

I Play Yu-Gi 131

Chapter 131: Have You Ever Seen This Move?

[Sacred Arch-Airknight Parshath, ATK 2800]

It was a sacred, high-end monster with its own holy light, shining brightly all over. Blue armor, angel-like metal wings, holding a blue shield and great sword, as if ready to issue the judgment of the gods.

Parshath was also a classic old series in Yu-Gi-Oh. The "Sacred Arch-Airknight Parshath" appeared in the Yu-Gi-Oh! DM animation. In the original chapter of the animation, it was used by an AI with a lot of dueling data.

However, although it was true that Sister Ishizu used Fairy-Type monsters throughout the animation, she must have never used this one.

As she just said, she had foreseen that Yuei Vu would be wary of his trump card "Exchange of the Spirit", so she adjusted her tactics before the duel.

And the holy angel who appeared now was her real trump card.

"Airknight Parshath's effect When I activate a Counter Trap, I can banish 2 other Fairy monsters from your hand, field and/or GY; Special Summon this card from the GY," Ishizu said.

At first glance, it was the kind of monster that was not easy to deal with.

But Yuei Vu was not intimidated by this: "My turn is not over yet. Although I can't continue to fusion summon, I can still fight.

Activate the Spell Card, 'H Heated Heart', to increase the attack power of Elemental HERO Solid Soldier' by 500 points until the end of the turn! "

[Elemental HERO Solid Soldier, ATK 1300 ATK 1800]

"Attack Kycoo the Ghost Destroyer' with Elemental HERO Solid Soldier!"

The burning letter H appeared, and a fiery flame ignited around the Elemental HERO Solid Soldier, causing the metal all over his body to turn red.

The Elemental HERO flew out and fought fiercely with the monk. His fist hit the bridge of the monk's nose hard, and the monk also hit the hero's chest with a palm.

With equal attack power, of course, both sides perished.

"I end my turn." Yuei Vu said.

In this way, the Ghost Destroyer's interference effect on the graveyard area would also disappear.

"Damn," Jonouchi on the side became more and more anxious, "while keeping the suppression all the time, she can summon such a powerful monster Even aside from the so-called predicting the future' ability, this woman is too strong!"

Even President Kaiba looked at Ishizu with admiration at this time, and secretly said: "This woman not only likes to play tricks, but her strength as a duelist is also genuine."

However, Yuei Vu was not as pessimistic as they were.

On the surface, it seemed that Yuei Vu has been suppressed, but in fact, until now, the development of the duel has not exceeded his control.

Even if it was repeatedly invalidated and blocked, but at this moment, Ishizu's hand cards and Spell Trap Zone resources have been completely consumed just as he aimed since the beginning.

Moreover, Yuei Vu also remembered what most of the cards in the Ishizu graveyard were, and there were no resources that could be reused.

In other words, now Ishizu really only had the "Airknight Parshath" left on the field.

The only variation was the card she drew in the next turn

"My turn, draw." Ishizu drew a card and added it to her hand with just a glance, "Battle."

Yuei Vu breathed a sigh of relief.

It was not a hand-refilling card like Pot of Greed or Card of Sanctity.

However, it was not surprising. After all, Ishizu had an absolute advantage in terms of LP and the situation on the field. It did not meet the conditions of the anime characters to trigger divine draw "Sacred Arch-Airknight Parshath." Ishizu gently raised her slender arm, "Attack Elemental HERO Blazeman'."

The huge knight slashed out the holy sword from the sky, and the wings behind him burst into a dazzling flash at that moment. The white sword energy rushed forward like a wave, and the moment the domineering sword light hit Blaze, the hero instantly evaporated.

Yuei Vu LP 2300 LP 700

"Sacred Arch-Airknight Parshath's follow-up effect was activated at this moment," she said, "When this card inflicts battle damage to the opponent, I can add 1 "Parshath" card or 1 Counter Trap from my Deck to my hand.

I added the Counter Trap Divine Wrath' to my hand.

Then I set a card and I end my turn. "

There was an extra set card at Ishizu's feet.

Yuei Vu looked at the set card at her feet, then looked at her hand, and narrowed his eyes slightly.

Basically, there was no doubt that the card she just set was Divine Wrath.

[Sacred Arch-Airknight Parshath, ATK 2800]

It was a sacred, high-end monster with its own holy light, shining brightly all over. Blue armor, angel-like metal wings, holding a blue shield and great sword, as if ready to issue the judgment of the gods.

Parshath was also a classic old series in Yu-Gi-Oh. The "Sacred Arch-Airknight Parshath" appeared in the Yu-Gi-Oh! DM animation. In the original chapter of the animation, it was used by an AI with a lot of dueling data.

However, although it was true that Sister Ishizu used Fairy-Type monsters throughout the animation, she must have never used this one.

As she just said, she had foreseen that Yuei Vu would be wary of his trump card "Exchange of the Spirit", so she adjusted her tactics before the duel.

And the holy angel who appeared now was her real trump card.

"Airknight Parshath's effect When I activate a Counter Trap, I can banish 2 other Fairy monsters from your hand, field and/or GY; Special Summon this card from the GY," Ishizu said.

At first glance, it was the kind of monster that was not easy to deal with.

But Yuei Vu was not intimidated by this: "My turn is not over yet. Although I can't continue to fusion summon, I can still fight.

Activate the Spell Card, 'H Heated Heart', to increase the attack power of Elemental HERO Solid Soldier' by 500 points until the end of the turn! "

[Elemental HERO Solid Soldier, ATK 1300 ATK 1800]

"Attack 'Kycoo the Ghost Destroyer' with Elemental HERO Solid Soldier!"

The burning letter H appeared, and a fiery flame ignited around the Elemental HERO Solid Soldier, causing the metal all over his body to turn red.

The Elemental HERO flew out and fought fiercely with the monk. His fist hit the bridge of the monk's nose hard, and the monk also hit the hero's chest with a palm.

With equal attack power, of course, both sides perished.

"I end my turn." Yuei Vu said.

In this way, the Ghost Destroyer's interference effect on the graveyard area would also disappear.

"Damn," Jonouchi on the side became more and more anxious, "while keeping the suppression all the time, she can summon such a powerful monster Even aside from the so-called predicting the future' ability, this woman is too strong!"

Even President Kaiba looked at Ishizu with admiration at this time, and secretly said: "This woman not only likes to play tricks, but her strength as a duelist is also genuine."

However, Yuei Vu was not as pessimistic as they were.

On the surface, it seemed that Yuei Vu has been suppressed, but in fact, until now, the development of the duel has not exceeded his control.

Even if it was repeatedly invalidated and blocked, but at this moment, Ishizu's hand cards and Spell Trap Zone resources have been completely consumed just as he aimed since the beginning.

Moreover, Yuei Vu also remembered what most of the cards in the Ishizu graveyard were, and there were no resources that could be reused.

In other words, now Ishizu really only had the "Airknight Parshath" left on the field.

The only variation was the card she drew in the next turn

"My turn, draw." Ishizu drew a card and added it to her hand with just a glance, "Battle."

Yuei Vu breathed a sigh of relief.

It was not a hand-refilling card like Pot of Greed or Card of Sanctity.

However, it was not surprising. After all, Ishizu had an absolute advantage in terms of LP and the situation on the field. It did not meet the conditions of the anime characters to trigger divine draw "Sacred Arch-Airknight Parshath." Ishizu gently raised her slender arm, "Attack Elemental HERO Blazeman'."

The huge knight slashed out the holy sword from the sky, and the wings behind him burst into a dazzling flash at that moment. The white sword energy rushed forward like a wave, and the moment the domineering sword light hit Blaze, the hero instantly evaporated.

Yuei Vu LP 2300 LP 700

"Sacred Arch-Airknight Parshath's follow-up effect was activated at this moment," she said, "When this card inflicts battle damage to the opponent, I can add 1 "Parshath" card or 1 Counter Trap from my Deck to my hand.

I added the Counter Trap Divine Wrath' to my hand.

Then I set a card and I end my turn. "

There was an extra set card at Ishizu's feet.

Yuei Vu looked at the set card at her feet, then looked at her hand, and narrowed his eyes slightly.

Basically, there was no doubt that the card she just set was Divine Wrath.

Divine Wrath was also a very powerful trap, even in the real card environment twenty years after DM. Its effect was that players can discard a card in their hand to negate the effect of an effect monster and destroy the monster.

In addition to this set card, Ishizu had the last card left in her hand that card must be discarded as the cost of activating Divine Wrath.

In other words, Yuei Vu's tactics to reach here have been successful, her resources have been exhausted, and she has no cards to play.

In addition, at this moment, conditions of Yuei Vu's own skill were also met.

"My turn, draw!"

Yuei Vu drew cards and glanced at the remaining cards in his hand. It seemed that the formula for victory had been completed.

But now he has one last question left.

If Ishizu could see the future and foresee the direction of the entire duel, then theoretically, she should be able to foresee the situation that would turn into the current situation even including Yuei Vu's next method.

So in this situation, could she hide anything?

but in any case, Yuei Vu had no other choice. All he could do was try his best to carry out his duel.

"I summon Elemental HERO Burstinatrix'!"

The heroine of flames appeared on the field with a squeak, her hands wrapped in fiery red flames.

[Elemental HERO Burstinatrix, Attack Power 1200]

"Next is the Spell Card Miracle Fusion!" Yuei Vu played out the Spell Card, "Fusion Summon 1 "Elemental HERO" Fusion Monster by banishing Fusion Materials listed on it from my side of the field or my Graveyard!

Remove Elemental HERO Avian' in the graveyard and Elemental HERO Burstinatrix' on the field from the game!

Fusion summons! Elemental HERO Great Tornado!"

The dark void opened, and Avian, who was sent to the graveyard by "Graceful Charity", appeared from the graveyard, and was involved in the vortex of magic with Burstinatrix.

The wind roared, the earth trembled, lightning fell from the upside-down tornado, and the cloaked hero fell from the sky!

[Elemental HERO Great Tornado, ATK 2800] (Fusion Condition: 1 "Elemental HERO" monster + 1 WIND monster)

"The effect of the Great Tornado!" Yuei Vu waved his hand, "The ATK and DEF of all monsters on the opponent's field will be halved!"

