

I CREATED A DUNGEON IN A CULTIVATION WORLD

Chapter 11 11: The Hunt Began (Part 3)

After ten minutes, they finally found three wolves. In the past ten minutes, they saw two packs of wolves hunting.

Upon seeing the weakest among the pack was a first-layer body tempering, everyone felt cold on their backs. So, they tried their best to avoid a pack of wolves.

Arnoux doesn't need to strategize, it's only three third-layer wolves, and he's in the second-layer, in addition, there were three first-layer in his group, so it should be enough. So, he ordered to attack.

The three wolves that were happily munching their prey were surprised, suddenly, a group of humans appear around them out of nowhere.

The fight began, and the three wolves fight back. Arnoux who was one level higher than the three wolves thought that he could easily kill the wolves, was a little surprised, the wolf he was fighting right now was stronger than any first-layer monster he had fought.

After some time, Arnoux finally killed the wolf he was fighting, it took longer than he expected. He then helps the others kill the other two wolves, it didn't take long for them to kill the two wolves.

All those that were not body-tempering were panting for air, the wolves were stronger than they expected. They have a lot of experience fighting first-layer monsters, so they are pretty familiar with what strength a first-layer monster has. However, these wolves were a lot stronger.

"Captain, these wolves are unusually stronger than any first-layer monsters we've fought." Eryx said.

"I know, I'm also surprised."

While others were chatting, Zam whose eyes never left the corpses of the three wolves, exclaimed in excitement.

"Guys!! It's happening!!"

Everyone turned their heads and was surprised to see the wolf's corpses disintegrating, shortly after, just like what Zam described, two white lights emerged, at the speed of light, it entered their body.

Everyone felt their body getting stronger, there was also one person that become a half-step body tempering. Everyone was thrilled, such a miracle experience, and they can't wait to kill another wolf again.

But there was one person that was looking at them in confusion, it was Arnoux that doesn't feel his cultivation rise at all.

"Captain, did your cultivation rise a little?" Zam asked when he saw Arnoux just standing with a confused look.

"Nothing at all, I think all of you guys got it except for me." Arnoux can only shrug.

Of course, since the white light is too fast, with their cultivation they naturally can't see where the white light entered. They can only catch a glimpse of it for a split second, after the wolves disappeared.

"I can only think of one reasons why I didn't get any... It's not enough for all of us."

"Captain, I don't think the reason. After all, you are the one that killed the wolves. If there is someone that doesn't deserve to get the cultivation it should be us." The person who just got promoted to half-step body tempering spoke.

"That's right captain, there should be another reason."

"Also, the energy I get this time is not even $\frac{1}{4}$ of the energy I got when I killed the wolf alone. Do you think it's because we shared the energy together?" Zam asked.
