Chapter 19 Wretched

Jonathan rushed to the ward. When Rose saw him, she immediately got out of bed and ran toward him.

Clinging onto him, she complained, "I thought I was going to die. I don't get.

why I was so unlucky that I would get dragged down by that wretched Mr. Finch."

Jonathan was bewildered.

Wretched?

He frowned.

Rose did not notice his reaction.

She continued angrily, "If I die, I'll turn into a ghost and haunt him every night! He won't be able to get any sleep at all!"

Finley, who had just arrived at the door, was thunderstruck when he saw the position they were in.

He had never seen anyone acting so boldly around Jonathan before.

Finley wondered if Rose did not know that the wretched Mr. Finch she was talking about was right in front of her right now.

Jonathan was frowning. It was obvious that he felt a little upset.

Finley thought Jonathan would push the woman away and reprimand her. But unexpectedly, Jonathan held her by the waist as if he feared that she would fall over.

There was even a smile on his lips.

For a moment, Finley was perplexed.

Rose and Jonathan did not notice him at all.

Jonathan knew he should punish Rose for being rude. But then, she said she would haunt him every night... He kind of looked forward to that Still in his arms, Rose stared at her husband's handsome face. She recalled seeing him walking out of the light and coming toward her last night. Her heart thumped wildly as a thought occurred to her.

"Oh, by the way, how did you find me last night?"

Her phone had been snatched away from her before she could tell him where she was. She did not understand how he found her.

Jonathan frowned. "It was probably a coincidence. I happened to pass by the area."

Rose kept quiet.

Was he telling the truth? Did he have a client who lived in that mountainside. villa area?

The possibility of that upsetted Rose, but she quickly dismissed those thoughts.

Tearing away from her husband, she listened to the doctor who updated her about her condition.

Since she was not seriously injured, she decided to get discharged from the hospital. She wanted to pay a visit to the headquarters of Celeste Jewels.

Rose bade her husband goodbye. She had just left the hospital when she received Nixon's call.

As soon as she answered the call, Nixon's furious insults rang out. "Rose, you bitch! How dare you trick me! You-"

Nixon had already found out about her marital status from the official government records.

Rose snorted to herself. He was finally dropping the gentleman act and starting to throw insults everywhere. He disgusted her.

She did not even wait for him to finish insulting her before she hung up with a sneer. She was in a great mood.

Meanwhile, Nixon was so furious that he threw his phone on the floor. "Damn. it! How dare she get married? Damn it all...!"

Moreover, the system at the county clerk's office had no records of the man she married. It only showed that Rose was married, but her partner's name was unknown.

"What the hell does 'unknown' even mean Nixon knocked over a cup.

Beside him, Kelly was so scared that she sobbed silently. "Nixon, is Rose... Taking revenge on you? Maybe she can't accept the fact that you and I are together.

"Nixon, go and plead with her. Tell her that I am willing to take a step back. No, I'll go. I'll get on my knees and beg Kelly turned to leave.

She had just taken a step when Nixon held her back. He was heartbroken to see her acting this way. He pulled her into his arms and said, 'I know you love. me the most.'

Burying her head in his chest, Kelly sneered.

She did not leave the Lane residence last night.

'I

While Nixon was feeling uneasy as he waited to verify Rose's marriage, Kelly had comforted him with her body. That night, the two did it countless times.

But if Nixon truly had a funding crisis he could not solve, things would be different.

If Nixon was disqualified from the race to inherit the Lane family's business, he would just be a nobody. She saw no reason to stay with him..

Jonathan's figure appeared in Kelly's mind, and her gaze turned dreamy.

But then, she recalled Jonathan dancing with Rose. She felt so jealous that she was about to go crazy.

Just then, she received a message from Maya. When she read the contents, she frowned a little. But soon after that, her eyes flashed viciously.

Immediately after, the viciousness was replaced by a look of innocent. puzzlement.

“Rose just went to the headquarters of Celeste Jewels. How odd. She has never been there before. Do you think she’s there to claim her inheritance rights?”

As expected, Nixon grew even more furious. He pushed Kelly away in frustration. Then, in a fit of anger, he set off for Celeste Jewels.

Chapter 20 Who Exactly Was That Man

The headquarters of Celeste Jewels was located in Century Tower..

Rose had just gotten into the elevator when a row of luxury cars pulled up outside the building.

Under the protection of his bodyguards, Jonathan got out of the car.

