

I Play Yu-Gi 1191

Chapter 1191: Divine

[Izayoi Aki, LP 0]

Junk Warrior accelerated his dive, and his huge fist slammed down like a tidal wave. The wave of golden energy swept through Aki's body, but it did not bring the slightest pain.

On the contrary, she only felt the warmth from the mighty fist force.

Suddenly, she seemed to feel that the red mark on the back of her hand that flickered was not so painful. For the first time in her life, such a thought came to her mind.

Maybe this mark is really not a curse?

It was because of this mark that she could feel the sincere emotions of the man opposite. That sincere, unpretentious enthusiasm, along with this fatal punch, hit the girl's heart which had been closed for many years, almost breaking her defense line.

Aki felt that her vision was a little blurred.

At the end of losing consciousness, she tried to open her eyes, trying to remember the man's appearance, especially his eyes that were as blue as the cold seawater, but full of passion.

But she couldn't see anything clearly.

The hot torrent surrounded Aki's body and soon swallowed her consciousness. The girl's body softened and she collapsed to the ground and fainted.

"Izayoi!"

Yusei jumped forward to check on her.

"Don't worry, just let her sleep for a while." Yuei Vu said.

Yusei was stunned: "Did you do it, Senior Yuei Vu?"

"Yes. Since you have won the duel, it is still easy to let the other party take a short rest." Yuei Vu smiled, "Don't worry, I won't hurt her.

Speaking of which, I had a student who looked like her before, maybe we can get in touch with each other."

In fact, Yuei Vu has been a little concerned since he first saw this girl.

What is Izayoi Sakura to Aki?

Is she her mother? Or some other relative?

Logically speaking, although Sakura's grades in the Duel Academy were not particularly outstanding, she should have seen a lot of big scenes. Yuei Vu felt that if Aki's mother was Sakura, she would not dislike Aki for the reason that "playing cards with supernatural power".

However, although he felt strange, Yuei Vu had no time to care about Izayoi's family affairs for the time being. After all, he had enough questions to figure out and too many mysteries to solve.

In addition, he had other more important things to do now.

Looking at Brother Crabhead, who seemed to be worried and squatting on the ground to check the girl's physical condition, Yuei Vu reminded him: "Don't let your guard down, Yusei, there are other people here."

Yusei stood up alertly: "Who is it?"

There was a short silence, and then a weird laugh came from the darkness.

"Hehe, you are quite vigilant, brat."

A figure walked out of the darkness.

It was a red-haired man with bangs covering one eye. He was wearing a large army green coat and had a sinister villain-like sneer on his lips.

Yuei Vu had introduced him before, and now Yusei recognized this man at a glance.

Divine, the actual person in charge of this building, the leader of the Arcadia Movement.

"I remember that you are called... Fudo Yusei, right?" Divine narrowed his eyes, "I saw you on the wanted list of the Public Security Bureau before.

But earlier today, those guys erased your name from the wanted list. Haha, for a scum from the Satellite area, it seems that your backing is quite strong."

He glanced at Izayoi who was unconscious on the ground.

"I don't know what you did to Aki, but you will pay for it." Divine said, "And it looked like you arranged those psychopathic duelists to mess up and sneak into our organization. I will make you regret it."

"The attackers in the Public Security Bureau last night," Yusei said, "that's your people, right? You sent people to break into the Public Security Bureau and assassinate the director, Rex Godwin.

But why?"

"Who knows?" Divine sneered, "Maybe it's just that annoying guy who got in the way."

"And the attacker is not only a Psychic Duelist, he is also a Shadow Duelist." Yusei continued to ask, "What secrets are you hiding here?"

Divine was a little surprised: "You actually know about the Shadow Game?"

Divine's tone has also revealed that he knows about it.

"Sure enough, was that at your behest?"

"Heh, Fudo Yusei, it seems you know more than I thought." Divine admitted generously, "Yes, the power he used is indeed not just a Psychic Duel, but Shadow Game.

That is a realm I have never imagined before, even more powerful than Psychic Duel. Not just pure destructive power, it is the power of God that can control others and even rewrite the rules of reality!"

Divine began to reveal his ambitious nature.

"With this power, what we will be able to achieve will even exceed my original plan." He said, "Godwin is just a starting point, it's just a test of our strength.

Originally, we planned to deal with the so-called King Jack Atlas to verify our strength. But Godwin was quite vigilant. Before my people approached the king, they were caught by that guy.

Oh, but it doesn't matter. Anyway, according to our plan, Godwin was originally a target that needed to be eliminated. It's just a matter of sooner or later.

After dealing with Godwin, we will start with the Public Security Bureau and secretly control the entire city, then the country, and finally the whole world!"

Yuei Vu: "..."

He was really getting more and more curious about what had happened in all these years from his own time to this era.

Back in his time, Shadow Duelists were everywhere, and even underground guild organizations were caught in large numbers. But now, even such a nobody could dream of conquering the world. What happened to this world?

"But this doesn't explain why they want to kill Sakata Ryo." Yuei Vu said.

So Yusei asked for him: "What about Sakata Ryo? That former employee of Kaiba Corp, why did you want to kill him?"

"That guy? God knows." Divine shrugged indifferently, "Dealing with him is just a side effect. It's just a deal."

"Deal?" Yusei didn't understand.

"This guy couldn't have found the threshold by himself." Yuei Vu suggested, "Someone else influenced him and gave these people in the Arcadia Movement the power of Shadow Game.

Maybe he instructed them to kill Sakata Ryo."

Yusei continued to ask: "Who gave you the power of Shadow Game?"

"Haha, do you want to know?"

Divine smiled with a beating-deserved face.

Then he opened the duel disk.

"We are all duelists, you know the rules." Divine sneered, "Come on, don't move Yusei, let me test your weight myself.

If you can beat me, I will tell you the answer.

But if you can't win..."

He smiled sinisterly and licked his lips.

"You will soon have the honor to find out what the fate of the loser in the Shadow Game will be like."

"Okay."

Yusei was about to accept the challenge without thinking but was stopped by Yuei Vu with a gesture.

"Senior Yuei Vu?"

"We are in a hurry, let me do this."

Yuei Vu stretched his muscles and smiled meaningfully.

"And didn't this guy say he wanted us to see the 'Shadow Game'? Then let him do as he wishes.

Let him see what a real Shadow Game is."

Chapter 1192: Psychic Master

Target, locked.

Deck in use, confirmed. Deck scan, completed.

Duel domain, activated.

A water-blue wave quickly expanded with Yuei Vu as the center. The water-colored vortex encompassed the entire room, including Yusei and Divine standing in the room.

Till the last second, Divine still had a sneer on his lips. He had silently opened the Shadow Game domain he had just mastered, and the black mist had already covered the room invisibly.

Although the young man called Yusei hadn't noticed it yet, he had actually fallen into the trap of my Shadow Game. Next, the two sides will gamble their lives, and only the one who wins the duel can leave the room.

But the next second he found something wrong.

Wait a minute, the atmosphere is not right.

This site doesn't look like the Shadow Game domain I just learned?

The aqua-blue energy spread out, and the dilapidated rooms and nearly collapsed floors around it all became illusory and blurred. It was as if everything in the scene was digitized, and the entire space was dragged into an unknown holographic field.

"What's going on?" Divine's face changed a little, and he looked at Yusei in astonishment, "What did you do?"

"It wasn't me." The honest Yusei shook his head, "But you may be in big trouble."

"?"

Divine was at a loss, and only saw the vortex of data gathering as if being pulled, quickly gathering in the middle of the venue, and gradually turning into the shape of a person.

The man kept a half-squatting posture, and the surging data flow turned into a long windbreaker, a golden duel disk, and the whole person appeared on the field out of thin air.

When he raised his head, Divine only instinctively felt that this face seemed to have been seen somewhere before.

Because it was a rare handsome face.

Yuei Vu stood up, opened the duel disk, and smiled: "Didn't you say that you wanted to know who was the mastermind behind Yusei? Now I'm here."

What do you mean? Let's have a fight?"

"Oh? You are the mastermind?" Divine continued to swell, "Interesting, I'm beginning to worry that I have to find you myself after dealing with this garbage of Satellite area.

Okay, then I'll help you!"

