Chapter 21: Am I Really That Ugly?

Yuei Cannot Escape Fae? ? ?

When Yuei Vu saw this ID, the corners of his mouth twitched.

There must be something wrong with this player!

Yuei Vu felt that, especially for an NPC as handsome as himself, he probably had to be careful.

Soon two players came in one after another.

"Welcome to our shop."

Chika got up to prepare for the reception but was stopped by Yuei Vu.

"It's okay, they came to me."

Snow Wave entered the door and saw the slender, silver-haired girl dressed as a maid. His eyes lit up.

Yuei Vu, now you can't say that you are not the protagonist!

The system has even arranged the girl for you. Who will believe that you are not the protagonist?

He stepped forward and said: "I brought people here."

Fae quickly stepped forward to get familiar with Yuei Vu, and said with a smile on his face, "Hello, hello!"

For unknown reasons, when Yuei Vu faced his smiling face, he had an instinctive urge to avoid it

At this time, Fae had already believed more than half of Snow Wave's words.

He definitely couldn't be a mob because no mob NPC had his good looks!

What kind of work have you seen where the author wastes so much ink on the painting of an unimportant mob?

However, just when he made up his mind to hug this NPC's thighs, and grab more rare cards and hidden quests, he saw a line of words popping out of the forehead of the NPC in front of him mercilessly.

Favorability -5

Yuei Cannot Escape Fae: "?"

What have I done?

Why would there still be NPCs whose Favorability goes down at the first sight?

Fae was still in a dazed state. He didn't notice that Yuei Vu raised his eyes to look at the ID above his head.

Yuei Vu felt that there must be something wrong with the guy named Yuei Cannot Escape Fae. The value of his favorability must be kept low to prevent the other party from having any strange thoughts.

Favorability -5

Yuei Cannot Escape Fae: "??"

Could it be I'm ugly?

To erase his suspicion, he opened the panel to check his Charisma, and the value displayed was 63.

It was definitely not high, but it should not be considered low. There's no reason to be offended!

It's impossible for NPCs in this game to look at your face, right?

Chika watched from behind the counter. Although she didn't say anything out of politeness, she also felt that the customer was not good-looking, and he didn't look like a good-natured person.

Especially the way he stared at Yuei Vu as if he was expecting something, which made Chika feel uncomfortable watching from the side.

So Fae immediately noticed that the lovely lady maid next to her also had a Favorability -10 on her head.

Fae felt as if he was struck by lightning, and instantly doubted that he couldn't help but have the urge to rush out to look in the mirror

Am I really that ugly?

"Cough." Yuei Vu coughed and said, "This little brother, can you bring me a Polymerization' card?"

Disgusting and business were two different matters.

It's coming!

Fae had heard about this initial mission from Snow Wave before, so he was naturally prepared.

He felt that this was an excellent opportunity to restore his start Favorability of -10, so he didn't even need Yuei Vu to remind him a second time.

Yuei Vu accepted this card, nodded slightly, and as a reward slightly raised his favorability towards Fae 1 point.

In this way, his favorability level has risen from -10 to -9!

"From now on, everyone will be duelists around here, so we can take care of each other if we have any difficulties.

As you can see, I work part-time in this store, and you are welcome to visit anytime if you want to get a card. Although we are a small shop, there are still a lot of good cards.

In addition, if you encounter any difficult problems, you can come to me. As long as I can help you, I will do my best. "

Yuei Vu felt that what he expressed as an NPC was clear.

[The first rule, I have a lot of good things here. If you have money, you must come to patronize my business.

The second rule, if you have any hidden mission and important plot, be sure to bring me along, and I will also be rewarded with experience.]

The meaning was this, but how to express it depended on the individual's ability.

At this time, the two players were overjoyed and felt that they must have picked up a benefit.

Wasn't this the "mysterious merchant" type of character encountered in many games?

According to their rich experience in online games, characters such as mysterious merchants sell good things that other players couldn't get by normal means, and in this game, it's likely to be rare cards!

