Chapter 1404: White Lotus True Monarch, a National Beauty and Heavenly Fragrance! _4

But her choice to take in apprentices had a different meaning. To repay this favor, she brought everyone along.

"Thank you, True Monarch!"

The others, upon hearing this, were overjoyed, never expecting that they would all be chosen.

"True Monarch is too courteous."

The young girl smiled and said.

Those who were brought along were all disciples with deep roots in the Five Poisons Cult, carrying profound emotions.

Even if they joined Immortal Lotus Sect, with their hearts inclined towards it in the future, they still had family and elders in the Five Poisons Cult. Therefore, there would be some ties between the two sects in the future.

Afterwards, she looked at Nangong Mili, dressed in a purple gown, and said:
"Heavenly Spider Envoy, you have given birth to a good daughter."

Now that Nangong Yaoyao had become a disciple under White Lotus True Monarch, her importance to Nangong Mili rose a level higher.

"That Yaoyao could become a disciple under the True Monarch is her fortune!"

Nangong Mili replied respectfully.

"You possess various talents and are destined to have a connection with our Immortal Lotus Sect. Here is a cultivation technique inheritance and a magical treasure for you."

"If you succeed in your cultivation in the future, you can come to the Immortal Lotus Sect, and I will bestow upon you another opportunity."

Hearing this, White Lotus True Monarch looked at Nangong Mili, raised her jade hand lightly, and placed a cultivation technique inheritance and a pure white lotus in front of her.

Since she intended to take in apprentices, she naturally wanted to leave a good impression on both sides.

Of course, this inheritance and magical treasure also served as a message to Nangong Mili, indicating that before her cultivation took shape, she shouldn't come to Immortal Lotus Sect seeking her own disciple.

"Thank you, True Monarch!"

Nangong Mili understood the meaning behind this and dared not refuse, accepting the jade slip and treasure with respect.

"My disciple, say farewell to your family and friends."

White Lotus True Monarch looked at Nangong Yaoyao, then at the others, and said indifferently: "You all can go as well."

"Thank you, Master!"

"Thank you, True Monarch!"

Nangong Yaoyao and the other five respectfully saluted.

Afterwards, these people looked at Nangong Yaoyao, all carrying a fawning expression.

Even though previously in the Five Poisons Cult, their status was on par with Nangong Yaoyao.

But now that Nangong Yaoyao was taken as a disciple by White Lotus True Monarch, there was a vast difference in their identities!

"Mother, Yaoyao won't be able to accompany you from now on."

After Nangong Yaoyao and Nangong Mili walked out of the main hall, her eyes turned slightly red as she spoke.

"You've been intelligent and understanding since childhood, but upon going to Immortal Lotus Sect, you must speak and act with caution and earn the True Monarch's favor."

Nangong Mili's eyes were also red, her face full of reluctance.

Her daughter was raised by her side since childhood, the longest separation being her recent journey to the Tianyuan Secret Realm.

Having just returned from Jiang Country, she now had to part with her daughter again.

And who knows how long it will be before they reunite.

"Mother, I also wish to bid farewell to father."

Nangong Yaoyao lightly bit her lip, looking at her mother.

"Alright, mother will take you there."

Nangong Mili did not scold her daughter, and directly summoned a magical treasure, taking her daughter headlong towards the Immortal Spider Marketplace, lest they delay White Lotus True Monarch's time.

Nangong Mili and her daughter Nangong Yaoyao arrived at the Immortal Spider Marketplace, only to discover that Lu Changsheng had left.

"Ancient Secluded Immortal City? What is he doing going to Ancient Secluded Immortal City?"

Nangong Mili frowned slightly, voicing her thoughts.

"The 'Qu Changtian' wanted by the Ghost Demon True Master is Lu Lang's son."

"Lu Lang heard that Ghost Demon True Master personally went to hunt down 'Qu Changtian', so he planned to go to Ancient Secluded Immortal City to find the 'Shadow Tower' to purchase intelligence on Ghost Demon True Master, hoping to locate 'Qu Changtian'."

Explained Meng Xiaochan.

"Huh!?"

Nangong Yaoyao was stunned and somewhat bewildered.

Unexpectedly, the black-robed youth with the Six-Winged Golden Silkworm was her half-brother?

"That Qu Changtian is my brother?"

She looked at Meng Xiaochan in astonishment.

"Indeed, his real name is Lu Quanzhen, Lu Lang's son."

Meng Xiaochan shook her head with a wry smile, then said softly: "Yaoyao, I told Lu Lang about this, and we didn't know his identity back then, so when you meet him in the future, just apologize."

"Lu Quanzhen? How many sons and daughters does this useless man have!?"

Nangong Mili was also somewhat surprised.

She had heard about the events concerning 'Qu Changtian' from Meng Xiaochan in the past and had paid a little attention.

Knowing this person's extraordinary prowess.

As a loose cultivator, despite being wanted by Ghost Demon True Master, he not only remained unscathed but even rose powerfully.

Unexpectedly, he was also Lu Changsheng's son.

Back in Jiang Country, she had dug into Lu Changsheng's detailed information.

She knew he had a body refining genius son, named Lu Ping'an, who reached near Third Rank Body Refining in just sixty years, a truly astonishing feat.

He also had a daughter named Lu Wangshu, who inherited this useless man's so-called Talismanic Inheritance, and shortly after breaking through to Foundation Establishment, defeated six Foundation Establishment cultivators alone.

Even if these six were mere weaklings at Foundation Establishment, it was still quite remarkable.

Besides these two, she learned that Lu Changsheng had another son named 'Lu Qingshan.'

This son was exceptionally talented in the Sword Dao, joined Yu Country's Jinyang Sect, and once went to the Heavenly Sword Sect to challenge their sword, emerging unmatched among peers.

In this circumstance, there was now another son named 'Lu Quanzhen.'

Counting her own daughter Nangong Yaoyao, this useless man seems to have struck a streak of incredible luck to have so many prodigious offspring!

Imagine, an ordinary family with just one such child could thrive for a hundred years.

With five at once, not even an ancestral grave erupting would be this exaggerated, would it?

"Even if this useless man possesses an unparalleled Taoist Body, isn't this overly exaggerated?"

"Besides, isn't his Taoist Body supposed to specialize in dual cultivation, why is his fertility also so astonishing?"

Nangong Mili murmured to herself.
