

I Play Yu-Gi 121

Chapter 121: Egypt Kingdom Had Already Been Lost

"Ahem, all in all, the show has just begun." Marik tried hard to maintain his mysterious behind-the-scenes BOSS, "Master of God card, holder of the Millennium Items, the soul of the nameless Pharaoh .. the finals in Battle City will bring it to an end."

Yuei Vu nodded in agreement: "That's right. But since you've said it all, I'll mention it by the way. Your Sky Dragon is really good."

Marik: "@#%&*"

Kaiba: ""

He originally thought that Marik, who held The Winged Dragon of Ra, was a great enemy worthy of attention. It didn't seem to be particularly threatening now

"You'd better get ready." Marik said solemnly, "After the finals, all three Egyptian God Cards will come to my hands! By then, I will complete my revenge, rule over the world, and become the new Pharaoh!"

Without waiting for a reply, this guy directly disconnected his mind and ran away, and the unconscious Mask of Light fell to the ground like a log.

Maybe it's because he was worried that he would be disconnected due to anger if he stayed a little longer near Yuei Vu

By the way, Yuei Vu wanted to complain a long time ago. Marik's lofty ideal of "revenge on the pharaoh" was not incomprehensible, but what the hell was "becoming a new pharaoh"?

Even if he really beat Yugi and proclaimed himself the new pharaoh, so what?

When he returned to Egypt with the Go cards, he would only find out that his Egypt Kingdom had already been lost

He was the holder of Millennium Items, shouldn't he remember that meant the age of the Pharaoh was millenniums ago? It was the Arab Republic of Egypt by now.

At this time, Kaiba took out a terminal contact device similar to a mobile phone, and Mokuba's face quickly appeared on the screen.

"Onii-san!"

"Mokuba, are you all right?"

"Well, it's alright, they let me out." Mokuba said, "Where are you, onii-san? I'll go look for you now."

Seeing that his lovely brother was all right, President Kaiba finally regained his composure.

There were not many things in this world that could make the president panic. His younger brother, Mokuba, could be regarded as one of his few weaknesses.

The problem was that Mokuba still has a magical "hostage constitution", and he would be taken hostage every three days

At this time, the younger brother was back to safety, so the thing that President Kaiba was most concerned about naturally became

"Yuei Vu!" He turned his head and raised the Duel Disk, "We don't have to wait for the semi-final, let's have a showdown here!"

The president felt a burning passion

However, Yuei Vu was a little busy right now and had no time to pay attention to him for the time being.

Kaiba: "what are you doing?"

He saw that Yuei Vu was squatting on the ground at the moment, pulling out the Duel Disk from the Mask of Darkness lying on the ground.

In an instant, the intelligent Kaiba seemed to understand why Marik took the initiative to throw the Duel Disk to Yuei Vu

Yuei Vu turned his head and threw the Duel Disk to Miss Yuehua behind him. At this time, the girl had already held three Duel Disks in her arms, and her appearance was rather comical.

Kaiba hugged his arms and said lightly beside him: "According to the rules of the Battle City Competition, it is illegal to take away other people's Duel Disks and decks. Dare to do this in front of me as the organizer, your gall is not small."

He narrowed his eyes: "You know I can disqualify you at any time."

However, although Kaiba pretended to be fierce, Yuei Vu was very calm.

First, now the Sky Dragon was in his hands. The reason why Kaiba held the Battle City Tournament was to collect three Egyptian Gods, and Yuei Vu, who held the Sky Dragon, could not be disqualified anyway.

As for the second reason

Heh, although the president was talking about "don't meddle with me", "I don't want to", etc., Yuei Vu noticed that the words "Favorability +5" had popped out on his forehead at least three times during the game just now. So presumably the president shouldn't disqualify him

"Come on, anyway, there will be a battle between God card holders sooner or later." Kaiba was full of enthusiasm, "There is no need to wait, you and I will directly fight here, with the glory of the duelist as the ante. One shall stand, one shall fall!"

Yuei Vu: ""

By the way, President, your brother was kidnapped a minute ago! Now that he has finally escaped, but you didn't pick him up in person The first thing was to play cards with me?

President, your card addiction didn't seem to be cured

Should I fight him here?

Yuei Vu silently took out six puzzle cards.

"Hey, you've collected all six puzzle cards? As expected of a man I like." Kaiba chuckled lightly.

Yuei Vu said in his heart: President, could you please stop using such a misleading statement? The group of screwballs in the back has already started to draw doujinshis

"According to the rules, those who have six puzzle cards do have the right to refuse all dueling challenges." Kaiba said lightly, "But as a real duelist, are you going to back down in the face of our fated battle?"

Fated battle? Wasn't it the thing between you and Yugi? What did it have to do with me?

President, you pester me here every day, what should Yugi do?

"Cough, it's not impossible if you have to fight, President, but honestly, the duel just now placed a great strain on me." Yuei Vu said, "Even if I fight with you now, I'm definitely not in the best state, there's no way I can play at a normal level. Under these conditions, it doesn't matter if you win, right?"

This remark was not an original script by Yuei Vu, but a reference.

That senior was the S-class hero King from the "One Punch Man" studio next door. When facing the challenge of a powerful enemy, he said with a sullen face that he was in a hurry to go to the toilet. The reason was that "if I hold my urine, I will definitely not be able to perform at my normal level", so the other party really waited for him to go to the toilet

Kaiba thought for a while and felt

it seemed to make sense!

So the president snorted: "Okay. Then this showdown will be reserved for the future. But we all know that this battle is inevitable. This is a battle for the glory of the duelists, and it is also the sequel to the last duel that we failed to complete!

Only the duelist who overcomes all obstacles and defeats all enemies and stays to the end in this Battle City will be the king of the world! "

Yuei Vu murmured, "The last time was when you pulled out the screw"

"What did you say?" Kaiba frowned.

"Nothing. I said I'm looking forward to fighting with you again."

He said that, but whether or not he would encounter Kaina was still a question. It was also possible that Kaiba would be eliminated from Yugi before the two of them met in the rematch.

Speaking of which, Kaiba now had Obelisk the Tormentor in his hand, and according to the animation, the Sky Dragon should be in Yugi's hand. But now Marik's delivery service has gone to the wrong address and was accidentally signed by Yuei Vu. Without a God card, Yugi may suffer a loss when dueling with Kaiba.

But who could say that for sure?

After all, "President Kaiba can't beat Yugi" was almost a rule of the world. Even if Kaiba had Obelisk the Tormentor, he may not be able to beat Yugi

Chapter 122: Joined Forces

Battle City, the other side.

Jonouchi's eyes were straight and unblinking, staring at the turntable in front of him, during which he couldn't help swallowing

Time Wizard's turntable pointer finally stopped slowly.

"Yeah!" Jonouchi laughed, "Time Wizard's effect is activated! Destroy all monsters on the opponent's field!"

The passerby duellist on the opposite side: "Why did you get hit again!? Where is the referee? I want to report, this person is cheating @#%&"

"Hahaha, so I won! Gearfried the Iron Knight, attack directly!"

"Ahhhhh!!!"

Passerby, LP 0

"Great, Jonouchi has won !" Anzu expressed excitement.

"Jonouchi, you can do it well when you want to do it." His good friend Honda also praised him.

The newly made friends (players) Jonouchi were all overjoyed at this time.

"God of Gamblers is awesome!"

"Once upon a time, Chen Daozai could win 37 million RMB with 20 RMB, but it would be nothing compared to Jonouchi who throw a die to enter the semi-finals!"

In this way, Jonouchi also made up for the two cards that he lost to Yuei Vu. Now he only needed to get to the final scene in the first eight.

It was at this moment that he received a call from the hospital.

His parents divorced when he was a child, and his sister Shizuka was his only relative. Shizuka suffered from an eye disease and relied on the huge prize money won by her brother's best friend, Muto Yugi, in the Duelist Kingdom to be able to perform surgery in the hospital.

The call at this moment was from Shizuka in the hospital. She excitedly told her brother that she had recovered and could be checked out from the hospital, and wanted to cheer her brother in the fight.

From another point of view, Jonouchi was quite a traditional protagonist template. A hot-blooded male who paid great attention to friendship, was surrounded by a large number of friends, his parents were divorced, had a beautiful sister.

Oh yes, there was also the beautiful elder sister Kujaku Mai who has a very high opinion of him, but Jonouchi was so dense at love.

Jonouchi, who hung up the phone, was very happy, after all, the fact that his sister could leave the hospital in a healthy way was the top priority in his heart.

But at this moment, he has just collected six puzzle cards and was busy preparing for the promotion. If he delayed the time to go to the hospital to pick up his sister, he might not be able to arrive at the final venue before the first eight.

Yugi has finally reached this stage, and it would be too much of a loss to lose the qualification like this.

Just when he was struggling, his good friend Honda "unconsciously" appeared in his field of vision, pointing to himself with crazy hints and a peachy face.

As if to say-

I'm going, I'm going! Let me pick up Shizuka!

The friendship between Honda and Jonouchi was even longer than Yugi. The two often formed a group to fight with bad boys. They belonged to the kind of best friends who could share a pair of pants.

While Jonouchi was busy with dueling affairs, Honda would go to the hospital every three days to visit his sister Shizuka in behalf of him. Even if he couldn't duel, he has been silently supporting Jonouchi in his own unique way.

Although he never said it, he had already made a silent promise to Jonouchi in his heart

Since the moment I saw your sister, you were my brother!

Yep, it's a little hard to say. However, although Jonouchi regarded him as his brother, Honda actually wanted to be his brother-in-law

However, now Honda has ushered in a group of powerful new opponents.

He was still pointing at himself to insinuate madly, but many screwball players have already come to the face of Jonouchi and blocked his vision.

"I'll go, I'll go! I'll pick up your sister for you!"

"How can you be distracted at the important juncture of promotion? Let me pick her up for you!"