As for the latter sentence, it obviously meant that they have met a powerful golden thigh! If they encountered any difficult quests in the future, they could come here and ask for help.

After all, it's an NPC whose name started with the "Yu" prefix, so he must be very good at playing cards, right?

Fae tugged at the corner of Snow Wave's clothes and whispered, "Hey, I read the official website. It seems that cards bought with currency in the game card store are useless. Can we really use them in an actual duel?"

Ding! NPC Yuei Vu has opened the private shop function]

The two received a prompt at the same time.

Private store! It really is a hidden function that was not mentioned on the official website!

The two hurriedly opened the private store at the same time.

The purchasable items in the store were sorted by rarity and price. There were a wide variety of products, ranging from N cards to UR-level rare cards. The gorgeous cards made them dazzling for a while.

After all, Yuei Vu had grinded for so many days, and all the crystals he earned had been put into opening the card packs. However, only a few useful cards appeared in the last thirty or fifty packs of cards, and most of them were useless things.

Just enough to throw it into this private store to expand the inventory.

The two looked up and quickly noticed some eye-catching products.

"Fuck, there are Elemental HEROes!"

"That is to say, even if the initial deck does not Elemental HERO, is there a chance to obtain the HERO deck from this NPC?"

As mentioned before, the cards that a player has a chance to open in the system card pool largely depends on the cards he has already acquired.

For example, if you have an Elemental HERO in your hand, you have the opportunity to open a series of cards with a large number of Elemental HEROes. If you have a black magician in your hand, you will also have the opportunity to open cards related to the black magician.

Therefore, although most of the initial decks selected by the players were Normies, this would directly affect the types of cards that players can open in the system card pool later.

In order to obtain other series other than the initial card group, players must continue to explore and find opportunities in the game, and trigger specific quests to obtain new series of cards through rewards, so as to expand the capacity of their system card pool.

In other words, as long as the player bought one Elemental HERO card from Yuei Vu, it was equivalent to unlocking the Elemental HERO archetype in his card pool, and he would have the opportunity to open other Elemental HERO archetype cards in the future!

Snow Wave was immediately excited, and immediately wanted to buy everything. However, he suddenly noticed the additional purchase restrictions on the Elemental HERO series

Requirement: Yuei Vu's Favorability is 40 or more.

Suddenly he suffered a kind of depression as if being poured cold water on his head.

But it couldn't compare to Fae's desperation.

MMD, Favorability is required to be 40 or above? I lost 10 points in this meeting, and only added 1 point after completing a quest. At this rate, how many years does it take to raise Favorability to 40?

Fae, who had only been in the closed beta for a day, even had the idea of deleting his account and making a new one. He felt that he would seduce this NPC by changing to a female account with a full Charisma Point. Maybe he would have 40 Favorability when they first met?

Just as he was thinking about it, Snow Wave suddenly interrupted his thoughts with an excited "fuck", grabbed his clothes, and said incoherently, "Quick! Look at the top of the UR product list!"

"What did you sayh~~"

Fae looked over, and he couldn't help but gasp.

Could that be

The legendary Thousands of Years Banned card Pot of Greed!

Chapter 22: Monopolize Yuei Vu

Pot of Greed!

This card was really well known among Yu-Gi-Oh players, and it may not even be an exaggeration to say that this card has become a symbol.

Pot of Greed (Spell Card) Draw two cards.

For a card game like Yu-Gi-Oh, which has no cost limit, a player's hand could be directly linked to the number of resources they hold.

On the premise that players did not have the protagonist's "when having empty hand and empty field, draw a card that can turn the table" passive skill, the actual duel was a competition of resources. If one of the players has a large number of available cards in his hand, and the field was also filled with monsters, while the other player had an empty field and there were only one or two cards in hand, there was basically no suspense in this duel.

Compared with LP, the number of resources in hand could actually better represent the HP of the duelists. The side with more resources could always dominate the game more easily.