"Duel!" x2

[Divine, LP 4000]

[Yuei Vu, LP 4000]

"I'm the first to go, draw!" Divine took the first move.

After checking the starting hand, Divine curled his lips and showed an excited smile.

"Hehe, a perfect start. It seems that your luck is not very good. With this first hand, you have no chance at all!"

He drew a card.

"First, I Normal Summon a Tuner Monster, 'Krebons'!"

A Psychic Monster that looked like a clown appeared on the field, with a bright red mouth showing a weird smile and green goggles covering its eyes.

[Krebons, ATK 1200]

"Then activate the Quick-Play Spell 'Emergency Teleport'." Divine said, "Special Summon 1 Level 3 or lower Psychic monster from my hand or Deck. However, the monsters Special Summoned by this effect must be banished at the end of the turn!"

The Spell Card flipped over, opening a blue starlight vortex. A golden bulky Psychic Monster slowly crawled out of the vortex.

"I Special Summon 'Mind Protector'!"

[Mind Protector, DEF 2200]

Yuei Vu raised his eyebrows.

Good boy, I almost forgot that "Emergency Teleport" was actually your card.

It could unconditionally call any level 3 or lower Psychic monster out of the deck. Just looking at the effect, you could understand how awesome this card was. Even in the real card environment after countless versions, this card was still a limited card, and it could be very powerful in a specific deck.

Then I can't be polite with you...

"Level 2 Tuner 'Krebons', plus level 3 'Mind Protector', tuning!"

[2+3=5]

"My flames of hatred, blazing within the abyss of my heart, become the black raging waves that will overrun this world!"

Synchro Summon! Appear now, Magical Android!"

The two monsters transformed into stars, and a mechanical being descended under the magic light curtain, holding a telekinetic wand, his face as calm as still water.

[Magical Android, ATK 2400]

"He performed a Synchro Summon in the first turn. Sure enough, this person is not a weakling." Brother Crabhead thought to himself.

Even among the prominent characters in 5DS, there were not many who could summon Synchro Monsters in the first turn. If you have this level, you can at least be considered a master.

Of course, if Divine didn't even have this level, he wouldn't be the leader of the Arcadia Movement.

"Set two cards, I end my turn." Divine said, "I can't attack on the first turn, but the effect of Magical Android can still be activated!

During each of my End Phases, I gain 600 LP for each Psychic-Type monster I currently control."

[Divine, LP 4000 → LP 4600]

"Foolish fellows." Divine sneered, "I don't know what kind of people you claim to be. Seeking the truth? Wating to play a hero of justice?"

But the fact is, you are just two more obstacles that will be cleared on my road to success, that's all."

"Are all obstacles except for the chess pieces that can be used?" Yuei Vu said calmly, "Just like you murdered an innocent person and framed Aki with the intention of turning her into your own doll?"

Divine's pupils shrank, revealing a look of astonishment.

In the original work, Izayoi Aki was called the Black Rose Witch, and was hated and slandered as a murderer by countless people. In fact, it was not completely groundless. The fact was that there were often corpses wherever she passed.

But that was exactly what Divine designed.

He needed Izayoi to be hated and rejected, so that when he, in the role of a warm-hearted man, showed up to provide her with shelter, she would be deeply moved and willing to work for him.

Not only Izayoi, but many people in this organization were actually like this. He deceived everyone that this was a common paradise for their unwelcome Psychic users. In fact, he just manipulated and used these people, regarded them as his soldiers, and fantasized that one day he could achieve the goal of conquest through the power he mastered.

Most of the villains in the entire "Yu-Gi-Oh! 5DS" were of the "tragic people turn into monsters" type, whether it was the Dark Signer or Z-ONE, you would find that there were actually almost no bad people here. Everyone was just pursuing their own wishes and working hard for a better future in their own way.

But Divine, a villain who couldn't even be considered a BOSS, was an exception.

If we had to rank the most hated characters in 5DS, this guy would definitely be on the list. As a villain, he didn't have any special features. His ambition was just a little bit small at most, but his personality was disgusting, and he would do anything to achieve his goals.

In fact, even if he was exposed by Yuei Vu in person, Divine didn't feel guilty or embarrassed at all. He didn't think there was anything wrong with his actions, and even took pride in it, thinking that it was his outstanding ability and the reason why he could become a leader.

But what shocked him was that these should have been his deepest secrets.

How could this man know?

From another perspective, if this man even knew this...

How much else does he know?

Divine's face became more and more gloomy: "It seems that I really can't keep you. Sorry, but I'm afraid you will have to take my secrets with you to that dark world where there will never be light."

Chapter 1193: Judgment Dragon

"Want to bury us through a Shadow Game?" Yuei Vu smiled, "Then let's see if you are capable of that.

It's my turn, draw."

After finally coming to the Synchro era of 5DS, Yuei Vu naturally had many new decks that he wanted to test.

And the one in front of him is a pretty good target.

"I will activate this card first," Yuei Vu smiled and showed a card, "Spell Card 'That Grass Looks Greener'!

This card can only be activated when the number of cards in my deck is larger than that of the opponent. Until the number of cards in both decks becomes the same, send cards from the top of my Deck to the Graveyard."

That Grass Looks Greener was a powerful Spell that once had a highlight moment in the future real card environment. It can be clearly seen from the effect that this card was suitable for cooperating with decks that need a large number of graveyards, and accumulate a large amount of graveyard resources in one go through the difference in the number of cards between your own and the opponent's decks.

"The system's deck registration information shows that your deck seems to have just reached 40 cards." Yuei Vu smiled, "You start with six cards, plus the one retrieved using 'Emergency Teleport', you should have 33 cards left.

My deck is 60 cards, minus the six cards in my hand, the remaining deck is 54 cards."

At this time, the duel disk has automatically ejected a large number of cards, all of which were taken by Yuei Vu.

"Therefore, I sent all the extra 21 cards to the graveyard!"

Yusei was surprised: "Just one card, accumulated so many resources?"

Of course, this tactic worked well in the real card environment, but it was not so good in the complex and changeable animation environment that Yuei Vu was facing.

Because in the real card environment, it was based on the premise that 90% of the players' decks were at the limit of 40 cards. If you a large deck with 60 cards, and you started with a That Grass Looks Greener, 20 cards were directly piled into the graveyard as resources.

However, this was not the case in the animation. Especially for masters like Yugi Muto and Judai Yuki, the number of cards in their decks often depended on their mood. If you play cards with such masters and expect to use up 20 resources for one card, you are probably dreaming.

But Divine was obviously not such a master. His deck was a standard 40-card one.

He even mocked Yuei Vu for "lacking basic common sense".

"60-card deck? Please, do you really know how to duel?" Divine laughed, "Such a bloated deck is just a pile of cards, right?"

A duelist using that kind of thing, haha, I thought you were a big shot just now. I was so stupid. Sure enough, you are just a small fish, right?"

Yusei, who was watching silently, couldn't help but want to remind Divine that the guy in front of him was the ultimate master. But after thinking about it, he found that Yuei Vu didn't seem to want to say anything, so he let it go.

40 cards? Who would only bring 40 cards as a true duelist?

The more cards you bring, the more emergencies you can deal with. Shouldn't this be common sense for duelists?

What? Afraid of not being able to draw the cards you want?

Then why do you still play cards?

"Activate the Spell Card 'Solar Recharge'," Yuei Vu said, "Discard 1 'Lightsworn' monster; draw 2 cards, then send the top 2 cards of my Deck to the GY."

He showed a card in his hand: "I discard 'Raiden, Hand of the Lightsworn' from my hand to the graveyard and draw two cards."

Watching him draw cards and discard cards to the graveyard, Divine became more and more suspicious.

What's the point of piling more cards in the graveyard?

"Activate the Spell Card 'Charge of the Light Brigade'. Send the top 3 cards of my Deck to the GY; add 1 Level 4 or lower 'Lightsworn' monster from my Deck to my hand.

I add 'Ryko, Lightsworn Hunter' to my hand."

Seeing Yuei Vu swiping three cards into the graveyard again, Divine was alert: "So much trouble, just to retrieve that 'Lightsworn Hunter'?"

But then he found out that he was wrong again. Yuei Vu continued: "Activate the second 'Solar Recharge'. I discard 'Ryko, Lightsworn Hunter', and draw two cards.

Then throw two cards from the top of the deck to the graveyard."

