

Honey You're a Billionaire Chapter 181

Chapter 181 She Was Angry

in the luxury car, Anastasia waved to her.

“Rosie, get in the car quickly.”

Rose responded to her enthusiasm with a smile. After getting in the car, Anastasia saw the ring on her hand. After just one glance, she looked away without exploring too much.

She knew that the ring must have been given to Rose by Jonathan. As Oliver saw Rose, he couldn't hide the smile on his face. After the dinner, Rose and Miles took Oliver's measurements together.

Miles discovered the ring on her hand. He recognized it at a glance as the one that Jonathan had taken at the National Jewelry Design Award. A hint of unusualness flashed in his eyes.

When they were taking Oliver's measurements, Anastasia also found the origin of the ring on Rose's hand.

*500 million...

She had heard that Jonathan took the pair of rings designed by Rose. However, she didn't expect that the ring was in Rose's hand now. She has seen the red diamond before.

After the Finches got the red diamond, several female relatives wanted to take it. Even she once imagined that she could use the red diamond to make jewelry.

In the end, Rose was the one who got it. With a cold look in her eyes, she carefully observed the design. After a while, a smile appeared on her lips. She called her assistant in Regalia.

“I remember that Lerain Group released a top-quality red diamond three years ago?”

“Yes, Ms. Young. That red diamond has not been released to the market since then. I guess they collected it themselves.”

After confirming her speculation, Anastasia ordered, “Contact Lerain Group for me. I want to buy the red diamond at any price. However, the transaction must be secret and I cannot be revealed.”

“Alright, Ms. Young. I'll do it right away.”

After hanging up the phone, she glanced at the design coldly. Jonathan gave the ring to Rose. It gave her the opportunity to use the ring to separate the two.

Early the next morning, as soon as Rose woke up and walked out of the room, she met Anastasia going out dressed very delicately.

“Ms. Young, do you have a date today?” Patrick asked with concern.

Anastasia responded with a bright smile, “I need to meet a very important person.”

After finishing her words, she looked at Rose at the top of the stairs and continued, “Rosie, I might not be back tonight. You and Miles don’t miss me too much.”

She winked at her playfully. Rose twitched the corner of her lips. A guess emerged in her mind, but

Chapter 161 5hm Wan Arign

she quickly put the thoughts away.

“What is your plan for today?” Miles asked as he walked out of the room and saw Rose.

+25 BONUS

“I don’t have any plans,”

Rose was a little absent-minded. Looking at her twirling the ring on her finger, Miles knew that she must be thinking of Jonathan at this time.

As a hint of annoyance flashed in his heart, he raised a smile and said, “I’m going to attend a birthday party today. Why don’t you accompany me?”

Rose didn’t like that kind of occasion. However, she couldn’t refuse him.

“Sure.”

The two of them went out after having breakfast. Miles particularly brought her to choose a dress.

On the way to the birthday party, Rose learned that she was going to attend the birthday party twins of the Chambers family.

the

The Chambers family had been involved in politics for several generations. It was considered family friends with the Youngs.

The twin siblings of the Chambers family had just returned from studying abroad. The Chambers held this birthday party to create an opportunity for Madeline, who had a crush on Miles to meet him.

When they arrived at Chambers Residence, Rose went to the washroom.

When she came back, she saw Miles chatting happily with several people. She didn't disturb him but went to the side and found a seat to sit. As soon as she sat down, she heard a familiar voice

"Rose?"

Maya didn't expect to meet Rose here. The atmosphere became tense as the enemies met. She looked at Rose and sneered disdainfully.

"Why are you here? This is the Chambers family's birthday party. No outsiders were invited. How did you get in?"

Her attitude made her seem to be very close with the Chambers family. Rose didn't want to bother her. She looked away, as if she didn't exist. Her reaction stimulated Maya.

"Rose, who do you think you are, that you dare to show your face to me here?"

She was furious. Suddenly, she seemed to think of something.

She stared at her for a while and changed her attitude as she said, "Fine, Rose, have fun."

With that, she turned and left. Rose finally found peace. She got a glass of wine from the waiter and drank alone. Thinking of the date Anastasia mentioned this morning, she looked at the ring on her finger.

She couldn't suppress the strange feeling in her heart. She took out her phone and called her star

+25 BONUS

Chapter 181 She Was Angry

escort husband. The phone rang for a long time with no one answered. In the end, it was disconnected.

Rose was stunned for a moment. She dialed again, but this time the call went through.

“Hello?”

A woman’s voice came. Her hand shook and she hung up the phone subconsciously. She recognized the voice. It was Anastasia. A trace of anger emerged in her heart.

He had just given her the ring yesterday, yet he was having fun with his investor today. What’s his attitude? She felt that she was acting too cowardly to hang up the phone just now, Taking a deep breath, she decided to call again. If Anastasia picked up the phone again, she would bravely ask her to hand the phone to her star escort husband and scold him.

However, when she called again this time, the phone had been turned off.

“Shut down the phone? Ha

She stared at the phone and wanted to curse, but she held back. She angrily took off the ring in her hand and threw it into the wine glass before leaving. As soon as she took a few steps, someone stopped her.

“Hey, Miss...”

She paused and turned around to see the owner of the voice. He was wearing a white suit. There was a sinister aura about him. Upon seeing the ring in the wine glass he was holding, Rose frowned.

Howard followed her gaze and stared at the ring in the wine glass. Then, he handed the wine glass to her.

“Are you reluctant to throw away such a big diamond? Let me guess, the person who gave you the ring. must have made you angry, right?”

“It’s more than just making me angry,” she replied through gritted teeth.

Then, she looked at him and continued, “If you like it, I’ll give it to you, but only if you don’t mind if it’s fake.”

With that, she turned around and prepared to find a secluded place to take a nap. Howard was a knowledgeable person. He knew that the diamond was genuine.

However, he didn't reveal her. Instead, she was full of interest in the beautiful young lady in front of him. Upon seeing that she was going to leave, he immediately chased after her.

"As a man, what do I do with a woman's ring? I think this ring looks good on your hand. Why don't you just keep wearing it?"

While talking, he had already taken out the ring from the wine glass and handed it to Rose.

Honey You're a Billionaire Chapter 182

Chapter 182 Better to Forget Him

Rose stared at the ring. It was rare to see such a big diamond that looked so genuine. It would be a pity to throw it away. She would just wear it. She took the ring and put it back in her hand angrily.

However, she ignored Howard as she walked forward. The smile on Howard's face froze. He had brought the ring to her. Did she forget to say something to him?

Nevertheless, from her angry expression, she seemed to be filled with thoughts of the person who made her angry. He immediately chased after her and walked side by side with her.

"Since he made you angry, why are you still thinking about him? Why don't you forget about him?"

Forgot about him?

Before Rose could say anything, he continued, "If you forget about him, I'll introduce you to a better one?"

Rose wondered what he was talking about. Upon seeing Rose frowning in confusion, Howard smiled evilly as he stood in front of her.

"How about me? Am I on par with the man who made you angry?"

He winked at her. Rose halted her steps. She was amused by him. She scanned him for a while as if to confirm whether he was compatible with her star escort husband.

Soon, she concluded.

“You’re not as handsome as him.”

The smile on Howard’s face froze. He wondered if he was not as handsome as the man.

Try to have a better look.”

As if refusing to admit defeat, he opened his arms and circled in front of Rose. Then, she stared at Rose again to confirm.

“How about it now?”

Rose suddenly found him interesting. She held her chin as her eyes were much more serious than before.

She looked at him for a while before replying, “You’re not as handsome as him.”

Upon seeing that his expression was about to change, she immediately reassured him, “But you’re more interesting than him.”

Interesting? It wasn’t a pleasant word for a man.

As he wanted to ask how handsome the man was, Rose reached out to him first and she said, “My name is Rose Shaffer, Nice to meet you, and thank you for helping me get rid of my bad mood.”

Howard raised his brows. He was glad that his efforts were not a waste.

Chapter 15) fatter to forget 10%.