Because of this, the Pot of Greed, which has the effect of unconditionally drawing two cards, was particularly perverted. This meant that you could widen the gap of the number of cards at no cost, and even under the absolute disadvantage of the huge card gap, relying on a Pot of Greed had a greater probability of turning the table.

As long as this kind of card could be used, almost any deck would have it by the maximum number.

Of course, the premise was that it could be used.

For the Yu-Gi-Oh players of this era, Pot of Greed was basically an artifact that only existed in legends and animations, and no one has really seen its style in actual combat.

Because as early as many years ago, the Pot of Greed was listed as a prohibited card, and it was similar to "life imprisonment without bail", and it has never been released from the small dark room for many years

But now, they have seen such a divine card from this NPC's personal store!

The game company has made it clear that there was no restricted card list in World Link Online now and there would be no such restriction in the future. As long as it's a card that players could reasonably obtain from the game, there was no restriction on its use.

Of course, the premise was that you could get it.

First of all, it was absolutely impossible to open a card like Pot of Greed in the system card pool. Moreover, in his previous life, Yuei Vu had played World Link Online for so many years, but he never heard of anyone who has obtained the Pot of Greed through hidden quests.

This kind of divine card seems to be the patent of local NPCs, and players had no chance to touch it.

However, thanks to the presence of Yuei Vu, a "benevolent" NPC, now players also had the possibility to obtain this divine card!

If the player directly opened Pot of Greed from the card pack bought from the local store, it could not be used. However, if they met the requirements of special quests and obtained a card presented by NPC, then this card would be recognized by the system, counted as a special card obtained by the player during the game, and could be used.

In other words, the only way for players to obtain some cards that were originally unavailable to players but only for NPCs may be through Yuei Vu.

Snow Wave and Fae were excited about a while, but then they noticed the acquisition conditions under the UR's Pot of Greed.

Yuei Vu's Favorability is 90 or more!?

The two looked at each other.

This condition isn't possible in this lifetime?

Even if you get up early and start licking hard, how can you lick this NPC's favorability level to over 90!

Fae even doubted that if it were him, Yuei Vu's Favorability would be lower and lower

Then they took another look at the number of crystals needed to buy the Pot of Greed

How many zeros are there?

Why don't you just write "I'm robbing"?

The two rookies couldn't help but start to go crazy.

They were just novices, and the number of crystals was only two digits.

At this rate, who knew how long it would take to buy a Pot of Greed

Well, of course, the Pot of Greed that Yuei Vu opened was originally only marked as an N card by the publisher. The "UR" in the private store was added at his own discretion.

At present, he only had one copy of this card in his hand, thus it was impossible to sell it to players casually. The reason why it was placed in a private store was just to fill the facade, also for PR.

Anyway, a poor player who has just created an account would not be able to afford it

However, Snow Wave and Fae were also stimulated by this and decided to work hard to make money from today.

Both novice card coupons were swindled, and Yuei Vu also knew that the two low-level players were useless to him for the time being, so he sent them out.

Yuei Vu remembered that the Closed Beta only lasted for two days. It was not enough to do anything meaningful.

Yuei Vu just came across a little guinea pig by chance ah, no, it was because he came across a player like Snow Wave, and decided to test his function as an NPC temporarily.

Therefore, he could start harvesting right after the Open Beta began, when the number of players increased.

Snow Wave and Fae were in high spirits when they escaped from the card shop, and they were full of energy. It seemed that the sun in this game world was brighter and dazzling than before, and the future was simply bright.

The great opportunity of meeting Yuei Vu quickly established a deep bond between these two players who have never met before, forming an extraordinary friendship in an instant.

The two quickly reached an agreement must never let other players discover this key NPC!

At that time, only the two of them in the whole game would have three Pot of Greed and three Graceful Charity in their hands. Wasn't that OP even with an entertaining deck?

In that way, they could make a name among the players No, even winning the World Championship was not hopeless!

So the two quickly made an agreement that Yuei Vu was a treasure that they both shared exclusively, and must not be mentioned to any third party!