Jonouchi: "Wait, on the opponent's field there is the trap card Divine Wrath', which can negate the effect of the monster and destroy it! Isn't it bad to activate the effect at this time?"

"Hmph, what a horse bone." Kaiba on the side held his arms with contempt on his face.

"What did you say!?" Jonouchi became angry when he saw Kaiba.

"This effect is a mandatory effect that must be activated when the summoning is successful, regardless of the owner's own will," Kaiba said lightly.

"What? Isn't that very bad?" Jonouchi was so anxious that he even forgot to continue scolding Kaiba.

Kaiba kept his mouth shut and looked at the situation on the field indifferently.

Yuei Vu, you must have considered that, right?

Sure enough, Ishizu slenderly waved: "Open the set card: Counter trap Divine Wrath. I discard a card from my hand, the effect of Great Tornado, and destroy it."

The storm paused for an instant as if the chant of the spell was interrupted in the middle.

Electric light fell from the sky, and incandescent lightning struck the body of the Great Tornado. The hero snorted, his whole body ability seemed to be sealed, and his body dragged black smoke and slowly fell from the air until it turned into smoke and dissipated.

But in this way, Ishizu's hand and Spell Trap Zone were completely empty, and only one Airknight Parshath was left.

However, there were still resources left in Yuei Vu's hand.

"Activate Spell Card Parallel World Fusion!" Yuei Vu played his last set card, which was also the farthest move he could calculate in this duel.

"Fusion Summon 1 "Elemental HERO" Fusion Monster by shuffling my banished Fusion Materials listed on it into my Deck!"

"What!?" Jonouchi was shocked, "Fusion Summon from the banished zone!?"

Yugi also acknowledged that this was in his blind spot of knowledge: "Is there any such operation?"

Even the indifferent poker face of President Kaiba couldn't help but lose his strength, with an expression of rising posture.

"And now, this is my last trump card, a reversal move!" Yuei Vu raised his right hand, "The Elemental HERO Avian' and Elemental HERO Burstinatrix' in the banished zone, fuse again!

I'm here to summon the Elemental HERO on top of Skyscraper

Elemental HERO Flame Wingman! "

The two heroes, one green and one red, disappeared into the vortex of fusion, and a brand new power was nurtured in it, turning into a brand-new attitude of the Elemental HERO!

It has a green body, a single piece of white wings, and a red dragon head in its right hand, with hot and scorching flames churning from its mouth.

[Elemental HERO Flame Wingman, ATK 2100]

"What a handsome monster!" Jonouchi, who was a fan of warriors, shone in his eyes, but then said, "No, but the attack power is only 2100, such attack power is not enough"

However, at this time, Ishizu, who was the opposite, had already smiled slightly, closed her eyes, and put down the arm wearing the Duel Disk.

It seemed that her mission had been completed so far.

Yuei Vu said loudly: "Activate the Field SpellSkyscraper!"

The space at the top of the entire dueling boat began to change, and the projection function of black technology transformed a reinforced concrete stage in this space.

The dark high-rise buildings rose from the ground, and rushed into the air like a giant that lifted the sky.

The white moon hung in the sky, and the spikes at the top of skyscraper towers seemed to lead straight to the lunar disk. The hero flapped his wings and landed on the top of the building, stepping on the sharp top of the tower, and looking down from a high place.

If there was anyone who is most excited about this situation, it was none other than the players in the front row of the live broadcast room.

"Flame Wingman! Skyscraper!"

"Fuck, so handsome that it'll crack the sky!"

"The childhood is back, I'm crying"

A whole screen of tears rolled over from the screen of Miss Yuehua's live broadcast room, full of the taste of lost youth.

"Skyscraper's effect when an Elemental HERO monster attacks, if the attack power is lower than the opponent's monster, the attack power will only increase by 1000 points during the damage calculation."

Yuei Vu waved his hand and raised his voice to give the final command.

"The last is the Spell Card Quick Attack, which gives the fusion monster the ability to attack immediately! Flame Wingman, attack the Sacred Arch-Airknight Parshath!"

The hero disappeared from the top of the tower and swooped down as an afterimage. He tore through the night, swooped down with the moonlight on his back, swept through the tall buildings, disappeared and flashed continuously, and in the blink of an eye came to the front of the Airknight Parshath.

The Paladin had absolutely no chance to fight back. The Flame Wingman was wrapped in firelight, like a whistling cannonball, passing through the huge body with a burst of power, and a burst of flames blasted the Airknight Parshath into pieces. shards.

Ishizu, LP 3100 LP 2800

"Finally, the monster effect of the Flame Wingman." Yuei Vu continued, "The Flame Wingman can deal damage equal to the attack power of the destroyed monster. In other words, you'll take 2800 points of damage!"

While speaking, the Flame Wingman had already landed in front of Ishizu lightly.

The elder sister didn't seem to feel any surprise at all, and closed her eyes gently.

The dragon's mouth on the right hand of the Flame Wingman opened, and the impact of the flame instantly wrapped her and took away all her remaining LP.

Ishizu, LP 2800 LP 0

Chapter 132: The Third Duel

Ishizu, LP 0

The duel was over, and it was Yuei Vu who won.

In the end, Ishizu didn't do anything, just stood there with her eyes closed and calmly accepted the attack of the Flame Wingman, and her LP returned to zero.

It even made Yuei Vu feel a little strange.

Did it turn out that she really didn't have any hidden tricks anymore?

Yuei Vu put away the Duel Disk and stepped forward. Ishizu opened her eyes and said calmly, "I lost."

"But you said the end of this duel"

"It was already doomed, yes. But I never said it would be me who would win." Ishizu smiled, "I saw all kinds of futures, all kinds of possibilities. But about this duel, all results, without exception, are my defeat."

Yuei Vu: ""

That's why she said that the ending was already doomed, and that's what she meant

Yuei Vu was really curious for a while just now, wondering how Ishizu would make a comeback when she ran out of ammunition and food. After a while, it turned out that she didn't plan to make a comeback in the first place.

"I have tried my best to do my best, but even if I use the power of the Millennium Item, I still can't defeat you." Ishizu said lightly, "In the end, the Millennium Necklace is just a tool for observing the future', but it is not I am not allowed to rewrite the future I have seen.

Losing to you here is my destiny and inevitable. At the same time, I also believe that this is the best arrangement. "

Ishizu paused and found a card out of nowhere in her white robe.

"Similarly, the Millennium Necklace has already told me which card you want to take from me," she said. "If it can be decisive in the next battle, then take it."

Yuei Vu took the card she handed over and opened it to see that it was exactly the one he wanted.

Trap card, Exchange of the Spirit.

How rare was it?

In the animation, even a card-playing master like President Kaiba has never seen this card. It was suspected to be a special edition for the Tomb-Keeper family, and its rarity is evident.

"But there is one more thing I need to ask you." Ishizu said seriously, "or you can take this as my personal request."

Yuei Vu had guessed it somewhat: "Is it about your brother, Marik?"

"Well." Ishizu nodded, "In the future I see, almost all endings lead to the destruction of our Tomb Keeper or even worse, others may be implicated."

As she said that, her eyes flashed, and her eyes were full of hope when she looked at Yuei Vu.

"But you are different, and I see the possibility of you defeating Marik and saving him from the darkness," she said.

Yuei Vu pondered for a moment, then nodded: "I see. As long as the situation allows, I will do my best."

Anyway, if he did bump into Marik, he wouldn't be able to let it go.

If he played a Shadow Game with Marik, he must show the strongest trump card in his hand. After all, he would disappear if he lost in a fight with this guy, so there was no room to hide.

Marik watched Yuei Vu chatting with his sister in the audience, and he couldn't help frowning. Yuei Vu and his sister were standing too close, and the sound of the wind was too loud, thus he couldn't hear what the two were talking about.

Of course, he didn't see what card his sister gave Yuei Vu.

But Marik didn't care.

"Humph! It doesn't matter what it is, there is no way in the world to defeat the The Winged Dragon of Ra' in my hands!"

And for some reason, when Marik saw this nasty boy whispering so close to his sister, saying something that he couldn't hear, he felt a wave of anger!

Thinking of the card and the Duel Disk that Ghouls lost in Yuei Vu's hands, he couldn't help but get even angrier!

I must revenge for this!

The six-year-old thought angrily and glared at Yuei Vu when he stepped off the stage.

"Amazing!" Jonouchi quickly stepped forward and patted Yuei Vu on the shoulder enthusiastically, "You are really strong!"

Next to him, President Kaiba smiled and snorted, pretending not to care about Yuei Vu's promotion, but when he glanced out of the corner of his eyes, he also had the expression "As expected of a man I recognize."

"The third duel!" Judge Isono raised his arms and shouted from the stage, "The contestant is Seto Kaiba President!

Against Jonouchi Katsuya! "

Maybe it was because he felt that it was inappropriate to call the boss by his name, so the referee, who had a strong desire to survive, wisely added the title of "President" when he called Kaiba.

Kaiba flicked the windbreaker behind him, walked onto the stage in a dashing manner, and snorted: "It's boring, is my opponent actually a mere horse bone?"

Jonouchi, who had just jumped onto the battle platform, hummed while moving his muscles and bones: "Finally, it's time for me to show! Kaiba, wash your neck and wait, you are the eleventh duelist who made me serious!"

Among the audience, Anzu covered her face: "Why is the eleventh duelist'? Such a scattered number"

Honda also showed a painful expression: "Maybebecause it seems more convincing"

"Hmph, sure enough, idiots can't feel the pressure?" Kaiba hummed disdainfully, "Even if I win, it won't give me any sense of accomplishment but that's fine. Just let you see how big the gap in strength is between us! "

"Duel!" x2

The Battle City quarterfinals, which have deviated from the original, officially kicked off the third game.

First of all, according to the special rules of the Kaiba Corp's competition, the referee Isono announced that his own president will take the lead

Well, of course, it's still a random decision for the Duel Disk.

President Kaiba summoned a handsome Hunter Dragon (1700 attack power), and set two cards in the Spell Trap Zone before directly announcing the end of the turn.

President Kaiba has a "Just as planned" smile on his face

The cards he set on the field were "Crush Card Virus" and "Shrink".