+25 BONUS

He patted her palm like a buddy as he said, “My name is Howard Chambers. Now that we know each other, we’ll be friends from now on, right? You’re my first friend in Aquastend. You must cherish it.”

“Your last name is Chambers? You’re...”

Rose suddenly remembered that she was at Chambers Residence. Could he be

She almost asked to prove her guess when Howard said, “Today’s birthday party’s my sister’s idea. It has nothing to do with me.”

He was indeed the twin brother of the Chambers family. Rose had come as Miles's female companion. She didn't prepare a gift alone.

"Um..." She raised a smile as she tried to fool around. "Happy birthday."

However, Howard blocked her way.

"Where's my present?"

He spread his hands toward her. There was a trace of embarrassment in Rose's smile as her flickered. She didn't have a way to come up with a temporary gift for this new friend.

After racking her brains, she still couldn't figure it out.

She could only look at him and say, "Is it okay if I owe the gift?"

Upon seeing Howard's frown, she quickly raised her hand and swore, "Don't worry, I'll prepare gifts when I get back today and have someone deliver them to you."

Howard stared at her. He came from a wealthy family, and he had received different kinds of gifts. He could get whatever he wanted. Hence, gifts were not something important to him.

However, he wanted to receive a gift from her now.

After a while, he sighed and said generously, "Alright. You owe me a birthday ay gift."

Not far away, Maya's face turned dark as she saw the two of them. She wondered how Rose got to talk to Howard. They even chatted happily.

She glared at Rose fiercely. Suddenly, she heard a waiter's voice coming from behind, "Ms. Maya, you're here. Ms. Chambers is looking for you. She said she wanted to introduce some friends to you.

Maya frowned. She quickly calmed down her emotions and turned around.

"Alright, please take me to find Madeline.

Madeline was the twin sister of the Chambers family She was the protagonist of today's birthday party. She knew Madeline by chance.

When she was released from the detention center a few days ago, she was feeling extremely depressed. As she couldn't contact Kelly, she went shopping at a shopping center to relieve her depression.

Chapter 182 Better to Foresti

+25 BONUS

When she was taking a break, she found a coffee shop and happened to meet Madeline, who had no money or cards and was unfamiliar with electronic payments.

At first, she didn't know she was the daughter of the Chambers family. She thought she had a good temperament and must have a good background. Hence, she paid the bill for her.

She didn't expect that she was the daughter of the Chambers family.

The Chambers family was involved in politics. Madeline's father was the second fiddle in Aquastead, while her uncle was taking a position in Regalia.

In Aquastead, the Chambers family's status was comparable to that of the Gibson family. Maya was excited. She realized that Madeline was righteous and kind.

When she saw Rose coming here just now, she planned to badmouth her in front of Madeline so that she could drive Rose out. However, she had changed her mind. Rose dared to hook up with Howard.

She clenched her fists as she followed the waiter to the second floor, where she saw several girls secretly looking somewhere downstairs.

Is he Miles? Madeline, you have a good taste."

"Look at his temperament, only he is worthy of Madeline."

"That's right. Madeline, you and Mr. Young have a tacit understanding. He's in a black suit while you're in a white dress. People might think it's your wedding today."

The girls gathered around Madeline, coaxing her into blushing with just a few words. Maya walked over and spotted Miles surrounded by several people downstairs.

As she took a look at the shy Madeline, she immediately understood the situation. Madeline was interested in Miles. That was great.

"Madeline....

She walked up. The girls immediately looked over. Madeline then greeted her and held her hand affectionately.

“Let me introduce you to her. Her name is Maya Lawson, and she’s my new friend. She’s a very kind person. If it weren’t for her, I wouldn’t have been in a dilemma that day.”

After saying that, she introduced the names of the girls to Maya one to one.

“Maya, what do you think about him?”

She looked at Miles downstairs, waiting for Maya’s admiration.

However, after looking at him for a while, Maya suddenly frowned as she said, “He’s handsome and elegant, but..

Madeline’s expression changed slightly as she asked, “But?”

Not only her, but the other girls also looked at Maya. Under their gaze, Maya bit her lips as she looked embarrassed

Then, she seemed to give up as she said, “I know Mr. Young. He seems to be pursuing my cousin

Honey You’re a Billionaire Chapter 183

Chapter 183 Deliberately Causing Trouble for Her

Upon seeing that their expression darkened, Maya immediately said, “Madeline, today’s your birthday I shouldn’t say this to affect your mood. But we are friends, and I can’t hide some things from you.

Madeline’s face finally softened

Then, she twitched the corner of her mouth as she said, “It’s alright. I know you are doing it for my good. It’s just that.”

She had liked Miles since she was a child. It hadn’t changed in all the years. As the other girls noticed her sudden depression, they immediately targeted the cousin mentioned by Maya.

“Who is your cousin? Is she prettier than Madeline? Does she have a better family background?”

“Madeline, don’t worry. Maya, tell me your cousin’s name. I’ll teach her a lesson and let her know that she couldn’t just seduce any man.”

They were filled with indignation. This played into Maya’s wish.

She frowned as she said, “She’s my cousin. Even though she has a good appearance, she’s good playing tricks. She’s already married, but she can still seduce Mr. Young

Her statement startled the crowd.

at

“What? She’s still seducing someone after she’s married? This kind of woman only relied on her pretty What’s her name?”

The girls asked for her cousin’s name again. Maya hesitated for a moment.

Her eyes flickered as she replied, “She’s called Rose. I just saw her here.”

“She even came here!”

“Madeline, don’t worry. Since she dares to seduce the person you like, we must teach her a lesson. today

They couldn’t wait to stand up for Madeline. This was exactly what Maya wanted.

However, she pretended to be worried as she said, “Don’t mess with her. She learned Taekwondo before. I’m afraid she will hurt you...”

The girls were stunned. What’s the matter if she learned Taekwondo before? They might suffer losses if they fight alone, but no one restrained them from finding helpers.

“Madeline, today’s your birthday. We’ll give you another big gift.”

“Yes, you just watch the show.”

The girls grabbed Madeline’s hand and went downstairs. Madeline didn’t say anything. After the girls ft, Bonnie came to inform her that the party was going to begin.

The first dance of the party was originally presented by a twin. However, Bonnie knew Madeline’s thoughts and had long planned for her to invite Miles,

It was an opportunity for intimate contact as they danced together.

“Go ahead.”

Bonnie took Madeline downstairs and pushed her over. Standing so close in front of someone she liked after so many years, Madeline’s heart beat like a drum.

When Miles looked over, she blushed so much that she even forgot what to do. Looking at her daughter’s behavior, Bonnie could only come over.

“Miles, this is my daughter, Madeline. You have met her when you were young. She just returned from abroad and doesn’t have many friends. You can lead her for the first dance, can’t you?”

Miles instinctively wanted to refuse. He looked around, trying to find Rose, but he couldn’t see her anywhere

“I’m sorry. ...”

I

There was a trace of worry in his eyes.

Before he could refuse, Thomas also came up and said, “Miles, if you refuse, both Madeline and I will be sad.”

Even the Young family must be wary of the Chambers family.

“How could I refuse?”

Miles forced a smile as he agreed. Madeline excitedly took his arm and walked to the center of the dance floor.

The music then started. Even though they were dancing together, Miles was absent-minded.

His reaction fell into Madeline’s eyes. Thinking about Rose, whom Maya mentioned just now, her eyes narrowed slightly. By this time, it was already dark.

Ten minutes ago, Howard was called away, leaving Rose alone. As she heard the music playing in the room, she knew that the dance had started.

She was about to go in, but before she reached the door, a waitress hurriedly came to deliver a message. “Ms. Shaffer, Mr. Chambers invites you to come over.”

Mr. Chambers... Was he referring to Howard? She had no doubt and followed the waitress.

She was not familiar with the environment of this villa. After walking for a while, she found that she seemed to be going further and further.

She began to be doubtful as she asked, "Where's Howard?"