Yuei Vu actually guessed more or less about what they thought.

After all, he was once one of these players.

It's just that the two of them would soon be disappointed because the "hidden NPC" they discovered might not be as easy to hide as they thought.

Because right now, this NPC has already started to figure out how to find the player after the official Open Beta

That night, as usual, Yuei Vu went out to the dueling arena after a day's work, ready to continue gaining experience to get crystals.

Maybe because of the light rain in the sky, there were very few pedestrians on the street this night. The cold current roamed the empty streets, the rain fluttered under the orange light of the street lamps, and there was a damp smell in the air.

Yuei Vu followed the usual route, walking across the block, through a short and narrow alley, and headed for the duel arena on the other street.

But today was a little different.

The moment he turned into the alley, he realized that he was being followed.

Chapter 23: Attack of Menacing Armed Division!

Yuei Vu stopped at the end of the alley, turned around, and waited for the person behind to show up without saying a word.

After a while, a cloaked shadow appeared.

It was a man wrapped in a large dark cloak. He was very short and looked like a primary school student who had not graduated.

However, this costume was as cheap as a black sack and unable to cover the Duel Disk that he hid under the cloak anyway obviously, this was another rare card hunter from Ghouls.

"To be able to detect my existence." The rare hunter sneered, "Your alertness is quite high."

"Rare card hunter?" Yuei Vu said lightly, "You guys are stubborn."

"Ha, since you said that, it looks like you really killed Pandora." The short hunter hummed, "When I heard that he lost to a kid like you, I didn't believe it at first But you are quite brave. Even we Ghouls usually only grab rare cards, but you actually pulled Pandora's deck"

The corner of Yuei Vu's mouth twitched.

Listening to what you said, how can you make it look like I am the most vicious villain?

These words even sounded a bit like admiration among peers. The other party's meaning was like saying that "we are just thieves who steal a little, but you are a robber who wants everything, which is really awesome".

But it's not wrong for the other party to say so. From the original work, Ghouls, as a villain organization, honestly abided by the rules.

Obviously, it should be an evil organization, but every time they made a move, they would obediently show the Duel Disk to play cards with the protagonists.

Occasionally, some hunters who lost to the protagonist in the duel wanted to renege on their debts or take action directly. Those unruly guys were directly and remotely tampered with their memories by their master Marik and become mentally retarded

Yuei Vu coughed: "He asked for using the entire deck as ante first."

"Hmph, it doesn't matter. The waste thing that lost to you has been punished by the organization, and his soul has been banished into darkness forever."

The short rare card hunter unfolded the Duel Disk in his hand.

"And my mission is to take back from you the Dark Magician' card that Pandora lost to you. As long as I succeed, I can replace Pandora's position and gain a higher status!"

He said, grinning smugly.

"It seems a little too easy."

[Hidden mission is triggered: The Challenge From Ghouls 2!]

[Description: After you defeated the magician Pandora, the powerful organization known as Ghouls has not given up and sent a new opponent to challenge you!]

[Winning Reward: Get the rare card "Machina Force"!]

[Defeat Penalty: Any card is randomly taken away by the opponent.]

Sure enough, Yuei Vu received a reminder again. However, there was no button option for accepting or rejecting on the panel. It seemed that it belongs to the kind of task that is forced to be executed once triggered, and there was no right to refuse.

But thinking about it, Ghouls couldn't just let him go.

Most of the villains in Yu-Gi-Oh were disciplined as long as you played cards with them honestly, they would always follow the rules and send people to play cards with you, and most of them were willing to admit defeat.

But once you refused to play cards and wanted to run away, sorry, they would choose to use violence.

"Duel!" x2

Yuei Vu, LP 4000

[Rare Card Hunter, LP 4000]

"I'll go first. Draw!" The rare card hunter of Ghouls was the one who took the first turn, "I summon Mecha Soldier' in attack position!"

