

Honey, Please Love Someone Else

Chapter 43 - Big Mistake

The dark room which had the blue lights popping up brightly, that place made me feel uneasy. There were no sound in the room, coming from the outside.

The girl's weight was thrown over my lap and it was heavy. She was touching my body here and there, rubbing her palm smoothly around them.

" So, tell me. Why did a guy like you decided to come here?"

" I wanna forget someone and move on from them." I murmured under my breath. Her question made me feel annoyed and I was not in the mood to talk about this.

" Your girlfriend?"

" No. My wife." I replied blankly at her. She stared at me for a minute then she opened her mouth to speak

" Don't worry it will be all good. Just focus on me. I'll show you a great time honey."

Her voice rammed into my ears making me shiver. I chugged down the whole glass of alcohol in one sip. As soon I finished my remaining drink the girl pinned me down on the bed. The glass was dropped on the bed. She started to kiss all the way up to my neck. The buttons of my shirt were all open, making my hard chest wide open.

My mind started to feel dizzy and my body started to heat up as if someone tuned off the air condition. I was feeling so hot suddenly. Maybe the alcohol was too strong for me and I had drank it at once. It became a irritation for me that moment.

I pushed the girl on the bed and started to button up my shirt. This whole idea was a big mistake I'm never doing it again. Holy shit!

" What's wrong?" The girl asked looking at me with confusion.

" I- I can't do this. Here's the money. I'll take my leave." I handed out my purse which had enough money to satisfy her for now. Even though I hadn't touched her she might start an argument if I don't pay her for all the things happened till now.

I grabbed my suit and literally ran out from that place. My body was acting weird. The alcohol was making me dizzy. My vision became blurry a little. Without being bothered by it I told the driver to start the car and take me to my place at once.

I was breathing heavily. It felt so hot even inside my car which had the air condition turned on to it's highest level. In fact I wanted to take off my shirt inside the car.

" Sir, we are here." Those words brought back my senses. The pain was unbearable to me during the whole car ride. Getting out from the car I went straight for my room still my head was dizzy. Never knew drinking alcohol will make me feel like shit.

I even lost my senses and strength to walk those stairs. Suddenly a faint voice came ringing through my ears.

" Theo, you're back." I couldn't recognise the voice it sounded like a female. Is it my mom? I don't know. Is it Stella? Or is it my imagination.

" Oh my god! You look so bad! What happened to you?" The voice rang to my ear and a hand grabbed on to me.

" Did you drink too much?" I looked at the figure standing close to me. It looks exactly like Stella. But why she's here? She can't be here. She's probably with Ray, having fun together. I shook off the hand knowing that I'm inside my illusion.

This isn't the first time I had these bizarre dreams. There have been my nights where I dreamt of her, when she came there like an angel taking care of me. There were also those dreams where she would leave me alone for her new lover and I had to stay alone, leading a miserable life.

She comes in my dreams and teases me like a fool. At the end she just leaves me with my solitary. She's just out of my reach. Even being her husband I couldn't touch her or embrace her with my two arms. How much I longed for those things. But I won't let her tease me again today! If she really wants to show her care and affection for me then so be it.

I tightly grabbed the slender arm and dragged her out to the stairs.

" Theo... what's wrong with you? What are you doing?"

No,no,no,no. Today I won't let you do as you like. Who's fault is this? That I am suffering so much like hell? Huh?

I shut the door and locked it. Her petite body was thrown over the soft bed of mine. There was no escape from here. This is my dream so I'll do as I please.

I roughly unbuttoned my shirt and threw it away. I hopped on the bed and laid on the top of her. She was trapped under my body. My head was killing me with pain, making me lose my balance. This body of mine needs to have her right now. Her breaths were falling on my face. The sweet honey like scent of her was making me crazy.

" T-Theo... you're drunk..... don't do this" the voice sounds frightened by me. This little kitten was afraid of me now like I was going to eat her up. My vision was disoriented but I could see the figures. My hand ran over her body.

The smooth silky skin was mostly exposed under the knee and on the hand. She was wearing a spaghetti strap dress. I jerked it up to remove it from her body.

My left hand groped her breast tightly and I heard a moan.

Huh ? So, you're enjoying it? Don't worry tonight I'll make you feel good.

My hands were travelling all around her body touching every single corner. I wanted to feel each part of her body. Grabbing her rosey cheeks I roughly placed my lips on her and kissed her with my heart's content. It was something that I want to do for a long time.

Her mouth was shut tightly but soon she opened it as I didn't let go of my lips from her.

The passionate kiss becomes more wild as my tongue explores the depths of her inner corner.

I yanked her underwear down and her womanhood was right at my sight. Without any delay I pulled down my pants and thrust my penis inside her making her gasp loud.

I was able to assert my dominance after all. While enjoying the moment of satisfaction darkness took over me. This is probably the best dream I ever had in a while. I knew tomorrow morning when I will wake up things will go back to normal. My empty miserable life will continue once again.