Just as she asked, someone suddenly appeared from behind and pushed her hard. There was a swimming pool next to her. She was caught off guard and fell into the pool.

The

er splashed everywhere. Being choked by water, she emerged from the swimming pool.

several people came out beside the swimming pool

There were both men and women, and everyone had expressions on their faces. The person who pushed her just now was a boy dressed in punk clothes.

"You must be fore

"You

The boy squatted by the swimming pool.

He stared directly at Rose's wet body and said. "You have a good figure. I have my eyes for you t

He had an eye for her, so he pushed her into the water? She didn't think it was a new way to strike up a conversation. Feeling the gazes on her, she only allowed her head to show is Chambers Residence. Is it good for you to make trouble like this?"

"You also know that it is Chambers Residence? You even seduce people here!"

One of the girls sneered Rose found it funny. She guessed that it was probably because her conversation with Howard had provoked someone. She found those men from wealthy families disaster

"I'm not interested in Howard."

She didn't want to get involved with these people. She wanted to get up quickly as the water was very cold

As soon as she finished speaking, someone said, "Who said it's because of Howard?"

If it wasn't because of Howard, then who would it be? She felt a little angry. No matter who it was, she had no interest at all Glancing coldly at the people around the pool, she slowly swam toward the edge of the pool. However, as soon as she reached the edge of the pool, a pair of feet appeared in front of her.

As she raised her head, the foot was lifted to deliberately step on her head. There was a sharp look in Rose's eyes. When the foot was about to step down, she grabbed the man's ankle without hesitation.

The man was slightly startled. As Rose exerted the force, the man fell into the swimming pool with a pop in the next second

"Damn it!" he cursed angrily

When the other girls noticed that Rose was going to go ashore, they quickly urged several men to go over and try to stop her. Nevertheless, Rose pushed all of them to the water.

"Grab her and push her into the pool," a girl said.

The men in the pool immediately surrounded Rose. For a moment, Rose seemed like a prey surrounded by wild beasts. The eyes of those people looking at her became more and more unpleasant.

"Are you sure you want to cause trouble for me?"

Rose remembered Anastasia mentioned that she would not be coming home tonight. She wondered if her star escort husband was going to stay with her. Thinking about it, she was irritated.

Now with these people causing trouble for her, she couldn't hold back her anger.

"We're not looking for trouble. We just want to have fun with you."

In the pool, someone looked at Rose with an increasingly evil look.

A hint of disgust flashed in Rose's eyes as she said coldly, "Alright, let's have fun."

Honey You're a Billionaire Chapter 184

Chapter 184 Not Taking Her Seriously

The group of people plunged toward Rose. She took a deep breath and quickly got into the water. As the men plunged for nothing, the girls on the shore were anxious.

After searching around, someone suddenly pointed to a place and said, "Hurry up, she's there."

Everyone in the pool looked in the direction the girl pointed. Just then, Rose had swam behind one of them.

When those people turned around, she suddenly emerged from the water, clenching her fists, and punched the nearest person in the face.

"Ah..." he screamed.

As everyone was stunned, Rose took the opportunity to dive into the water.

"What are you doing? Don't let her run away!" the girls on the shore urged.

At their words, someone in the pool exclaimed. The next moment, he sank into the water. In a he kept trying to push away the hand holding his ankle, but every foot fell on his companion.

panic.

There was chaos in the pool for a moment. The girls around were furious. However, Rose had left the pool without everyone knowing.

She casually took a bath towel beside her and put it on her body as she was ready to leave. As she was about to leave, someone saw her.

"Is she there? She wants to leave, stop her!"

Several people at the pool immediately rushed toward her. The commotion soon alerted the people at the party outside. As Miles heard the commotion, he immediately thought of Rose.

"I'm sorry, Ms. Chambers. Pardon me

He let go of Madeline and walked out in a hurry. The others immediately followed. Howard hurriedly came downstairs. He walked out curiously after hearing the commotion.

In the crowd, Maya's lips curled up into a sneer. She knew it must be those women trying to please Madeline. She wondered how they were having fun with Rose this time.

She was excited to see how Rose was being tortured and being miserable. As everyone walked toward the pool, the screams became louder. Finally, they saw the scene in front of them.

In the huge swimming pool, men and women were either struggling or swimming to the edge. They were all submerged in the water, except for one person standing by the pool.

She was wearing a bath towel. Her hair and body were wet, but she didn't look embarrassed at all.

"Rosie..."

Miles hurriedly stepped forward as he saw Rose

#25 BONUS

"What's going on? Is someone bullying you?" he asked with concern.

Rose frowned and said nothing. She glanced at the people in the pool. Miles followed her sight and looked over. His elegant face was now gloomy and dark

Those in the swimming pool and those who came over had a change in their expression.

With the scene in front of them, anyone could tell that the two parties had gone through a battle, with the people in the pool being one party and the person standing beside the pool being another one

It was obvious that they were bullying the person.

As the owner, Thomas didn't have a good expression as he said, "Why don't you get out and tell us what happened?"

No one in the pool dared to disobey his words and immediately climbed up. As if wanting to shirk responsibility, some blamed Rose.

"It's not us, it's her. She took the initiative to provoke us. That's why we had a conflict. Mr. Chambers, who is she? Why is she here? We should kick her out!"

"Yes, she ruined Madeline's birthday party. She should be kicked out!"

Thinking of how they had just been thrown into the pool one by one by Rose, they felt aggrieved and wished someone could take revenge for them.

Thomas looked at Miles. He guessed that Rose should be his female companion. His daughter had a deep affection for Miles. Naturally, he didn't want to be kind to his female companion.

However, he was polite toward Miles as he said, "Miles, she's Miles held Rose's hand tightly as he said, "Mr. Chambers, I brought her here. If you don't welcome her, we'll leave immediately. But before we leave, we must find out what happened just now. She can't take the initiative to provoke others!"

Rose looked at him in a daze. She hadn't defended herself yet, but he believed in him. A warm feeling emerged in her heart.

As the wind blew, she sneezed. Miles immediately took off his suit jacket and put it on her. His action made Madeline bite her lip subconsciously.

Upon seeing the situation, Bonnie tried to smooth things over as she said, "Miles, let Madeline take this young lady to change clothes first. Madeline Madeline came to her senses and stepped forward, but Miles protected Rose behind him.

"It's alright. Let's find out what's going on and we'll leave immediately."

After finishing his words, Miles glanced around, seemingly looking for surveillance. However, there was no surveillance near the swimming pool.

Ruse knew that she couldn't compete with those people just by words. As she was thinking about what to do, she saw a shrinking figure behind the crowd.

+25 BONUS

It was the waitress who brought her over. As the waitress saw her gaze, she was about to leave in a hurry.

Rose immediately shouted, "Stop!"

As she shouted, she strode toward the waitress. The waitress was startled. In a panic, she lost her stability and fell to the ground. Rose stepped forward and grabbed her wrist.

"What are you afraid of? Are you worried that I'll expose the fact you brought me here just now?" she said fiercely.

A hint of guilt flashed in the waitress's eyes.

Then, Rose continued, "Tell me, who asked you to bring me here? You said Mr. Chambers was looking for me just now. Where's he?"

Howard's eyes darkened as he had just arrived.

"When did I ask you to convey the message? Don't accuse me. If you don't tell the truth, don't blame me for being rude."

As he spoke, he glanced at the people standing by the swimming pool without leaving any trace. A flash of guilt flashed in the girls' eyes."

Howard saw their reaction. The others present, including Thomas and Bonnie, also saw it. They immediately understood the whole story.

The waitress was extremely frightened. She quickly told the truth.

"It was these few ladies who asked me to deceive her in the name of Mr. Chambers..."

For a moment, the girls looked even more panicked.

Rose's eyes flashed with understanding as she asked, "Why did you do this?"

Silence filled the air. The girls bit their lips and looked at Bonnie. They didn't dare to say that they were trying to teach Rose a lesson.

Although they were guilty and panicked, they knew that even if they bullied Rose, Thomas would not blame them for their parents' sake. At this moment, Thomas indeed didn't want to blame them.