[Machina Soldier, ATK 1600]

"Then I activate a Spell Card from the hand Ties of the Brethren! Pay 1000 Life Points to Special Summon up to 2 Level 4 monsters from my hand or Deck with the same Type as a monster I control! (manga effect)"

[Rare Card Hunter, LP 4000 LP 3000]

He pulled out the deck and quickly picked out two cards.

"Come out, my mechas! Special summon Machina Sniper' and Machina Defender'!"

[Machina Sniper, ATK 1800]

[Machina Defender, ATK 1200]

Yuei Vu narrowed his eyes.

Machina deck?

Being able to summon three monsters in one turn like this is quite powerful in the environment of this era.

"Hey, so I have three monsters on the field." The rare hunter hummed, "But unfortunately, the monsters specially summoned by the effect of Ties of the Brethren' can neither attack nor be used as sacrifices for advance summon.

Then I set an S/T card, and my turn is over. "

Can neither attack nor be used as sacrifices?

Yuei Vu fell into contemplation as he looked at the three monsters on the opponent's field.

So there are three Level 4 monsters. Could it be that he will use three monsters to form an Overlay Network and summon Number 16: Shock Master

Oh sorry, there is no Xyz here.

(Author's note: Number 16: Shock Master, an Xyz monster, the summoning condition is 3 Level 4 monsters. Because the effect is too strong, it is listed as a forbidden card.)

But there was no point in thinking wildly.

"My turn!" Yuei Vu said, "Summon the Elemental HERO Sparkman'!"

The blue warrior appeared on the field with a clear swirling current.

(Sparkman: Why do I have a bad feeling that I will become cannon fodder?)

[Elemental HERO Sparkman, ATK 1600]

"Battle Phase! Sparkman, attack Machina Defender!"

The electric hero flew up following the master's command and released a piercing bolt of lightning. The lightning was like a javelin thrown from the sky, locking on the mecha guard with the lowest attack power on the opponent's field.

"Hey, as I expected!" The rare hunter chuckled and activated his set card, "Trap Card Negate Attack! When an opponent's monster declares an attack; negate the attack, then end the Battle Phase!"

A gust of wind blew out from the flipped trap card, forming a vortex barrier that protected the mecha monsters in the audience. Sparkman's current was stirred into the storm and was blown away in an instant, unable to penetrate that layer of defense at all.

"It's a pity, your attack didn't work." The rare hunter giggled, "It's so easy to guess what you're thinking, you're really just a kid"

However, Yuei Vu didn't care about his trash talk at all.

At this moment, all of Yuei Vu's attention was focused on the Trap Card "Negate Attack" that was gradually becoming transparent and disappeared.

One of a few life-saving cards in this era!

Not only could it invalidate the attack, but it could also forcefully end the Battle Phase, and it was also a Counter Trap Card with the highest Speed Spell. This was at least an SR rare card.

This card is really good, it will soon be in my library!

After doing trash talk for a long time, the hunter found that the other side didn't respond at all, but stared at his Negate Attack.

The rare card hunter was instantly furious.

NND, we are playing cards, why are you already thinking about how to steal my card?

Who is the card hunter here? You or me?

Of course, Yuei Vu didn't forget the business: "I set two cards and end my turn."

The hunter seemed to feel that he was being looked down upon, and his facial features were deformed with anger. The facial features, which were originally considered too compact, became more abstract when angry.

"How dare you underestimate me my turn!"

A card was drawn from the deck, and a distorted smile appeared on the hunter's angry face.

"Let you see the reason why I was selected by the organization! This is my strongest combination!"

The hunter laughed and placed a new monster card on the vacant card slot.

"Summon Commander Covington!"

[Commander Covington, ATK 1000]

A soldier in a pink mecha with a straight waist, like a sentry, appeared on his field.

"In this way, the conditions are met!"

The hunter waved his hand proudly, smiling like a five-hundred-pound child.

"The special effect of Commander Covington: By paying 1000 LP as a price, I can combine Machina Soldier', Machina Sniper', and Machina Defender' to form Machina Force!'" (manga effect)

[Rare Card Hunter, LP 3000 LP 2000]

Yuei Vu raised his eyebrows.