When Jonouchi attacked, Kaiba would use the Quick-Play spell "Shrink" to halve the attack power of his own monster to less than 1000.

Then, when a monster with an ATK of 1000 or less was attacked, Kaiba can further activate the "Crush Card Virus" to destroy all monsters with an ATK of 1500 or more in Jonouchi's hand, field, and deck.

This was the most classic deck destruction chain of President Kaiba. As long as this combo went through, most of the decks in Yu-Gi-Oh! DM would be scrapped.

President Kaiba had an expression "You will never see through my high-end tactics".

Yuei Vu saw through everything: "Deck-destroying virus."

Snow Wave also saw through it at a glance: "Isn't it just Crush Card Virus?"

Yugi also found a problem: "This formation Did Kaiba really use the tactics of the virus card?"

""

Well, in fact, only the president himself thought that his combo was the hidden trump card.

After all, this combo has been used from episode 23 of Yu-Gi-Oh to the finale, and he didn't even consider updating it. Any new villain popped up and knew the President's tactics, so except for the first time against Yugi, this combo never succeeded in the animation

Jonouchi calmly and cautiously looked at the situation on the Kaiba's field, his brain was running at full speed, and he thought carefully.

"There is a monster on the Kaiba field two set cards"

Yugi looked at the pondering expression of Jonouchi on the stage, and couldn't help nodding in approval.

Very good, even Jonouchi realized that something was wrong

"This is an opportunity to attack!" Jonouchi said loudly, "Very good! I summon the Gearfried the Iron Knight' with an attack power of 1800! Gearfried, attack Hunter Dragon!"

Yugi:""

Chapter 133: Up, Up, Down, Down, Left, Right, Left, Right, B, A

Everyone have already guessed what the two set cards were, but our Jonouchi just didn't play cards according to the routine.

Isn't it just two pits? I am not a coward!

Jonouchi may have pretended not to see it, launched an attack directly, caught Kaiba by surprise, and made him too panic to activate his trap

Well, this author really couldn't make it up.

"Hahaha, as expected, horse bone is still horse bone. You have stepped on my trap! Open set card: Shrink! Halve my monster's attack power!

Then I activate Trap Card Crush Card Virus! Tribute the Hunter Dragon whose ATK has been dropped below 1000 on my field, and destroy all your monsters with an ATK of 1500 or more! "

Jonouchi was shocked: "What! There is such a thing!?"

"Hahaha, in this way, all monsters with ATK above 1500 in your field, hand, and deck will be destroyed!" Kaiba laughed with arms crossed, "You are finished!"

Jonouchi obviously didn't think about the set card at all. His dueling style has always been so simple and rude that's the end of the matter, and everything else was left to chance.

In this way, the duel was completely caught in the pace of the Kaiba.

Kaiba's deck was mainly based on high attack suppression, and most of his monsters had an attack power of 1800 upwards.

In the next turn, the president casually summoned Vorse Raider with an attack power of 1900 to attack directly, making Jonouchi groan in frustration there was no monster with such a high attack power left in his entire deck. ..

Kaiba didn't appreciate Jonouchi at first, and now that Jonouchi stepped into this trap, he didn't feel the need to take this duel seriously.

Your deck is doomed, how can you beat me? What can a horse bone do to solve my Vorse Raider?

If you can use a low-star monster to turn the table today, I, Kaiba Seto, will immediately turn my head and jump off the Battle Ship on the spot!

Jonouchi's next turn: "Okay! I'll summon Swordsman of Landstar' (ATK 500), and then activate a Spell Card Graceful Dice! Roll a six-sided die and select 1 monster with 500 or less ATK. Multiply its ATK by the number rolled.!

The dice rolled five! Swordsman of Landstar's attack power becomes 2500. Attack Kaiba's Vorse Raider! "

The small swordsman swelled rapidly under the influence of the Spell Card and split Vorse Raider in two with a slash.

Kaiba: ""

Well, it may be inevitable that there will be occasional unexpected situations during the duel

"Hmph, is this what people called beginner's luck'?" Kaiba pretended that nothing happened, with a look of indifference, "But your deck has been destroyed by the destruction virus of death, can you still rely on this accidental dog shit luck to win the duel?"

President Kaiba was very angry and decided to get serious.

Then it was the president's turn. He took out an "Enemy Controller" directly, summoned a gamepad, and entered the cheat command Up, Up, Down, Down, Left, Right, Left, Right, B, A, then paid 1000 LP to take control of "Swordsman of Landstar".

Then Kaiba used the spell card Cost Down to reduce the level of the monster in his hand, and then used the Swordsman of Landstar as a sacrifice to tribute summon!

"My strongest servant!" President Kaiba raised his finger to the sky and shouted loudly, "Blue-Eyes White Dragon!"

The bright light bloomed, and the white dragon descended. The huge dragon of light spread its wings and landed on the Kaiba's field, roaring at Jonouchi!

"It's your honor to be buried by the white dragon!" Kaiba shouted, "Blue-Eyes White Dragon, direct attack! Burst Stream of Destruction!"

The Blue-Eyes White Dragon's attack power was as high as 3000, while Jonouchi only had 2100 LP left after being attacked by the Vorse Raider in the last turn.

In this way, Jonouchi's journey in Battle City would come to an end.

if he didn't set a dubious card on the last turn.

"Open the set card!" Jonouchi waved his hand, and the trap at his feet activated immediately, "Trap Card Graverobber! This card allows me to use a card. in the opponent's graveyard. What I want to use is Enemy Controller! "

"What!?" Kaiba was taken aback.

"I will use another effect of Enemy Controller- pay 1000 LP to destroy a monster on the opponent's field!"

Graverobber snatched the card from Kaiba's graveyard, and the game controller appeared in front of Jonouchi, who followed the example of Kaiba and entered the cheating command.

So the Blue-Eyes White Dragon that just debuted exploded directly on the spot.

His wife was taken down as soon as she was summoned, no wonder why President Kaiba was so angry that his eyes were almost split.

However, he never thought that this was just the beginning. In the next turn, Jonouchi played a Monster Reborn, and directly resurrected the Blue-Eyes White Dragon that was blasted into the cemetery in the previous round to his field.

Kaiba's wife was summoned by Jonouchi!

This time, President Kaiba almost vomited blood in anger

"Blue-Eyes White Dragon attack!" Jonouchi waved his hand, "Burst Stream of Destruction!"

But unfortunately, his counterattack was blocked by Kaiba's trap card "Counter Gate".

The president was so angry that he trembled all over: "You bastard how dare how dare you"

He snorted and said viciously: "Blue-Eyes White Dragon, rather than let you be manipulated by that horse bone, it is better for me to destroy you with my own hands!"

In his turn, the president played a Card of Demise to replenish his hand, then directly slapped the spell card Ancient Rules, which allowed him to Special Summon 1 Level 5 or higher Normal Monster from his hand.

Of course, what he wanted to summon was

Blue Eyes White Dragon No. 2!

Kaiba didn't hesitate at all and directly ordered the second Blue-Eyes White Dragon to attack the one on Jonouchi's field. The two white dragons destroyed each other, and both disappeared from the field.

This gave Jonouchi a sore face.

"By the way, why is that kid Kaiba so angry?" he whispered, "Isn't it just playing a card? Is it because I stole his Blue-Eyes White Dragon?"

I don't understand, I don't understand at all

"Monster Reborn is not your monopoly." Kaiba smiled and played a card from his hand, "Activate Spell Card Monster Reborn!"

"What!?" Jonouchi was shocked.

"Blue-Eyes White Dragon! Come back to your rightful master!"

The White Dragon of Light has come again, letting out a roar like breaking through the sky. Kaiba folded his arms and laughed.

"Strong! Invincible! Strongest!" he shouted, "This is the ultimate power of the White Dragon! Shatter that horse bone for me! Burst Stream of Destruction!"

What followed was another classic three-segment laugh, as if the president was very happy every time he summoned the Blue-Eyes White Dragon

In this way, the president seemed to be quite generous. At this moment, it seemed that he has already forgiven White Bride's adultery in the last turn

At this time, Jonouchi no longer had any means of defending against the White Dragon's attack, so he could only take this blow head-on.

Jonouchi, LP 0

So far, the third knockout duel has ended.

Chapter 134: Dark Vs Dark

The knockout round of the Battle City was still in full swing, and the dueling airship also continued to march.

It could be said that Kaiba really put a lot of effort into this competition, and actually built such a flamboyant airship to serve as the competition venue.

And judging from the performance of the Kaiba, even this airship did not seem to be the final venue for the finals. While the competition was in progress, the airship will continue to travel and fly to another specially arranged competition venue in Kaiba.

Could you really believe that you had to play cards while flying in the sky?

What's even more unbelievable was that after spending so much money on such a big battle, but from the promotion game to the quarter-finals, not even one ticket was sold. Only the semi-finals on the Duel Tower would be broadcasted online.

President Kaiba's exaggerated effort could be compared to the determination to grab the news headlines of Grandpa Suzuki of the studio next door (1)

It could also be seen from this that the president was willing to spend all this money on competitions purely for personal interest. To put it bluntly, it was a card addiction. From the beginning, he never thought about making money back.

The reason why the semi-finals were broadcasted 80% was to satisfy the president's desire to show off his Obelisk to duelists all over the world, and by the way, let the world see the moment he defeated Yugi and won the title of Duel King.

Of course, "Kaiba can't beat Yugi" was the natural law of the Yu-Gi-Oh world, so the president still lost at the end of the animation.

Spending so much money on this game, but the president still didn't get the Duel King title, and the God card was also lost. It was quite a tragic loss.

The quarterfinals were not played one after another, and there was actually a short break between each game. Players could use this period of time to modify the deck and adjust tactics before they played.

In addition, sometimes after a duel, the contestants may be shocked or even wounded due to various force majeure factors. Therefore, President Kaiba wisely arranged a medical team on the dueling boat in advance.

After all, as we all knew, dueling was a very high-risk sport that could kill you.

However, when the third game between Jonouchi and Kaiba was underway, Marik did not show up to watch the game.

Like Kaiba, Marik also felt that Jonouchi was just a "duelist with little talent". He felt that there was no suspense in this game and there was nothing to see.

In addition, he had more important things to do now.