Even though Rose was brought by Miles, she was just his female companion. What he was thinking about now was to appease Miles.

"Miles, young people like to play around. Everyone went into the water; it's okay as long as nothing happened."

He had a smile on his face.

Then, he told the people by the pool, "Come over and apologize to Mr. Young, and I'll let this matter go."

Honey You're a Billionaire Chapter 185

Chapter 185 Punish Them for Her

#25 BONUS

The men and women in the wet walked up to Miles. As they were about to apologize, Miles stopped them

“It’s fine”

His voice was cold. The people felt happy as they thought he was letting them go for their parents’ sake However, Miles continued, “You should apologize to her, not me.

He didn’t even look at them. His eyes swept across Thomas and landed on Rose.

“Her?”

The girls’ faces were full of disdain. Rose was just Miles’s female companion, why did they need to apologize to her? Thomas glanced at Rose, not intending to speak.

A sheer flashed in Rose’s eyes.

Suddenly, she met Miles’s gaze and said, “Miles, I’m cold. If there’s nothing else, I’ll go back first.”

With that, she turned around. As soon as she took a step, Miles strode after her. At the same time, Howard also followed her.

“I’ll go with you together...”

“I’ll send you.

The two of them spoke almost in unison and arrived at Rose’s side at the same time. Rose’s address to Miles was still echoing in everyone’s minds. They couldn’t hide their surprise as they saw this scene.

As the three of them walked away, Bonnie came to her senses first. However, she did not bother with Rose’s address.

“Miles is gone now. As for the matter of attracting investment...” she told Thomas in a low voice with a hint of worry.

Besides making a match between Miles and Madeline, they also planned to finalize the You family's investment. Thomas frowned slightly but soon relaxed.

Young

"It's alright. Although Miles is angry, investment is a win-win situation for both parties. He's a businessman, he won't ignore the overall situation because of a woman."

Nevertheless, Bonnie was not optimistic. Thomas announced that the birthday party would continue.

The people who bullied Rose just now thought they had won as Rose had run away.

they were about to claim credit from Madeline, Howard returned.

You all come here," he called to them.

Chapter 185 Punah Them for ar

+25 BONUS

Several girls admired him very much. Even if he had a cold face at this moment, they didn't dare to disobey him with his status

Howard stood by the swimming pool. A group of men and women immediately trotted forward.

A girl who arrived in front of him sweetly called, "Howard..."

As soon as she spoke, Howard kicked her into the water mercilessly.

"Ah..." the girl exclaimed.

Her companions immediately became indignant.

"Howard, what are you doing?"

"Mr. Chambers, we're all guests today."

Howard didn't care about their identities. They had just bullied his guest. If Rose had not left, he would deal with these people in front of her. Rose left as she didn't want to make things worse.

However, he wouldn't let these people go easily.

"You guys go into the water yourself, or I do it?"

He moved his wrists as if he was about to fight. Everyone present was suddenly afraid.

They had no hesitation in hitting Rose. However, if they fought with Howard, they would suffer a loss regardless of the consequences.

“Howard, are you venting your anger for that woman’s sake, right? Do you know that she’s married and she even seduced Mr. Young?” another girl told Howard as she remembered what Maya said.

She wanted to reveal Rose’s true colors. However, Howard didn’t care. His affection for Rose was not fixed with any impure thoughts. It didn’t matter whether she was married or not.

As for seducing Miles, he felt that Rose was an upright person and wouldn’t do such a thing.

“Do you see her seducing Mr. Young? If not, I’ll tear your mouth apart if you accuse my friend.”

As he said the words, several people were shocked. He regarded Rose as his friend.

However, Madeline once mentioned that he was haughty, and he had a strange personality as no one could catch his eye. In a daze, Howard kicked another person into the pool.

Wi

up, everyone came back to their senses. They found Howard’s eye getting colder. Even though he didn’t speak, his eyes seemed to ask them to jump into the pool on their own.

Although they felt aggrieved, they knew that he wouldn’t give up if they didn’t jump into the pool.

After a moment of hesitation, one of them took the lead and jumped into the pool, followed by others. one after another. A bunch of people were in the swimming pool.

Howard looked at them and said, “Whenever the party ends tonight, you’ll come out at that time. After you come out, get lost!”

+25 BONUS

Chapter 185 Pinesh Thems for Ts

With that, he didn’t bother to pay attention to these people and strode away. As his figure disappeared, everyone finally vented their anger and grievances.

“Rose’s indeed good at playing tricks.”

“Yes, it’s all her fault. She had just met Howard, and he’s willing to embarrass us for her.”

“If I meet her in the future, I’ll cause her trouble.”

After Miles left the party, Madeline also lost interest. She witnessed Miles’s defense of Rose just now, which made her feel particularly uncomfortable. On the side, Maya was extremely angry.

She thought Madeline’s friends were good at fighting, but she didn’t expect them to call for help. However, not only did Rose not suffer too much loss, they even made themselves miserable.

And Howard... Her eyes flashed.

As she looked at Madeline, who was sitting on the sofa in a bad mood, she bit her lips and apologized, “I’m sorry Madeline. If it weren’t for what I said, they wouldn’t have gone to find my cousin, and they wouldn’t have been in such a mess.”

Madeline pursed her lips and comforted, “How could it be your fault? They also did it for me. However, Miles seems to care about your cousin. I heard her calling his name just now

Maya also found it weird that Rose and Miles seemed close. At most, Rose might just use tricks to deliberately make them look intimate. She pretended to be worried and grabbed Madeline’s hand.

“Madeline, my cousin is good at playing tricks. She can call Mr. Young in such an intimate way. If she intervenes in the affairs between you and Mr. Young Madeline bit her lip. She had admired Miles since childhood. Even if someone intervened, she wouldn’t give up easily.

“Maya, can you help me make an appointment with your cousin?” she suddenly asked.

Maya was a bit surprised.

“Why do you want to meet her? What if she hurts you “Just help me to ask her out. I’ll let her give up Mr. Young.

Madeline's eyes were firm. However, Maya knew that she had no reasonable reason to ask Rose out. She would not agree. Soon, she thought of a way.

"Alright, I'll help you to ask her out." she agreed confidently.

Honey You're a Billionaire Chapter 186

Chapter 186 Rose at Home

Rose and Miles returned to Young Estate. They left the ball early. Upon returning to Young Estate, they found Oliver hadn't rested yet.

Oliver personally approached Rose. He noticed she coming in wrapped in a towel, wearing Miles' suit jacket, and with soaking wet hair.

"Rose, what happened? How did you end up like this?"

Rose sneezed immediately after Oliver's words.

Oliver's expression turned grimmer. He immediately directed the butler, "Hurry, have May set up the bath. Rose, go take a shower first, don't catch a cold."

Rose did need a soak in a hot bath. She gave Oliver a reassuring glance but didn't say much, then proceeded upstairs to her room.

Oliver's expression grew even more grim.

He glanced at Miles and asked in a cold tone, "If I recall correctly, tonight was the Chambers twins birthday ball. You take Rose out, and this is how you both come back? What went wrong?"

Filled with self-condemnation, Miles said, "It's my fault for not protecting her. We faced some unpleasant incidents at the ball. But Grandpa, rest assured, I'll ensure they all explain.

Oliver finally eased up on Miles.

His cane struck the ground forcefully as he said coldly, "Hmph, the Chambers family? Warren Chambers should have shown proper respect to Rose. Who does Warren think he is? My granddaughter visits their house, and he dares to mistreat her!"

After a moment's contemplation, Oliver decisively opted to take matters into his own hands and instructed, "Bring me the phone, I'm calling Warren."

Patrick swiftly fetched the phone and dialed a number. The call connected in just a second. Warren was home, ready to retire for the night.

The ring of the phone prompted him to swiftly rise from his bed, a smile gracing his face as he greeted, "Mr. Young, it's rather late. What can I do for you?"

"What can you do for me? How can I trust someone from your Chambers family?"