"Not only pick her up, but it's also fine for me to nurture her for my entire life!"

"Bro, are you picking a fight with everyone here?"

What? Why did they want to help Jonouchi?

At that time, it was because his sister was gentle, sweet, and lovely

Ah, no, wasn't it normal for brothers to help each other?

Jonouchi was very moved by this. He just felt that these odd men he met at this conference were all friendly people, so he asked them to go.

When this group of people rushed to the hospital, passers-by might not think they were picking up a rich lady from the hospital. The crowd was so exaggerated

More than half of the day has passed, and by this time the preliminary round has largely settled. At this point in time, most of the players who should be promoted have already collected enough puzzle cards or lacked only one.

If this went on, the list of eight promotions should soon be determined.

The leader of Ghouls, Marik Ishtar, finally joined the game himself.

Of course, as a noble leader, he didn't have to go off the field and go to a duel to collect puzzle cards. He had just landed in Domino City, and his subordinates had already prepared six cards for him.

However, Marik, who was rushing straight to the final location, encountered a little obstacle on the way.

At this moment, in a dark alley standing in front of Marik, there was a young man with long silver hair, the kind that was very good at playing cards.

The young man had a sinister smile on his face, arrogantly unbuttoned his shirt, and short sleeves with blue and white stripes, and stood with his waist crossed in a posture that he did not recognize his six relatives.

Of course, the aura and the look in his eyes were what Marik noticed later. The first thing that made him pay attention to the opponent blocking the road in front of him was the golden circle hanging on the opponent's chest.

The Millennium Ring, one of the seven Millennium Items.

That boy was the Yami Bakura.

Bakura was also a classmate in the same class as Muto Yugi, but his body hosted the evil spirit that resided in the Millennium Ring, the great evil god Zorc.

It was Zorc who was now controlling this body to face Marik.

"What do you want to do?" Marik cautiously took out the Millennium Rod and asked coldly.

"I'm very interested in your Millennium Rod. Give it to me." Yami Bakura snorted, "Whoever collects seven Millennium Items will gain the ultimate dark power, and that will be mine."

Marik narrowed his eyes slightly.

How could this guy know the secrets guarded by the Tomb Keepers?

But maybe this guy could be used by him.

Marik smiled lightly, playing with the Millennium Rod in his hand.

"It's not impossible to give it to you, but not now." He said, "I'm not interested in collecting the seven items, gaining power or something, but before that, I have a goal that I have to achieve, and that is revenge.

I want to take revenge on Muto Yugi more precisely, the Pharaoh's soul inside him. If you are willing to help me achieve this goal, then the Millennium Rod is no different to me than waste, and I can naturally give it to you. "

"Idiot, don't you understand what I'm talking about?" Yami Bakura said coldly, "I'm telling you to hand it over obediently. Why do you think you have room to bargain with me?"

"Oh?" Marik didn't expect this guy to be so bold.

But he was not afraid, and opened the Duel Disk with a humming: "If you are really so confident in your own strength, then come and see."

As soon as the words fell, Marik's pupils shrank, and he lifted the Millennium Rod in his hand at a speed that was almost conditioned reflex and released a dark wave to deflect a dark bullet shot by the Yami Bakura.

Marik frowned.

This guy

haven't even played cards?

Yami Bakura was holding the Millennium Ring in his hand, his body was full of black energy, and he had a gloomy smile on his face.

Duel? Why should I? Today I'm going to rob you!

After all, I'm the Great Evil God, and I'm confident in my strength.

"Interesting."

Marik snorted coldly, brought up the Millennium Rod, and directly began to compete with Yami Bakura for dark energy.

Both sides stood still in an instant, motionless like a tree stump. Invisible forces collided in the air, and the majestic darkness on both sides was like tsunamis. The two sides were called thunder and fire, and each strike represented the invisible bombardment between two of the current world's top dark forces

A passer-by at the entrance of the alley, a little girl, tilted her head, licking a lollipop and inexplicably watching the two big brothers staring at each other affectionately.

The little girl's mother appeared from behind: "Little Li?"

The little girl tugged at her mother's skirt: "Mom, these two big brothers look so strange! Are their brains broken?"

The mother quickly picked up the little girl and walked away quickly: "Don't talk rudely about the disabled!"

Marik: ""

Yami Bakura: ""

No one knew if it was an illusion, but both of them felt that a crow was flying over their heads, flapping its wings and screaming "caw caw"

Then Yami Bakura put away the Ring: "Hmph, I didn't expect your dark power to be okay."

Marik also tacitly put away the Rod: "You are not bad."

Although the two of them didn't say any reason, they both agreed that they didn't want to continue the comparison

"Okay, I accept the conditions you said." Yami Bakura snorted.

Anyway, the Millennium Puzzle was in Yugi's hand, so if Yami Bakura wanted to collect all the Millennium Items, he must confront Yugi sooner or later. There's nothing wrong with taking this opportunity to team up with Marik to kill Yugi.

"Very good. If our two strengths join forces, no one in this world can stop us!" Marik seemed to be very optimistic about the prospect of their powerful alliance.

"Hmph, maybe." Yami Bakura snorted, "As long as you don't drag my legs."

Chapter 123: The Qualified Eight

The fierce competition for puzzle cards in the preliminary round basically came to an end. Yuei Vu placed the collected six puzzle cards on the Duel Disk, and the projections of the six cards were pieced together in mid-air to form a map projection, which seemed to indicate a specific coordinate in Domino City.

Following the guidance of the map, Yuei Vu quickly found the position pointed to by the coordinates, which was also the starting point for the finals of Duel City.

The reason why it was said to be the starting point was that Yuei Vu knows that it was not the real stage for the finals. The Kaiba Corp would wait there for the first eight duelists to arrive. After all eight of them were gathered, the organizer will send a dueling speedboat floating in the air to welcome everyone to board.

Next, they would duel in the air while flying to the real stage for the finals, completing the quarter-final elimination to determine the final places that could advance to the semi-finals.

Yuei Vu seemed to be the second person to come to the venue of the final. Of course, the first to arrive was Seto Kaiba, the owner of the tournament, and the organizer himself.

By the way, Yuei Vu actually thought about it secretly, if Kaiba really failed to grab the top eight promotion, could his subordinate really eliminate his own boss?

I always felt that there was a shady scene

Ahem, of course, the butt decided the head. Now Yuei Vu was considered half of the organizer of the competition, even if there was a shady scene, he would naturally have no opinion.

Speaking of which, he still flew over in the same helicopter as Kaiba

Although they had already collected six puzzle cards after defeating Mask of Light and Darkness, it was not difficult to imagine that Kaiba would never take the initiative to invite others to take his plane.

When the helicopter landed, the president turned around, flicked his windbreaker, and strode toward the aircraft. Then Yuei Vu came up behind him very "consciously"

Sure enough, the president only glanced at him and didn't say anything. It was acquiescence.

The players watching after this step naturally couldn't keep up, but after asking for the president's approval, Yuei Vu authorized his tool, Miss Yuehua, to keep up.

After all, the latter was equivalent to his mobile camera, and he intended to take the anchor lady to live broadcast the whole finals.

And she was still holding the Ghouls' Duel Disks that Yuei Vu snatched in her hand

Strictly speaking, when Yuei Vu asked the president for his opinion, the president didn't say anything, just turned his head and "hum". So Yuei Vu acquiesced that this was the meaning of permission.

Miss Yuehua's mood at this moment is hard to describe with excitement. She felt like a hundred and eight deer were running around in her heart Sounds like a car accident scene?

Sharing the same cockpit with Yuei Vu and President Kaiba!

Did anyone else get this treatment?

Didn't you?

The helicopter arrived at the designated spot for the rematch as the sun was about to set.

Sure enough, they were the first two players to arrive.

The third qualifying player appeared about twenty minutes later.

It was a slender, dark-skinned player with handsome white hair and flashing eyes

Marik?

According to the animation, Marik concealed his identity when he boarded the ship, but he didn't at this time. He held the Millennium Rod in his hand and went to that station generously, which was equivalent to saying "I am Marik, who has the gut to face me?".

Kaiba waved his hand: "Marik! I can declare your disqualification as the organizer now, but as a duelist, I will at least give you this chance! I will defeat you in an open and fair manner and win your God card!"

Marik smiled and did not answer with a confident look, as if everything was under his control.

Yuei Vu glanced at him and said nothing.

In fact, how did he not know that little scheme in Marik's heart? Marik came here mainly to capture God cards. In addition, he was thinking of finding an opportunity to use the Millennium Rod to brainwash Kaiba and obtain his secrets.

If Marik's rudimentary plan succeeded, then Yuei Vu feels that he could change his surname to Ma on the spot.

Not to mention the temperament of President Kaiba, Marik may have to wait until the next life if he wanted to deceive him. Even if Marik really caught this opportunity, this plan may not be able to come true.

To be honest, Yuei Vu really wanted to see what happened if Marik tried to brainwash the president. The true identity of the Kaiba was the reincarnation of the priest Seto, who was the master of Millennium Rod three thousand years ago. The Millennium Rod was also held by the priest Seto on the stone slab of the battle of the century unearthed in Egypt.

Moreover, at the critical juncture of Kaiba's duel in the animation, Millennium Rod in Marik's hand even secretly helped Kaiba to open the hook and forcibly rewrite the fate of defeat.

It could be seen that this thing should still be more loyal to the old owner in comparison, and not very interested in the new owner.

If Marik, who didn't know anything, foolishly used Millennium Rod to brainwash Kaiba, the tin stick may go back to Kaiba's hands on the spot, helping Kaiba retrieve his past priest's memory. It's going to be funny

The one that came after Marik was Bakura, a vessel possessed by the great evil god Zorc.

Speaking of which, this guy was really capable. It was almost dark before he started participating in the Battle City Tournament unhurriedly, but he actually managed to find a way to get six puzzle cards in such a short period of time.