While everyone was watching the battle on the airship deck, Marik silently left his room, passed through most of the airship, and came to the door of the infirmary.

The metal door panel automatically slid open in front of him, and Marik walked into the room with a gloomy smile on his face, holding a Millennium Rod in his hand.

Lying on the bed was Bakura, who was lost in the Shadow Game and fell into a deep coma for unknown reasons.

Marik laughed and walked up with the rod in his hand, his expression was very wretched, as if he wanted to take advantage of the empty infirmary to seize the opportunity to find the unconscious Bakura

He walked to the head of the bed and rudely lifted the sheet that was covering Bakura's body, suddenly revealing the the Millennium Ring.

Heck, what were you thinking? Marik was a serious villain.

You should remember that he brainwashed the pure and beautiful Miss Anzu for so long in the animation, and made her obey his words like a puppet. However, all he ordered Anzu to do during the period was to wander around, run errands, send a message nothing else.

From this, it could be seen that Marik Ishtar was a villain with good morals and no filth in his thoughts. He was not a cheap netizen who was crazy about "mind break", "netorare" as soon as seeing the brainwashing plot

So here, Marik was just staring at Bakura's Millennium Ring.

However, he didn't expect that Bakura or the Great Evil God Zorc suddenly woke up at this moment.

The Millennium Ring released a golden glow and bounced Marik away from the bed. Bakura sat up alertly and looked directly at Marik, with "What do you want to do" written all over his face.

Marik narrowed his eyes: "You bastard Didn't your soul get wiped out after losing in the Shadow Game?"

"Hmph." Bakura snorted proudly, "Who do you think I am? It's just a Shadow Game."

Marik frowned and said nothing.

Losing in the Shadow Game yet being able to escape the punishment of the game It's not that he hasn't heard of such a thing, but he has never seen it with his own eyes.

In fact, Shadow Games were a bit idealistic. Compared with physical power, mental power was the key.

For example, laser beams had no effect on Yami Marik when he was holding the Millennium Rod, and he can blow up a large number of automatic defense robots equipped with various advanced thermal weapons with a single wave. (Noah arc)

However, even if his dark power level was so high, his Shadow Game could not punish the invincible Jonouchi. After being knocked down in the duel with Marik, Jonouchi got out of the hospital bed in a short time and jumped alive.

However, the Bakura in front of Marik's eyes was completely different.

Bakura was unaffected not because of his mental strength, but simply because he was too powerful.

This guy was the one with the most defeats in the Shadow Game in the entire anime. This guy lost to Yugi several times, lost to Yami Marik once, and ate the direct bombardment of Slifer the Sky Dragon and The Winged Dragon of Ra in the Shadow Game

However, he could still continue to do things next time.

"Hey, we're teammates, aren't we?" Bakura sneered, "What do you mean by sneaking up on me?"

"Hmph, because I changed my mind." Marik said, "You who lost to Yugi seem to be not strong enough, I have no reason to continue to cooperate with you.

But your Millennium Ring does hide quite a powerful force that might help me. "

"Does that mean you're going to steal it?" Bakura sneered.

"Yes." Marik raised the Millennium Rod with a confident look on his face.

At this time, Marik obviously did not realize the seriousness of the problem

"Come on then!" Bakura showed a grim smile, and the ring hanging on his chest showed a golden glow.

In fact, playing cards was not the specialty of the great evil god Zorc, and in the original work, he almost never won when playing cards with any important character

But hitting people directly was his specialty. Back in the Duelist Kingdom, Bakura used brute force to rip the Millennium Eye out of the eyes of Pegasus, the founder of Duel Monster, and skipped the card-playing process very tactfully.

As expected, Marik was completely suppressed by the power of the Millennium Ring not long after the battle between the two holders.

"How is it possible!?" Marik was shocked, "Such a huge dark force is actually stronger than the last time we fought! What kind of character is he? Could it be that the power of the Millennium Ring is greater than that of my Millennium Rod?"

Not only he couldn't beat others at poker, but now he also didn't seem to be able to fight directly!

"Hey hey hey."

Bakura smiled smugly, pressing step by step, the Millennium Ring released a majestic and terrifying energy, like a stormy sea that filled the entire room.

Marik gritted his teeth and could only barely maintain a layer of golden transparent protective shield to resist, but the man had been forced to the corner.

Weak, poor, and helpless.

He even wanted to shout

don't come here! ! !

But he still had a chance!

Even if his dark power was no match to the opponent, the Millennium Rod also had special abilities that the Millennium Ring did not have!

Seeing that Bakura felt that the victory was in his hands, his vigilance seemed to have relaxed, Marik's pupils shrank, and the Millennium Rod was handed forward

It's now!

The light of the artifact carried Marik's consciousness and sent out a stab, penetrating the defense line of the Millennium Ring unpreparedly. The target was Bakura's brain!

Bakura suddenly realized that there was a foreign mind intruding, he was startled, and said with a grim expression, "You bastard!"

"Hahahaha!" Marik, who had broken into Bakura's consciousness space, laughed loudly, "Bakura, I'm in!"

Chapter 135: The Hairstyle Of A True Duelist

The sky was clear, the rain stopped, and the six-year-old felt that he could do it again.

This saying was basically a true portrayal of Marik's emotions at this time. At the last second, he looked like he was going to be miserably cornered, but now his confidence had swelled and he felt that the situation was stabilized.

Just kidding, do you know how many people Marik has been in? (referring to the brain)

The spiritual function of the Millennium Rod was still stable. It allowed the holder to see the truth of anyone's heart, see the darkest and most vulnerable corners of the other person's mind and make use of it, and even turn others into puppets at the mercy of the holder.

No matter how strong the soul was, there would always be weaknesses in the depths. Now all Marik had to do is to find a weak point of Bakura that he could break through

Marik: "!!?"

As previously said, he has read countless people and brainwashed at least hundreds of people, but so far he has never seen such a strange mind.

Even if he felt weird, this was the fact that was presented to him there was nothing in the heart of this boy that could be called a weakness.

What Marik saw here was darkness and only darkness. It was boundless like an ocean, with pure hatred and anger, that seemed to devour everything.

Then in the dark depths, he saw a pair of eyes. The scarlet color, as if the lord from the depths of hell looked at him maliciously, expecting him to go further and drag him into the dark abyss.

The next second, before he could react on his own, an instinct for danger made him involuntarily withdraw from Bakura's consciousness.

Marik was surprised to notice that he was sweating profusely before he knew it, and his clothes were soaked with sweat.

"Hahaha! Do you want to take advantage of the darkness in my heart?" Bakura laughed, "That's really unfortunate, I am the darkness itself!"

In a nutshell: my whole heart was black, how could you find anything else, let alone my weakness?

The last resort was also countered. At this time, Marik had completely lost his ability to resist. Originally, he wanted to take advantage of Bakura's coma to get on his Millennium Ring, but now he was going to die first

"Okay, hand over the Millennium Rod to me." Bakura muttered, "Really, I should have done this a long time ago. If I did, I would not lose a Shadow Game in vain"

After all, the Great Evil God Zorc was not in his complete body by now, and the degree of resurrection was also limited. Although the defeat of the Shadow Game couldn't eliminate him, it was still quite painful.

If he did not earn something like the Millennium Rod, even Bakura himself felt that his blood was at a loss.

However, when Bakura was ready to start harvesting, the situation reversed again.

"Uhuhhh!!!"

Marik, who was cornered, hugged his head in pain and let out an indistinct growl.

The Millennium Rod, which had already dimmed, suddenly erupted again, and a transparent golden shock erupted. Bakura was taken aback, hurriedly took a step back, and took a defensive stance.

"What?" Bakura frowned.

"Hey~ yay" Marik began to make a sound of unknown meaning, his body joints twisted at an unscientific angle, "kimoji (so comfortable)~"

Bakura had an expression of disgust on his face.

What's up with this guy? Did he want to pretend to be crazy and foolish to trick the?

It didn't look like the case

Marik suddenly laughed twice, and when he raised his head again, a golden eye-shaped mark was already lit up on his forehead. His face twitched, his facial muscles began to pull in a gradually weird direction, and the overall aura made people instinctively feel bad.

If this was not intuitive enough, then you only needed to look at the explosive head on this guy's head that automatically stands up like a Super Saiyan, and the hairstyle that has obviously become a true duelist's style, and you could probably understand how his strength has skyrocketed

This guy's voice and expression have become completely different from just now as if he became a different person within a second.

Bakura, being an expert on Millennium Items, quickly guessed what happened: "You guy have your personalities exchanged?"

This was not too uncommon, many Millennium Items holders have two personalities. For example, Yugi, or Bakura himself.

It was the dark personality that Marik had nurtured in his heart that appeared in front of Bakura at this time.

"I finally came out, hahahaha!!!"

Yami Marik was worthy of being the first brother of face art (1). When he appeared, he first controlled his facial muscles to make an expression that was impossible for ordinary people and then laughed a few times in a vain manner.

Usually, because the elder brother Rishid shared the pain for Marik, the dark personality has always been suppressed by Marik in the depths of his heart.

At this time, in the competition with the dark power of Bakura, Marik was suppressed in all directions and forced into a desperate situation. His instinct was stimulated, so the seal was lifted, and this personality found a gap and drilled out.

"Is it a dark personality this time?" Bakura snorted disdainfully, "But it's useless. No matter how you change, the Millennium Rod is going to be my property from today!"

"Oh~ that's really good." Yami Marik stretched out his tongue and licked the Millennium Rod, and chuckled softly, "It's really good to be able to move your muscles and bones as soon as you come out to breathe.

But I have to say it first, I am not easy to bully like that weak chicken who called himself Marik. "

Bakura hummed and grabbed the Millennium Ring: "I can't ask for more."

The two dark personalities confront each other, and the Millennium Items shine brightly. Dark energy filled the room for a while as if the millennium war was about to break out at any time

Then came the sound of footsteps outside the door.

"It seemed to be the voice from Bakura's room just now!" It was the voice of Jonouchi.

Obviously, when the two dark bosses were clashing, the third game between Jonouchi and Kaiba was already over.

"Bakura! Are you okay?" That was Anzu's voice.

"Bakura!" What followed was obviously Yugi.