Oliver's tone remained even, yet his simmering rage remained thinly veiled.

Warren was immediately on alert. He was more shrew than Thomas and understood that Oliver had visited Aquastead.

He immediately speculated, "Mr. Young, did Thomas Chambers make a mistake?"

You're good at guessing. Since you've figured it out, ask him yourself." Oliver hung up the phone immediately after saying that.

T

Warren didn't waste a moment and immediately dialed Thomas' phone.

When Thomas heard that Oliver was angry, he was momentarily stunned. He swiftly concluded the call, bid farewell to everyone, and immediately sought out Bonnie to discuss the events of the evening.

"What's Mr. Young angry about? The only incident today was the girl falling into the pool.

Bonnie wore a puzzled expression as she glanced at Thomas. They still couldn't grasp any connection between the girl brought by Miles and Oliver's anger.

Meanwhile, Rose had just finished her hot bath. She knew there must be a reason behind why those people would team up to bully her today.

However, she retaliated in kind, so she soon let go of the matter. The moment she walked out of the bathroom, she saw May delivering a bowl of hot soup to her.

"Ms. Rose, I've prepared a hot soup for you. Mr. Young and Mr. Miles instructed that you must drink this soup. Please don't catch a cold."

May placed the hot soup on the table and was about to leave when Rose called out to her.

"Do you need anything else, Ms. Rose?" May turned and inquired.

Rose's eyes glimmered slightly as she asked, "Has Anastasia back?"

“Ms. Young hasn’t returned yet. She mentioned before leaving today that she had an important appointment tonight and wouldn’t be back,” May answered as she noticed Rose’s subtle change of expression.

“Is there a matter you wish to discuss with Ms. Young, Ms. Rose? If it’s urgent, you can contact her by phone,” she continued asking.

“No, it’s okay, nothing serious,” Rose flashed a smile,

Following May’s left, Rose’s heart remained in a state of deep unrest.

She couldn’t shake off the image of her star escort husband from her mind. She attempted to dial his number several times but hesitated every time.

She eventually went ahead and called her star escort husband, but she was still met with a switched- off phone.

Rose felt suffocated and restless. She longed to drift into sleep, hoping to evade the tumultuous thoughts.

Yet, her mind remained engulfed in an endless whirlwind of thoughts, refusing to grant her the solace of sleep.

Opting for a change of attire and a stroll, she stepped out of her room, coincidentally encountering Miles walking out of his room.

“Miles?” Rose said in surprise.

2/4

+25 BONUS

Ever since that night when Miles saved her life, she got into the habit of calling him “Miles.” It felt a bit awkward at first, but now she viewed Miles as her brother.

However, Miles found himself increasingly disliking this address.

After assessing Rose for a moment and observing her with a bag, he frowned and asked, “Are y going out? You just fell into the pool, what if you catch a cold

you

“Don’t worry, I’m quite strong. I just want to make a quick trip to Zenwood Gardens... to pick something up,” Rose said with a glint in her eyes.

Miles understood her going to Zenwood Gardens wasn't merely about picking something. It immediately brought her husband to his mind

Miles didn't inquire further and he said, "I'll fetch you there."

As Rose remained hesitated, Miles had already gone back to his room. When he came out again, he was already dressed differently. Rose realized his concern and chose not to refuse him.

Upon arriving at Zenwood Gardens, Rose got out of the car and entered the house by herself.

Miles watched as her figure gradually disappeared into the distance, yet he didn't immediately drive back to Young Estate.

Miles looked at a building where previously dark rooms now had lights on. He wasn't sure if Rose was in that room, but he continued to stare at the illuminated lights, lost in thought.

When Rose entered, she found complete darkness around her. The expectation she had kept in her heart fell instantly to rock bottom. Her star escort husband wasn't at home...

Rose took a deep breath and switched on all the lights in the room. She glanced at every familiar corner, feeling as though her star escort husband's presence lingered in each place.

She felt as if she was cursed as she even regretted returning from the Young Estate.

Rose didn't want to dwell on any upsetting matters. She fetched several bottles of white wine, red wine, and beer from the fridge.

Sitting on the sofa, she kept drinking, seemingly intent on getting herself drunk. Meanwhile, a luxury car raced through the intersection of Zenwood Gardens.

Jonathan gritted his teeth, beads of sweat cascading down his striking face. The bullet wound on his shoulder blade had been bandaged, his black shirt casually draped over it.

"Mr. Finch, this is undoubtedly Jack's doing again. He arranged for his brother-in-law to meet you while orchestrating an ambush. Even though his brother-in-law took a bullet for you, I believe it's a ploy to deflect responsibility, and then there's Ms. Young..."

The recent incident left Finley feeling discontented and aggrieved. There was a certain level of personal acquaintance between Mr. Finch and Lucas Caldwell, who was Jack's brother-in-law.

He arrived at Aquastead today and arranged to meet up with Mr. Finch and Ms. Young. Due to their previous acquaintance, Mr. Finch accepted the invitation.

Unexpectedly, someone barged into the dining room and fired at Mr. Finch. Both Lucas and Mr. Finch were struck by a gunshot.

“Mr. Finch, shall we return to the hospital? If Mrs. Finch sees you looking like this, she might start questioning,” Finley said, glancing at Jonathan with concern through the rearview mirror.

Jonathan leaned against the car window, seemingly oblivious to what was said and his gaze fixed on the outside.

Just as the car was about to pass by Zenwood Gardens, he immediately rolled down the window. With a mere glance, he fixed his gaze on the house belonging to him and Rose.

The lights were on, Rose was at home!

Honey You’re a Billionaire Chapter 187

Chapter 187 1 Am Your Husband

Jonathan’s face brightened with a smile.

As the car was about to enter the underground parking, he suddenly said, “Stop the car.”

Finley was momentarily stunned, wondering if there was an issue with his wound.

He swiftly stopped the car and inquired, “Mr. Finch, is it your wound....”

“I’m fine,” Jonathan said, his gaze still fixed on the area where the light was shining.

Despite claiming to be okay, more sweat appeared on his forehead.

Tracing his gaze, Finley observed a place lit up by lights. It suddenly dawned on him that Jonathan wasn’t heading home but trying to ascertain if Rose was at home.

“Let’s go!”

Jonathan feared someone might be tracking them and didn’t want to stay around for too long. Finley grasped his order and immediately drove off.

At this moment, Anastasia hurriedly got out of the car at the lobby of Aquastead Hotel.

While she remained at the hospital, the news of Jonathan's discreet departure reached her. She knew he must have gone to find Rose. She placed a call to Young Estate to ask about Rose's location.

"Ms. Rose must be asleep by now. She fell into the water earlier today. After returning, she took a bath and hasn't been seen leaving her room since," May was the one answering the phone.

Anastasia finally relaxed, completely unaware that Rose and Miles had already taken off.

She didn't dare to visit Zenwood Gardens, opting to test her luck at the Aquastead Hotel instead, hoping for Jonathan's possible visit here.

As expected, she only waited for a short while before a car parked at the hotel entrance. Finley supported Jonathan as he disembarked from the vehicle.

Anastasia rushed up immediately, asking with concern, "Jonathan, the doctor said you need proper rest. Why did you run out?"

She was brimming with concern, yet Jonathan didn't spare her a single glance. He walked past her and entered the hotel, taking the elevator straight up to the presidential suite on the top floor.

She was discontented due to being ignored, yet she didn't dare show it.

Anastasia followed Jonathan all the way, but as they reached the door, Finley extended a hand to stop her. "T Young, and Mr. Finch need rest. Please, you may go back."

She came to a halt, feeling displeased by Finley's meddling as she truly couldn't accept leaving like this.

Anastasia looked at Jonathan's retreating figure and urgently pleaded, "Jonathan, let me take care of you Your Injury is severe, you need someone to look after you

Jonathan had no intention of bothering her at first no

Yet suddenly, as if struck by a thought he turned to Anastasia and uttered. Phoner

14's reaction left her speechless

She also suddenly remembered something, a hint of guilt flashing in her eyes. She swiftly took out Jonathan's phone from her bag wanting to hand it to him herself.