According to the plot of the original work, Marik should also send his right-hand man, Rishid, to pretend to be himself to participate in the competition, but this time he did not come.

Yuei Vu speculated that either it may be because Rishid had already met him before and his identity was exposed, or it may be because he robbed him of a piece of "Temple of the Kings" and the whole deck was shut down ..

After a little while, the next person to appear was a mature and slim woman in a white robe and a veil.

She and Marik were also dark-skinned, with elegant and confident steps, and smart and intelligent eyes, like a light curtain of water, as if they could see through everything.

That was Ishizu Ishtar, Marik's older sister.

Marik's heart skipped a beat when he saw his sister, and his eyes instantly became sharp. However, before he had time to say hello, he saw his sister walking past him as if she didn't see him, and took out six puzzle cards and showed them to Kaiba, who was the organizer.

Kaiba snorted and nodded, and Ishizu put away the puzzle card and stood aside.

Marik never looked up at all.

Although he really wanted to ask her a question, he finally held back and stood aside and didn't speak anymore.

In this way, there were already five contestants on the scene: Yuei Vu, Kaiba, Marik, Bakura, and Ishizu, and there were only three places left.

Although President Kaiba said no word and appeared stoic on the surface, in fact, he was secretly worried about a certain object of concern.

Yugi, where are you now? Why haven't you come yet?

You can't be the kind of duelist who can't even make it this far, can you?

so what was Yugi doing now?

So many people have collected all six puzzle cards, and Muto Yugi, the real protagonist, was no exception.

At this moment, he had already got six puzzle cards in his hand, and he joined Kujaku Mai and Jonouchi who had also collected the puzzle cards on the way. The three of them were rushing towards the rematch site together.

It's just that they encountered a little accident on the road at this time.

A foreign uncle in a white suit suddenly came out of nowhere he seemed to be a Hollywood movie star, who was stalking Kujaku Mai, insisting that she go back with him to be his wife

The uncle said that he fell in love with Mai at first sight, and would challenge her with the thing she's best at dueling. If Mai lost, she must accept to be his wife

Sister Kujaku Mai rolled her eyes and was ready to refuse without thinking about it.

Are you kidding? Why does a young lady like me have to be your wife if I lose?

Besides, Sister Mai's heart was only with Jonouchi now, so she had no interest in the Hollywood star at all

"You're so charming, Mai! There are Hollywood stars chasing you!" Jonouchi said with excitement, "I think it's not bad for you to marry him so that I can brag for people that my good friend's husband is a superstar. Hahaha!"

Mai:""

Chapter 124: Heroes can never back Down

Time passed minute by minute, and there were still only five people on the site. The last three players did not show up for a long time.

President Kaiba frowned and frowned, staring at the only entrance without blinking.

Yugi, what are you doing? Why haven't you appeared yet?

Marik also stared at the entrance, his mind turned sharply.

He participated in this competition originally to seek revenge for Pharaoh, and from the beginning to the end he never considered the possibility of "Pharaoh being eliminated in the preliminary competition".

But now he seemed to have to start thinking about this issue seriously if Pharaoh didn't enter the finals, wouldn't he have no object of revenge?

Yuei Vu also felt a little strange at this moment.

By the way, in addition to Kaiba, shouldn't the fastest one be Yugi? Could it be because he wait for Jonouchi and was delayed for a while?

But it took too long, didn't it? Jonouchi only lacked two puzzle cards. It should be easy to fill, right?

Finally, just when everyone almost lost their patience, the protagonists finally appeared from outside the door.

The leader was Muto Yugi the main personality, the one who was harmless to humans and animals. It seemed that Yami Yugi has been fighting for too long and was now recharging.

Followed by Jonouchi, Kujaku Mai, as well as the relatives and friends who cheered them like the cheerleading team.

It was because Mai was grabbed by the Hollywood star uncle and played cards on the way, so the group was delayed until now.

Fortunately, in the end, Kujaku Mai won without any risk, otherwise, she would have to become his wife in the end. The inner surface of Jonouchi looked heartless, but when he thought about it now, he still felt a little scared

But in this way, the protagonists of the original work have caught up anyway. Three duelists, just three places left

"YueiYuei Yu!"

Another voice came from outside the door. Yuei Vu was startled, looked at the sound, and found eh, isn't that Snow Wave?

Snow Wave waved his hand outside the door vigorously, and charged straight toward Yuei Vu with a face full of joy. He didn't even look sideways when he passed by Yugi and Jonouchi.

The protagonist team?

So what? How can they be as good as my Yuei Vu!

What? You said there are choppy beauties and innocent and lovely girls next door?

Oh, it's boring!

Now he has seen it clearly. Chest, legs, hips, it's just flesh and bones!

I am a man who is determined to become a Duel King, so women are in the way!

Yuei Vu, you've been waiting for a long time, here I come~

""

Well, in fact, Yuei Vu was not too surprised.

He felt that if a player could advance in the Battle City Tournament, Snow Wave should be the one with the greatest chance.

After all, Snow Wave was the first player that Yuei Vu came into contact with, he could be considered his first, and he always behaved so well and bootlicked so hard. In addition, he had officially settled in as a working boy in the Dream Card Shop. Yuei Vu has actually given him quite a lot.

Compared with other players who just entered the game and are still wandering in the dark, Snow Wave has already got a lot of good things and was considered to be at the forefront of the players.

In fact, Snow Wave is quite famous in the player forum. After all, he was the only player who had the opportunity to "work next to Yuei Vu".

In addition, this Battle City competition was an excellent opportunity for publicity, so Yuei Vu naturally arranged some benefits for him, so that he could perform better than other players, thus more players would follow his example. Then the chives harvest would be better in the coming year

But now there was a new problem.

There were only eight places in the promotion round, but there were already nine people here. And the last four arrived at the scene almost at the same time

But after all, everyone was a duelist, so it was easy to solve such a trivial matter.

Kaiba waved his hand directly: "Then the last of you to arrive, decide the final spot by yourself in a duel! Those who lose must give up their qualifications and withdraw from the competition!"

When it came to playing cards, things were immediately simple.

Muto Yugi took a step forward without saying a word, and the golden light of the Millennium Puzzle flashed across his chest. As soon as Yugi's eyes are closed and opened, the big eyes that were honest and gentle just a second ago are now full of "AIBO, who do you want to beat".

"Okay! Then I'll accept this duel." Tami Yugi who switched personalities said, "I'll compete with you for the last spot."

Snow Wave couldn't help but want to yell at him.

Oh God, why? Why did I have to go head-to-head with the gatekeeper BOSS first when I advance?

And don't think I didn't know that your booster was secretly online! Referee, why don't you care about a foul right in front of your face?

Oh, the referee belongs to the president's family, so that's fine.

(President Kaiba: Think about it with your head, will I disqualify my Yugi?)

Just when Snow Wave desperately felt that her dream of being "the only Battle City player" was about to be shattered, Sister Kujaku Mai stood up in time.

"No, Yugi, Jonouchi, I have to do this." She said, "It's my fault for delaying you until now. If it wasn't for me, you should have already arrived."

"Mai" Jonouchi was hesitant to say anything.

This was true. The duel with that Hollywood foreigner on the way was originally a personal affair of Mai, and Yugi and Jonouchi were just waiting for her to waste time.

"Needless to say, if you are on my behalf, as a duelist, I will not feel at ease even if I advance." Kujaku Mai insisted, "Come on, we will decide the final spot here!"

"Okay! I accept this duel!"

Snow Wave hurriedly took advantage of her speech before Yugi could say no.

Playing with Yami Yugi, he felt that he was already finished, but with Kujaku Mai he still had a chance.

It's not that Kujaku Mai was not strong, but because among so many people present, she was the only one who had no spirit, no magical items, and no cheat

Yes, I'm looking at you, Jonouchi the lucky boy.

There's still hope for a fight with her.

At this time, acting as a tool for the camera, Miss Yuehua's live broadcast room was more lively than before.

"I know him! Isn't that Snow Wave? The one who works in the Yuei Vu store!"

"I heard that his Favorability level has reached over 50!"

"It's fake, is just guessing, there is no picture."

"It's awesome, can a player really enter the semi-finals? This should be regarded as the strongest player in the Open beta, right?"

Amid the chatter of the audience, the duel has begun.

The first was Kujaku Mai. She got up and called a Harpie Lady first, and then went straight to set three cards.

[Harpie Lady, ATK 1300]

Snow Wave couldn't help complaining when he saw that posture: What the hell, three set cards? Big sister, it's a bit too nether, isn't it?

But it didn't matter, he had the soul card he received from Yuei Vu, and he has the power of charisma! (referring to the Favorability of up to 40 points)

"My turn, draw!" Snow Wave said loudly, "Heroes can never back down!"

I summon the Elemental HERO Avian!" "

Chapter 125: Normie HEROes VS Harpie Lady

Snow Wave now felt very good about himself.

With Yuei Vu's power, he felt omnipotent!

So he first summoned Avian in the defensive position, set a card, and then set a card and went straight to the end of the turn!

Kujaku Mai, you didn't expect this, did you? This is my escape route!

Just kidding, a Harpie Lady with a full attack power of 1300, and with three pits in Spell Trap Zone, who would fight head-on with her?

Of the Thirty-Six Stratagems, fleeing is best

But unfortunately, even the escape didn't seem to be so smooth. Kujaku Mai chuckled: "Do you think just escaping can be helpful? This kind of duel won't work in front of me!"

Open set card: Quick-Play Spell Shadow of Eyes! Turn all male monsters on the opponent's field into attack position, and all of them must attack! (animation effect)

"Nani!?" Snow Wave was taken aback.

WTF?

Did it turn out that dueling monsters also have gender? How did I not hear it being said?

Snow Wave watched helplessly as the Harpie Lady on the opponent's field threw a wink at him, and then Avian who was defending his face blushed and his body uncontrollably lifted his defense and stood up.