Yami Marik tilted his head towards the door and cut: "Is the nameless Pharaoh here? It seems that you are really a lucky guy"

Marik turned around again, only to find that the Bakura, who was just too hung up to compete with him, was already in bed at the speed of light, covered with the quilt, his eyes closed and motionless like a dead fish.

Marik: ""

Then the door opened.

Jonouchi rushed in first, and protected in front of Bakura's bed: "Marik! I was surprised that I didn't see you up there just now. What do you want to do to Bakura!?"

In theory, Bakura was actually a good classmate of Yugi and his friends, and he has a good relationship with them when he was not possessed by his evil personality.

The control of the body has also been exchanged before Yugi enters the door. At this time, Yami Yugi is on the line. The Millennium Puzzle hanging on his chest lit up with golden light, and at the same time stared at Marik coldly: "Marik, what do you want?"

"Hmph, it's boring." Yami Marik put away the Millennium Rod and walked towards the door.

"Ah~, it's boring, it's boring." He hummed as he walked, "Alright, I'm almost ready for the game. Who will be buried next to the darkness? Hehehe"

Chapter 136: It Must Be His Tactics

"The pool is open! Snow Wave's game is about to start, everyone can still bet now"

Since the Battle City competition started, the player forum has been very lively.

At this time, Snow Wave and Miss Yuehua among the players were already furious.

As previously said, President Kaiba seemed to have made up his mind that this conference, his company would only pay and have no return, so they would not even have an online broadcast.

Therefore, everyone could only know the game status through the real-time battle report score.

But players were different. Now all players knew that Yuei Vu brought a tool person who acted as a camera to participate in the competition, so Miss Yuehua's live broadcast room has become the only broadcast platform for the Battle City Competition.

So you could imagine how popular she was by now.

At this moment, Miss Yuehua followed Yuei Vu quietly and obediently like a little follower, her face flushed with excitement.

She looked at the audience's popularity in the live broadcast room, which had exceeded the usual ten times, and even the increase had not stopped. Her whole person felt airy.

No, there are too many, I can't come in anymore (referring to the audience)

If you continue to enter, it will be (happily) broken

Before the game, Snow Wave looked at the posts on the forum and the large number of his fans who had followed the thread and nodded involuntarily.

As the only designated number one bootlicker around Yuei Vu ah no, the head of the fan club, Snow Wave felt that he had reached the peak of his life.

Originally, as the only player who worked in the Dream Card shop, Snow Wave has already gained a lot of fame among players. Now he has overcome all obstacles, fought against strong enemies, reached the top eight (in fact, he has abused a few passers-by through dog shit luck), and has ushered in a wave of popularity.

At this time, Snow Wave's name was literally everywhere in the forum. Especially after he played an Elemental HERO deck, he attracted a large number of diehard fans of the HERO archetype.

Snow Wave swiped the post and looked at the comments and IDs of the screwball players, and couldn't help showing a smirk like an idiot.

Take a look at the "Snow Wave, I love you" message the player ID was "Yujiang, A Girl With Vitality" must be a cute girl, right?

From today onwards, I am also a man with fangirls! From this point of view, it is not impossible to get off the list of Incels!

No, what am I thinking?

Snow Wave shook his head, quickly cast off his distracting thoughts, and began to reflect on himself.

What about love? It only slows down your drawing speed!

As everyone knows, most men who have girlfriends are suck at playing cards.

Besides, I have Yui Vu-san!

Snow Wave, who gradually began to giggle, did not notice the knock on the door at all.

"Hello? Player Snow Wave? Are you in the room?" A bodyguard of Kaiba Corp knocked on the door, "It's time for you to play."

"Huh? Oh, oh."

At this moment, Snow Wave regained his senses and quickly got up and came out.

Having come to this point, the knockout stage meant a lot to every contestant. Everyone was very nervous before the game, locked in their own rooms to adjust their mentality and modified their decks. Even the arrogant six-year-old Marik honestly made adjustments.

But Snow Wave was different.

He was sticking to his tactics until he got on stage

This guy has been browsing the forum even on the way to the arena with the bodyguard.

On the duel stage, Yami Marik has already changed into his classic attire in black with a cloak, a wrinkled old face, and a non-mainstream white explosive head.

Seeing his opponent take the stage, he stuck out his tongue and licked his lips, and laughed twice.

"Looks like it's decided to be you." He said while giggling, "the next person who is about to be swallowed up by the darkness becomes a sacrifice.

I can't wait any longer to see your face twisted with fear and plunged into endless despair"

Yami Marik said with a grim smile again.

And then our Snow Wave Snow Wave showed a foolish smirk again

Yami Marik: "?"

No, it doesn't matter if this guy is not afraid, why is he smiling there?

Is he a fool?

"Ah? Oh, sorry" Snow Wave hurriedly closed the forum, "I just posted a reply ah no, I was thinking about something. What are you just talking about?"

The six-year-old looked unhappy.

"Hmph." Yami Marik tossed his cloak, "You'll know right away anyway feel it with your body."

It's really thanks to Snow Wave who knocked down Kujaku Mai, otherwise, if she had to fight Marik now, she would be tortured to death after a while

"Then the last knockout match!" Uncle Isono raised his arms, "Snow Wave vs. Marik Ishtar, start!"

A game between the gimmick HERO player and the six-year-old Tomb Keeper has officially kicked off.

Each player drew five cards from the deck. Snow Wave drew the cards imposingly and the cards in one hand were almost blown away by the oncoming gust of wind. (Jonouchi cheered from the audience)

Snow Wave's face was hurt.

MD, it's all the fault of the president's whimsical tricks. If my precious card is blown away, can you make up for it?

He even thought very maliciously that the president might have calculated that the card was easy to blow away, and specially arranged bodyguards to stand by at all times around the dueling platform. when the sun god in Marik's little bastard's hand was quilted. As soon as it blows down, a group of big men pops up to pick it up

Marik was the one who went first. However, Marik was very handsome (and very self-contained), he just set two cards and didn't even summon a monster.

However, our Snow Wave player was even more handsome. He directly passed the turn without playing even a card. His speed was so fast that Marik mistakenly thought it was his first turn.

This was the essence of the legendary high-end skill "High-Speed Duel".

well, he actually had a brick hand.

"By the way, what is Snow Wave doing?" Someone in the live broadcast room felt strange.

"brick hand accident."

"What kind of brick hand that doesn't even have one card which can be set?"

"Maybe three Fusion Gates and three Polymerizations?"

"Then why doesn't he set a Polymerization as a bluff?"

....

At this time, everyone in the audience was confused.

Mokuba: "Big brother, what is this man doing?"

"It must be his tactic." Kaiba said with his arms crossed, "Maybe it is a specific tactic that needs to lure the opponent to attack or sell a part of LP before it can be triggered."

Yugi also said: "Indeed, when Bakura was playing with me before, he deliberately let me attack to reduce a lot of LP, and then I found out that it was a terrifying tactic like the Destiny Board.

Maybe it's a similar tactic now? "

Jonouchi pondered for a long time: "Could it be that he didn't even draw a monster that could be summoned?"

Yugi shook his head: "No, this should be a deliberate tactical arrangement."

Kaiba hummed disdainfully: "Humph! Sure enough, horse bone is still horse bone. Only you can have such a naive and simple idea!"

He said so, but in fact, after the last game, President Kaiba's recognition of Jonouchi has increased

After all, he was the man who could snatch the White Bride from him! (though only for a short while)

What? Dead draw? Brick hand?

Yugi and Kaiba said that they have never been exposed to such a concept.

The duelists who made it to the Battle City quarter-finals were all strong. If it wasn't for a deliberately arranged strategy, how could anyone be unable to play a single card?

Chapter 137: Six-Year-Old Tomb Keeper VS Gimmick HERO

"Hey, is this really alright?" Six-year-old Marik began to mock, "Just finish without doing anything, do you want to surrender?"

Snow Wave's face darkened.

Do you think I want to pass without doing anything? Do you blame me for the brick hand accident?

Among the people presented, Yuei Vu may be the only one who was not surprised that such a situation would occur.

Yuei Vu speculated that the so-called "duelist rank" should be an attribute unique to NPCs, and there was no such thing for players.

In other words, players were really looking at their faces when playing cards. When their face was bright, they would have a heavenly hand, but when their face was dark, it may be like Snow Wave right now, passing the turn so fast that it made the opponent confusing

Marik, who was confused, was not in a hurry to make a move, but reached behind his back and miraculously took out the Millennium Rod from the legendary "four-dimensional *sshole" other than that, there was really no explanation for its appearance. Where did he hide something so thick and so long on his body?

"Hahahaha! Look, the dark feast that will destroy you has begun!"

Marik directly started the Shadow Game, and the dark and thick mist instantly formed a sphere that covered the entire venue, and even the crowd watching under the stage felt inexplicable pressure.

Only Snow Wave looked around with a curious look: "Wow, this effect is really good! Is this the legendary Shadow Game? I've got it"

"You can only stay so optimistic now." Marik hummed, "Those who lose in the Shadow Game will meet the eternal darkness and be buried in the deepest depths of darkness! Hahahaha!!!"

Marik laughed, looking forward to seeing the other's face distorted from fear

However, he laughed dryly for a long time, and the guy on the other side looked at him with an "is this guy an idiot" look, as if he didn't feel anything about "death" at all.

"Cough cough." Even the six-year-old felt a little embarrassed, "Don't believe it? Then I'll let you feel it with your body. My turn, draw!

Summons Worm Drake' in attack position! Direct attack! "

[Worm Drake, ATK 1400]

The green squirming giant worm rushed forward, opened its bloody mouth, and took a bite of Snow Wave's arm.

Snow Wave, LP 4000 LP 2600

"Haha, how about that bite? This is the pain of Shadow Games!" Marik laughed. "Go mad under the torment of pain!"

However, Snow Wave still didn't seem to respond, as if he couldn't feel the pain at all, and even looked at him with an expression like looking at the mentally handicapped

Marik: "!?"

This guy can't feel the pain?

Marik began to look suspiciously at his Millennium Rod.

Could this thing be broken?

The damage of the Shadow Game was of course real, especially the advanced Shadow Game that Marik has opened.