However, as she was about to walk through the door, Jonathan coldly stated, "Finley."

Merely calling out the name was enough for Finley to grasp his meaning. He once again extended his hand, stopping Anastasia, and said. "Ms. Young, just hand over the phone to me."

As Finley spoke, he had already grabbed the phone. She gritted her teeth, still refusing to let go.

However, she caught Jonathan's icy, disdainful gaze. She hesitated briefly, eventually relenting and releasing her grip.

Jonathan took the phone from Finley and then issued a cold dismissal, "Ms. Young, you may leave now. Furthermore, my personal belongings will naturally be taken care of by someone else. Please, show some restraint in the future."

His implication was clear—to mind her own business. Anastasia looked utterly forlorn, biting her lip. Tears were on the brink of falling from her eyes.

She wanted to say more, but Jonathan had already turned away, not deigning to spare her even a glance. Jonathan's door closed shut, and she slowly clenched her fists.

Anastasia murmured in her heart, "Jonathan's growing colder toward me, all because of Rose!"

"Damn it!" she muttered angrily through gritted teeth.

She now saw Rose as an even bigger thorn in her side. However, when Lucas and Jonathan went to the restroom together today, she happened to answer the two calls Rose made to Jonathan.

She purposely made a sound at that moment, hoping Rose would recognize her voice.

Coupled with the ambiguous words she intentionally spoke in the morning, she refused to believe that Rose wouldn't misunderstand. And what she desired most was precisely Rose's misunderstanding!

Rose was drinking alone in Zenwood Gardens. She had already consumed most of the alcohol she brought out and was already feeling quite drunk.

"Damn, nasty man!" she muttered with a slight flush on her cheeks.

The phone placed on the side table was lit up, its screen displaying the wallpaper of her star escort husband a divorce!”

+25 BONUS

Rose suddenly called out and tilted her head back for a sip of her drink. She decided to return the billion-dollar debt soon and instructed him to roll away as far as possible.

In a drunken haze, she grabbed her phone and checked the balance in her account. The savings showed over eight hundred million, leaving a gap of over one hundred million

Given Celeste Jewels' current revenue, it seems unattainable to raise over a hundred million within a year.

Argh...

Rose felt a bit frantic. But as her emotions surged, the alcohol she had just swallowed suddenly surged back up, causing a wave of nausea.

Her expression shifted, and she quickly got up and dashed to the bathroom, vomiting for a while until she felt a bit better.

She didn't notice that as she hurried into the bathroom, her phone rang. She had the water running and couldn't hear anything at that moment.

Meanwhile, Jonathan looked ghastly pale at the Aquastead Hotel. The phone in his hand was dialing Rose. Even if they couldn't meet, he longed to hear her voice.

But even after dialing for some time, there was still no response.

Jonathan furrowed his brow, thinking she might have already fallen asleep. Just as he was about to disappointedly hang up the call, the phone suddenly connected.

“Hello!” An enraged shout came through the phone.

Jonathan was startled, then immediately heard Rose fiercely speaking on the other end, “Hmph, thinking your handsome face gives you the right to do as you please? Let me make it clear, I have no interest in you whatsoever. Not coming home? Fine by me. You can go wherever, be with whomever you like, I'm not here to cater to you...”

trong smell of

At this point in her accusation, she suddenly hiccupped. Jonathan could sense the strong alcohol even through the phone.

He suppressed the pain from his wound and asked with concern, "Are you drinking right now?"

"Whether I've had a drink or not... hic... what... what's it to you? Who are you to me? You're nobody to me!"

With her phone clutched in hand, Rose had been at a seven on the drunkenness scale moments ago, but now she had skyrocketed to a perfect ten.

She couldn't even discern who was calling on her phone's screen.

Who are you to me?"

ie caught the ringing of her phone after leaving the bathroom. She didn't care who was on the other end at all.

All she knew was that she was feeling restless and needed to vent. Therefore, she picked up the call, treating the other person as a target for her outburst, Jonathan's brows furrowed even deeper, and he said sternly, 'Rose Shaffer, I am your husband!"

Honey You're a Billionaire Chapter 188

Chapter 188 Hallucination Or Reality

Rose's cheeks flushed, visibly pausing for a moment.

But then, she felt extremely dizzy and asked, "Husband? What husband?"

Rose glanced at her phone, yet her vision remained hazy. Weariness washed over her, and she settled into the couch, her breathing gradually calming. The phone screen remained on the call.

Jonathan's expression turned serious.

"Rose?"

He called out multiple times but received no reply. He knew Rose must have passed out from being drunk!

He was genuinely concerned that she had no one to care for her. Jonathan eventually endured the pain and called for Finley.

“Mr. Finch?” Finley stepped into the bedroom, greeted by the sight of Jonathan bare-chested. Then came Jonathan’s instructions, “Fetch me the bodyguard’s attire.”

His sudden request left Finley momentarily speechless.

He hesitated for a second and promptly inquired, “Mr. Finch, why do you need the bodyguard’s attire?”

“I asked you to fetch it, so just do it. Hurry up, why so much unnecessary talk?” Jonathan’s mind was filled with concern for Rose being drunk and unattended. He wished he could be by her side right away.

He suddenly recalled the assassination attempt earlier today, his eyes darkening slightly as he instructed, ‘Proceed with discretion.’

Finley didn’t dare to delay at all, quickly searching for the bodyguard’s attire. Shortly after, a set consisting of a white shirt and a black suit was presented before Jonathan.

Jonathan dressed and issued instructions to Finley. Subsequently, Finley arranged for a handful of bodyguards to escort Jonathan to the underground parking lot.

Every bodyguard took their respective car and left the parking lot. Anastasia didn’t return to Young Estate and instead stayed at the hotel.

“Ms. Young, a few bodyguards have just headed to the parking lot and left in their cars.”

She intentionally bribed the hotel staff to receive Jonathan’s real-time updates. This explains why she received a call when Jonathan left the presidential suite.

Anastasia didn’t pay much attention upon hearing it was just a few bodyguards leaving. The same news also reached Lucas at the hospital.

“Was it just the bodyguards who left?”

Clad in hospital attire, Lucas, having been shot alongside Jonathan by the assassin’s two bullets, fell into the exact scenario Finley had predicted—the gunshot wound was merely a ploy to evade responsibility

After the assassination attempt a few months ago, the Sutton family’s influence has been completely uprooted by Jonathan.

Regalia dared not make any further moves, but they never relented in their intent to kill Jonathan. The reason for Lucas coming to Aquastead was also to deal with Jonathan.

“Yes, just the bodyguards,” the assistant said, and right after, a message pinged on his phone. He immediately reported, “And several vehicles returned to Aquastead of just a minute ago.”

“Understood,” the assistant complied

Meanwhile, they were unaware that Jonathan had returned to his residence in Zenwood Gardens. The moment he pushed the door open, the room was engulfed in the scent of alcohol.

Bottles littered the floor as Rosie lay sprawled on the couch Her tousled hair covered her entire head, devoid of any sense of beauty

Jonathan furrowed his brow walking over to the couch and crouching down. He swept aside her tousled hair, uncovering her slightly flushed cheeks

turbid her fumbled

It seems like Rose was disturbed, she furrowed her brow and murmured, “Hmm

Lying on her stomach, she felt uncomfortable. She attempted to turn over, but her body felt weak and unresponsive

She barely raised her upper body before succumbing to weakness, collapsing once more. But in the next moment, someone gripped her shoulder

Rose turned dazedly. A handsome face entered her blurred vision, resembling her star escort husband

However, her star escort husband was currently with a new client and couldn't possibly be here

She was drunk, this must be her hallucination

Rose managed to roll over and lie down with that support, but the figure in her hallucination didn't vanish. She furrowed her brow and instinctively reached out to pat his cheek

Rose and Jonathan fell into silence the found it odd that despite being a hallucination, the tactile sensation felt incredibly real Rose smiled and playfully pinched the handsome face again

Jonathan remained silent Had she turned his face into a plaything? He was reaching for Rose's hand when she suddenly furrowed her brow

Your face feels so hot .....