Finley accidentally voiced the question in his heart as he walked next to Jonathan.

“The Finches only own a few scattered properties in Century Tower. The rest are in the Finch Building in Aquastead.

“But Mr. Finch, you’ve chosen to inspect the properties here in Century Tower instead. Is it because of Ms. Shaffer?”

Jonathan stopped in his tracks and sneered in disdain, “Because of her? Hah! You must be kidding me!”

They got into the elevator. It was obvious that Jonathan stared at the listing for Celeste Jewels in the directory for longer than usual.

Finley stayed silent. He pursed his lips and decided not to expose Jonathan. He knew that Jonathan was not being honest about his feelings.

This was Rose’s first time at the headquarters of Celeste Jewels. She was stopped at the reception counter.

She scoffed at the fact that she could not even enter the company her mother left to her. What a joke!

“Don’t you know who I am?” Rose asked.

The receptionist glanced at Rose in disdain..

“I don’t care who you are. If you don’t have an appointment, you can’t enter. Even if you’re one of the Finches, the richest family in Veridian, the same rules apply to you!”

Rose frowned. She tried to say something when Maya walked over to them. Maya did not seem to come bearing good intentions.

“Rose? Hah! Uncle Jamie has already driven you out of the house. What are you still doing here?”

Maya stopped pretending to be nice. She stared at Rose’s pretty face. Then, she looked down at the shirt Rose was wearing. Her eyes were filled with scorn.

“Hey, why are you still wearing the man’s shirt? What’s the matter? You can’t even afford to buy clothes anymore now that you’ve been kicked out of the family?”

Rose could barely recognize the person in front of her.

In the past, Maya had not been just her cousin. Maya had also been her best friend, apart from Yvonne Spencer.

Rose had been sincerely nice to Maya. She even drafted the jewelry designs that made Maya famous in the industry.

But it turns out that that had all been for nothing!

Rose smiled mockingly. She could not be bothered to waste time on Maya.

“I want to see my dad,” she said.

“Uncle Jamie refuses to see you. Just get lost!” Maya was extremely arrogant. She was jealous of Rose’s beauty and talent.

Therefore, she felt quite thrilled that she got to humiliate Rose now.

Sneering, Maya said to the receptionist, “What are you waiting for? How can you let a random person enter Celeste Jewels? Get the security guards to chase her out!”

“Understood, Ms. Lawson.”

Soon, the security guards came upstairs. They brought Rose down to the lobby on the first floor.

Rose was furious. She tried to call Jamie, but she soon realized that he had blocked her.

Hah... Rose sneered.

Sometimes, she wondered if she truly was Jamie's biological daughter. Her heart ached a little.

Suddenly, an angry voice rang out behind her. Rose turned around to see Nixon marching toward her.

As soon as Nixon approached her, he raised his hand and slapped her across the face. She felt a searing pain.

Nixon glared at Rose with a nasty expression and questioned her harshly, "Who's the man? Who exactly is he?"

Kelly had come with Nixon. She was so startled by the slap that she panicked.

"Nixon, please calm down. Rose didn't mean to betray you

Their reactions made it seem like Rose was a filthy cheater.

In an instant, the onlookers began whispering about Rose.

Jonathan had just walked out of the elevator when he saw Rose. She was standing in the middle of the crowd and covering her left cheek with her hand.

Her head was lowered, and her long hair scattered messily over her face. She looked like she was being bullied.

Jonathan's gaze turned cold. He was about to step forward when he suddenly saw her looking up.

Rose sneered, and in a flash,

"Argh-"

She lifted her leg and kicked Nixon in the crotch.

An agonizing scream echoed in the lobby.

Just by looking at Nixon, the bystanders could feel the pain too.

Jonathan recalled what happened back at the Lane residence last night. He had pinned her to the door.

It was a good thing he reacted quickly and caught her knee. If not...

Jonathan could not help but gulp as he looked at Nixon.

Nixon was bent over as he covered his aching crotch.

Seeing as Rose did not need any help, Jonathan did not stay for long.

His voice startled a frozen Finley, who was shocked speechless.

“What are you looking at? Get going!”

Returning to his senses, Finley caught up with Jonathan. But he could not resist turning around and secretly giving Rose a thumbs-up.

Rose could not be bothered to waste any more time on Nixon, so she walked away. Suddenly, she spotted a familiar figure at the entrance of the building.

Rose recognized him right away. “My star escort husband?”

What was he doing here?