Combined monster?

In front of him, three mecha monsters on the hunter's field flew off the ground one after another, and their metal bodies began to disintegrate. Countless machine parts were suspended in mid-air, moving along their respective trajectories as if attracted by a magnet.

Then the parts were pieced together, the gears meshed with each other, the metal mechas collided with each other and assembled into one place, creating a giant mecha whose body was constantly climbing and whose shape was like it was going to pierce the sky, like a steel mountain blocked in front of Yuei Vu.

"This is my strongest combined monster, Machina Force!"

[Machina Force, ATK 4600]

Chapter 24: Triple Trap!

The author of the Yu-Gi-Oh!' manga, Kazuki Takahashi, was found dead in Okinawa yesterday.

To pay tribute to his work, I'll release 3 chapters per day for 5 days.

Hope he rests in peace.

Machina Force, ATK 4600

"Hahahaha! This is my trump card, my strongest combined monster! You have no chance if it appears!"

The rare hunter began to boast pridefully, and it seemed that making such a glorified beatstick made him feel invincible.

Truthfully said, making a monster with 4600 ATK in the DM era was indeed quite awesome. In those days, the game environment was far less complicated than later, and the means of removing high-attack monsters were relatively limited. President

Kaiba became a top duelist in the current environment by relying on the non-Effect Blue-Eyes Ultimate Dragon with an attack power of 4500.

Yuei Vu didn't know much about Machina decks, so he really didn't expect such a big monster with 4600 ATK to suddenly appear. A Gundam-like monster stood on the opposite field, and all kinds of guns and missiles pointed at the opponent's head, which was quite bluffing.

"Machina Force, attack!" the rare hunter shouted, "Machine Knuckle!"

The huge robot opened fire on Yuei Vu. The powerful firepower was overwhelming, the tail flames dragged by the missiles were intertwined in the air, and the bullets were scattered like dense raindrops.

The Sparkman on Yuei Vu's side of the field quickly raised his arm to release the lightning defense, but it was completely meaningless. In front of a powerful monster with an attack power of 4600, his resistance was as negligible as paper, and his whole body was instantly torn to shreds by the powerful firepower with a miserable groan.

Yuei Yu, LP 4000 LP 1000

(Sparkman: MMD, I knew it! Every time I was summoned first, there would be no good thing ())

"In this way, your field will be completely empty," the rare hunter laughed, "and my Commander Covington hasn't attacked yet!"

[Commander Covington, ATK 1000]

"Come on, Covington, attack directly! I won this duel!"

"Open the set card: Trap Card Hero Signal!"

The trap card on Yuei Vu's field was opened, and a beam of searchlight pierced the smoke screen and threw it into the air, forming a circular mark hanging high in the air, projecting the word "H" representing a hero.

"Hero Signal is a trap that can only be activated when a monster I control is destroyed by battle and sent to the GY." Yuei Vu pulled out the deck from the Duel Disk, "I can Special Summon 1 Level 4 or lower "Elemental HERO" monster from my hand or Deck. I choose to Special Summon Elemental HERO Avian!"

A pale green whirlwind rolled up on the field, and the green hero spread out his snow-white wings and flew out to the field. He landed in front of Yuei Vu, his arms staggered into a cross in a defensive posture.

[Elemental HERO Avian, DEF 1000]

"Tch, Covington's attack power is the same as Avian's defensive power, so it doesn't make sense even if he attacks." The rare hunter curled his lips in annoyance, "Then I set a card, and end my turn."

In the rules, monsters with the same attack power would be mutually destroyed when they fought each other, but if a Defense Position monster was attacked, and its DEF was equal to the attacking monster's ATK, neither one would be destroyed nor would there be battle damage.

The rare hunter looked at him with a sullen face: "You survived temporarily. But in the next turn, my mecha unit will definitely kill you."