Seeing Yuei Vu throw away the monster he just retrieved without blinking, and then draw cards to the graveyard, he couldn't help but feel more confused.

So he didn't want the card he retrieved?

What is he doing?

And soon, he knew the answer.

Yuei Vu raised a card in his hand and said, "This card can only be Special Summoned when there are four or more 'Lightsworn' monsters with different names in my GY.

The incarnation of light that judges everything has descended here—

—Judgment Dragon!!!"

The huge wings that cover the sky and the sun cover the huge body of light. The aquamarine sky in the domain seemed to be torn apart, and a huge dragon emerged from the broken gap, looking down from a high place, with a sharp vision like a hawk, but as cold as a pool of stagnant water.

[Judgment Dragon, ATK 3000]

The transparent storm, just like the flying sand and rocks when Izayoi's "Black Rose Dragon" appeared, but it was more violent and more terrifying.

Not only the destructive power, but also the pressure like a god, like a huge rock pressing on the heart, making people in this domain almost frozen.

Divine was also somewhat shocked by the dragon: "What is this!?"

"Judgment Dragon's effect" Yuei Vu snapped his fingers, "Pay 1000 life points, and all cards on the field except this card are destroyed!"

Divine: "!?"

Damn? So fierce?

[Yuei Vu, LP 4000 → LP 3000]

The dragon slowly spread its wings and exhaled scorchingly. The strong light was like a tidal wave, rolling up and swallowing all the cards on the field, annihilating them into slag.

The Magical Android he was proud of had no power to fight back under the judgment of the Judgment Dragon, and were soon melted and decomposed in the dragon's breath until they turned into a pool of molten iron.

It could be seen that in the backfield where Divine was swept, there was a Counter Trap "Negate Attack", which has the best survival performance among defensive offensive traps.

Everything was annihilated, and everything was melting.

Until the entire field was empty, leaving only the majestic and huge Judgment Dragon.

"What a terrible monster." Divine looked at his field that had been cleared out, narrowed his eyes and snorted, then sneered, "If it weren't for me setting this card..."

Divine laughed: "When you cleared my backfield, you also destroyed this set card!"

A trap flew out of the vortex in the graveyard, spinning twice to reveal its true face.

That was the trap card "Waking the Dragon"!

Chapter 1194: A Name

Waking the Dragon had been a professional nuking prevention for 30 years. The purpose of this card was to let the opponent blow it away, so that the controller would be able to pull out almost any trump card unconditionally!

"If this Set card in its owner's control has left the field because of an opponent's effect, and is now in the GY or banished, I can Special Summon 1 monster from my Deck or Extra Deck!" Divine shouted, "Thanks to your help in destroying my backfield, my strongest trump card can be easily put on the field.

Show up, the strongest firepower of my deck—

—Thought Ruler Archfiend!!!"

It was a demon whose body seemed to be wrapped in a layer of skeleton armor, dark green bone wings, and golden lightning wrapped around his body.

Divine's trump card, Level 8 Synchro Mōnter, Thought Ruler Archfiend!

[Thought Ruler Archfiend, ATK 2700]

Thought Ruler Archfiend, when destroying an opponent's monster in battle, could restore LP equal to the destroyed monster's original attack power. In addition, whenever a Spell or Trap targeting a Psychic monster was activated, you could pay 1000 life points to negate and destroy that card.

By the way, this thing was also a Psychic monster.

It was still very useful in the early Synchro environment, and even became a staple card in many Synchro decks. Having it was equivalent to all Psychic on the field gaining resistance to target effects.

With this kind of monster, it was no wonder that Divine dared to be so arrogant in the early 5DS. Ordinary people may not be his opponent.

However...

Yuei Vu kept looking at Divine as if he was looking at a dead person, expressionless: "Then I activate the effect of Judgment Dragon again. Pay 1000 life points, and destroy the 'Thought Ruler Archfiend'."

Divine: "!! !?"

What?

Such a powerful effect is not limited to once per turn?!

Yes, the effect of Judgment Dragon was not said to be once per round. As long as your LP was enough, it could clean up the entire field as many times as you wanted.

This is Judgment Dragon, the strongest terminal of Lightsworn that judges everything!

[Yuei Vu, LP 3000 → LP 2000]

At the cost of one thousand life points, Judgment Dragon's ability was activated again, easily crushing Divine's so-called "strongest firepower" into slag, as easy as slapping a mosquito to death.

"How is it possible?" Divine swallowed his saliva.

"Normal Summon 'Lumina, Lightsworn Summoner'."

[Lumina, Lightsworn Summoner, ATK 1000]

"Lumina's effect – Once per turn: I can discard 1 card, then target 1 Level 4 or lower 'Lightsworn' monster in my GY; Special Summon it." Yuei Vu said, "Return to the field, Raiden!"

[Raiden, Hand of the Lightsworn, ATK 1700]

"Raiden's effect – During my Main Phase, I can send the top 2 cards of my Deck to the GY. If any 'Lightsworn' monsters were sent to the GY by this effect, this card gains 200 ATK until the end of the opponent's next turn."

After throwing two more cards, Yuei Vu raised his eyebrows.

"One of the two sent cards is 'Wulf, Lightsworn Beast'. When it is sent from the deck to the Graveyard by the effect of a card, it can be directly Special Summoned.

Come on, Wulf, Lightsworn Beast."

[Wulf, Lightsworn Beast, ATK 2100]

"Raiden's ATK increases by 200."

[Raiden, Hand of the Lightsworn, ATK 1700 → ATK 1900]

In fact, Raiden himself was a Tuner Monster. Now he has a Level 4 Tuner Raiden, a Level 4 Wulf, and a Level 3 Lumina on the field. If he performed Synchro Summons, he could continue to swarm the field.

Of course, it was no longer necessary.

Why continue to operate to a dead person who is already a corpse?

Based on the principle of compassion of "I am not a devil either", Yuei Vu smiled.

"Then 'Wulf, Lightsworn Beast' and 'Judgment Dragon' will deal with this pathetic person."

With the final blow, the Judgment Dragon spewed out a scorching breath! The devastating flames hit Divine's body, and the pain, which was a hundred times and a thousand times stronger than telekinesis, almost crushed his nerves.

"Ahhhhhhh!!!"

[Divine, LP 4600 → LP 0]

Divine's body was overwhelmed and was finally blown away in the scorching torrent of destruction. His back hit the boundary of the duel field heavily, and the invisible wall was covered with aqua-blue ripples.

Divine fell back to the ground heavily, and felt that his breathing was almost cut off.

Yusei watched silently beside him, but he was also secretly amazed in his heart.

This was the duel of Yuei Vu, who was known as the strongest duel king of all generations.

There was no gap at all, a completely crushing explosion, and a perfect kill in one turn. At least from Yusei's perspective, he felt that Divine really didn't have any chance.

The Judgment Dragon was really a terrible monster.

Yuei Vu walked forward and, as a matter of routine, he pulled out the deck in Divine's hand.

Although Divine was not a strong man, he still had a few good cards. For example, Emergency Teleport, which was definitely a super support card for Psychic. And his so-called strongest trump card "Thought Ruler Archfiend" was quite good too. Although Yuei Vu himself may not need it, it would definitely sell well in the store.

After all, for players, it was just the beginning of the Synchro version, and it was the time when their enthusiasm for Synchro is the highest. Early staple white monsters like this had to be sold at this time. When the version changed and the environment accelerated, they would not be worth that much in the future.

Yuei Vu has a clear plan for what cards to sell in what period.

Yu-Gi-Oh was such a game. Some cards may be as strong as fake cards in a certain period, and you can easily sell them at a sky-high price. But when the era changes and the version changes, those cards may become garbage again, and no one wants them even if they are given away for free.

So if you want to make a lot of money in this game, you have to learn to sell the right cards in a specific version.

Divine was in great pain at this time, lying on the ground and groaning like a salted fish: "My deck..."

Whether as a Psychic Duelist or a Shadow Duelist, he must have a deck to activate his power. If the duelist was compared to a gun, then the card was equivalent to ammunition.

A gun without ammunition has no deterrent power at all.

For an unscrupulous and ambitious person like Divine, nothing could make him more painful than depriving him of his power.

"What did you say?" Yuei Vu pricked up his ears, "I can't hear clearly."

