

I CREATED A DUNGEON IN A CULTIVATION WORLD

Chapter 18 18: Building Base Monster

Argon who was oblivious about what was happening outside just finished buying the goblin tribe.

He placed the goblins at end of the forest, he placed it in there to also protect the heart of the dungeon.

Next, he wants to add a Building Base monster. The First-Stage Building Base monster cost ten soul coins, and he still has forty soul coins left. So, it should be enough, he can buy one first-stage and one fifth-stage building base monster.

Argon filters all the expensive stuff and left the Building Base monsters. First, he will buy a first-stage Building Base for the wolves.

Argon scrolls through the system shop, finding a wolf-type monster. Shortly after, he found three monsters.

[Giant Great Wolf

Cultivation: First-Stage Building Base

Price: 10 soul coins]

[Twin Headed Wolf

Cultivation: First-Stage Building Base

Price: 10 soul coins]

[Hell Wolf

Cultivation: First-Stage Building Base

Price: 10 soul coins]

The giant great wolf is the same species as the one in the wolf den, the twin-headed wolf just like its name has two heads, and the last, hell wolf was a hideous-looking wolf.

Argon chose the giant great wolf, and although there won't be any conflict if he buys another race of wolves he still chooses the giant great wolf.

Right now, he's inside the wolf den

In the next moment, a summoning array appears on the ground, and right after, a two-meter-tall wolf arises slowly from the summoning array.

After all that Argon teleported back to the goblin tribe, this was not his first time in the goblin tribe, the good thing is he can communicate with them. Although, when the goblins were talking it sounded gibberish to him, surprisingly he can understand them without a problem.

Argon teleported straight to the chief's house, the seventh-stage body tempering goblin who was sitting on his little throne leisurely, with two six-stage goblins on each side like a guard, immediately get off the throne and kneeled down to greet Argon who appeared suddenly in front of him, the two guards also kneeled down.

"Welcome back, My Lord."

The goblin who was created by the system sees Argon as a god, the one who created them, and will always be loyal to their creator.

"Stand up, you're having the best life here, aren't you?"

This goblin was the strongest in this tribe, so he was eligible to sit there. However, his good life will stop here, because he was going to summon a third-stage building base monster to guard this place.

Hearing it the goblin was sweating.

Seeing the appearance of the goblin, Argon didn't joke around anymore.

'Having someone to talk to again, felt good.' Argon thought.

"I'm here to summon a new hobgoblin so you can step back first."

He already got a monster to buy, a hobgoblin was like an evolved version of a goblin.

[Hobgoblin

Cultivation: Third-Stage Building Base

Price: 30 soul coins]

Shortly after, a hobgoblin emerged in front of him. In terms of appearance, it's not much different from that of a normal goblin.

The hobgoblin in front of him was a burly two meters tall giant, with a blunt weapon in his waist. In comparison, the goblin looked like a child next to it.

In addition to its hideous appearance, it's not really something a normal cultivator would want to encounter.
