

Chapter 77

"Don't stay longer than needed and mindlink me if anything odd happens," Tatum says to Leila outside Amanda's apartment.

They had just left the games for that day and Leila wanted to pay Amanda a visit before heading home. Yesterday when she agreed to stay, she called to have her and Curtis released with immediate effect. 1

"I'll be fine Alpha," Leila smiles at him, her heart warming at the concern in his eyes and his voice.

"Alright, come here," Tatum curls his hands around her waist, pulling her into him and leaning against the car and he kisses her sultrily in the open.

Leila pushes away, gazing around and feeling hot. Something about the way he kisses her anywhere just feels incredibly hot but it also makes her feel shy.

"Goodbye Alpha," Leila replies like a shy teenager, her heart racing as she skips to Amanda's door, giving Tatum one last coy glance before she opens it.

"I'm either dreaming or dead but Tatum just kissed you outside and you're smiling like it's candy," Amanda doesn't even let Leila close the door before she speaks, bobbing her head, eager for the details.

Leila tries to but she cannot hide her smile, she just feels so happy being his, knowing he is not ashamed to show her affection anywhere.

"Stop smiling and give me the gist," Amanda raises her voice that is filled with so much anticipation as she drags Leila inside, sitting her on the couch.

Leila makes a face at Amanda and shakes her head. "I wonder how your patients' secrets are safe with you, with how much you love to gossip.”

“Hey!” Amanda slaps Leila’s arm lightly. “I am a true professional. Now stop trying to change the topic and give me the gist. Does this mean you are no longer divorcing him, you guys made up?”

‘I’m never letting you go.’

Tatum’s promise comes to Leila’s mind and she smiles sheepishly, killing Amanda with eager anticipation.

“Just say something already,” Amanda groans in frustration and Leila chuckles.

A divorce would have to be Tatum’s decision now, he has promised not to let her go and he has shown in some ways that he means it.

He chose her over Carmela to stay in the house, he has shown her more affection and possessiveness in front of his people and they seem to admire and respect her more, he even officially announced the pregnancy of their child to the world in the most loving and affectionate way.

If he does change his mind and divorces her later, it would crush her heart forever but before that happens, she must make sure it is not because of Carmela.

She needs to find a way to expose Carmela’s true colours.

Being Luna gives her leverage over Carmela right now and she has to use it to protect Tatum and the pack.

She doesn’t know what Carmela’s intentions are but one thing is certain, they are evil and she will not allow Carmela hurt the man she loves or the pack that he loves dearly and would do anything for.

She will not wait for Carmela to strike again, she has to be proactive and make the next move.

“Leila....I swear if you don't–”

“Relax...”Leila cuts the over eager Amanda off. “He said he’s never letting me go and that even if I found my mate, he would murder and cremate him.”

Amanda's lips curl into a cute pout with puppy eyes.

“Awww.....I feel so hot,” She shrieks and fans herself with her hands. “The Alpha’s going psycho over you....look at you girl.....”

Leila blushes at Amanda's dramatics. Psycho is not the word she will use but Tatum is completely different now, a version that she loves.

“Amanda, I wanted to thank you for coming through for me the other day and I also wanted to apologise, I know you and your friend were hurt,” Leila says in a serious tone after a while.

Amanda's amusing smile vanishes immediately and she scowls at Leila. “Would you do the same thing in my shoes, if I needed your help?” 1

“Without a doubt.”

“So respectfully, Luna, shut your mouth and stop thanking or apologising to me,” Amanda rolls her eyes at Leila.

Leila scoffs, knowing Amanda doesn't want her to talk about it.

“You bitch, I should have you flogged for that.”

“If BDSM is your thing, I'm sorry, I'm straight but I'm sure the Alpha has a high tolerance for pain,” Amanda replies, flicking her brows at Leila.

Leila gasps and clutches her hand over her mouth, looking at Amnada in shock. How did the joke about flogging her suddenly turn sexual?

Chapter 77

“Amanda I can’t find the—oh, Luna, I didn’t know you were here,” Curtis appears, his muscular frame clad in nothing but his underwear.

“I didn’t know you were here too....” Leila replies, glancing suspiciously between Curtis and Amanda.

Amanda catches Leila’s reaction and rolls her eyes. “Oh please, he’s not my type. He’s Kelvin’s cousin who recently came in and he’s crashing here till his place is set up. I never got the chance to introduce you guys the other day.”

Kelvin’s cousin? She’s never seen him before, did Kelvin send him?

“Are you in touch with Kelvin? Do you know where he is?” Leila asks eagerly, grabbing Curtis.
