She was a very capable girl

The next day, Kelly came to Lauren early in the morning with breakfast and gifts for Len

Because the stores were closed yesterday when Lauren called Kelly so she didn't mention the gifts for Leo, but Kelly still brought gifts that were suitable for boys aged four or five. That was so considerate of Kelly to do that.

This was really a surprise for Lauren because she didn't know what to buy for Leo right now.

"Thank you," Lauren said.

Kelly was a little shy and her face was blushing. She was very happy when Lauren thanked her.

Because Kelly knew Lauren and liked her very much.

Kelly had been admiring Lauren for a long time, and she had already heard about Lauren in the company. Kelly knew that without Lauren, there would be no brand of YM.

To work as Lauren's assistant, Kelly made great effort to get this chance.

The breakfast she brought was simple but Lauren liked it very much.

Obviously, Kelly had worked hard to inquire clearly about

Lauren's habits and preference.

Lauren was not in a hurry to go to see Leo, so Lauren said to Kelly that she could stay in her place and then Lauren went to read books in her study.

Kelly was nervous and looked around Lauren's home. She especially admired Lauren and in MY company, Lauren was a legend Lauren graduated from the top university and won the biology award at the age of 20. She extracted a special substance for the first time and was the youngest biological scientist,

Everyone in MY company knew how great Lauren was.

The MY company had been thinking about using yeast substances to make a mask that was both safe and effective, but it failed several times. It was hard to find a balance between safety and effectiveness.

A group of top cosmetics experts at home and abroad in the laboratory studied for half a year, but they could not solve the problem and they even wanted to give up the project at that time.

But after Lauren came to their laboratory and stayed there for less than three days, the problem was solved. Those top experts were dumbfounded. They couldn't believe that such a tricky problem was solved by Laurence so quickly. Since then, YM hoped that Lauren could come to its laboratory when they were in difficulties.

However, Lauren had a higher goal and was not interested in cosmetics research and development. So she just occasionally came to the company to solve problems.

What's more, Lauren not only had a high IQ, but also was beautiful and Kelly thought Lauren was even more beautiful than movie stars and she just a little indifferent.

Lauren was sorting out the literature at the desk. Kelly was bored and she didn't dare to make a sound.

It was a one-room living room, so Kelly was not far from Lauren. Kelly was afraid of disturbing Lauren.

However, sitting motionless was really uncomfortable, so Kelly frequently looked at Lauren, thinking that maybe she could help

Lauren sort out the literature.

Thinking so, Kelly quietly walked over and said, "Lauren, do you need my help with your literature?"

Then Kelly's gaze fell on the literature on the desktop, and she started to become extremely surprised!

Lauren didn't look up, and gave Kelly a few pieces of literature, saying. "Do you know French or German?"