Snow Wave was in a hurry at that time.

Avian, why did you blush?

Being charmed with a wink, did you feel embarrassed to call yourself a hero?

"It's not over yet! Activate Continuous Trap Card Mirror Wall!" Kujaku Mai shouted, "As long as this card exists on the field, every time the opponent's monster attacks, the attack power will be halved!" (animation effect)

This time, not only Snow Wave but even the onlookers in the live broadcast room were shocked.

"Is this card so awesome? Is it not one-turn, but a Continuous Trap?"

"The this effect, but you need to pay 2000LP each turn to maintain it. If you don't pay it, it will blow up. However, there seems to be no such price in the animation"

"Then this thing is invincible? How did Yugi solve this card before?"

"Yugi Yugi used the Catapult Turtle' to launch a monster and smashed the Mirror Wall"

""

Back in the days of the Duelist Kingdom, the young and simple Kujaku Mai once was ignorant enough to try to use BISS on Yugi.

Yugi: "I activate Brain Control! Take control of your Harpie's Pet Dragon' on the field!"

Kujaku Mai: "Useless! The pet dragon is absolutely loyal to its owner. Even if you take control of it, you can't order it to attack!"

Yugi: "Do as you like. Then I'll use the Catapult Turtle' to launch Harpie's Pet Dragon and smash through your Mirror Wall!"

Kujaku Mai: "@!(%&"

""

It's a pity that Snow Wave was not Yugi, and he didn't have that powerful BISS ability. If he had that ability, he might be talking nonsense now that the Avian had wings, and as long as he could fly over the Mirror Wall

[Avian, ATK 1000 ATK 500]

The harpie girl counterattacked easily, and with one claw, Avian, who had only 500 attacks, was smashed into pieces.

Snow Wave, LP 4000 LP 3200

Kujaku Mai was still twisting the knife further: "What's the matter? Can't you do more than this level?"

Snow Wave said in his heart that I also wanted to do more The question was, what should I do if I had a brick hand?

No, no, no, I have to cheer up. It was the first time I played cards in front of Yuei Vu, and I couldn't embarrass him!

That being said, now that his starting hand was full of Normies, there was nothing he could do for the time being

Then the situation completely leaned to Kujaku Mai. She activated the Spell Card "Elegant Egotist": When there are 1 or more "Harpie Lady" cards on the field, you can Special Summon up to 2 "Harpie Lady" or "Harpie Lady Sisters" from your hand or your Deck.

Snow Wave used the trap card "Defense Draw" when the first Harpie Lady attacked, making a battle damage 0 and drawing a card. But Snow Wave's LP quickly dropped to the last 600 points after eating the direct attacks of two harpies in a row.

His health was in jeopardy, and if he continued to have a dead draw in the next turn, his journey ended here!

Yuei Vu, who was beside him, couldn't help but stare blankly.

How the hell was this deck constructed? Why were you so stuck?

I have given him a lot of good things, right?

Was it really just plain bad luck?

Snow Wave, LP 600

With a life value of 600, this time was the last draw in the true sense!

Snow Wave closed his eyes, his whole body was condensed in his right hand, and he recited Yuei Vu's name in his heart

Draw a card (Destiny Draw)!

YaDaZe! (Success!)

Snow Wave's face instantly climaxed, excitedly like a 500-pound child.

Come, come, come!

"Activate Continuous Spell Heart of the Underdog!"

A Spell Card appeared, and the drawing on the card was Jonouchi? ?

This card was not printed by Kaiba himself, right?

Not only the card's name was Heart of the Underdog, but the person drawn on the card was too similar to Jonouchi!

Everyone in the audience cast their strange gazes at Jonouchi. The latter couldn't help being furious: "Hey! What do you mean!?"

Heart of the Underdog effect was that if the player drew a Normal monster card during the Draw Phase, they could reveal it to the opponent and draw another card.

But this effect could not be activated until the Draw Phase of the next turn. First of all, Snow Wave still has to survive the turn of Kujaku Mai.

"Activate Quick Play Spell Hand Destruction! Both players discard two cards in their hands and draw two cards. Then set another card, and I end my turn."

"Although I don't know what you want to do, you have no chance!" Kujaku Mai shouted, "My turn, draw! Three Harpie Ladies! Direct attack!"

With only 600 HP left, Snow Wave would lose as long as any monster could touch him.

But it didn't matter! He has Yuei Vu's power to protect him!

Let you see what was the power of a bootlicker with a favorability level of 40!

"Open the Set card!" Snow Wave shouted, "Counter Trap Negate Attack! Negate the opponent's monster's attack and end the Battle Phase!"

"Che, have you survived again? Then I end my turn." Kujaku Mai pouted.

It seems that the bond between Kujaku Mai and the deck may not be enough, otherwise, she would have drawn a Harpie's Feather Duster, and blown all the cards in the Spell Trap Zone of Snow Wave.

(Harpie's Feather Duster, Kujaku Mai's signature Spell Card, can destroy all Spell and Trap Cards on the opponent's field.)

Snow Wave was excited at this time.

Here's my chance!

It's showdown time!

"My turn, draw! I drew a Normal monster card! At this moment, the Heart of the Underdog' effect was activated, and I drew another card!

DORO! MONSUTA KAADO!!! (Draw! Monster card!) (*)

DORO! MONSUTA KAADO!!!

DORO! MONSUTA KAADO!!!

Snow Wave now felt that he has reached the peak of his life.

Hahaha, performing Yugi's signature trick in front of Yugi himself! It's unspeakable pleasure!

This kind of deck was also the charm of Yu-Gi-Oh this kind of combo, when played successfully, could make the player feel satisfied for a year!

"Draw! Monster eh, it isn't a monster card?"

Snow Wave's conditioned reflex made him continue to draw, but he found that this time it was actually a trap card.

But it didn't matter!

"At this moment, activate Quick-Play Spell Reload! I shuffle all the cards in my hand back to the deck, and then draw the same number of cards!

And because Reload is a Quick-Play Spell, and it is still in the Draw Phase after activation, the effect of Heart of the Underdog' can still be triggered!

DORO! MONSUTA KAADO!!!

DORO! MONSUTA KAADO!!!"

Snow Wave made a single operation and didn't stop until he drew a lot of cards in his hand.

Kujaku Mai was a little taken aback by this unprecedented combo.

"But but even with that many cards drawn, at the end of the turn you still have to discard until you have only six left!" she said.

Snow Wave chuckled: "Don't worry, Sister Mai, now I'll show you the true power hidden by my HERO! Field Magic Fusion Gate is activated! This way, fusion can be performed without Polymerization!

I fuse Elemental HERO Sparkman' and Elemental HERO Burstinatrix' in my hand!

Bring it on! Elemental HERO Nova Master! "

The golden and red light was involved in the vortex of fusion, giving birth to a flame HERO in heavy armor.

[Elemental HERO Nova Master, ATK 2600] (1 "Elemental HERO" monster + 1 FIRE monster)

"Then I fuse the second Sparkman and Elemental HERO Clayman in my hand!

Elemental HERO Thunder Giant! "

Another two beams of light merged into the vortex, and the giant in golden armor descended. Thunder rolled in the sky, and electric light surrounded the giant.

[Elemental HERO Thunder Giant, ATK 2400]

"I fuse Avian and Wildheart!

Fusion Summons! Elemental HERO Wild Wingman! "

[Elemental HERO Wild Wingman, ATK 1900]

"It's not over yet! I fuse the third Sparkman and the second Burstinatrix in my hand!

Fusion Summons! Elemental HERO Grandmerge! "

[Elemental HERO, Grandmerge, ATK 2100]

Kujaku Mai had never seen this posture before, and was a little surprised: "This is four fusions in one turn!?"

Jonouchi was also shocked: "What kind of tactic is this!? This is too strong, right?"

Yugi was also a bit unexpected: "This person's duel seems to have a lot of ideas!"

Even President Kaiba couldn't help but glance at him, although he didn't say anything, he was thoughtful.

This kind of routine may indeed be rare in the anime, and it was very new to everyone. However, for real card players, this combo was not uncommon although it was interesting.

Players generally referred to this kind of combo as a gimmick

"The effect of Elemental HERO Wild Wingman Discard 1 card to target 1 Spell/Trap Card on the field; destroy that target. I will destroy your Mirror Wall!"

And finally this card"

Snow Wave took the last card.

"Spell Card Quick Attack! Fusion monsters can attack this turn!

This is the end!

Elemental HERO's all-out attack! "

Chapter 126: Digging Potatoes In Siberia

"Battle!" Snow Wave waved his hand directly, feeling that he had reached the peak of his life at this moment, "Elemental HERO's all-out attack!"

Nova Master, Thunder Giant, Wild Wingman, Grandmerge, and the fusion monster summoned by Grandmerge who used himself as a sacrifice to call out after attacking.

In total, this wave was a five-hit combo of fusion heroes!

The "Mirror Wall" effect on the Kujaku Mai's field has been destroyed by the Wild Wingman's effect. Her three set cards in the first turn were "Mirror Wall", "Shadow of Eyes" and "Elegant Egotist", all of which have been used by now

But it's useless even if she still has more set cards. "Elemental Hero Wild Wingman" could destroy a Spell Trap Card by discarding a card. Even if she set other cards in the last turn, it would also be blown away by the effect of Wild Wingman.

Of course, Kujaku Mai couldn't take on such a fierce attack. Her three poor Harpie Lady were pressed on the ground by a group of tall heroes, and the light effect of the scene was very gorgeous.

Among them, there was the muscular and shirtless Wild Wingman, who flapped his wings and came up with a burst of punches and kicks, without the slightest intention of pity.

The Harpie Ladies were rubbed by the heroes, exhausted, and tragically exited the stage

Kujaku Mai, LP 4000 LP 0

Kujaku Mai was knocked to the ground, staring blankly at the circle of heroes surrounding her in front of her, and then looking at Snow Wave who looked like a funny incarnation in front of her. She couldn't help but begin to doubt her life.