"Give me back my deck..." Divine groaned in pain.

"You said that the strap of the Duel Disk is too tight and hurts your arm?"

Yuei Vu suddenly felt that although the other party was a scumbag who did whatever it took to fulfill his ambition, he should also enjoy human rights. He had the right to make himself feel better.

So he kindly helped Divine unbutton the duel disk, and threw the duel disk to the confused crab head next to him.

Yuei Vu smiled: "How is it? Are you more comfortable now?"

Divine: "@*%#"

"No need to thank me." Yuei Vu smiled, "Well, you got what you wanted and let us "see" the Shadow Game, and now you are comfortable, it's almost time to tell the truth."

He put away his smile and became serious.

"Tell me, who gave you the power of a Shadow Duelist?" Yuei Vu asked.

Divine's body twitched violently.

His face turned pale, and he bit his lips tightly, revealing a difficult expression.

"No." He shook his head stiffly, "I can't say. I can't reveal that thing."

A strong sense of fear replaced the arrogant expression and occupied his pale face.

"It will kill me." He shivered all over. "More than that, it will make me a part of it, and I will be tortured forever and ever.

I will die horribly."

"Why do I need to care about you?" Yuei Vu rolled his eyes. "You admire the Shadow Game so much, I guess you should know the rules. This is a question without options.

One loss, one price.

You lost to me, and now the only reason why you can continue to breathe here is that I need you to provide information."

Yuei Vu narrowed his eyes.

"So, the name. Don't waste my time."

Divine shivered violently again.

"I can't! I can't say it!"

He gritted his teeth as if he was trying his best to resist with his will. But of course, it was in vain.

The punishment of the Shadow Game was not something that could be resisted by human will. Or even if it could be resisted, it was definitely not something that a scum like Divine can do.

So he used trembling lips to utter a name with difficulty and pain.

"Nightshroud."

Yuei Vu: "!"

Chapter 1195: Undying Darkness

"Nightshroud."

When Yuei Vu heard this pronunciation, he had to admit that he was surprised.

"Nightshroud?" he asked, "Are you sure it's this name?"

But Divine, who had already fulfilled the punishment for defeat, looked ashen, his face full of pain and fear, and his body trembled like a sieve.

"No, I told you that name." He said painfully, "I said this name is damned, but I have no choice!

But it won't care. I'm done, I'm done..."

"Yes, you're done." Yuei Vu didn't feel any sympathy, "But before you're done, you have to continue to answer my questions."

Divine looked at him angrily.

That resentful little look was like a silent accusation—

—Are you a devil?

"The Nightshroud you're talking about, isn't it the one I know?" Yuei Vu frowned.

Nightshroud, the final BOSS in "Yu-Gi-Oh! GX", was a supervillain that attempted to drag all of humanity into "the Yu-Gi-Oh version of Infinite Tsukuyomi".

Judging from the setting alone, this BOSS should be the top in GX, and it was also among the best in the entire Yu-Gi-Oh series.

It felt a bit like the BOSS in the finale of Ultraman, where the sun was blocked and the whole world fell into an endless eternal night. The existence of all people on Earth was erased, and all humans were dragged into an infinite cycle of dark illusions.

Only Yuki Judai and his loyal Ultraman were left on the empty Earth, fighting Nightshroud alone.

At the end of the decisive battle, Judai managed to awaken the light in the hearts of people trapped in the darkness, defeated the Nightshroud with the light in the hearts of humans, got rid of the illusion, the sun saw the sun again, and the eternal darkness covering the world was dispelled. At the same time, Ultraman also evolved into the final form "Elemental HERO Divine Ultraman", and killed Nightshroud with absolute power.

If the card-playing plot was replaced with a leather suit battle, it would definitely be the script of the Ultraman trilogy.

Now the question was here.

This thing was clearly a GX BOSS.

Why don't you stay in the GX era, Nightshroud, and fight your mortal enemy Ultraman? Why are you running here?

Unfortunately, Divine couldn't answer this part of the question.

He only explained that one day a man in a black leather jacket suddenly appeared in his office like a ghost, arrogantly saying that he wanted to play cards with him.

It could be imagined that Divine, who was extremely confident, accepted the challenge at that time, and was beaten by the man so hard that his mother couldn't recognize him.

After experiencing the power of the Shadow Game personally, Divine decisively became a fan and joined the cult. He agreed to cooperate with the forces behind the man. As a deal, the man gave him and some of his subordinates in the Arcadia Movement the power of the Shadow Game, and the price was that they had to work for the man as pawns.

"So far, the missions we have received are just to help them eliminate some specific targets," Divine said.

"For example, Ryo Sakata, a former employee of Kaiba Group?" Yuei Vu asked.

"Yes." Divine nodded, "And some other people are guys we have never heard of. We don't know why those people have to die, but we don't really care."

Every time that man shows up, he brings a name. We don't ask who it is, we are only responsible for helping them to clean it up."

"He asked you to kill a lot of people?"

"Not a lot, about four or five?" Divine said.

"Give me a list." Yuei Vu said, "I want to know who you have eliminated."

Divine opened his mouth as if he wanted to say something, but after thinking about it, he didn't say it.

After all, he was now like a broken doll, and he had no power to refuse.

He didn't waste much time to give the names of the targets they executed. Because the constraints of the Shadow Game were still valid, there was no need to worry that this cunning guy would lie.

After writing down a few names, Yuei Vu nodded: "Okay, I don't have anything else to ask."

Divine, who seemed to have been pardoned, did not feel the joy of relief. Instead, he collapsed on the ground like a dead fish, his cracked lips unable to move.

"It's over, it won't let me go..."

"Of course it won't."

Yuei Vu smiled and patted Divine's shoulder.

Divine looked up blankly, looking at Yuei Vu with no spirit in his eyes.

"Although there is nothing to ask, I still have something I need you to do." Yuei Vu smiled, "This is something that only you can do. So while you are still alive, do it for me first."

Divine: "?"

A few minutes later, the farce of the Arcadia Movement tonight ended.

The players suffered a lot of damage. Many people handed over a precious chance of death tonight, but many people also gained a lot (referring to the duel disk and deck).

The matter was over. While the screwballs were still entangled with the Psychic warriors of the Arcadia Movement, Yusei took advantage of the chaos to leave the building.

After walking away, Yusei finally couldn't help asking: "Senior Yuei Vu, do you know the Nightshroud he just mentioned?"

"Well, I guess so." Yuei Vu thought about it.

He knew this guy quite well through the animation, and he did deal with the vanguard minions under Nightshroud when he just became an NPC.

But at that time, Nightshroud was still in a sleeping state and hadn't woken up yet, and the strength of the minions was not strong. And at that time, it just had a sign of waking up, but unfortunately, it ran into Atem and was directly hammered back to sleep by the Duel King.

Yuei Vu speculated that Nightshroud should not be that strong now.

"Nightshroud is good at manipulating people's hearts and influencing their spirits. It can reach the darkest corners of anyone's heart and use the deepest darkness in your heart to deal with yourself.

In the end, you will be assimilated into their part and become a resident of the eternal dark world."

After a pause, Yuei Vu frowned.

"But if it is the Nightshroud I know, it should never lack thugs. It has countless clones, that is, the man in black leather clothes that Divine just described. Their names are collectively called 'Mr. T', which means 'True Man'.

So I can't think of any reason why Nightshroud would need a group of Psychic Duelists to act as its thugs.

Unless..."

Yuei Vu lifted his chin.

"Unless what?" Yusei asked.

"Unless its condition is still not at its best." Yuei Vu said, "Maybe it has not fully awakened yet, and its ability to play is limited.

It can't summon Mr. T to run errands endlessly, so it recruited a group of free thugs for itself."

But Yuei Vu really didn't expect that Nightshroud, who was obviously the final BOSS of GX, would also get involved of this era.

He couldn't help but think of the final BOSS battle of GX, when Judai's "Divine Neos" crushed Nightshroud with one blow, and the latter said before the crushing.

"Yuki Judai, even if you defeat me, I will still become a real shadow." Nightshroud shouted before his death, "As long as there is still darkness in the human heart, one day, I will continue to be resurrected in this world!"

So, maybe Nightshroud fulfilled its promise?

Because the darkness in people's hearts has not disappeared, it has gathered its strength and resurrected again in the era of 5DS?