Her fingers brushed against his forehead, as though sensing her touch couldn't quite assess his temperature accurately

She swiftly sat upright, cupping Jonathan's face and bringing her forehead close to his. Rose was completely unaware of how enticing being in such proximity to Jonathan could be

+35 BONUS

A brief emptiness filled Jonathan's mind. She carefully sensed his temperature but failed to notice the deepening intensity in his gaze, akin to a dark abyss

"You are fever"

Just as Rose was about to move back, a large palm suddenly gripped the back of her head.

She hadn't processed it yet when the attractive face in front of her leaned in, and their lips touched. The words she intended to speak were immediately stifled.

Her mind went blank for a moment. Rose snapped out of it, initially wanting to push away, but she suddenly changed her mind.

It was her hallucination, and if it was her hallucination, then she should be the one in control of everything!

She suddenly took the lead, and Jonathan was momentarily taken aback. In the next instant, she seemed almost angry as she fiercely bit his lip.

"Erm..."

Jonathan winced in pain, a faint taste of blood spreading in his mouth. The smile on his face was filled with indulgence, faint yet apparent.

Rose woke up early the next day with a splitting headache.

She realized she was in her room. Her brow furrowed involuntarily as she recollected getting drunk in the living room last night and falling onto the couch. She couldn't grasp how she found herself back in bed.

Rose made an effort to recall. When a few hazy glimpses appeared in her mind, her body stiffened for a moment.

She quickly got out of bed and ran to the room of the star escort husband. The room was so tidy as if nobody had ever lived there.

“This must be a dream!”

Rose shook her head, swiftly heading to the bathroom to freshen up. She attempted to wash away the fragments of last night from her mind.

Meanwhile, in the presidential suite at Aquastead Hotel... The moment Zac heard about Jonathan’s injury, he swiftly arrived with his doctor through the night.

However, Jonathan hadn’t returned yet when he arrived. Two hours earlier, Jonathan finally returned. He collapsed unconscious just at the moment he walked in.

Fortely, the doctor present immediately provided emergency aid upon confirming he fainted due to doctor administered a cooling injection and changed the bandages after applying medication to the wound Jonathan finally regained consciousness just a few minutes ago

Zac stood in front of the bed, looking at him strang

Jonathan felt his gaze, furrowing his brows and coldly stating. You can get lost now.

Get lost? How could Zac be willing to leave?

Zac still fixed his gaze on Jonathan. He was extremely worried about his friend’s health and remarked. “How would you still act so recklessly with your body in such a state? Do you not care about your life?”

Jonathan wore a puzzled expression, not understanding what he was saying. What was meant by “act so recklessly? What did he do?”

Thinking about last night’s kiss, Jonathan said somewhat guiltily, “I didn’t do anything!”

Zac gave a meaningful smile. He knew that the evidence spoke louder than words, so he turned and walked out of the room.

When he came back in, he had a mirror in his hand and tossed it to Jonathan.

“Take a look at yourself and see if you’ve done anything!”

Honey You’re a Billionaire Chapter 189

Chapter 189 Take It Easy

Reflected in the mirror, Jonathan's complexion appeared pallid, and his lips mirrored the same pallor. Nevertheless, the evident marks of the cracked lips were hard to miss.

Jonathan remembered Rose's bite last night and noticed Zac's gaze becoming more mocking.

"What are you looking at?" Jonathan threw the mirror back in Zac's direction and more

Zac swiftly caught it and couldn't help but tease, "Mr. Finch, you're ured, you ought to go easy on yourself!"

"Get lost" Jonathan closed his eyes and issued the order to leave.

He was aware of his injury. Without the injury, last night would have been more than a kiss. He had never had self-control when it came to Rose.

Zac sneered and turned to leave, but Jonathan suddenly stopped him, "Zac..."

Zac turned back.

"Mr. Finch, do you have any instructions?"

"Take care of Rose for me."

Jonathan stared into Zac's eyes and spoke seriously, "I'm being followed. I need to keep a low profile around Rose for a while. If those from Regalia discover that Rose is a vulnerability for me, they might exploit her to control me. I can't risk putting Rose in harm's way."

Zac understood his meaning.

"No need to fret, I'll handle things with beauty. I'm skilled at it!"

Rose went to Celeste Jewels early in the morning. As soon as she entered Century Tower, a voice called out to her.

"Rose..."

The voice was unfamiliar to Rose.

She turned around in confusion and saw a girl walking towards her. When the girl reached her, Rose looked at her with a puzzled expression and asked, "Are you looking for me?"

"I am." The girl extended her hand, "My name is Madeline Chambers. Can I take up a bit of your time?"

Amid the bustling ball last night, Rose found herself oblivious to Madeline Chambers. Yet, amidst the chaos, the last name Chambers lingered in Rose's memory.

Rose quickly identified that the woman before her was one of the main figures from the ball last night. She was the elder sister of the Chambers twins.

1/4

SHEELER

She came prepared I was clear that Rose couldn't avoid her

"Of course" Rose glanced around and smiled, "if it's acceptable to Ms. Chambers, shall we proceed to my office?"

Madeline didn't expect Rose to invite her to her territory. After a moment of contemplation, Madeline agreed. The two headed to Celeste Jewels. Inside the office, the staff were busy at work.

Rose guided Madeline into her office.

Once Sherlyn served them coffee and exited the room, Rose directly asked, "Ms. Chambers, how may I assist you? Please feel comfortable expressing yourself."

Madeline thought of Miles and frowned.

She stared at Rose and asked, "You're indeed beautiful, but I heard you're married?"

Rose found herself speechless at Madeline's inquiry. Both her looks and her marital status appeared unrelated to Madeline.

Nonetheless, she promptly responded, "Yes, I am married."

"Then what is your relationship with Miles?"

Madeline didn't like beating around the bush. She wanted to address this matter directly and resolve it as soon as possible. Rose frowned.

"Miles and I..."

While Rose spoke, she fixed her gaze on Madeline. Madeline seemed very nervous about Rose's answer.

Suddenly, a guess formed in her mind. Connecting it to those who caused her troubles last night, Rose quickly grasped that Madeline had misunderstood her relationship with Miles “Ms. Chambers, did you arrange the troublemakers from last night who targeted me?” Rose asked with a calm tone.

Madeline was stunned. While it wasn't her arrangement, they intended to help her. Seeing Madeline's reaction, Rose couldn't help but sneer. At that moment, Rose's phone rang.

Seeing the caller ID showing “Miles“, she couldn't help but feel that it was the perfect timing.

“Ms. Chambers, do you mind if I take this call?”

Rose raised her phone. Madeline was taken aback. Before she could respond, Rose had already answered the call on speakerphone.

“Rose, you into the water last night. Are you feeling okay?”

The voice on the other end was full of concern. Madeline instantly recognized the voice. It was Miles.

“I'm fine, jumping around lively,” Rose replied.

“Are you at the company?”

“Yes.

“I'll come to pick you up later. The Chambers family will come to the estate tonight.”

“Why are they coming?”

Puzzled, Rose cast a glance at Madeline. Madeline appeared more and more anxious.

On the phone, Miles simply stated, “You'll find out in due time,” and then ended the call.

Rose glanced at her phone, feeling perplexed, but decided not to dwell on it. Meanwhile, Madeline became increasingly anxious and uncertain about what to do.

Rose looked at her and smiled.

“What... Why are you smiling?”

Madeline was a little embarrassed. She came to talk to Rose, asking her not to get involved with Miles. But with Rose’s smile, she found herself at a disadvantage.

Furthermore, Rose and Miles’ conversation felt casual and ordinary, as if they shared the same living space.

“I’m laughing at how much you care about my brother. He’s really lucky!”

If it weren’t for the events of last night, Rose would have liked Madeline. Rose, as Miles’ adopted sister, didn’t have the right to interfere in his love life.

