

Host, Please Be Honest! What Exactly Are You?

Chapter 9 The Road To Riches!

[Over the past hour, this system has personally detected more than 50 or so people who had contact with underworld entities.

This system doesn't know why the host hasn't taken action yet, but just as a reminder, if the host is thinking of going back in his words, then that would be impossible.

This system and the host had already signed a cosmic bond.]

Dorian lazily raised his eyes devilishly: 'You talk too much.'

[...]

The system was really having a hard time understanding its host.

As for Dorian, he couldn't be bothered with explaining himself.

Provided he got the job done while abiding by the common laws of the heavens, then no one had the right to tell him how he should do his job.

NO ONE!

The system couldn't help shivering a bit from Dorian's aura.

How could its host be so strong?

This... sigh...

it could only blame itself for bringing in the wrong host into this world.

There was just something not right with his host... but what?

Dorian squinted his eyes deeply at the gang ahead as if watching prey.

There were 5 people carrying large camping bags on their backs just ahead.

Some in the group spoke loudly, while others were silent all the way.

In particular, one of them stood out amongst the rest.

.

"Hahahhahahaha.

This is going to be awesome! Once we complete this dare, we'll be stinking rich!" Hayden said while rubbing his hands together, envisioning money signs in his mind.

Another lady also felt the same way too: "Ahhh! Baby, once we get the money, I'll be able to buy those designer bags and clothes that all those rich bches. By then, we will become the newest rich couple around. Heh. Who doesn't like a good life?"

"Lulu is right. With this money, I can finally taste the good life!"

Hayden, Lulu and Terzo, were overly excited about the money they might recover once this was done.

But Minato and Yangbo felt a little worried instead.

Yangbo adjusted his glasses and looked at the excited three with a worried expression on his face.

"I...I... I don't know why? But I don't think we should do this. It seems all too sketchy."

"I agree. They said we shouldn't vlog or do anything else to complete the dare, so what if they try doing something harmful to us, like trafficking us out?"

The other trio turned to look at Yangbo and Minato in disdain.

Hayden and Lulu, who were a couple, were the most annoyed right now.

They had already envisioned themselves in luxurious fur coats, walking out of a mall with several bags just to hop into their brand new exclusive car.

So why would these so-called friends of theirs want to ruin things for them?

.

Hayden turned around swiftly and looked at them coldly: "You twerps better shut it, or I'll make your lives unbearable when we get back! Just because we've been taking it easy on you 2 doesn't mean that you can talk to us as if we are on the same level! Why? Why are you two always so negative? It's just a dare, so why so scared? Heh. This is why you will always be losers! Besides, do you think I'm that stupid to come unprepared? If something really happened, don't you all know that I know Kung Fu?" Hayden said in rage.

Lulu looked at her burly boyfriend and felt very lucky.

Not only was he good-looking, but he also had a great body as well.

Remembering how many people typically gave her boyfriend the 'eye,' she felt fortunate to have him by her side.

Yes! This was what a man should be like!

Even now, he was the one carrying her things in his massive backpack, while she was just holding nothing at all.

They looked so good together.

And when the money comes, they would look even better!

.

Lulu stepped closer to her man and rubbed his chest merrily while scoffing at the annoying duo in the bunch.

"That's right. My baby is a well-known Kung Fu gangster in these parts. So with him by our side, what is there to fear? And just so you all know, my baby also hired a few of his brothers to hide around and keep us safe until the whole dare is over. So stop your whining, and let's go!!"

Terzo opened his eyes in shock and awe: "As expected of brother Hayden. He already thought about our safety before we even got here."

Hayden puffed up his chest arrogantly: "Of course I did. If you two must know, people from my gang should be around the perimeters of where we're heading to. They also checked the place out earlier on and will be hiding there with guns too, just in case. Again, if things were going out of hand, we can always call the police, no? Yes, I may be a gangster, but I also prioritize my life more than anything else. But then again, I doubt we'll need all this security."

Terzo nodded and backed Hayden's words: "Yes, that's right. We might but even need all this security. Before today, we had already carried out 7 dares from these rich men and have also gotten paid for doing them too. So if he could pay so much already without doing anything to us, wouldn't this last dare be fine as well?"

-Silence-

Minato and Yangbo were speechless.

They said they were worried about getting kidnapped.

But now, Hayden had the problem fixed without their knowledge.

And with his ruthless gangster friends, they knew that he had properly taken care of everyone's security.

The fact that they had already done 7 other dares was enough to prove that they would probably come out safely.

.

Speaking of the dares, they were a little strange, and it all started a month ago when they happened to witness a scene where a few people were talking to a certain man in a limo, thanking him for giving them millions after completing a series of dares.

These people were so excited that they even took them shopping too.

It was then that the secret of the matter was revealed.

Apparently, the super-rich in this city sometimes got bored and liked to arrange things like this.

They would give the candidates a location to be at and watch them complete the dares.

For Minato, Hayden and the rest, the first 4 dares involved eating several herbs and performing strange dances while playing tag.

And the rich people all sat on a high podium, clapped and laughed when they goofed around.

It seemed like they really enjoyed the show, because each of them received 40,000 after the first dare for practically playing a game in under an hour.

And the price kept climbing up throughout the other 6 dares, until they each received 500,000 for the 7th dare.

Minato and Yangbo wanted to quit, but the others didn't let them.

Firstly, since they came in as a group, they had to complete all dares as a group, or else they would lose the chance to make money.

So how could Hayden, Lulu and Terzo allow them to quit?

This 8th or last dare they were about to do was the grand finale!

Tonight, 50 Million was on the line, so how could they miss this opportunity?

Impossible!