But in any case, one thing was certain.

That was, the era that Yuei Vu was in now was far more complicated than he knew.

Chapter 1196: Mouse Catching

Aki woke up from a coma, her brain was groggy, and she felt that she had a very long dream.

She couldn't remember the specific content of the dream, but she only remembered that the dream was sweet, warm, and reassuring.

She hadn't slept so peacefully for a long time.

When she sat up, she realized that she was lying on the floor of a room. Divine, whom she respected the most, was sitting opposite her, his face was pale and bloodless, and he felt like a zombie.

Aki was shocked. She had never seen Divine like this before.

"Divine? What's wrong with you?"

Divine's throat moved and his mouth opened as if he was trying to fight against some invisible force.

But in the end, he still lost.

"Aki," Divine said bitterly, "I have to tell you something."

"Well, I'm listening."

"I'm not the person you think I am." He said with difficulty, "I took you in, not to provide you with a place to stay."

I just hope that you can become my warriors, my strength, and win power for me, that's all."

Aki was stunned.

"Especially you, Aki," he said, "You are the best chess piece. The first time I saw you, I knew you would be my best warrior."

Aki's expression became complicated.

After a while, the girl took a deep breath: "Okay, you are tired, Divine, go and rest first. We can discuss these things slowly later."

"No, I haven't finished yet. You don't understand, Aki."

Divine's expression was distorted, and he tried his best to control his mouth and stop himself from saying what was going to happen next.

But he couldn't do it.

As he said himself, the punishment of the Shadow Game was absolutely irresistible. The loser had no right to negotiate terms and could only accept being manipulated.

"The damage they accused you of causing and the people you killed are not all groundless accusations. Many of the crimes against the 'Black Rose Witch' are true."

Aki's pupils shrank slightly, revealing a horrified expression.

She opened her mouth.

"Divine, what are you talking about?"

"I'm saying that I did all that."

Divine's facial muscles almost twitched due to the effort, but he still couldn't stop his mouth from telling the truth.

"I killed those people, and I sent people to fan the flames and intensify the rumors about the 'Black Rose Witch'."

Aki widened her beautiful eyes and couldn't speak for a long time.

"It's not funny, Divine."

"I know, but this is the truth." Divine continued to tell the cruel facts, "and in order to prevent the name of the 'Black Rose Witch' from being forgotten over time, I must continue to deepen people's impressions.

So I must continue to create similar incidents, arrange psychic terrorist attacks, leave the witch's mark at the scene, arrange witnesses, and spread rumors about seeing the 'Black Rose Witch' with my own people..."

"Enough!" Aki lowered her head.

But Divine still had no intention of stopping, or he wanted to stop very much, but he couldn't do it at all under the influence of some mysterious power.

He continued: "And it's not just you, many other people in this building are like this. Not all Psychic Duelists are rejected by the people around them. Some people have great potential, but they have no motivation or reason to join us.

So, I had to create some reasons."

Hearing this, Aki's heart tightened: "What did you do?"

"Those relatives who were willing to accept them and did not reject their power became obstacles for us to absorb talents. So I killed them and disguised it as the Psychic Duelist who did it themselves due to being unable to control their power."

Aki's orange-yellow pupils shrank suddenly.

Her biggest nightmare was that even her biological parents showed fear of her uncontrollable power, which made her feel like a monster.

What she dreamed of was that her relatives would accept her without rejecting this power and treating her as a monster.

Now she knew that perhaps some parents were really like this.

But they were all brutally killed by Divine.

"Why?" Aki's voice began to tremble.

"Because you are all my most important warriors, I need your strength to complete the conquest. I have to do this so that you will feel a sense of belonging to me and obey me."

"Just for this reason!?"

Aki's emotions finally got out of control.

Tears flowed down her snow-white cheeks, and her psychic power broke out uncontrollably with extreme sadness and anger. The horrific impact instantly blew up a wall, and cracks spread rapidly along the ceiling, as if it could collapse at any minute.

She had never been so wronged and angry.

Divine was the person she respected most in her life, and she regarded him as a father figure.

When her biological parents rejected her, it was Divine who accepted her and gave her this place that could be called home. In her mind, Divine was the father of everyone here. He cared for all the unaccepted Psychic Duelists who were gathered together, provided everyone with food, clothing, and shelter, and more importantly, gave everyone the warmth they lacked the most.

But now she knew that all this was a lie.

This was what the person she respected the most told her.

The outburst of emotions turned into a visible impact, causing the walls to collapse and the ceiling to fall. The Black Rose Dragon seemed to be transformed by the anger, spreading its rose-like wings and roaring angrily.

"Wait a minute, Aki, calm down."

Divine curled up in the corner, weak, helpless, and powerless.

"I have no choice! I need you, without your power I can't do anything!"

He tried to find an excuse in a hurry.

"By the way, if my plan succeeds, it will also be good for you, right?" He said, "I am seeking benefits for all of us!

If my plan succeeds, no one will dare to look down on us or reject us! We should scare them and let them feel our power..."

But it obviously had no effect, because the storm did not weaken.

And now Divine happened to be in the worst state, facing Aki's anger, he had no room to fight back. Now he was like an ant in front of Aki, who could crush him into pieces at any time.

So he changed his mind: "Besides, even if you don't agree with me, it should be an indisputable fact that I took you in and provided you with shelter, right?"

Do you really have the heart to kill me so cruelly, Aki?"

This sentence obviously had an effect, and Izayoi Aki stopped moving.

She stared at Divine for a long time, bit her lip, and finally softened her heart.

Although life had made her what she was now, she was actually a kind girl who didn't want to hurt anyone.

The storm stopped and the Black Rose Dragon disappeared.

Aki took a last look at Divine, said nothing, and left the room.

Her eyes were blurred and she was at a loss, like a girl who ran away from home but had nowhere to go.

For her, the Arcadia Movement was her only home. Where else could she go if she left here?

Who else in this world might accept a monster like her?

Thinking of this, a face immediately appeared in front of Aki.

It's the man she had just met earlier, the man with a crab head, blue eyes, and the most sincere look.

.....

Divine breathed a sigh of relief.

Tonight was completely screwed.

He knew that Aki would leave him, and might even reveal the words he had just confessed to other people in the organization. The losses he suffered tonight would be incalculable.

But at least he survived.

Divine gnashed his teeth.

It was all caused by Yusei and the mysterious duelist behind him!

As the saying goes, it is never too late for a gentleman to take revenge. As long as he was still alive, those two bastards would never have a good time...

Just when he was thinking of this, Divine felt a chill on his back and had a strong intuition that someone was staring at him.

He came to his senses, turned his head stiffly, and looked at the shadow beside him.

In the collapsed room, a hideous shadow stood in the shadow.

The shadow was wearing black armor, with wild and ferocious lines, a wolf-like helmet, and terrifying dark red goggles.

Masked HERO Dark Law.

He had been standing here silently, watching Divine complete his last mission.

Divine's face suddenly became uglier than eating shit.

"Are you... coming to kill me?" he asked.

The Masked HERO stood silently in the dark, like a silent judge.

The red D-Wheel was speeding under the night sky. Yusei glanced at Yuei Vu beside him and smiled, but couldn't help but ask: "What's wrong, Senior Yuei Vu?"

Hearing Divine's question through Dark Law, he couldn't help but laugh in his heart.

Kill you?

Oh, how can it be so easy?

Chapter 1197: Nazca Lines

Ushio Tetsu was very upset.

He was in a bad mood these past two days, which could almost be considered the worst moment in his career.

First of all, there was the scum who escaped from the satellite area. To be honest, he didn't take the crab head seriously at first. Even after he was defeated by the opponent the first time, he felt that it was just pure luck.

Ushio was a person with a strong sense of elitism. He was not bad by nature. As a sheriff, he was dedicated to his duties and put the safety of the people he protected first. Even including the fact that he targeted Yusei everywhere at the beginning and seemed like an annoying villain in the animation, it could be explained that he was just fulfilling his duties as a police.

After all, even if Yusei was the protagonist, he was actually a lawbreaker, and Ushio was a law enforcer. Although his relentless pursuit seemed annoying from the perspective of the protagonist, it happens to be a manifestation of his dedication to his duties.

Well, of course, for him personally, it was mainly because he was unwilling to accept it.