Madeline was on the verge of anger and embarrassment. But, she froze upon hearing Rose’s unexpected words.

“You... What did you say?”

Rose deliberately played dumb, “Did I say something?”

Madeline rose from her seat in excitement.

“You said, your brother...”

Last night, she observed Rose’s way of referring to Miles. Now, it appeared as if she had grasped something and was resolute in seeking clarification.

“You’re not Anastasia....”

What prompted her to address Miles as “brother”? Not wanting Madeline to continue misunderstanding, Rose reached out to her.

“Let me introduce myself. I’m Rose. Recently, I had a stroke of luck, and Mr. Young Senior felt a connection with me, so he adopted me as his granddaughter. It turns out, by chance, I became Miles’ adopted sister. Introducing it this way, is Ms. Chambers satisfied?”

Ignized as Mr. Young Senior’s adopted granddaughter? Madeline concluded, of course, she would besight in one sweep Madeline’s jealousy at animosity towards Rose disintegrated.

Ables,

She immediately grabbed Rose's hand

Satisfied Of course, I'm satisfied Rose, can I call you that

Rose did not reject her request

"Feel free"

Despite Rose's somewhat indifferent attitude, it didn't diminish Madeline's enthusiasm.

"Rose, last night was a misunderstanding I apologize to you. Rest assured, I promise they won't dare to disrespect you the next time they see you."

Madeline felt profound regret

Had she been aware of Rose and Miles' connection sooner, she would have endeavored to win Rose's favor. How could she have allowed a few girls to mistreat her

At this moment, Madeline was filled with apprehension. What if Rose refused to forgive her?

"It's all Maya's fault! Madeline muttered under her breath.

Honey You're a Billionaire Chapter 190

Chapter 190 Every man for himself

The voice was soft, but Rose still heard it.

"You said, Madeline..."

Rose remembered that Madeline was also present at yesterday's ball.

Madeline's eyes flickered. She hesitated to betray Maya but eventually shared, "Maya mentioned you're her cousin and have a close bond with Mr. Miles."

Oh?" Rose didn't believe Maya would only say that.

But Rose didn't press for more details. After Madeline left, she got a call and then left Celeste Jewels with a pair of earrings she designed.

Since the morning, Maya had been waiting for Madeline's call.

After befriending the daughter of the Chambers family, she felt she had a chance for a leap forward. -She intended to use her connections with Madeline to get close to Howard.

If she tied the knot with Howard, even Kelly would have to show her some respect. Upon learning that Howard had gone to the shooting range, Maya followed suit.

As Howard exited the shooting range, she quickly closed the distance, seizing the moment as Howard's car drew near. With an apparent lack of fear, Maya entered the road as the car approached. With a screech of brakes, the car came to a stop inches away from Maya. Luckily, it was a close call. Maya saw Howard hastily open the car door and get out. Her body went limp, and she fainted on the ground.

"Miss? Wake up..." Howard called out several times with no response.

He then picked her up and placed her in the car, heading straight to the hospital. After a thorough examination, there was no sign of injury.

"Perhaps she fainted from the shock," the doctor concluded.

Howard frowned. Since she hadn't awakened, he could only wait at the hospital.

Considering the planned coffee shop rendezvous with Rose, he had to alter the venue and forward a new address to her.

After a while, Maya woke up. Seeing Howard sitting on a chair, she immediately began acting. She made a slight sound to attract Howard's attention.

Rose confirmed her arrival with a message, and Howard looked up, as he heard a noise from the hospital bed.

Maya, supporting her head and pretending to have a headache, spoke, "Where am I?"

+25 BONU

Maya held her head, frowning her brows as if experiencing a headache.

"Where am I?"

Before Howard could respond, a woman's voice chimed in, "You're at the hospital!"

The familiar voice stunned Maya. At that moment, she forgot she was acting as a just-awakened, fragile patient. She sharply turned her gaze toward the source of the voice.

The owner of the voice was none other than Rose. Rose noticed Maya's sharp gaze and raised an eyebrow.

"Maya, so it's you after all."

Rose smiled, the irony of fate evident. Howard had informed her about the car accident and the doctor's diagnosis.

Initially, Rose hadn't considered the possibility of Maya scheming. However, with the situation unfolding and Maya's reaction, Rose easily saw through her act. Maya was playing a role.

Was Maya trying to extort Howard? Knowing Maya well, Rose suspected that Maya wasn't after money but something more personal. She wanted a connection!

"Maya, do you know each other?" Howard asked in surprise.

"We know each other, of course! Maya and I..

Rose smiled mysteriously. Seemingly afraid that Madeline would speak ill of her in front of Howard, Maya immediately got off the hospital bed and hugged Madeline.

"Rose, I was so scared just now..

She used a crying tone.

But when she leaned into Rose's ear, she lowered her voice, "Rose, don't say anything reckless. I'm begging you..."

Begging her? What about the events from last night? Rose distanced herself from Maya while carrying a subtle smile on her face.

"Why are you crying? You're fine, right? Maya, since you're fine, go handle the discharge yourself. It just so happens that Howard and I have some matters to attend to, we'll leave first."

Maya wants to extort Howard, but Rose won't give her the chance. Maya hesitated, reluctant to let go of this hard-earned opportunity and let Rose ruin it.

However, with her moment of hesitation, Rose immediately furrowed her brow.

"Maya

okay?"

Despite Rose's smiling demeanor, Maya felt an unmistakable underlying threat

It was as if Rose was warning her, "If it's not okay, don't blame her for speaking out of turn!"

192 Even man

+25 BONUS

Taking a deep breath, Maya could only compromise. It's okay, of course. You two go ahead, I can handle the discharge on my own."

Maya bit her lip, showcasing a helpless and wronged image. Even if she was compromising, she wanted to leave Howard with a pitiable impression.

Rose watched, a disdainful smile playing on her lips. She exchanged a glance with Howard, and the two exited the hospital room. Maya clenched her fists, glaring fiercely at Pse's retreating figure.

However, Rose suddenly stopped. She turned around, capturing Maya's menacing expression before it could fade.

Rose said with a cynical smile on her face, "Maya, in two hours, meet me at the wishing well in the garden square. Don't be late."

In a state of bewilderment, Maya pondered the reason behind Rose's request for a meeting.

Yet, given the burgeoning connection between Rose and Howard, not following Rose's instructions might jeopardize her prospects with Howard.

"Ugh!"

Maya gritted her teeth but had no choice but to follow Rose's orders.

Rose led Howard out of the hospital. Observing her, Howard couldn't help but ask, "Were you threatening her?"

Rose was speechless, not thinking that Howard would figure that out.

"No, I was saving you!" Rose retrieved a box from her bag and tossed it to Howard. "Consider it a good deed. Saving a life is more important than building a seven-story pagoda."

Howard caught the box and curiously opened it. Inside was a pair of men's earrings.

"These are for me?" he furrowed his brow.

"Yep, your birthday gift, finally delivered."

This was personally designed by her,

"You... giving me accessories?"

Howard stared at Rose with a puzzled expression. He wondered if he had misunderstood something.

Unfazed, Rose responded, "Don't like them?"

In a brief moment of silence, Rose opened her hands.

don't like them, give them back. Anyway, I've already delivered it."

Coward quickly tightened his grip on the box.

"Taking back something you've given away is embarrassing, you know?"

Seemingly afraid that one might take it bacHoward swiftly pocketed the box with the gift

ato delivered Rose had no indian of Ungerang

Yang Take came," she cant glancing at the hospital with a meaningful look

Seth hade can and depart two hours to sat on a bench not far from the wishing well an the gardiem acquare manding a cup of coffee, he wasonly glanced existi diction of the wall. Unbeknownst to her. someone Sefund The healy times was culonaly vĕcarving her,

Sutherly in one's ine of sight, Maya approached the wanting pool Was she her Rose rased an eyebrow a simatur gps in her eyes. She wound up, taking lange strides toward the wishing post