

I. Family 1403

Chapter 1403: White Lotus True Monarch, a National Beauty and Heavenly Fragrance! _3

The appearance of Nangong Yaoyao in front of them is indeed flawless, with unparalleled beauty, admired by countless disciples of the Five Poisons Cult.

But merely being noticed for her looks by a Nascent Soul True Lord is somewhat excessive, isn't it?

Upon hearing this, Nangong Mili's emotions surged with excitement.

She was confident that her daughter would join the Immortal Lotus Sect, knowing that her daughter's spiritual body was compatible with it.

But she never imagined that the Immortal Lotus Sect would also assess appearances.

And her daughter turned out to be the foremost among appearances!

At this moment, a pride unlike any other welled up within her.

After all, this was her daughter, who perfectly inherited her peerless beauty!

"And your spiritual body combined with this heavenly appearance is a natural match, perfectly fitting for the inheritance of our Immortal Lotus Sect, which is why I am also quite fond of you."

White Lotus True Monarch smiled serenely and charmingly, her voice filled with poetic beauty, evoking an instinctive good feeling.

"Spiritual body....."

Cultivators present heard these words, their expressions suddenly clearing.

They realized that Nangong Yaoyao's spiritual body was far from ordinary.

Only thus could a Nascent Soul True Lord speak of taking her as a disciple.

"Hidden really well."

They looked at Nangong Mili, pondering in their hearts.

All these years, they had never heard talk of Nangong Yaoyao's spiritual body.

"Heavenly appearance..."

Nangong Yaoyao herself was also a bit surprised.

She didn't expect her appearance to match the inheritance of the Immortal Lotus Sect.

Moreover, this White Lotus True Monarch said her spiritual body and heavenly appearance were a perfect match, did she see her spiritual body at a glance?

To know, when she was young, her mother had found an exotic treasure to conceal her spiritual body, making it impossible for others to see.

"Heavenly appearance, does that mean my mother is also like this?"

She said with a joyful and astonished expression, looking towards her mother, Nangong Mili.

"Mother?"

White Lotus True Monarch discerned the meaning in Nangong Yaoyao's words, reluctant to part from her mother.

"Your mother indeed possesses various beautiful appearances, surpassing in charm, brilliant, stunning in beauty, but lacks the heavenly appearance."

She glanced at Nangong Mili, her voice gentle and calm, commenting.

The Nangong Mili before her indeed had excellent looks, possessing various beautiful appearances.

If she had joined their Immortal Lotus Sect in her early years, she might have had boundless potential and could have been a true inheritor.

But now that Nangong Mili had already formed a core, even if she joined the Immortal Lotus Sect, she could only be part of the Outer Sect.

And her visit to the Five Poisons Cult this time wasn't to recruit people, how could she take someone else's Nascent Soul Cultivator away?

Moreover, Nangong Yaoyao was already an adult, and she wanted to take her as a disciple, for complete dedication to the Immortal Lotus Sect, requiring less contact with relatives.

"True Monarch, Yaoyao has now broken through Foundation Establishment, if she becomes your disciple, will there be any effects?"

Nangong Yaoyao gently pursed her lips and continued to speak, looking somewhat apprehensive.

"Your cultivation technique is also in line with our Immortal Lotus Sect, as long as you are willing to become my disciple, I can make an exception to open the Immortal Lotus Pool for you, cleanse the mundane, refine your Dao Foundation, and perfectly turn your cultivation to our Immortal Lotus Sect's inheritance."

White Lotus True Monarch heard that the girl was negotiating for herself, and she did not mind.

On one hand, such a talent indeed warrants her resource investment in nurturing.

On the other, in her view, knowing to seek benefits for oneself is a good thing.

In the Cultivation World, what doesn't require you to fight for?

Those who are strong remain strong, only by daring to fight, must one fight, can climb to the peak of the Immortal Path!

If timid and weak, mediocre in character, choosing to become a disciple in ignorance, she might look down upon it.

Moreover, her visit to the Five Poisons Cult was to lay out future plans.

In the event of a future Great Tribulation, her disciples must dare to fight.

Only thus can they emerge in the future Great Tribulation, becoming the Holy Maiden of the Immortal Lotus Sect, securing enough benefits for her White Lotus lineage!

However, the other cultivators present saw that Nangong Yaoyao, when faced with the offer to become a disciple of the True Monarch, hesitated and asked conditions, wiping a sweat out of nervousness for her.

Feeling the girl was unappreciative, yet also bold and audacious, filled with Demon Nature!

"Yaoyao!"

Nangong Mili called out anxiously, fearing her daughter would continue to delay and offend the White Lotus True Monarch.

After all, the Immortal Lotus Sect is originally a Demon Path Sect, extremely treacherous.

Present before them was the White Lotus True Monarch, a Demon True Man yet exuding a holy light as if purifying others' bodies and souls, also full of evil intent.

She was truly afraid her daughter would anger her.

If she were to act against her daughter, even as her mother, she couldn't stop her.

"Yaoyao was momentarily anxious and curious, please don't blame her, Master."

Upon hearing this, Nangong Yaoyao quickly turned around and said.

In her words, she promptly knelt before the White Lotus True Monarch, solemnly performing the disciple ceremony: "Disciple Nangong Yaoyao, pays respects to Master!"

"How is this wrong, taking on disciples is not a one-sided word."

White Lotus True Monarch said with a smile, extending a hand glowing with holy white light to gently lift Nangong Yaoyao up, saying: "Since you are willing to be my disciple, upon returning to the sect, this Master will hold a disciple ceremony for you."

For a Nascent Soul True Monarch like her to take on disciples, it is naturally no small matter, and requires informing the sect.

Besides this, she also intended to assess Nangong Yaoyao further.

To see the specific temperament of the other, and decide if she would be an ordinary disciple, or an intimate true inheritor, whether to hold a grand disciple ceremony.

"Thank you, Master!"

Nangong Yaoyao immediately responded with a face of obedient compliance.

However, everyone present knew that this girl was not as innocent and carefree as she appeared on the surface.

"Five Poisons True Monarch, thanks to your luck, I have accepted an excellent disciple, these few individuals I will take to the Immortal Lotus Sect, and in time, the two families may visit frequently."

At this time, White Lotus True Monarch looked to the Five Poisons Cult Leader beside her.

Though these individuals were intended for her selection, to be taken to the Immortal Lotus Sect.