In theory, their sheriffs had the privilege of using banned cards, and their equipment configurations were all first-class. Theoretically, the scum in the satellite area had very few opportunities to even obtain cards. Yusei built his deck by picking up from the garbage dump one by one.

Being defeated repeatedly by such an opponent, Ushio regarded it as his own shame. That's why he pressed Yusei step by step, and he had to fight for taking his honor back.

But now he couldn't continue to play this cat and mouse game.

Because the head of their Public Security Bureau, Rex Godwin, died two nights ago.

And he died in the office of their headquarters building.

This news was a heavy bomb, which quickly spread throughout the city through those well-informed media, causing an uproar.

The director of the Public Security Bureau, the actual top person in charge of public security in this city, was killed in his own office!

People fell into panic, and the topic was instantly brought to the highest level. The Public Security Bureau was also under great pressure and had to invest all its living resources to track down the criminal.

He didn't sleep for two whole days, and he didn't even have time to eat. After two days of hell, Ushio was finally able to sit back in his office on the third morning and eat a hard-earned sandwich to fill his stomach.

"If you ask me, we should all go check that scum in the Satellite area!" Ushio said angrily while eating.

"Brother Ushio is still thinking about him?" His partner said helplessly.

"Just after that bastard decided to sneak out of the Satellite area, things popped up one after another. How can it be so coincidental?"

Ushio took a big bite of the sandwich viciously as if the sandwich in his hand was the culprit.

"Do you think it was the guy from the satellite area who killed the commander?"

"It may not be him, that guy is not that capable." Ushio said, "But he must have some connection, or at least know some inside information. Believe me, this is my intuition after so many years as a police."

At this point, he shook his head: "I still can't understand why the wanted order for that rubbish was withdrawn. No matter how you look at it, he is a big suspect."

"Who knows, the people above naturally have their own ideas." The partner shrugged, "After all, we are just workers. Don't think too much, Ushio brother.

We just need to follow orders, there is no point in thinking about extra things."

"Orders from above?"

Ushio slowed down his eating and fell into thought.

"Brother Ushio?" The partner noticed his strange reaction.

"Tell me," Ushio suddenly became serious, "Who is above our Public Security Bureau?"

"Huh?"

His partner was stunned for a moment, and said as a matter of course: "Do you need to ask this? Isn't it the agency responsible for public security in this country?"

"Really?" Ushio didn't say anything.

Before he could finish enjoying the sandwich, his hard-earned rest time was interrupted by an unexpected situation again.

It was a loud thunder-like bang, which sounded like a gap in the sky. Then there was a dazzling purple light, which pierced in from the window like lightning, but it was much more dazzling.

"What!?"

Ushio stood up from his seat and went to the window of the office with other colleagues to look out.

There were enough unexpected situations in the past two days, and all the sheriffs were exhausted. They were short of manpower, energy, and resources.

After Director Godwin disappeared, his former right-hand man Jaeger temporarily replaced the position of Director of the Public Security Bureau. He was an official who looked like a clown, with a sharp voice and a mean laugh like a Dongchang eunuch.

However, those who knew him knew that he was good at flattering, but he was not very good at getting things done. The incompetent leader undoubtedly made the already difficult situation of the Public Security Bureau even worse.

"Damn, what the hell is that?" Someone pointed to the sky.

Following the direction of the man's finger, everyone quickly understood what he was pointing at.

It was a huge painting.

The thick purple-black lines were burning, outlining an extremely huge portrait in the sky. The shape was like a burning spider, and the style of the painting was like the abstract lines painted on the Nazca ground.

Then a huge shadow appeared from the lines.

It was really a spider.

It might be the largest spider people could see in their lifetime. The heavy black body was wrapped with deep red lines and surrounded by cold blue flames.

Earthbound Immortal Uru!

That was the trump card of the Dark Signer team, the incarnation of the power of the God of the Underworld in the world, a god bound to the earth transformed from the Nazca lines...

But this Earthbound Immortal was not just out for a breath of fresh air.

It was fighting.

And as a "god", it even looked like it was losing in this battle.

From the underground perspective, it was impossible to see who its opponent was, but from the outline, it vaguely looked like a dragon. The dragon's body was shrouded in sacred light, competing with the purple-black flames spewed out by the spider.

Finally, the power of the Earthbound Immortal was overwhelmed.

The incandescent light was like a spear, passing through the huge body of the spider with an unstoppable momentum.

The Earthbound Immortal screamed and wailed, and a large amount of white light gushed out of the crack that was penetrated like a fountain. The huge body collapsed with the crack as the center, and the shell was gradually burned to ashes in the purple-black flames.

The god fell, and the earth trembled.

The wailing sound shook the sky and the earth, and the burning purple-black lines disappeared bit by bit. A shadow swooped down from the position where the giant painting disappeared, like a falling meteor.

Boom!

The shadow fell down to the ground and smashed a big hole in the middle of the block.

There was a riot on the street, and the Public Security Bureau was busy again. Ushio hurriedly stuffed the rest of the sandwich into his mouth, grabbed the safety helmet, rushed out, and rushed to the scene with his colleagues.

Ushio was among the first group of sheriffs to arrive. He drove the D-Wheel to the huge pit, jumped off the D-Wheel, and soon saw a scene that might make him unforgettable for life.

In the center of the pit, the thing that fell from perhaps hundreds of meters high was actually a person.

What was even more bizarre was that the person was not even dead.

Because he was struggling to climb out of the pit, stumbling out of the smokescreen, and stretched out a hand to Ushio with difficulty, as if asking for help.

Chapter 1198: The Fallen Earthbound Immortal

"What's going on?"

Ushio had to admit that he was a little shocked.

The man who staggered out of the deep pit was a muscular man. He was wearing black clothes, had short white hair, dark skin, and his face and chest were painted with dark red lines with unclear patterns.

Ushio also discovered another strange thing.

That was, although this person looked like he had many ruptures and damaged skin, there was no blood on his body.

It was as if this body was just an empty shell.

Ushio temporarily ignored the question of why this muscular man fell from such a high place like a meteorite but could still walk, and stepped forward to support him.

"Okay, sir, please sit down and rest for a while. The ambulance will be here soon. Can you tell me your name?"

But the man did not speak. He grabbed Ushio's arm, and his five rough fingers were as strong and powerful as pliers.

"Tell Rex," he seemed to be trying to finish this last sentence before he died, "Tell Rex that I'm sorry. Tell Rex that it's too late, our fate..."

"Okay, sir, don't talk for now, save some energy."

Unfortunately, it didn't help.

The man finally couldn't finish what he wanted to say. His eyes gradually lost focus, and the strength quickly drained from the man's body like water.

His body softened and fell down.

"Hey, sir..."

Ushio tried to help him up but suddenly froze.

He realized that the man's muscles were extremely stiff and terribly cold, like a corpse that had been dead for a long time.

The man opened his eyes and fell down. His eyes were also very strange, with golden pupils and the rest of his body was as dark as the night.

Ushio tried to feel his breath, but then he suddenly realized another strange thing that he had just ignored.

This man had not breathed from the beginning.

In the next few seconds, Ushio was even more shocked to see that the man's body gradually turned into the color of lime. Then his body petrified, cracked, and decomposed bit by bit until it fell apart into a ball of lime-colored powder under the gaze of everyone, scattered all over the ground.

Ushio was stunned.

How could such a big man just disappear?

Even the ashes were scattered by themselves?

"Ushio, the identity of that guy has been found out." His partner said.

"Oh?" Ushio came back to his senses, "Who is he?"

The partner looked at the identification information sent back by the headquarters on the D-Wheel screen and was a little speechless for a while.

"He, uh, things are a little weird."

The partner had a strange expression and pointed to the screen.

"Come and see for yourself."

Ushio walked over, glanced at the identified identity information, and frowned: "Rudger Godwin? Godwin? That's not..."

"It's the Godwin you think of." The partner said, "He is the brother of our former director."

Ushio showed a surprised expression.

Is this guy who fell from the sky and looked like a ghost the brother of Director Godwin?

"It's even stranger than that."

The partner turned the information to the next page, which was a big death certificate.

"Dead?" Ushio asked.

"Well, it happened during the Zero Reverse." The partner said, "Rudger Godwin unfortunately died in the Zero Reverse accident.