But no matter how strong the pain was, it was useless, because the opposite side has already set the pain simulation in the game to zero

Next came Snow Wave's turn.

It was a little accidental last turn, but it didn't matter. The duels of real duelists are inevitable, as long as you believe in the deck, it will definitely respond to you!

Snow Wave felt that he was instantly transformed into the protagonist, and his momentum was like a rainbow.

Draw!

I'm so stupid.

"I I summon Elemental HERO Avian' in the defense position. I I end my turn"

[Elemental HERO Avian, DEF 1000]

Snow Wave wanted to cry.

It's over, it's over.

It would be too funny for his match in the Battle City quarterfinals to end like this, and he would be nailed to the wall of shame among all players and even all NPC duelists!

He even made up the scene the screwball players hung his black and white photos on the wall, decorated with wreaths, and read: "Cause of death: Don't believe in Heart of the Cards."

That's too funny!

"Hahaha, do you only get this kind of trash at a critical time?" Marik laughed, "Then you will die miserably.

My turn, draw! Summon Dark Jeroid!"

[Dark Jeroid, ATK 1200]

"Although I don't know why the pain of the Shadow Game doesn't work on you, I still have a lot of methods." Marik laughed and waved his arm, "This time I'm going to change to a new one Dark Jeroid, smash his defensive monster!"

The moment Avian was broken, the image of a person suddenly appeared in front of Snow Wave's eyes. Before he could see it clearly, it was split into two halves.

"?"

What the hell just happened?

"Hahaha!" Marik continued to laugh, "The new rules of the Shadow Game! Every monster we summoned in the duel represents your memory of a person!

When the monster is destroyed, you will randomly lose the memory of any one person, until you have nothing left in the end! "

Ha? Is this game so real?

But Snow Wave was puzzled at the same time.

In theory, the game couldn't affect the mind of the player, and even a Shadow Game couldn't delete his memory

Well, wait a minute, didn't it seem like there was someone missing from the audience?

Snow Wave looked down the stage again and was surprised to find that Jonouchi seemed to be gone?

He seemed to suddenly understand something.

That was to say, Avian who was just wiped out represented his memory of Jonouchi. Because Avian was eliminated, he couldn't see Jonouchi now.

This was the Shadow Game that Marik opened to Kujaku Mai in the animation.

Then this punishment didn't seem to be particularly severe, it was acceptable

Wait for a second!

Snow Wave's body trembled.

Didn't that mean he has a chance of forgetting Yuei Vu in this duel?

In that case, he would never see Yuei Vu in the game again!?

Snow Wave was shocked.

Damn Marik, this little scumbag, this is so cruel!!

Seeing Snow Wave clearly panicking, Marik thought he had finally found his weakness and couldn't help laughing.

"Hahaha! So that's the case. What you fear most is the loneliness of losing your companions?"

Marik laughed and raised the Millennium Rod, trying to seize the spiritual breakthrough he found and take advantage of it.

"Let me see your greatest fear!"

Yami Marik penetrated into the "heart" of Snow Wave with the power of the Millennium Rod and wanted to check his most precious and fragile memory.

Of course, all he could see is the player's video experience while playing on World Link Online.

Marik checked his memory from a month ago and found that he was running errands for Yuei Vu.

Marik then checked his memory from a week ago and found that he was sweeping the floor for Yuei Vu.

Marik checked his memory from a few days ago and found that he took Yuei Vu's request and ran to the road to learn how to bark.

Marik: ""

It was extremely rare that Marik didn't do anything after invading people's heads. He silently withdrew without saying anything and doing nothing.

Six-year-old felt like a new world has opened up in front of his eyes

"Worm Drake." Marik waved his hand, "Direct attack."

Snow Wave, LP 2600LP 1200

Now he was really in danger.

Snow Wave's eyes stared straight at the deck on his Duel Disk.

This turn has to be a godsend! I beg you!

Draw!

YaDaZe! (successful)

"Spell Card Card Destruction!" It was Snow Wave's ultimate divine draw, "All players discard all cards in their hands, and then draw the same number of cards!"

The player in the live broadcast room exploded on the spot: "OMG, we are all still playing Normies, why does he have such a divine card?"

"It is known that Snow Wave has a set of Elemental HERO, multiple fusion monsters, the Fusion Gate, and the Card Destruction. I wonder how many times Snow Wave sells his body per night"

The two sides replaced all the cards in their hands, and Snow Wave finally got better here.

"Continuous Spell Heart of the Underdog I activate two of them!"

As soon as this card came out, the entire audience, including Marik on the opposite side, was instantly alert.

They had seen with their own eyes how Snow Wave relied on this card to summon four fusion monsters in one turn, giving Kujaku Mai a full LP OTK.

Having two copies of Heart of the Underdog meant that if Snow Wave drew a normal monster, then he could draw two more cards in a row.

However, Heart of the Underdog's effect was "During your Draw Phase, when you draw a Normal Monster(s): You can reveal it; draw 1 more card." This turn, Snow Wave's Draw Phase has passed, which meant that the effect could not be triggered until the next turn.

But it didn't matter.

"Activate Spell Card Polymerization! I fuse Elemental HERO Heat and Elemental HERO Lady Heat in the hand! Fusion summons! Elemental HERO Inferno!"

[Elemental HERO Inferno, ATK 2300]

Of course, Yuei Vu had this card, but he never used it. Because this thing not only needed two specific fusion materials, but also had only 2300 attack power, and the effect was "gains 1000 ATK when battling gains 1000 ATK", which was far more useless than Nova Master.

Of course, it was precise because he felt that it was useless, so the price was relatively low, and Snow Wave could afford it

To be fair, Snow Wave bought this set of low-level heroes from Yuei Vu by spending a number of crystals that ordinary players couldn't imagine.

In fact, this was all thanks to Yuei Vu he gave Snow Wave almost all of his daily quest experience in the first half month so that his experience for a simple quest was many times that of other players, and the leveling-up speed was as fast as a rocket. Therefore, the crystals came rushing.

of course, most of them ended up in Yuei Vu's pocket.

"Then I normal summon Elemental HERO Wildheart'." After changing his hand, Snow Wave's situation got better.

[Elemental HERO Wildheart, ATK 1500]

"Use the Spell Card Quick Attack, so that the fusion monsters can attack this turn!" Snow Wave waved, "Go on, Inferno! Attack Dark Jeroid!"

Chapter 138: Is This Kind of Operation Acceptable?

"Inferno, defeat Dark Jeroid! Wildheart, attack Worm Drake!"

Marik, LP 4000 LP 2800

As we all know, the rules of Shadow Games were generally relatively fair, and the conditions for both sides were the same. Since if the monster on Snow Wave's side was destroyed, one person would be forgotten, this condition also applied to Marik.

For example, when Elemental HERO Inferno fired a fireball, Marik directly hit the jackpot and forgot Yugi. Then the whole plot ended, and everyone lived happily ever after well that's certainly not possible.

Marik only forgot about the miscellaneous fish who was in charge of guarding outside the gate of Ghouls. It was the kind of guy that he had to concentrate on for a long time before having a chance to remember that guy's appearance. There was no difference between forgetting and not forgetting.

It's Marik's turn again. The six-year-old first performed a round of face art, then he laughed vainly, and then performed another round of face art.

"You're lucky." Marik sneered with a grim expression, "It was not necessary to deal with a duelist of your level. But since this is the situation then I'll give you a chance to see it."

Speaking of which, his eyes suddenly changed, and by the way, he performed a face art that YGO fans called "big right eye and small left eye".

"Prepare to meet the most powerful god!"

"What!?" Yugi under the stage was surprised, "Is he going to call The Winged Dragon of Ra in this situation?"

President Kaiba also secretly raised his spirits: "Is it finally coming? Let me confirm it, the power of The Winged Dragon of Ra!"

"It's all thanks to Card Destruction you just played, so I was able to successfully make the god sleep in the graveyard"

Marik smiled and raised a card in his hand.

"Activate a Spell Card from the hand Monster Reborn! Resurrect a monster in the graveyard! Of course, what I want to choose is

The strongest god, The Winged Dragon of Ra! Come in the form of a phoenix! "

Behind Marik, the ankh of Monster Reborn appeared. The dark green ankh began to burn as if some kind of great being was preparing to arrive through the medium of powerful magic.

Marik crossed his arms, closed his eyes, and began to silently recite the ancient and mysterious incantation.

That was the ancient priest's script.

The Winged Dragon of Ra was the most flamboyant and the most stubborn of the three Egyptian gods, and he became obedient only if the controller read the ancient priestly script correctly.

Otherwise, even if you successfully summoned The Winged Dragon of Ra, it would shrink into a ball and float in the sky, like a golden egg, and it would ignore your command no matter how much you asked.

After the incantation was recited, the ankh disappeared. The flames soaring into the sky rolled up, and turned into a substantial bird, flapping its wings and approaching the duel field.

It was a flaming bird that was burning all over its body, exuding a sacred golden glow, making it impossible to see its true body.

Those flaming wings spread out, and a scalding wave of air instantly seemed to drain the air of the audience. Even the ones who were not directly facing the stage could feel the scorching heat like hell.

Snow Wave swallowed: "Fuck, it turns out that the corpse bird can be so handsome" (The focus seemed a bit strange)

Because The Winged Dragon of Ra in the animation could be resurrected from the graveyard with a powerful quick attack effect, but the resurrected sun god would return to the graveyard after one round, so Marik's tactics in the animation revolve around letting The Winged Dragon of Ra repeatedly reborn.

Because of this, the Winged Dragon was also dubbed "the corpse bird" by the majority of players "The Winged Dragon of Ra's ATK and DEF are the sum of the ATK and DEF of all monsters used to Summon it." Marik chuckled, "But of course, the Winged Dragon that was resurrected from the graveyard has no sacrifice, so"

[The Winged Dragon of Ra, ATK 0]

On the side, Kaiba frowned: "Attack power is 0, so there must be a powerful special ability hidden Mokuba! Give me an immediate call to the Kaiba Corp's satellites to capture Marik's Duel Disk from Earth orbit, and let me see what's written on the Winged Dragon of Ra's card! "

Yuei Vu on the side looked at the Kaiba.

President, I didn't expect that a straight guy like you actually use a trick like this.