Did I lose?

She has always had 4000 LP unscathed. The opponent only had 600 LP left. She almost won then she was actually OTKed!?

The audience in Miss Yuehua's live broadcast room was in a high mood at this time.

"Fuck, he really made it to the quarterfinals!"

"He's so handsome! Don't say it, I'm going to find Yuei Vu to bootlick, so I can play such a game too!"

"Don't, this is a deck played by a heavenly hand, you will be beaten up when you play"

Although Snow Wave played a gimmick deck, this combo was really impressive.

But if you really have to ask players, no one would really think that this deck was strong.

First of all, most of his deck were Normies, and they were extremely dependent on "Heart of the Underdog".

Not to mention the tactical success rate of this deck was debatable, and even this combo was a bit monotonous when played, it was purely an entertainment gimmick deck.

The deck's strength was acceptable in a slow environment like DM, but if he had to face a bigshot like Yugi or Kaiba, this deck stood no chance.

However, it could be seen here that Snow Wave was essentially a casual player, because he actually used such a gimmick deck in competitions like Battle City.

So many professional players failed to be shortlisted, and he was really the only one who came in. This wave was the victory of the casual players.

But in this way, Kujaku Mai would be disqualified from the competition.

"Actually it doesn't seem like it's a bad thing?" A barrage audience asked, "If she gets eliminated, she wouldn't meet Marik, would she?"

"Indeed, according to the anime's plot, she will lose in the Shadow Game. It seems that it was because of the psychological shadow left behind this time that she turned black and joined Dartz."

"Yes! Then if she is eliminated, she shouldn't turn black?"

"So it seems that brother Snow Wave has done a good thing!"

But of course, from the perspective of Kujaku Mai, she didn't feel that she was saved. Obviously, the promotion was very close at hand, yet being eliminated at the last moment, was not easy to accept.

But she didn't feel annoyed. After all, the other party didn't play any underhand tricks but defeated her with the strength of a duelist. She felt that she was not wronged, and even admired Snow Wave's unconventional and powerful tactics that could instantly suppress the audience.

Well, not only Mai, but Kaiba, Yugi, and even Marik were secretly impressed by Snow Wave.

Kaiba: Interesting, is it an OTK tactic with extreme explosiveness? It seems that I have the qualifications to fight against my arggo deck!

Yugi: This duelist is very strong!

Marik: An all-out attack that can kill instantly. This is the first time I have seen such a tactic! Looks like I have to be careful

The three bosses all admired Snow Wave's gimmick deck, because all of them ignored issues such as starting hand and dead draw by default

What? Dead draw? What the hell is that?

Isn't it always possible to play the combo as long as the rights card are inserted into the deck?

Kujaku Mai, who lost the duel, got up without saying a word to leave.

At this time, Jonouchi, whose whole emotional intelligence was disconnected, who was suspected to have assimilated with wood, finally got enlightened. After some mouthfuls, he finally coaxed Kujaku Mai, who insisted on leaving, to stay.

Yuei Vu couldn't help but nodded slightly as he looked at the back of Jonouchi, who was working hard to do ideological work.

Jonouchi, you were not beyond saving!

It's just that that scene reminded him of the scene in his previous life when he tried his best to coax an angry girlfriend

Oh wait, I don't seem to have a girlfriend in his previous life?

The episode was over, and now the list of eight finalists was officially put together.

President Kaiba didn't talk nonsense, just waved his hand

"Come on! Release the Battle Ship!"

The huge airship descended domineeringly from the sky, and the whistling wind pressure blew people suffocating.

The oval-shaped balloon landed on the open space, with a striking "KC" icon printed on the side. The stairs were lowered from the side of the airship, and President Kaiba threw his windbreaker domineeringly and took the lead in walking in.

"Are you going to have a rematch on this?" Jonouchi was surprised, and immediately started rolling up his sleeves, "I'm starting to get motivated!"

Little sister Shizuka cheered: "Brother is so handsome!"

The duelists boarded the boat one after another. However, when the cheerleading team and the support team got on the boat, there was a little interlude.

"Wait!" Kaiba Corp's security guard elongated his face and stopped Anzu, Shizuka, and others, "Those who don't have a puzzle card are not eligible to participate and cannot board the boat!"

"Why is this?" Anzu said, "Please be accommodating, we want to cheer for our companions."

"No, no! This is the rule!" The black suit guy didn't move.

In the end, it was Mokuba who came out to make a clearance: "Don't do this, let them come up. I don't have a puzzle card, why don't you stop me?"

"Ah? This" The two security guards looked embarrassed.

Why don't we stop you? Don't you really know yourself? You are the little master! If we dare not let you on board, won't the president send us to the Siberia branch to dig potatoes tomorrow?

In fact, although Kaiba was arrogant, Mokuba got along pretty well with Yugi and his friend group. After all, they have experienced many things together, and they could be regarded as companions who could trust their lives to each other.

Since the young master spoke, the black suits naturally had nothing to say.

But then they found their next target: "You! Stop! You can't enter without a puzzle card!"

Miss Yuehua, who wanted to take the opportunity to infiltrate the failed camera tool, was in a hurry: "Hey! But they can enter without a puzzle card!"

The black suit rolled his eyes: "If I say no, it is a no!"

Hmph, I can't afford to provoke people who are related to the little master, but you aren't one of them.

If we let you up again today, wouldn't we two really become Chihuahuas?

Yuei Vu, who had already boarded the ship at this time, saw it, thought for a while, and decided to bring the tool with him.

"Kaiba, she's with me, let her up."

Kaiba glanced at the entrance, snorted proudly, and pretended to "disdain such trivial matters": "As you like."

Then turned away.

Miss Yuehua was overjoyed.

I knew it! Yuei Vu had me in his heart!

Anyway, I still hold his Duel Disk in my hand!

She happily squeezed between the two black suits, then turned her head and stammered: "Did you hear what your boss said?"

Then she followed Yuei Vu and boarded the boat.

The two black suits looked at each other, speechless.

Having been with Kaiba for so long, they knew the personality of their president.

It looked like he just said something casually, didn't care about it at all, turned his head and left.

However, if you really didn't take the president's words seriously

then you had to go to Siberia to dig potatoes tomorrow.

Chapter 127: On The Battle Ship

From all aspects of the Battle City, the huge wealth and influence of the Kaiba Corp in this country could be seen.

After all, not just any organization had the ability to stop the normal operation of an entire city and make every street in the city give way to playing cards.

Gathering people to play cards at this level and scale, only President Kaiba a able to do that in the whole world.

From this, it could also be seen that President Kaiba has a high degree of investment in the card game. For him, dueling was not only entertainment and enjoyment, but also the meaning of his life and the direction of his ultimate goal.

He used a duel to deny everything of his adoptive father, Kaiba Gozaburo, and tried his best to transform the Kaiba Corp, a large arms manufacturing company, into his own game company. Therefore, dueling was also equivalent to the direction of his life for him, representing the new path he chose after surpassing Gozaburo.

Kaiba Gozaburo expressed disdain for Kaiba's ambition more than once during his lifetime. The old man insisted that playing cards and things were children's games, and the real ambition of a man should be in the sea of stars.

He thought that Kaiba's indulging in chess and cards all day was not a proper job. He should use his talents more in military affairs, building Gundam, or something to conquer the world.

However, in fact, Gozaburo was really wrong. In this world, building Gundam was not a proper job dueling was.

Arms and weapons were just for fun. If you really wanted to conquer the world, what you should do was to play cards.

In fact, judging from the various follow-up works after the DM, it seemed that the virtual image technology of Kaiba has a tendency to cover the whole world. It was estimated that it would not be long before any corner of most countries in the world was directly connected to the server of Kaiba Corp.

In Yu-Gi-Oh! GX, Kaiba Corp even vigorously developed the aerospace industry in order to make cards (by putting card templates into rockets and launching them into the depths of the universe). The famous ace of Yuki Judai, the Elemental HERO Neos was born in this way.

In The Dark Side Of Dimensions, a Domino citizen was not even given a registered permanent residence if he did not register a deck at the request of the Kaiba Corp.

Going forward in the timeline, in the era of Yu-Gi-Oh! 5DS, people even developed perpetual motion machines that could not exist according to inherent cognition through playing cards. The entire earth has entered an era led by perpetual motion machines, and dueling monsters closely related to the operation of perpetual motion machines have become the main theme of the world ..To a certain extent, Kaiba might have really fulfilled Gozaburo's expectations.

Kaiba Corp really conquered the world just in a different way.

The dueling boat with eight contestants and a group of relatives and friends set off.

The sumptuous meal in the hall soon made the players (especially Jonouchi) feel that this trip was not in vain.

The God of Gamblers who entered the lobby quickly entered gluttony mode. After confirming to the waiter that the dishes in the room were all brought out for free by the generous president to reward the hard-working players, Jonouchi immediately rudely started.

Kaiba walked over to him with his arms crossed and snorted: "Horse bone is still horse bone. Sure enough, the heads of idiots are empty. you can only be so leisurely and optimistic before the game because you can't imagine what brutal battle you will face."

"What!?"

Jonouchi, who has always been on the wrong side of the road with Kaiba, was so angry that he raised the chicken leg in his hand and was about to beat someone. But then he thought that the chicken leg in his hand, strictly speaking, seemed to be Kaiba's thing, so Jonouchi only pouted and made a "disdainful" look, not a Kaiba.

However, in fact, Jonouchi was not the only one who walked in without saying a word.

Yuei Vu didn't show courtesy to the president at this moment, took a plate of spaghetti, and started to eat.

It was originally a free gift from the president, if you didn't eat it, you were an idiot!

He hasn't eaten dinner since he has been playing cards all day, and he couldn't compete with the big shots above when having an empty stomach.

