

I Created 56

Chapter 56 56: Buying A Second Floor (Part 1)

Argon's interest was piqued by the description of the book. The cultivation of the five elements was a rare and powerful technique.

It can make the user harness the power of the five elements, though it was not as strong as someone who focused on one element.

What Argon didn't know was, if this cultivation book get exposed to the outside world. The three kingdoms and the Plague Sect will be shaken.

Argon had a feeling that this book would be very valuable to his dungeon. So, he immediately bought the one-time drop, since he can't afford the unlimited drop.

He clicked on the purchase button and watched as the soul coins were deducted from his account. The book materialized in front of him, and he picked it up to examine it closely.

The book was heavy and thick, with a leather cover and gold lettering. He opened it and started reading the first page. The words on the page were written in a language that was unfamiliar to him, but for some reason, he can understand it clearly like it was his native language. He also felt a strange energy emanating from the pages.

The contents of the book were vast and profound, containing detailed information on the cultivation of each element, as well as how to combine them to achieve greater power.

"It was even more powerful than I thought." He was a little surprised, but didn't bother him too much.

After reading it, he placed the book on Ghorm, if someone managed to kill Ghorm, there will be a chance that this book will drop.

"Next, I need to rise my cultivation to Golden Core."

Raising his cultivation to the next realm will cost him twenty thousand soul coins. Furthermore, if you want to raise it to the middle-stage, he needs to pay another five thousand soul coins.

So, he can only raise his cultivation to the early-stage Golden Core Realm. After all, he was thinking of buying a second floor.

In addition, he needs to choose his next element. Because after he steps into Golden Core, he will unlock a second element.

Since his dragon was already the body of the Ancestral Dragon, he only need to unlock his power.

"System rise my cultivation to early-stage Golden Core Realm."

Argon closed his eyes and focused on the flow of energy within his body. He could feel the power of his cultivation rising rapidly, surging through his body.

The process was intense, and he felt a burning sensation in his chest, but he gritted his teeth and endured it.

Finally, after what felt like hours, he opened his eyes and felt a rush of euphoria as he sensed the immense power coursing through his body.

"Now, to choose my second element." Argon muttered to himself, contemplating his options.

He had already mastered the element of fire, so he couldn't choose that again. He considered the other four elements - earth, water, wood, and metal.

"Earth seems like a good choice." Argon thought to himself. "It would complement my dragon's body, making it even stronger and more resilient."

With his mind made up, Argon focused on the power of earth and began to cultivate it. He felt a connection to the element, as if it was a part of him, and soon he had mastered it already.

Argon can manipulate the earth element to coat his body, enhancing his defense.

After he becomes a Golden Core he can manipulate the elements he mastered, he can even make a fireball the size of a basketball.

"System, are the people in this realm can also do this?" Argon asked.

[Yes and no, since the host is special, your understanding of the elements is already at the peak of the Golden Core Realm. On the other hand, early-stage Golden Core humans were only starting to understand the elements.]

"Ok, I understand now."

After familiarizing himself with his newfound strength, he moved on to the next task he needs to do.

"Next, I need to open a second floor."

In the next moment, Argon opened the floor section of the shop.

He was greeted with a list of different dungeon floors he could choose from. Each floor had its own unique challenges and rewards, and he could only choose one for now.

He scanned through the list, trying to decide which floor would be best.

[Forest of Trials - A dense forest filled with dangerous creatures and traps. It is said that only the strongest can survive and reach the end.]

Price: 20,000 soul coins, adding 10,000 soul coins adds one native monster, with a cultivation base of early-stage Golden Core Realm.]

[Frozen Tundra - A frozen wasteland with icy terrain and powerful ice monsters. It's a perfect place for cultivating the water element.]

Price: 20,000 soul coins, adding 10,000 soul coins adds one native monster, with a cultivation base of early-stage Golden Core Realm.]

[Volcanic Abyss - A fiery dungeon filled with lava, magma, and powerful fire monsters. It's a perfect place for cultivating the fire element.]

Price: 20,000 soul coins, adding 10,000 soul coins adds one native monster, with a cultivation base of early-stage Golden Core Realm.]

[Crystal Caverns - A network of caves filled with precious crystals and dangerous crystal monsters. It's a perfect place for cultivating the earth element.

Price: 20,000 soul coins, adding 10,000 soul coins adds one native monster, with a cultivation base of early-stage Golden Core Realm.]

[Thunderclap Tower - A tower surrounded by lightning storms and powerful electric monsters. It's a perfect place for cultivating the lightning element.

Price: 20,000 soul coins, adding 10,000 soul coins adds one native monster, with a cultivation base of early-stage Golden Core Realm.]

"System, if I buy the floor right now, I can still add monsters with 10,000 soul coins." He asked.

[No, this is only available if you buy the floor and add ten thousand soul coins per monster.]

"Too bad." Argon was disappointed.