Chapter 21 21: Taming The Wolves

Argon immediately teleported to the entrance, his eyes widened, cause he saw rows of people. Shortly after, he calms down because the strongest person was only a second-stage building base.

He still has the shield that protects the heart of the dungeon, that shield can withstand the attack of Qi Gathering Realm cultivators. So, all his worries disappeared.

In addition, there's still a hobgoblin who was at the third-stage of Building Base, that's one stage higher than the strongest of these people.

"But their number is a little bit problematic."

After all, he only has two hundred-plus monsters in the dungeon. While the enemy has two thousand plus cultivators.

"Isn't this good, as long as there is no cultivator in the Golden Core realm, I am safe."

Argon becomes excited, in his eyes, all these people were walking soul coins.

"If all of these people died, I will get at least three thousand soul coins."

That's more than enough for him to gain a foothold in this world, in addition, he can also construct a body.

Argon teleported back to the goblin tribe, he has an idea.

"Ghorm, call all the goblins."

"As you wish, My Lord." The hobgoblin replied respectfully.

A few minutes later, all the goblins arrived at the center of the village. Argon also arrived, and upon seeing him, all the goblins knelt down.

"Raise..." All the goblins stand up in unison, Argon can't help but clicked his tongue, they're too different from the goblins portrayed on earth.

"Right now, a human army is invading the dungeon... And I want you all to cooperate with the wolves, if you can tame the wolves, it can greatly help you fight the humans."

Yes, he was planning to combine the wolf and the goblins, like a calvary but goblins and wolves. Most goblins use small swords and blunt weapons, so it shouldn't have a problem.

"As you wish, My Lord."

"System, can I teleport monsters?"

[The host can.]

"That's good then." If he can't that would be a huge problem, since the other side was blocked by a mountain.

Argon already called all the wolves using mind transmission, so what was left was to teleport all the goblins.

Argon didn't waste any more time and teleported all the goblins to the wolf den.

In the next moment, all the wolves in the boss room bare their fangs on the uninvited goblins emerging in the room out of thin air.

"Stop!!" All the wolves immediately behave, upon hearing Argon. Argon then massages the wolves in his mind.

"All of you... Need to become companions with the goblins... Understand?!"

He doesn't even know if the wolves understand him, he can only sigh in helplessness. He turned around to look at the goblins.

"Ok, you are on your own now, find a way to tame them."

Everyone then started approaching the wolves, the surprising thing the wolves didn't attack the goblins.