The finals would not be as easy as the preliminary round. Yuei Vu must mentally prepare for this.

Although most of the duelists in the DM era used decks, most of the duelists who entered the top eight were duelists of Rank 8 or above, and some of them could not be understood with common sense.

Playing cards with this group of people, Yuei Vu didn't have the confidence to win against any of them then he glanced at the Snow Wave that was waving a knife and fork, ready to strike at a large Australian lobster.

well maybe except for this guy.

At this moment, Kaiba came to Yuei Vu's side.

The president still folded his arms with a cool look on his face and smiled humbly: "Hum, as expected of you, at this time, you can eat without any hassle. Are you ready?"

Not far away, Jonouchi, which had just calmed down, exploded again.

Ouch, you Kaiba, what does this mean? When I eat, I'm an idiot. When other people eat, it's confidence. Is it such a double standard?

Is it possible because I am not as handsome as him?

"It won't help no matter how nervous you are." Yuei Vu shrugged and continued to eat noodles, "It's better to eat some good food and adjust to the best state."

"Hmph, so it is."

Kaiba put away his smile and his face became serious.

"That guy Marik said before, the Orisis the Sky Dragon' is in your hands, right?"

Yuei Vu did not deny it.

"If you didn't do that before, then I advise you to do it now put the God card into your deck." Kaiba said solemnly, "A decisive battle that can be won by a half-hearted attitude.

If I'm going to finish the unfinished duel with you, then I want to see you give it your all, otherwise, there's no point! "

Yuei Vu: ""

What? Why don't I use the Sky Dragon?

Of course, it's because not only it's a traitor, but it's also a dead draw!

Well, in fact, Sky Dragon was in his deck, but it is not the original version, but the real card rewarded by the system.

And the reason for putting this card was purely to make use of the "force" contained in this card. In this way, his duelist Rank was increased to 5 stars, which could increase the bond with the card deck and reduce the probability of a brick hand.

The card that was rewarded by the system should only be able to hold a small part of the power of the god, so the "force" that he could borrow was very limited.

However, the president who finished speaking did not wait for him to reply, turned his head, and walked away.

Because Yugi came over.

"Yugi!" Kaiba stopped Yugi who was passing by "This duel will not only determine the title of Duel King, but it will also be the end of the battle between us."

Yugi stopped and looked at him sideways: "Kaiba."

"I hope you will be ready to deal with it in your best condition," Kaiba said, "and I will defeat you and move on!"

Yuei Vu looked aside.

It was clear that Kaiba only said that he had a destined duel with him for a second, but when he saw Yugi for a second, he immediately forgot about him, which always felt a little subtle

Moreover, the president said something about "the end of the battle", but Yuei Vu didn't really believe it at the moment.

You don't think that the president really won't bother with Yugi after playing today, right?

If you did think so, then remembered who would go all the way to the underworld to find Yami Yugi to play cards

Chapter 128: The Power Of Divine Draw

After a simple meal on the boat, the duelists returned to their rooms to rest or make final pre-match adjustments to the deck.

According to the rules of Yu-Gi-Oh! competition in reality, all contestants needed to register their respective decks. The actual card game would be decided according to the best-of-three-game system, and players were allowed to have a maximum of fifteen additional cards during the game.

Players could trade cards from the side deck according to the different opponents they faced and the characteristics of the opponent's deck.

But there was no such rule here. According to Kaiba himself, duelists could "adjust the deck arbitrarily according to their needs" at any time.

Then Yuei Vu would not be polite. According to this rule, his entire card library was equivalent to his own side deck and could be changed at any time according to the different opponents he faced in each game.

As for the main deck, Yuei Vu thought about it carefully and finally decided to mix Dark Magician and Elemental HERO, and set up a dual-system mixed deck.

In the real card environment, the combination of two archetypes that were not compatible with each other was extremely undesirable, because in this way, the dead draw rate would be very high, and the actual combat efficiency would be reduced.

But now Yuei Vu's duelist Rank has reached five stars, and he was already considered to be a leader at the forefront of the overall duelist.

He might be unable to use divine draw at will like Yugi, but at this level, at least the probability of dead draw was very small.

Under this premise, he felt that he should be able to control a dual-system mixed deck. If it went well, he would be able to play the respective advantages of Elemental HERO and Dark Magician decks in actual combat at the same time, greatly enhancing the deck's ability to adapt to complex situations.

Before the game, Yuei Vu finally checked his card library and reconfirmed the cards he had now.

The top eight players didn't seem to be easy to mess with. If he had to pick out one of the most delicious targets other than Snow Wave, it might be Yami Marik

Although Yami Marik won against Kujaku Mai and Jonouchi, in both cases he relied on out-of-the-box tricks (cheating).

Winning against Kujaku Mai was because he bullied the girl who had no mystical background, and couldn't control the Winged Dragon. According to the duel rules, Mai had already summoned the Winged Dragon to her field, but Yami Marik read a string of ancient priests' words, then Winged Dragon directly betrayed on the spot

Do you dare to believe that you need to be proficient in a foreign language to play cards? Not to mention it was not a modern league, but the one used three thousand years ago.

There was nothing to say about the win against Jonouchi. He made use of the pressure of the Shadow Game combined with the attack of the gods directly causes the opponent to faint. To quote a famous saying "this cannot be called a duel". Strictly speaking, it's a foul

Although Yami Marik also defeated the duo of Bakura and Marik fair and square, it was entirely because Marik's main personality was an even worse duelist and strategist.

It was rare for Bakura to listen to others. Marik confidently said that he knew the effect of the sun god, so Bakura believed him and adopted his tactics, but found that this guy couldn't even remember the effect of his own card. So the dignified evil god Zorc was pitted to death by his teammates

Taking all the supernatural factors out of the way, Marik would lose to Kujaku Mai and Jonouchi, so he should be the most disheartening.

The deck adjustment time was over, and everyone was quickly gathered together to use a "Blue-Eyes Ultimate Dragon" style bingo machine specially provided by Kaiba Corp to randomly draw the lottery to determine the order of battle.

Yes, even the bingo machine was in the shape of a white dragon. The president had a typical late-stage of white dragon addiction which was hopeless to cure

Like the original plot, the first game was between the world's protagonist Muto Yugi and Bakura who was possessed by the great evil god Zorc.

However, Yuei Vu was actually a little curious about how this game would perform. Because according to the animation plot, the key to the final turnaround was the Sky Dragon.

But now Marik's delivery service sent it to the wrong address, and the Sky Dragon came to Yuei Vu. So in this duel, would Yugi lose to the Bakura?

The answer was

of course not.

First of all, during the whole process of Bakura's game, Marik was beeping endlessly in his mind, saying "why you can't play like this?", "how can you play like this?"

As we all know, one of the most vicious curses in the world was that "you will be directed by outsiders when playing cards".

So it could be imagined that Bakura's mentality exploded throughout the whole process.

Secondly

who is Muto Yugi?

Without the Sky Dragon, wouldn't he print another card to make a comeback?

If he couldn't even turn the table with the printed card, wasn't there still BISS?

As expected, even if there was no Sky Dragon in Yugi, Bakura still lost without any accident in the end.

In this duel, Bakura used the "Destiny Board" tactic.

When his monster "Dark Necrofer" was sent to the Graveyard, he activated the Continuous Trap Card "Destiny Board". Five death messages, "D, E, A, T, H" would appear on his field once per turn.

When the five cards spelled "DEATH" on the field, he would directly win.

This tactic was the same type as Exodia the Forbidden One, using special rules other than conventional means to win.

Similar to the animation scene, in the last turn, Bakura collected four death messages on the field. As long as it came to his turn, the fifth card would appear, and this duel would result in his victory.

According to the original animation, in the last crucial turn of Yugi, he would draw the Sky Dragon, tribute three monsters on the field to call it out, and directly attack Bakura.

Then when Bakura asked anxiously if Marik, who was beeping all the way behind, had a way to defeat the Sky Dragon, Marik laughed and said: Why did you think so much? God was invincible and could not be defeated!

To translate, Marik roughly meant: the God card must be awesome, after all, it was given by me.

But obviously, there was no Sky Dragon in Yugi's hand now.

So when everyone held their breath, Yugi drew the last card in this duel

"Activate the Spell Card!" Yugi directly played the drawn card, "Soul Release! Banish up to five cards from any graveyard!

Bakura! I removed your monster 'Dark Necrofer' which is a maintenance condition for the 'Destiny Board' in your graveyard! The effect of the 'Destiny Board' is thus invalid! "

Bakura: "!!!?"

At this time, the great evil god Zorc roared in his heart.

Soul Release? What the hell? Don't lie to me, do you have this card in your deck?

WDNM, did you know before the game that I would use the Destiny Board or what? Why did you bring something like this in the deck?

Could you do whatever you want because you are a true duelist?

Damn Pharaoh ah ah ah! ! !

After the Destiny Board failed, Bakura's deck fundamentally lost its ability to fight, and then it was taken away by Yugi without any accident.

Of course, before Bakura started the game, he confidently made this a Shadow Game.

So after he was defeated, he was carried off the stage by a stretcher

At the end of the first battle, the fierce and wonderful performance of the two duelists could be regarded as a good start for everyone.

"Please prepare for the next game!" Isono, an uncle in a black suit from Kaiba Company, stood on the stage and shouted loudly.

Isono was one of Kaiba's most trusted subordinates and also served as the referee of this duel competition.

Speaking of this Isono, although it may seem that he was just an ordinary bodyguard, according to the audience of Yu-Gi-Oh, this may also be a hidden BOSS.

The uncle witnessed the arrival of the three gods during his tenure as a referee. As a mortal, he was personally at the center of the three gods' clash. He witnessed the thousand-year battle between Millennium Item holders, and faced all kinds of supernatural powers in the Shadow Game ..

The most amazing thing was that this uncle of the referee did not respond at all whether he was facing the coercion of the gods or the dark power among Millennium Item holders. This referee must be more than meet the eye.

