

I CREATED A DUNGEON IN A CULTIVATION WORLD

Chapter 6 6: Open The Dungeon

In the distance, the three saw an abandoned tower, although the tower looks like it will collapse any moment the trio still felt a little throbbing in their chest seeing the tower.

"Hey Zam, is there always a tower here?"

"No, we've been hunting in this place for our whole life. Never seen a tower here at all."

"Yeah, this must be the source of that white light."

The three looked at each other.

"So, you guys want to approach the tower?" The person called Zam asked the two.

"Yeah, let's do it. Who knows, there might be a treasure inside. After all, the commotion this tower produce is pretty huge, I'm sure other villages nearby are already running their way here."

"You're right, let's go."

The trio approaches the tower with vigilance, shortly after, the trio arrives at the entrance, and they saw a huge signboard on top of the big door with an Eternal Dungeon written on it.

Zam then move forward and tried to open the huge door, however, the door didn't even budge. Seeing it the other two joined and push the door with all their strength, alas, it didn't even budge a little.

While they were doing their best to move the door, someone was observing them.

It's Argon who just got out, saw these three people pushing the door of the dungeon. The system already told him that no one can open the dungeon, not even the strongest of this place.

"System open the dungeon, let's see how the dungeon operates."

[Ding: Opening the dungeon]

The trio who was about to push the door stopped, because the door suddenly open on its own. The three got excited, however, shortly after they were petrified. They didn't see the inside of the dungeon, but what greeted them was a huge teleportation portal.

The trio jumped back instinctively, looking at the huge portal nervously.

"Zam, should we run?" The timid one asked.

"No, we wait!"

"Okay, but as soon I saw something come out of that portal, I will run without caring about anything, no hard feelings."

Zam didn't respond but focused his gaze on the portal. A minute passed, but the portal was as still as a clear pond.

"I think the portal is safe." Zam breathes a huge sigh of relief.

The two also wiped the sweat on their forehead.

"So, anyone wants to go in?" Zam looked at his two companions, who were looking elsewhere avoiding his eyes.

'Sigh' "Ok, I will go in, you two will stay here and wait for the captain and others."

"Zam, what about we wait for them before going in?"

"Yeah, it's dangerous to go alone."

"It's okay, whatever on the other side, I will not act rashly, also I only want to see what lies on that portal."

Zam was adventurous in nature, in his teens, he will go alone and venture into the forest. Of course, it's only at the periphery of the forest.

He only stopped because he got married, furthermore, his cultivation base was stuck at the half-step body tempering. He doesn't know why all these years of practice, his cultivation base didn't make a breakthrough at all, as though something is blocking him from advancing.