Are you bullying the rural Marik for not understanding high technology?

"Hahahaha, I'll let you know one of the hidden abilities of The Winged Dragon of Ra!" Marik laughed, "Pay 1000 LP, and all the monsters on the opponent's field will be buried!"

According to the animation performance, this should be the third ability described in the text of The Winged Dragon card, which could only be activated when The Winged Dragon of Ra was specially summoned and transformed into an "Immortal Phoenix".

However, this effect was not clearly described. From the performance, it usually seemed that as long as you pay 1000LP, you could destroy all the opponent's monsters.

But in the final battle between Yugi and Marik, this effect only killed Sky Dragon. The other monsters on the field, including Obelisk and Dark Magician Girl, were unscathed.

From this, it could be speculated that when there was another god on the opponent's field, The Winged Dragon of Ra's third effect could only destroy one monster. It was indeed an effect with animation characteristics

Of course, Snow Wave obviously has no god on the field, so the result was naturally undisputed.

"What!?" Jonouchi was shocked, "What kind of OP effect is this? Is this cheating?"

Marik, LP 2900 LP 1900

"God phoenix! Burn everything on the field for me!"

The burning bird flapped its wings, and a tornado of flames rolled up on the field! The ultra-high temperature flames swept toward the opponent's half, and a tyrannical force beyond the description instantly burned the heroes on the Snow Wave's field to ashes.

Marik laughed twice and slowly raised his arm.

"Then I'll use The Winged Dragon of Rato attack the player directly!!!"

"What?" said Jonouchi, "A direct attack with a monster with 0 ATK?"

"It's a Shadow Game!" Yami Yugi, an expert in this field, understood in an instant, "Marik wants to use the damage of the Shadow Game and the physical attack of the gods to directly cause mental damage to the opposite player!"

"How can you still play like this!? Hey! Then he's a jerk!" Jonouchi turned to Kaiba, "That boy Marik is a jerk, Kaiba! Don't you care?"

However, maybe because the president chose to believe in science, he didn't care about Jonouchi's words at all.

The flame storm instantly drowned Snow Wave's entire body, and it was like a wave of raging flames. That domineering flame was like it was about to evaporate the water in all living things, burning the body and impacting the opponent's spirit at the same time.

Even if the attack power was 0, even if it could not cause damage to the opponent's LP according to the rules of the game, the impact damage was still real.

To put it bluntly, it was an out-of-the-table move. Compared with the main personality, Yami Marik had no principles at all.

From the very beginning, this guy never wanted to win by playing cards honestly, but by playing some kind of physical damage or playing some memory loss tricks. In gaming terms, he just wanted to use The Winged Dragon of Ra's attack to force the opponent to disconnect. It was no different from hacking in the game

"Hey, The Winged Dragon of Ra will go back to the graveyard at the end of the turn." Marik laughed, "I end my turn. Come back, phoenix well, it's just that poor bastard may be all over the ground now."

The body of The Winged Dragon of Ra gradually faded into a phantom, turned into a beam of flames, and shot into the graveyard of the Duel Disk in his hand.

However, what Marik never expected was

"My turn," Snow Wave patted his body nonchalantly.

Marik: "!!??"

What, what, what? Is this guy a superman?

Why are you still standing nonchalantly after receiving this level of bombardment?

Marik looked horrified: "Whywhy haven't you fallen yet?"

"Huh? Why would I fall if I have LP left?" Snow Wave looked confused.

Snow Wave just happened to skip this part of the anime. As he completely blocked the pain sensation, he didn't even notice the shady trick Marik played. At this time, he only felt that Marik, who commanded The Winged Dragon of Ra with 0 attack power to slap him in the face, was like a mentally retarded child

"That can't be it is impossible" Marik doubted his life.

"Draw!"

Snow Wave's eyes lit up and excitedly showed the "Elemental HERO Sparkman" he had just drawn in his hand.

"Because I draw a normal monster, the effects of two Heart of the Underdog' on the field were triggered, so I continued to draw two cards!

DORO! MONSUTA KAADO!!!

DORO! MONSUTA KAADO!!!

Snow Wave's combo finally started again. And because there was two Heart of the Underdog left on the field this time, he could draw two cards at a time, and as long as one of them was a normal monster, he could continue to draw!

"It's coming," Kaiba said to Mokuba next to him, "that powerful OTK combo."

Yugi also narrowed his eyes: "That Marik Will he be defeated like this?"

With two Heart of the Underdog, Snow Wave's drawn twelve cards consecutively in one breath and instantly had nearly twenty cards in hand.

Come, come, come!

"Activate Field Spell Fusion Gate!" Snow Wave began to perform.

"Elemental HERO Avian + Elemental HERO Wildheart! Fusion Summons! Elemental HERO Wild Wingman!"

"Elemental HERO Sparkman + Elemental HERO Clayman! Fusion Summon! Elemental HERO Thunder Giant!"

"Elemental HERO Burstinatrix + Elemental HERO Sparkman! Fusion Summons! Elemental HERO Grandmerge!

Elemental HERO Bubbleman + Elemental HERO Clayman! Fusion Summons! Elemental HERO Mudballman! "

[Elemental HERO Wild Wingman, ATK 1900]

[Elemental HERO Thunder Giant, ATK 2400]

[Elemental HERO Grandmerge, ATK 2100]

[Elemental HERO Mudballman, ATK 1900]

"This is the end!"

Snow Wave felt that he had reached the peak of his life at this time.

I'm really going to win!

I'm going to finish the last boss in seconds!

At this time, Marik's entire face was deformed with fear.

"This can't be it can't be" The six-year-old continued to doubt life.

Am I going to fall here and be directly killed by this screwball?

Marik began to panic, this time for real.

The only hope he could cling to now was that Snow Wave didn't have a second "Quick Attack" card in his hand, in that case, his fusion monsters couldn't attack this turn

But considering that Snow Wave just drew half of the deck in one go, the probability of this seemed unlikely.

Sure enough, Snow Wave excitedly played the last card: "Activate Spell Card Quick Attack! The fusion monster summoned this turn can attack!"

Marik's heart skipped a beat, and he instantly became half-cold.

It's over, everything is over.

"This is the end!" Snow Wave shouted excitedly, "Thunder Giant! Attack directly"

The voice stopped abruptly.

Without warning, Snow Wave's body softened and fell to the ground.

Marik: "?"

Snow Wave: "???"

Although Snow Wave's consciousness was clear at this time, his game character suddenly fell down completely uncontrollably. A large line of words popped up in front of him

"The stamina is too low, and the duel cannot continue."

Snow Wave: ""

WTF! ? Is this kind of operation acceptable?

Snow Wave suddenly noticed that throughout the duel, his stamina had been plummeting vertically at an extremely alarming speed.

Originally, under Yuei Vu's unremitting training every day, with his speed of upgrading, now his stamina has reached the point where he could play two-people-game seven times a night (referring to dueling).

But today, he only lasted three minutes, and his entire body became soft.

It was only now that he suddenly understood why Marik had just attacked him directly with The Winged Dragon of Ra with zero attack power.

That scumbag actually burned my stamina bar directly!

This was a little too obscene, isn't it?

Snow Wave couldn't get up again.

Three full minutes passed, and Snow Wave was still lying on the ground motionless, unable to get up. In this case, the result was of course nothing to say.

The referee Isono raised his arms high: "The winner is Marik Ishtar!"

Yami Marik crossed his arms: "Hahahaha!!!"

The six-year-old's face was full of "everything is according to my plan" as if it wasn't him but someone else who was scared shitless minutes ago.

Chapter 139: Do Spirits Sleepwalk?

The Battle Ship moved slowly on the endless ocean, gradually leaving the dark night behind.

The red sun rose, and the junction of water and sky in the distance was dyed orange-red. The fiery sun hung in the clouds, and the red glow was reflected on the undulating sea, entwined with the layers of clouds.

After fierce competition in the knockout round last night, four finalists were finally decided.

According to Kaiba, the elimination on the Battle Ship was still only a prologue, and he has prepared a more lofty venue for the semi-finals.

At that time, Kaiba glanced at Jonouchi consciously or unintentionally and added: "The duel really depends on strength, not dog shit luck. Those who advance to the semi-finals are those who should be promoted"

The implication was that Jonouchi belonged to the level that "should not be promoted".

Jonouchi wanted to pull up his sleeves and start a fight with Kaiba, but his good friend Honda tried his best to hold him again out of the consideration of "not wanting to be thrown off the boat by Kaiba's bodyguards".

After four knockout games, a total of two people fell. At this moment, Bakura was still in a coma on the bed (at least on the surface), while Snow Wave jumped out of bed not long after the accompanying doctor declared "brain dead".

While the doctor was exclaiming "this is a medical miracle", the six-year-old looked shocked and doubted his life.

In theory, even if the loser survived the punishment, it shouldn't be completely unaffected.

For example, Snow Wave should have lost his memory of some people in the Shadow Game, but now it seems that this guy has not been affected at all.

In fact, this is also a matter of course. Because in fact, Snow Wave has really "died" once and has used up a chance to resurrect.

After the resurrection, all negative states would be cleared.

"Impossibleimpossible" Yami Marik stared at his Millennium rod at the time, suspecting that he might mistakenly take a fake Millennium rod.

Was this guy a superman? How did he not dead yet?

At this time, Marik secretly made up his mind that he would never play cards with this madman again.

Yami Marik liked to see people's pain and despair when playing cards, using Shadow Game to torture and kill any opponent.

Because the six-year-old didn't think about winning by normal means at first, he spent the whole process trying to figure out how to crash the opponent, and he almost capsized in the gutter

However, when playing cards with this madman, he used all his dirty tricks, but his opponent was still there and didn't respond at all, and could still jump around as if nothing had happened.

The threat level of Snow Wave in Marik's heart suddenly rushed up.

However, Marik didn't know that just when he was amazed at the player's awesomeness, the players on the forum at this moment were still dissatisfied with it.

"Damn, is this six-year-old a little too sly, isn't it? The Winged Dragon can clear the field, and after that, it will directly attack and make people forcibly go offline. Isn't this invincible?"

"Snow Wave should be the one who wins is this what people called plot armor?"