And not only that, he was a researcher of the first-generation Momentum. And there is evidence that Rudger was in the research institute when the Zero Reverse happened."

"Wait a minute," Ushio interrupted him, "The research institute you are talking about refers to..."

"The research institute where the first-generation Momentum was located. Yes, it is also the center of the Zero Reverse explosion." The partner showed a look of seeing a ghost, "So theoretically speaking, Rudger not only died many years ago, but his ashes should also be evaporated."

Ushio was stunned.

Looking at the ashes that Rudger turned into in front of him, he suddenly felt a chill on his back for no reason, and his body shivered uncontrollably.

His intuition told him that he had been involved in some extremely strange and unreasonable affairs. He felt like a leaf drifting with the current, swirling in an invisible torrent, and unknowingly getting closer and closer to the center of the dangerous vortex.

He felt terrified.

Boom!

Another loud bang, still like a thunder in the sky. The ground began to shake restlessly again, as if something underground was rapidly drilling out.

"What's going on again!?" Ushio tried to stabilize his body and shouted at the same time.

He felt that the whole city was like crazy, with strange things happening one after another. Even if Godzilla landed from the coastline with its tail shaking, he might not be too surprised.

The citizens around fled in panic and took refuge. The purple-black flames were ignited tirelessly, and the flames jumped high, cracking the ground, and rushing straight into the sky from the cracks in the city.

The flames seemed to have life, and quickly carved deep gullies on the ground of the criss-crossing blocks, just like an airport runway.

But if you look down from a high place, you can see very clearly that it is another painting.

A painting made up of Nazca lines, and this time it is not a spider, but a giant.

This was not over yet. The ground shook one after another, and the paintings on the ground quickly emerged one after another. The strange purple fire like hellfire was unscrupulously crisscrossing in various areas and streets of the city, and then the images of a monkey, a lizard, a hummingbird, a whale, etc. were outlined one after another.

The whole Neo Domino City seemed to be in a sea of fire.

Somewhere, in a closed and dark room.

The candlelight swayed in the wind, and the shadows of black robes were projected on the wall, and as the fire swayed, they looked like ghosts.

They were the Dark Signers.

The villain team in the first half of "Yu-Gi-Oh! 5Ds" had a karmic relationship with the Signers that spans five thousand years. They were the spokespersons chosen by the Crimson Dragon's mortal enemy, the King of the Underworld.

But now, before the war even started, the leader of the Dark Signer team, Rudger Godwin, has died.

"Tsk," someone said in the darkness, "I thought those Signers should not even understand their origins, but they took the initiative."

"It seems that we can't just sit there and wait for death." Someone else said.

"Wait, we can't be sure that it was done by the Signers." Someone raised an objection, "From the battle scene, this doesn't look like the power of any Signer we know."

"Who else could it be besides them? The only ones who can defeat us are the Signers." The first person who spoke said dissatisfiedly, "And you should all have seen it, right?"

At the moment when the Earthbound Immortal Uru was defeated, the blurry image that appeared in the sky was undoubtedly a powerful dragon!

In addition to the Signers, is there anyone else who can control such a powerful dragon?"

No one spoke, and it seemed that everyone had reached a consensus for a short time.

"Very good, then it seems there is nothing to hesitate about."

The man's eyes turned cold, and he raised his arm, showing the mark on his arm outlined by purple and black lines.

That was the Nazca painting of the giant.

The man sneered sinisterly.

"Then let me start first! Wait for me, Yusei! The long-lost duel of Team Satisfaction is about to return! Hahahahahaha..."

Chapter 1199: Mocking Fate

Since early in the morning, Neo Domino has been caught in continuous earthquakes. Purple and black lines were burning in the sky and on the ground, various Nazca paintings were rampant everywhere, and the flames burned the streets into holes. The burning lines were like cutting blades, splitting the building in two.

Such a huge movement was naturally noticed by Yusei and Yuei Vu.

And in fact, before the exaggerated vision appeared in the sky, the mark on Yusei's arm had begun to flicker. Along with the strong tingling sensation, Yusei could also feel that the mark was warning him of something.

So following the direction guided by the mark, they rushed to the scene as soon as possible and witnessed the fall of Rudger Godwin with their own eyes.

Yusei naturally had never seen this guy, but he had a senior who had read the script to guide him.

"That's Rudger Godwin, the elder brother of Rex Godwin, the head of the Public Security Bureau." Yuei Vu said, "This guy died on the day of the Zero Reverse many years ago, but he was recognized by the King of the Underworld and gained the power of the Dark Signer."

"Zero Reverse?" Yusei's eyes moved.

The Zero Reverse incident had actually always been the deepest pain in Yusei's heart. Because the person who developed the first-generation perpetual motion machine and seemed to be responsible for most of the accident was his father, Dr. Fudo, whom he had never met.

Since he was a child, Yusei felt that the tragedy of his good friends in the Satellite area, those friends who also lost their parents and relatives in the accident, was the fault of his father. If it weren't for the perpetual motion machine, if it weren't for the Zero Reverse, his friends might not have been born in the slums, and might not have had those tragic memories of their childhood.

And now it seemed that Rudger's transformation into a Dark Signer was also his father's fault.

Seeing what Yusei was thinking, Yuei Vu said: "Don't think too much. You think the 'Zero Reverse' is a mechanical failure, so your father should be responsible for everything, right?"

Yusei was stunned for a moment, and then admitted: "Yes."

"The facts may not be true." Yuei Vu shook his head, "Sometimes the content recorded in history books may not be true."

Yusei's pupils shrank: "Senior Yuei Vu... Could it be that... you mean..."

"Well, Zero Reverse is not a mechanical failure. There is nothing wrong with the first-generation perpetual motion machine developed by Dr. Fudo. It was a completely man-made accident.

Someone manually overloaded Momentum and deliberately caused the tragedy of Zero Reverse, so there is today's Neo Domino."

Yusei was shocked: "What?"

He couldn't help but be surprised. This had always been the deepest darkness in his heart and the most painful thing for him. He felt that the city had become what it was today, all of which was the fault of his family, and he should continue to bear the responsibility.

But now someone told him that he was wrong.

Not only that, but he and his father had been carrying the faults of others, and even being remembered as a shame forever.

"That person is Rudger Godwin." Yuei Vu said, "By the way, he was originally one of the Signers like you."

Yusei was even more surprised: "What?"

"The mark of the dragon head, the position of the leader of Signers, should have belonged to this person." Yuei Vu continued, "He was born with the 'Dragon Head' mark, and was destined to lead the Signers to defeat the Dark Signers team.

But he, who should have had such a fate, was also touched by the power of the King of the Underworld. He was forcibly marked with the mark of the Dark Signer, and the two forces nurtured in his body conflicted with each other, torturing his mind and body at the same time, making him miserable."

Yusei listened silently, and a storm rose in his heart.

Was this person supposed to be our companion?

"In the end, Rudger, overwhelmed by the burden, had a mental breakdown." Yuei Vu said, "He lost to the power of the King of the Underworld, so he cut off his arm with the Dragon Head mark."

"Ah." Yusei was surprised, "He cut off his own arm?"

"Yes, then he gave that arm to his younger brother Rex. If nothing unexpected happens, that arm should still be in the Public Security Bureau." Yuei Vu said, "Then his will was lost to the King of the Underworld, and he had to overload Momentum, causing the "Zero Reverse" accident.

He knew that he would eventually become a Dark Signer after his fall, leading the Dark Signers to make the King of the Underworld come back to this world. He was powerless to fight this fate, so he gave the arm with the Dragon Head mark to his younger brother, asking him to hurry up and gather the Signers, and let the Signers Team defeat him."

Originally, when Yusei heard that the tragedy of "Zero Reverse" was all planned by this person, his disgust for Rudger had reached its peak. But now that he heard about what he did, the anger and resentment were diluted by half.

He realized that this person was just a prisoner of fate. But at least he was trying to fight in his own way and trying to do the right thing.

At this moment, they saw the falling Rudger disintegrate into a cloud of dust in front of Ushio and disappear into thin air.

Yusei frowned: "In that case, who defeated him? Was it another Signer?"

"This involves my blind spot in knowledge." Yuei Vu shook his head.

