

I Created 34

Chapter 34 34: Elder San

Inside the office of the city lord's mansion.

A middle-aged man and an old man were looking at the unremarkable stone lying on the desk.

"Elder San, do you think what's written on the report is true? No matter how I see this thing, it doesn't seem like it has the ability to teleport people." Xenos asked the old man next to him.

Apart from being black, it was not much different from a regular pebble he was seeing on the roadside.

"Ehm... My Lord, in the report, says that the stone is glowing a little and has tiny runes around it... But seeing this stone, it doesn't have those characteristics at all... I'm also as clueless as you My Lord. Unless that boy Fax made a mistake." Elder San stroke his beard, as though he was thinking deeply.

"Hmm, I don't think so, Fax won't make such a nonsensical mistake" He still has confidence in his subordinate's capabilities.

"It shouldn't be a mistake. There must be an explanation for this, for example, this item didn't work because it was far away from the place where it came from... Right, it must be."

Xenos's eyes lit up, he has heard of similar items. Although he never sees such items, he still learns them from the books and stories of others people.

"If that's the case, then that place is such an amazing place. Just the thing that can rise your cultivation by killing monsters will make anyone salivate not to mention getting items."

"Your right, if another kingdom knows of this. I'm sure they will flock to this place like a locust."

"Btw, Elder San the report we deliver to the capital, we still haven't received a reply?"

"Unfortunately, still not My Lord."

Hearing it Xenos can only smile wryly.

"Well, that's to be expected, I'm sure the report is still sitting at someone's desk."

"And also Elder San, I already told you that it's okay to call me by my name. You are like my father to me, so calling me by my name is ok at all."

Elder San was a servant and also a protector that's been with him since he was a child, and also the one who took care of him since his parent died from an unknown incident.

His father was a brother of the current king of the Oland Kingdom.

For a person who has the main blood of the royal family, his life was really tragic. Well, he was still grateful because of his blood he still becomes a City Lord, even though it was located in a barren place, it was still a city.

"My Lord, I can't do that. After all, I'm still a servant of the royal family."

Suddenly, A bird that they're using to relay messages flies through the window and landed on his disk.

Xenos removed the paper from the bird's foot and read it. After finishing reading it his face becomes gloomy.