"I can't say the same. In the original, Marik played like this. If it wasn't for his tricks, Kujaku Mai and Jonouchi wouldn't have lost"

"That's the kind of boss who can only be so arrogant in a card game. In another game, we would let him know what is the fourth crisis (1)."

"I hope Yuei Vu will beat him to a bloody mess in the final."

"+1, thousands of people wrote in blood to ask Yuei Vu to beat the six-year-old into a bloody mess."

""

After dueling for the entire day, everyone went back to their rooms to rest.

A night passed in silence.

The morning light penetrated into the room from behind the veil, and the sun comfortably sprinkled on the bed.

Yuei Vu opened his eyes. The soft sound of the airship running smoothly echoed in his ears, and only felt as if he could smell it a fragrance?

In the early morning, his brain was still in a dazed state that was unable to function. Yuei Vu sat up lazily and yawned.

Immediately next to him, Dark Magician Girl also sat up lazily from the bed, her delicate snow-white arms stretched lazily.

"Good morning, master~" Dark Magician Girl yawned and straightened the magic hat on her little head.

"Well, good morning

! ? "

Only then did Yuei Vu realize that something was wrong.

"Wait a minute," Yuei Vu suddenly felt a lot more awake, "Dark Magician Girl?"

"Ah? It's me." The girl rubbed her sleepy eyes, "Is there any order?"

"How did you materialize today?"

"?"

Dark Magician girl sat up straight, lowered her head, and touched her body.

"Huh? Really." She was surprised, "I don't remember when it came out."

Then Dark Magician Girl was a little embarrassed: "That might be because I accidentally"

Yuei Vu understood.

So it's like sleepwalking?

So far so good. When he woke up and saw his spirit partner on the bed, he was still a little panicked. For a moment, he thought that he had tried to transfer mana to her last night and forgotten about it (2)

But he still felt a little strange: "Has this kind of thing happened before?"

"No." Dark Magician Girl shook her head, "This has never happened before. I'm sorry master, I promise it will never happen again."

Yuei Vu subconsciously wanted to wave his hand generously, saying that it didn't matter if she did this again next time, but when he thought about it, it might be ambiguous, so let's skip it

After a while, Yuei Vu finished washing up and came to the canteen to eat.

When he came, he saw that Jonouchi and Snow Wave, who had been complete strangers until yesterday, were already familiar with each other.

To say how they became so familiar, the process seemed to be quite simple. It's nothing more than while having breakfast, then their eyes met and they began to chat casually. Snow Wave expressed his admiration for the God of Gamblers over the years, and Jonouchi also admired Snow Wave's performance when facing the Shadow Game.

Then the revolutionary friendship would be sublimated at once.

The friendship between men was as simple as that.

Seeing Yuei Vu entering the door, Snow Wave jumped up from the dining table and greeted him enthusiastically: "This way, this way!"

Seeing Snow Wave's reaction in Jonouchi was not surprising, but was even more impressed: "It seems that he is also a person who pays attention to his companions. They should be good companions, right?"

Shizuka whispered, "I think Yuei Vu is very nice and handsome"

Anzu agreed: "Yeah yeah, and I feel he is very reliable."

Jonouchi nodded: "He is indeed a good guy. The dueling skills are quite high, and when he defeated me, he didn't take away my precious rare card"

Even the kind-hearted Yugi expressed his goodwill: "He's a duelist who thinks about others."

You see, this was the benefit of having Charisma 95.

As the saying goes, "a handsome man can solve a thousand sorrows" (3), as long as your face value was full, the initial favorability would not be too low.

However, at this time, the Pharaoh hidden in the Yugi body seemed to be slightly unhappy

Chapter 140: A New Arc

The airship continued to move on, and the destination of their trip finally appeared ahead.

It was a man-made island, the entirety of which was made of steel. A towering iron tower lay at the center of the island, standing like a lone giant among the wreckage and ruins of steel everywhere.

Alcatraz Island, the stage for their final battle.

As mentioned before, Kaiba Corp was originally a military manufacturing company, and its former chairman, Kaiba Gozaburo, even had the grand desire to "rule the world by weapon technology".

At this time, this island was the product of Kaiba Gozaburo's ambition. It was a collection of the top technology developed by Kaiba Corp. There were rumors that the weapons on it are enough to destroy all mankind countless times.

Of course, that was also in the past tense.

Since Kaiba Seto took over the company, all that was left on this former island was only ruins.

Every bullet left by Kaiba Gozaburo has been arbitrarily destroyed by Kaiba Seto. Now that the Kaiba Corp has undergone a complete transformation. This Devil's Island, which represented Gozaburo's ambition, has become a thing of the past.

Now Kaiba chose to play cards on this island just to prove that he has surpassed everything that Gozaburo left behind.

He wants to gather all three Egyptian gods on this island, ascend to the throne of the Duel King, and then use this as a starting point to create the world's top and best game center.

But of course, his plans could not have gone so well.

Yuei Vu looked out through the window of the dueling boat and saw the outline of Alcatraz appearing on the other side of the sea from a distance, and he was already prepared.

In fact, after traveling for so long, Yuei Vu probably already had guesses about this world.

He didn't feel like he's stepped into a game world written entirely of 0s and 1s now.

Not only because this world was too realistic for a game, but also because the official game publisher has always been the same as they announced until the very late version of World Link Online

"Even we cannot intervene and predict any progress of this world."

Yuei Vu speculates that this was more likely to be a parallel world of Yu-Gi-Oh, and the official game was only equivalent to building a bridge between reality and this parallel world, nothing more.

In the previous version 1.0, no player had the strength to make it to the quarterfinals of Battle City, so Yuei Vu was not completely clear about the next plot from now on.

But if this was really the parallel world of Yu-Gi-Oh, then no matter whether there are players involved or not, Yuei Vu speculated that the plot that would process in the future should also be certain

Turned out he guessed right.

The entire airship shuddered suddenly without warning as if the accelerator was slammed on a bus traveling on a highway section, and many unsuspecting passengers were thrown to the ground by inertia.

Yuei Vu remembered that six-year-old Marik seemed to be posing on the open deck above and blowing his hair.

It would be a lot of fun if Marik was thrown straight from the boat into the sea now

"What's going on?" President Kaiba quickly came to the control room.

"No! I don't know!" The black suit sailing the boat was sweating profusely, "Someone is hacking into our system!"

"Hacking into our system? Impossible!" Kaiba waved, "If that's the case, then switch to manual operation!"

"The system is not responding!" said the black suit, "there is no induction signal from the island, we can't approach Alcatraz!"

"What?"

Kaiba, who has always been calm, frowned, unable to stop a terrifying thought from constantly popping up in his mind

Could it be that Gozaburo's soul was preventing us from landing on that island?

The calmest people on the whole ship should be Yuei Vu and the two players who have watched the animation.

Sure enough, as he expected, the important main storyline that should be in the animation must happen.

The airship's huge hanging screen was also hijacked, showing

President Kaiba?

Well, to be more precise, it was someone who looked like the president of Kaiba in his youth, except that the hair color was very healthy and pure green.

The child looked like he was only ten years old, and when he showed up, he chuckled with a scheming look: "I've been waiting for you for a long time, Seto."

At this time, all the passengers have come to the control room to inquire about the situation. But for Yuei Vu, the next step was basically the same as the cutscenes CG, and there was nothing he needed to see. Anyway, he knew all the necessary information.

The child who appeared on the screen was named Kaiba Noah, the biological son of Kaiba Gozaburo.

Kaiba Noah received a gifted education from a young age and was the original heir to the Kaiba Corp. It's just that he suffered a car accident when he was a child, and Gozaburo tried his best to save his consciousness and download it into the computer used by the Kaiba Corp for military operations.

So to be precise, what existed in front of everyone was no longer the real Kaiba Noah, but the AI that preserved Noah's complete consciousness and memory.

It's just that the AI living in the virtual world has always believed that it was Noah himself. This time, he also appeared to compete with Kaiba Seto, who usurped their family business, to prove that he was better than the other party. By the way, he also wanted to take a body that could move in reality and took the company back from Kaiba Seto.

All of the above were the goals of Noah.

As for the means to achieve the end
that's still playing cards, of course.

What else? In the world of Yu-Gi-Oh, what did you do if you didn't play cards?

As we all know, in this world, whether it was gods or demons, humans or ghosts, even computer AI solved problems by playing cards.

Since the problem could be solved by playing cards, there was nothing to panic about. Moreover, he also had a rough idea of which plan Noah would execute next.

First, Noah would hijack the dueling boat to a hidden underwater military base, and use a set of automatic Gatling guns that have not been in maintenance for 30 years to force everyone to disembark.

To put it bluntly, Noah has been alone in the virtual world for a long time, and he has become addicted to duel, so he has spent a lot of time hijacking the world's best duelists to play poker with him.

Whoever dared to refuse to play with him would be shot (although this may not work for many of them)

Then he would unknowingly drag the consciousness of everyone who disembarked into the virtual world where he was, and then sent his only subordinate "The Big Five" to attack.

The Big Five was a group of five high-level corporate executives of Kaiba Corp. They were Kaiba Corp's head of acquisitions, the head of the personnel department, the chief lawyer, the director of the weapons factory, and the initial assistant beside Kaiba Seto.

These five people were originally generals who helped Kaiba Seto to overthrow Gozaburo. But then Kaiba snatched the Blue-Eyes White Dragon collected by Yugi's grandpa and caused the Yami Yugi to be angry.

So the Yami Yugi started the Shadow Game, defeated the Kaiba Seto, and punished him. After that, Kaiba fell into a coma for a long time, and the company's stock fell into a landslide.

It was at that time that The Big Five decided to betray Kaiba and wanted to take Kaiba Corp with their own hands. After this attempt failed, they tricked Kaiba into accepting their challenge in the virtual game and tried to lock Kaiba's consciousness in the virtual world.

Originally, this plan has been successful, but unexpectedly, Muto Yugi was there to intervene. Yugi rushed into the virtual world and rescued the Kaiba, and in the end, The Big Five were locked in the computer world and wandered forever until the five of them meet Noah, who also lived in a virtual world.

So Kaiba's former personnel director, chief lawyer, weapons factory director, vice president, and CEO decided to seize this opportunity and make full use of their top experience in various fields to play cards with the president.