Yes, he knew the identities of all Signers, and they didn't look like the duelist who had just fought with Rudger in the sky, defeated the Earthbound God Uru, and shot him down.

So who killed the leader of the Dark Signers before the Signers?

Could it be Nightshroud?

No, it didn't look like it. The energy fluctuations released by the dragon that appeared in the sky just now were sacred and holy, which didn't match the style of Nightshroud.

So who else could it be?

Just as he was thinking, the second wave of shock came. More burning Nazca paintings appeared in Neo Domino, dividing the city piece by piece.

Yusei's mark also reacted again.

This time the reaction was more intense! It was a kind of fiery touch, imprinting a certain direction in his mind like a GPS, pointing him to a specific place.

After discussing with Yuei Vu, Yusei immediately stepped on the D-Wheel, crossed the city divided by flames, and drove straight to the coordinates at full speed.

In a short while, he arrived at the place.

It was a deserted area, an abandoned steel mill, close to the coastline.

On the vast empty ground, there were a painting outlined by burning purple lines.

The painting of a giant.

The man in the black robe had been waiting here for a long time. When he heard the roar of the D-Wheel engine, he stood up and took off the hood on his head, revealing his face as pale as a dead person, and painted with the pattern of returning home.

The moment he saw that person, Yusei felt his breathing almost stop.

"Are you... Kiryu?"

Chapter 1200: Negative Level Monster

"Are you... Kiryu?" Yusei was surprised.

"Hi, Yusei." The man he called Kiryu showed a sly smile, "Long time no see."

Kiryu Kyosuke, one of the Dark Signer, the holder of the "Giant" mark.

More importantly, he was once one of Yusei's most important companions in the Satellite area.

Back then, Yusei, Jack, as well as Crow who used the Blackwing deck, and finally Kiryu, the four of them called themselves "Team Satisfaction". They conquered the Satellite area through duels and were once the best partners.

Until later, Kiryu's confidence grew day by day, and he actually wanted to challenge the authority of the Public Security Bureau. Others did not agree with his plan, and Team Satisfaction broke up.

Later, he failed in his action and was arrested and imprisoned, but he thought it was because Yusei betrayed his teammates and leaked his whereabouts to the Public Security Bureau. Therefore, Kiryu held a grudge against Yusei, and after dying in prison, he accepted the power of the King of the Underworld and became a Dark Signer, and returned from hell to avenge Yusei.

"Watch his eyes, Yusei." Yusei reminded, "This guy is dead. Now he is a Dark Signer, resurrected from the underworld to take your life."

Yusei was stunned.

"Kiryu, you became like this in order to kill me..."

"Ah, that's right, Yusei!"

Meeting with his old friend, Kiryu didn't seem to have the intention of talking nonsense. He jumped and directly stepped onto the D-Wheel behind him, started the engine, and rushed directly to the giant painting outlined by the burning Nazca lines.

"Wait a minute, Kiryu!"

Yusei immediately started the D-Wheel to catch up.

Looking at Yusei catching up along the track from behind, Kiryu laughed: "Ha, that's what I want! Come on Yusei, run fast, fight!"

The duel between two former companions risked their lives, and only one of us can get out of here!"

He waved his hand.

"The Field Spell 'Speed World' is activated!"

The Field Spell took effect automatically, and the field barrier was released with Kiryu's D-Wheel as the center, covering the huge Nazca giant pattern on the ground.

Yusei's D-Wheel was remotely locked, and the Field Spell "Speed World" carried in the D-Wheel was also automatically activated. The duel disk carried on the D-Wheel was forcibly activated and automatically entered the duel mode.

The two D-Wheels, one in front and one behind, sped along the burning track.

"Kiryu!" Yusei shouted, "Why do we have to fight? What happened to you after that?"

But Kiryu ignored him: "I've been waiting for this moment for a long time, Yusei! Come on, I'll let you experience the feeling of dying!"

Riding Duel, Acceleration!"

[Yusei, LP 4000]

[Kiryu, LP 4000]

Obviously, Kiryu was addicted to playing cards and couldn't listen to others.

If you want to communicate properly, you have to play cards first. This is very Yu-Gi-Oh.

Kiryu got the first move.

Although he turned into a Dark Signer, Kiryu's start was still very simple. He usually summoned the "Infernity Beast" with an attack power of 1600, and ended the turn by setting a card in the backfield.

Infernity was also a unique deck in the Yu-Gi-Oh series. Unlike the conventional deck's tactics of earning hand cards and pulling card advantage differences, this deck emphasized a "zero hand card strategy".

Almost all monsters in the Infernity deck could only work when the player had 0 cards in hand. As long as there was one card in hand, the effects of all cards would be blocked, equivalent to holding a bunch of Normies.

But despite such a strange nature, the strength of its deck was not weak at all. At its peak, it even won the world championship and was remembered forever by generations of card players.

Of course, the world champion deck was definitely not a deck like Kiryu.

And no matter what, Infernity was a deck that must have zero cards in hand to exert its power. This meant that it must be extremely dependent on graveyard resources, so it was not without weaknesses.

Then it was Brother Crabhead's turn. He drew a card, glanced at the six cards in his hand, and immediately raised his eyebrows.

Wait a minute, how come there seem to be a few more cards with unknown meanings?

Noticing Yusei's confusion, Yuei Vu said, "When you were talking to him just now, I took the opportunity to adjust your deck and added a few cards. They should be useful in this duel."

"That's it," Yusei understood.

After so many things happened before, he had complete trust in Yuei Vu, both in Yuei Vu himself and his card-playing skills.

Since it was Yuei Vu's stuff, there must be a reason for it.

Brother Crabhead didn't even think for a second about whether "stuffing this kind of thing into the deck would cause a dead draw."

Both Infernity and Synchron were relatively weak in the early stages. When there was a lack of graveyard resources, no one could do anything. So Brother Crabhead summoned "Raiden, Hand of the Lightsworn" first and sent two cards into the graveyards from the deck.

Then, because there was a Lightsworn monster among the sent cards, Raiden's attack power rose to 1900 for a short time. Then Yusei ordered Raiden to smash the dog on Kiryu's field, dealing a terrifying amount of damage (300 points). The shock wave shook Kiryu's D-Wheel, which seemed to be very effective.

Yuei Vu pointed at a card in Yusei's hand: "Set that card. Trust me, this thing is very effective against Infernity."

"Okay."

Brother Crabhead didn't say much or ask any more questions, and just waved his hand: "Set three cards, I end my turn."

"Hehe, you are very energetic, Yusei." Kiryu licked his tongue like a masochist who was getting more and more excited the more he was beaten. "Then it's my turn!"

I activate the Trap Card 'Limit Impulse'! Send 2 cards from my hand to the GY; Special Summon two 'Soul Tokens' on the field!"

[Soul Tokens, DEF 0] x2

"Then use the two tokens as sacrifices! Tribute Summon!" Kiryu shouted, "Show up! Level 10, Dark Tuner Monster "Nightmare Hand"!" (Animation card)

[Nightmare Hand, ATK 0]

"Dark Tuner?" Yusei said that this involved a blind spot in knowledge again.

"That's right, Dark Tuner!" Kiryu laughed, "For ordinary Tuner monsters, you can Synchro Summon a Synchro Monster of the corresponding level by adding the level of the monsters.

But our Dark Signer's Duel is different!

Dark Tuners have a negative level!

Adding the positive level of non-Tuner monsters and the negative level of the Dark Tuner monsters, and you can summon a Dark Synchro Monster!"

Yusei: "???"

Gradually unable to keep up with the rhythm.JPG

"You'll understand soon!" Kiryu shouted, "The effect of Nightmare Hand – When this card is Normal Summoned, I can Special Summon 1 Level 2 monster from my hand!

Come on, Infernity Dwarf!"

[Infernity Dwarf, ATK 800]

"Level 2 'Infernity Dwarf', Level negative 10 'Nightmare Hand', Dark Tuning!"

[2-10 = -8]

"Negative Level Synchro Monster!?" Yusei said that his worldview was shocked, "How can there be such a thing?"

"Of course there is, this is the power of us Dark Signers!" Kiryu shouted loudly.

"When the curtain of darkness comes down, the eyes of the underworld will open. Swoop down, darkness!

Dark Synchro! Show yourself, Level negative eight–

–Hundred Eyes Dragon!!!"