"The next round is between Yuei Vu and"

The elevator on the side of the duel field just arrived at the top floor when the referee said this, and the elevator door opened at this moment.

The metal door panel slid open along the rails, and behind the door came the slender Egyptian woman in a white robe, with a white veil hanging on her face.

She walked slowly to the stage.

Only now did the referee realize that he didn't know her name: "This contestant, what's your name?"

"Ishizu." She slowly pulled the veil off her face, "Ishizu Ishtar."

Anzu on the side was shocked: "Yugi, that person is"

"Well." Yugi also recognized her, "The woman we met in front of the Egyptian slate who guided me to participate in this game."

Marik, who saw her, also whispered a swear indistinctly, as if he was upset that his sister came to disrupt the situation.

Kaiba also behaved quite unexpectedly.

This girl wasn't she the woman who gave me the God card and begged me to defeat Ghouls?

Why did she also come here?

Yuei Vu's eyes also narrowed.

His opponent was Ishizu he had a bad feeling.

Yuei Vu looked at this proud Egyptian lady, and his eyes stayed on the golden eye-shaped jewelry hanging around her neck.

Millennium Necklace, a Millennium Item with the ability to see through the future.

If Ishizu had foreseen everything through the Millennium Necklace and saw the future of her victory in this duel

Then this duel may indeed be a little difficult.

Chapter 129: See The Future

"Wait." Kaiba interrupted, squinting his eyes and holding his arms to look at Ishizu, "You give me Obelisk the Tormentor, let me find out about Ghouls and defeat them. What is your purpose of participating in this knockout match in person?"

Ishizu glanced at Kaiba sideways, and explained in a calm and slow voice: "I just followed the guidance of fate. Everything that has happened until now is inevitable."

"Explain in words I can understand," Kaiba said coldly.

The meaning of the president was concise and to the point, to put it simply speaking the truth in human language.

Ishizu let out a long breath and turned her eyes to Marik.

"The Ghouls is an organization that is active in the shadows all over the world, attacking duelists everywhere and committing unforgivable crimes Its commander, Marik Ishtar, is my biological brother."

Everyone showed surprised expressions, and their eyes turned to Marik.

The latter snorted and pouted, and looked away.

"You said Marik is your biological brother?" Kaiba narrowed his eyes.

"Yes," Ishizu said slowly. "It is for this reason that I asked you to hold this contest, Seto. I must personally end my brother's crimes, even at the expense of myself."

She lowered her head and gently stroked the golden pendant on her neck with her long five fingers.

"Millennium Necklace has the power to reveal the future," she said. "I came here following the guidance of the item, and saw a faint possibility of saving my brother."

As she spoke, her eyes returned to the opponent in front of her.

Yuei Vu remembered it, and it seemed that there was an explanation in the animation.

Although Millennium Necklace could show the future, it only gave vague pictures and impressions.

And there was not only one future but many different possibilities that have not yet come. It's just that the holders of Millennium Necklace could see many different possibilities, and make the development of reality move closer to a specific possibility according to their own choices.

That's why she said that there was a "weak possibility" of saving Marik. Perhaps in the future that Millennium Necklace showed her, there were very few endings in which she successfully saved her brother, and more endings were tragedies.

Of course, the president has always sneered at this kind of thing.

"It's boring!" President Kaiba shouted, waved his hand, and turned to Yuei Vu, "The path of a true duelist is created by himself, and everything in the future is illusory!

Yuei Vu! If you are a true duelist, then smash the so-called future and show me your promotion! "

Yuei Vu: ""

President, you are putting a lot of pressure on me.

Yuei Vu really wanted to say that I'm not you. Neither I had any Millennium Item, nor I was the reincarnation of a priest

"Come on, master!" At this moment, the Dark Magician Girl spirit floated out, holding her small fist to cheer him up, "You can definitely win!"

Yuei Vu smiled at her.

Oh yes, he also has a spirit partner.

When Kaiba confronted Ishizu in the animation, it seemed that using Obelisk the Tormentor as a sacrifice to summon the Blue-Eyes White Dragon was the key to breaking Ishizu's prophecy about the future.

So let's follow this example here, should I use Slifer the Sky Dragon as a sacrifice, and try to summon Dark Magician Girls?

Yuei Vu thought, subconsciously looking at the girl beside him. The magical girl accidentally dropped the wide brim of her hat to block her eyes. She hurriedly straightened the little hat with a "Yeah" sound.

This spirit didn't seem to be very reliable.

"Come on, Yuei Vu- san~!" Snow Wave shouted and waved desperately from below.

When Miss Yuehua saw it, she didn't want to be outdone, and shouted, "Come on, Yuei Vu!"

"Damn, I'm so envious!" Honda, who was also watching the battle, clenched his fists, "He has the support of beautiful girls!"

"But then again, this brother is really handsome," Shizuka whispered.

Jonouchi nodded slightly while holding his chin: "Well, the people are also quite good, and the duel is also quite powerful, giving people a very reliable feeling."

Honda: "!!!"

Why do you two brothers and sisters act like being conquered?

Honda, who was determined to catch the heart of his best friend's sister, has silently regarded Yuei Vu on stage as a potential number one enemy in his heart!

"Duel!" x2

Yuei Vu, LP 4000

Ishizu, LP 4000

"You are the first striker." Ishizu closed her eyes lightly and said calmly.

According to the rules of the game, the one who went first was randomly determined by the Duel Disk of the two sides. But for Ishizu, everything that would happen next was inevitable, nothing was random.

Sure enough, the words "first" popped up on the display of the Duel Disk in Yuei Vu's hand.

"Everything about this duel is inevitable." Ishizu said softly, "Of course, the result is already predestined."

The Dark Magician Girl floated beside him with a worried look: "Master"

"It's ok."

Yuei Vu smiled at her and indicated not to worry, and then concentrated on the duel: "Then I'll go first, draw!"

Activate the Spell Card Pot of Greed, and draw two more cards from the deck! "

Yuei Vu was lucky here, and he started with Pot of Greed. The greedy and wretched pot appeared on the field, helping Yuei Vu to speedily draw two cards.

"Then I set a monster." Yuei Vu quickly operated, "Set an S/T card, and I end my turn."

"My turn." Ishizu said, "Draw a card."

If she could see the future, then Ishizu should know every card he would draw and every card he would play.

But seeing it was one thing, and being able to deal with it was another matter.

In any case, players could only use the six cards in their hands in a duel. Even if they knew what the opponent's cards were, there may not be any means to deal with them in the six cards in their hands.

Unless she doesn't shuffle

"The monster you set is Magician of Faith'. When it is flipped up, you can add a Spell Card from your GY to your hand. Do you want to add the Pot of Greed' to your hand again?"

Ishizu said calmly: "Then I will use this card, the Spell Card Nobleman of Crossout. This card can target 1 face-down monster on the field; destroy and banish that target."

Yuei Vu: ""

What are you Really not shuffling cards?

Yuei Vu watched silently Magician of Faith set in his field was directly cut open, having no chance to trigger the flip effect, and being removed from the game with a coquettish snort.

well sure enough it shouldn't be left to chance.

According to the system rating, Ishizu's strength must be at least a duelist of Rank 7 or higher.

Think about it, how could a true duelist not even be able to draw the card they needed to use?

"Using the Spell Card Graceful Charity', draw three cards and discard two cards." Ishizu passed the card once, "Next, I will summon Agido' in attack position."

Ishizu placed the card in the monster area, and the electrical signal was transmitted, and a red spherical monster was released through the projection system, with silver-white blades in both hands and golden eyes in the center.

[Agido, ATK 1500]

This monster was only a Level 4 Normie in the animation, but when it was released in real life, Konami made it an effect monster.

Of course, what Ishizu summoned here must be the Normie one.

"The card you set in the Spell Trap Zone is the Trap Card Divided Wall'." Ishizu continued, "If I attack directly with a monster, my monster's attack power will be reduced by 800 points for each monster on my field.

Then I activate this card first Spell Card Nobleman of Extermination!

Target 1 face-down Spell/Trap on the field; destroy and banish that target, then, if it was a Trap, each player reveals their Main Deck, then banishes all cards from it with that card's name."

Another sword fell out of thin air, cutting the card in Yuei Vu's back row into two pieces.

Sure enough, as she said, it was a "Divided Wall".

"No way, can this woman really see the future?" Jonouchi looked at Yugi in astonishment.

Yugi looked serious: "Well. If that is the power of the Millennium Items, it is indeed possible."

"Does it mean that Yuei Vu can't win?"

Judging from his expressions, Jonouchi seemed to be even more excited than Yuei Vu.

At this time, Kaiba also frowned, but he still had the expression "I believe in science".

"Is it possible to see the future? Humph." Kaiba stared straight at Yuei Vu without blinking, "But that kind of thing won't stop a true duelist. That kind of boring future, hurry up and use your strength to break it down!"

Yuei Vu didn't know why the president seemed to have more confidence in this duel than himself

Yuei Vu looked at the vanishing Trap Cards on the field, and shrugged: "Hey, sister, it's not good for you to do this? Is this already deliberately choosing a future that is beneficial to you?"

Ishizu closed her eyes without denying it.

"Yes, it is absolutely forbidden to use the power of Millennium Necklace in a duel to artificially choose a future that is in my favor," she said, "but in order to save my brother, to correct the mistakes of our family, this must be done.

As long as I can put an end to everything, I'm ready for any punishment afterward. "

Chapter 130: The Outcome Has Been Decided

"The duel continues." Ishizu raised her right hand and pointed forward, "I will use Agido to attack directly."

The red spherical monster flew out and flew straight across the audience toward Yuei Vu. With the field being cleaned up, Yuei Vu had no means of defense, for the time being, so he abruptly ate the knife swung by this monster.

Yuei Vu, LP 4000 LP 2500

"Finally, I will set another card, and I end my turn." Ishizu said.

"My turn." Yuei Vu drew again.

If the opponent could always see the tactics he's going to use, and always got it right, the duel could really turn out to be quite unfavorable.

But Yuei Vu did not give up. After all, Yu-Gi-Oh was not such a simple game, you had to calculate resource consumption in addition to clearing the field and interrupting the opponent's moves.

Even if Ishizu could block his actions all the time, as long as Yuei Vu could exhaust her resources faster, there was still a chance of victory.

Even if Ishizu said the outcome of the duel was doomed or something, he certainly couldn't just sit back and wait without trying.

And compared to the apparent pressure of the current situation, Yuei Vu is actually more concerned about another ace card that Ishizu used in the animation.

The ultra-rare Trap Card, Exchange of the Spirit, has been regarded as the ultimate nightmare by Yu-Gi-Oh players for a long time. It had a powerful ability that surpasses the era and surpasses the version.

"This card can only be activated by paying 1000 Life Points while there are 15 or more cards in your Graveyard. Both players swap the card(s) in their Graveyard with the card(s) in their Deck."

There was once a player who stuffed a deck of forbidden cards and built one of the most famous decks in the history of Yu-Gi-Oh with this trap as the core, which was commonly called "Sudden Death" by YGO players.

The core idea of this deck was to directly exchange the decks of both sides with the graveyard, and throw all the opponent's deck into the graveyard so that the opponent had no cards to draw, and directly won the game.

At that time, such a routine could not be defended, could not counterattack, and had no means of resistance, and was regarded as the ultimate solution of this card game.

Of course, Ishizu's tactics were also different from the OTK that the players developed. Her deck did not have the powerful deck-thinning method of the decks that the players have built, so it's not impossible to deal with it.

But as the representative card of Ishizu, of course, Yuei Vu would be especially careful of the activation of this card in this duel, so as to avoid the situation he had to surrender all the resources of the deck being exploded.

"I summon Rapid-Fire Magician!"

A magician in black appeared on the Yuei Vu Field, throwing colorful magic balls in his hands.

[Rapid-Fire Magician, ATK 1600]

"Then I activate Graceful Charity', draw three cards from the deck, and discard two." Yuei Vu waved his hand, "At this moment, the effect of the Rapid-Fire Magician is activated Inflict 400 damage to my opponent each time I activate a Normal Spell Card. "

The red magic ball was thrown from the magician's hand, flew out from the duel field where the wind was howling, and hit Ishizu's slender body straight. Ishizu closed her eyes lightly and took the damage indifferently.

Ishizu, LP 4000 LP 3600

"Next is the Spell Card Galaxy Cyclone'." Yuei Vu played the next card, and a white and transparent whirlwind rolled up from the row beside him.

"This card can destroy a set S/T on the field, and I will destroy the set card in your Spell Trap Zone!"

The whirlwind swept out and lifted the cover in the Spell Trap Zone of Ishizu. It was a Trap Card, Blast Held by a Tribute, which could destroy a monster that was summoned by an opponent's monster when it attacked, and inflict damage to the opponent equal to that monster's ATK. (animation effect)

This was also one of Ishizu's signature traps, and the key to her original plan to defeat the Kaiba in the animation.

"The effect of Rapid-Fire Magician has triggered again." Yuei Vu said.

Ishizu, LP 3600 LP 3200

"Battle! Rapid-Fire Magician, attack Agido!" Yuei Vu pointed directly at the monsters on the Ishizu field.

The magician in black immediately started, and the magic sphere pierced through the spherical body of the monster on the spot, and it shattered directly.

Ishizu, LP 3200 LP 3100

"I end my turn."

"My turn, draw." Ishizu drew a card and glanced at it. "I activate Pot of Greed, draw two cards from the deck."

Ishizu added the card to her hand, but did not rush to attack. Her eyes flickered, and she looked directly at Yuei Vu with those blue eyes that were incomprehensible.

"Although there is no set card in the Spell Trap Zone, you have designed a more ingenious and clever trap." She said softly in a soft voice, "The card thrown into the graveyard by Graceful Charity' last round was the Trap Card' Skill Successor', right ?

If the Skill Successor is removed from the game, the ATK of one monster on the field increases by 800. If I attack directly, my monster will be destroyed instead. "

The audience on the side was in an uproar.

"Trap Cards in the graveyard!?! No one would have imagined such a thing!" Jonouchi was surprised.

"It's really a very clever tactic." Yugi nodded in approval and frowned, "But even if Yuei Vu set up such a hidden line of defense, it was still seen through by Ishizu Does the power of the Millennium Item allow her to see that far into the future?"

"Sure enough, I can't deceive you." Yuei Vu smiled, "But even if you know this, if the trap is in the graveyard, it won't be so easy to remove, right?"

"Indeed, using ordinary means can't affect the traps in the graveyard." Ishizu said lightly, and drew a card in her hand, "So I want to summon this card.

Kycoo the Ghost Destroyer! "

Appearing on the field was an eminent monk with a rosary around his neck, a monk's robe, and a bright forehead.

[Kycoo the Ghost Destroyer, ATK 1800]

"As long as Kycoo the Ghost Destroyer is on the field, the opponent cannot remove cards from the graveyards of both sides." Ishizu said, "In this way, the Skill Successor' in your graveyard cannot be activated."

Yuei Vu: ""

"Kycoo the Ghost Destroyer, attack Rapid-Fire Magician."

It turns out that monks seem to be better than juggling magicians. The spirit destroyer came to the magician in an instant, and a string of brilliant physical techniques lifted the magician as a sandbag and hammered it, and the latter shattered and disappeared.

Yuei Vu, LP 2500 LP 2300

"Then at this moment, another effect of Kycoo was also triggered." Ishizu said, "When Kycoo deals battle damage to the opponent, remove up to two monsters from the opponent's graveyard from the game.

I banish the Rapid-Fire Magician and the Magician of Faith! "

The Ghost Destroyer began to recite the incantation, and the mysterious power transformed by the complex incantation penetrated reality and the underworld, capturing the souls of the two-body monsters in the Yuei Vu graveyard. Both of them disappeared from the game.

Under the stage, Jonouchi looked anxious: "Hey, isn't this completely helpless?"

Sister Shizuka also looked worried: "Is Yuei Vu going to lose?"

Speaking of which, Yuei Vu was obviously a stranger to her for the first time, but she felt anxious for him for no reason. It can only be said that people are really visual animals, and their appearance can really add points.

"No!" Jonouchi gritted his teeth, "Yuei Vu is a very strong duelist, I can feel it after fighting against him. He will definitely be able to think of a way to break the game."

"Set two cards." Ishizu said, "I end my turn."

"Then it's my turn, draw!" Yuei Vu said, "First, use a Pot of Greed to draw two cards.

Then I activate Field Spell from your hand Fusion Gate! In this way, fusion summoning can be performed without Polymerization spell. "

"Flip the set card." Ishizu pointed to a card at her feet, "Quick Play Spell Mystical Space Typhoon. Destroy the Fusion Gate."

The lightning descended, and the whirlwind rolled up, turning into a tornado that rose from the ground and rushed towards the chaotic vortex that opened in midair.

The vortex of the fusion gate was instantly smashed by the storm, and the Spell Card was forcibly ejected from the field area of the Yuei Vu Duel Disk, losing its effectiveness.

"Then I summon Elemental HERO Solid Soldier!"

What appeared on the stage was the new hero Yuei Vu had drawn from the system card pool before the game, a warrior covered in sturdy white armor.

[Elemental HERO Solid Soldier, ATK 1300]

"The effect of the Solid Soldier When this card is Normal Summoned, I can Special Summon 1 Level 4 or lower "HERO" monster from my hand." Yuei Vu said loudly, "Come on! Elemental HERO Blazeman!"

This time, a hero with flames all over his body appeared. He had red eyepieces, clenched his fists tightly, and the scorching flames wrapped around him made the air seem to sway.

[Elemental HERO Blazeman, ATK 1200]

"The effect of Blazeman, when the summoning or special summoning is successful, add the Spell Card Polymerization' from the deck to the hand." Yuei Vu said, "Then the Spell Card Polymerization is activated! Fusion of the Solid Soldier and the Blazeman on the field

"Flip the set card," Ishizu pointed indifferently to another card beside her, "Counter Trap Magic Jammer!

Discard a spell card, negate the activation of the spell and destroy it. "

Ishizu discarded the cards in her hand, and a magic circle surrounded by pitch-black mist appeared on the field. Polymerization Spell Card appeared in the center of the magic circle, and the surrounding black mist surged, and the boundless magic power sealed the power of the Spell Card.

It seems that every move of Yuei Vu has been cracked, and all actions are blocked.

But this still did not exceed Yuei Vu's expectations.

Yuei Vu stared at Ishizu's hand the whole time here, Ishizu's last hand card has been abandoned to the graveyard as the price of "Magic Jammer".

So far, the resources in her hand have been completely exchanged by Yuei Vu, and there is not a single card left.

However, after the black magic circle disappeared, the ground beside Ishizu suddenly opened a whirlpool. The incandescent beam of light rose from the ground and rushed straight into the sky.

Yuei Vu frowned.

What is this? Is there such a thing in Ishizu's deck?

"You've been on the lookout for my Exchange of the Spirit', right?" Ishizu said suddenly.

Yuei Vu: ""

"Although I don't know why you know my tactics, Millennium Necklace also told me that you will be prepared for that set of tactics." Ishizu said lightly, "So this time, I chose another tactic.

The cards in my hand that I discarded when I activated Magic Jammer' just now are monsters with powerful special abilities. When our side launches a counter-trap, its special ability triggering conditions can be met.

I removed from the game the two Fairy-Type monsters in the graveyard, Agido', and Zolga' that had been discarded into the graveyard from the previous Graceful Charity', and Special Summoned from the graveyard

Sacred Arch-Airknight Parshath! "