Yuei Vu shrugged, disregarding it, and didn't seem to be at all flustered by the overwhelmingly unfavorable situation in front of him.

"My turn, draw." He seemed to draw a card casually.

He seemed to be drawing cards normally, but in fact, he has activated his skill at this moment.

Draw of fate!

If this was a duel between players, in this situation, they would definitely beware of the opponent's ability to trigger the D draw.

However, simple NPCs played cards honestly and according to the rules. How could they understand the routines of players?

"I activate a Spell Card from my hand Dark Magic Curtain!"

A three-dimensional card appeared beside him, projecting the white bones and the pitch-black curtain above his head.

"Dark Magic Curtain's effect Special summon a Dark Magician' from my deck by paying half of my LP! Come out, Dark Magician!!"

Yuei Vu, LP 1000 LP 500

The white bones in midair lifted the curtain under him with his dry arms, and a blood-red mist floated out from under the curtain. The slender red body leaped out, flipped deftly in mid-air, and landed on the ground in a squat.

He was dressed in a red robe, with silver hair under his spell hat. He stood up, and the dark green staff swept out an arc in front of him, and the cyclone mixed with the fluctuation of magic power blew away along the path of the staff.

[Dark Magician, ATK 2500]

"Pandora's card." The rare card hunter narrowed his eyes, "But what is the good of summoning a Dark Magician now? You have only 500 LP left, like a candle in the wind. My Machina Force has an attack power of 4600, can you still make a comeback in this situation?"

"Set two cards. I end my turn."

Yuei Vu couldn't help but admire that this rare card hunter was a fearless man, who dared to say the absolutely taboo word "candle in the wind" to his opponent in a duel. f(r)ee

Throughout the history of Yu-Gi-Oh, anyone who dared to say the word "candle in the wind" to the opposite side in the animation, the grass on the grave has grown so long that the tombstone could no longer be seen

Even the super BOSS of the world-destroying evil god-level couldn't escape this law, but now a nameless Ghoul dared to touch this taboo, it was really respectable and respectable

"My turn, draw!"

After the rare card hunter drew a card, he stared at the three set cards in the back row of Yuei Vu and thought.

His LP is only 500, but he places the Dark Magician in the attack position. Are you trying to lure me to attack? That is to say, is there a reversal move in those three cards?

The card on the far left was already set in the last turn. If it can be activated, it should have been activated when the attack last round, so that should be just a pretense, a bluff.

Then, the only thing to watch out for is the two cards that were just set in the last turn.

He chuckled and took out a card from his hand: "Although you may just be bluffing, let me be a little cautious

Activate Spell Card De-Spell!

Due to the effect of this card, I can confirm a card that is set on the field. If it is a Spell Card, it is destroyed. If it is a Trap Card, return it to its original position. "

Yuei Vu raised his eyebrows.

"Hey, what I want to choose is the card on the far right!"

Yuei Vu stood calmly with his arms crossed. The cards covered beside him stood up uncontrollably under the influence of the magic removal spell.

That's a trap card.

Wall of Disruption When an opponent's monster declares an attack: All Attack Position monsters your opponent controls lose 800 ATK for each monster they control.

"I see, there are two monsters on my field now. If I attack with Machina Force, its attack power will drop by 1600 points under the effect of Wall of Disruption."

The rare hunter changed his conversation and raised his volume.

"But! Even if it drops by 1600 points, the attack power of Machina Force is still 3000! Your Dark Magician has only 2500 ATK, and this blow is still enough to take away your only 500 LP, so it will be my victory!"

Hahaha, it seems that your approach of pinning your hope of counterattack on this trap will not work! What a pity, if I summon another monster this turn, the attack power of Machina Force will drop by 2400 points, and you can use the Dark Magician to counter-kill.

It's a pity, but I'm still the better duelist. "

Speaking of which, this short hunter felt even more insane.

At this point, the magic removal effect ended. Because the confirmed card was not a Spell card, Wall of Disruption was set back on the field.

But rare card hunters didn't care at all.

"The last blow! Machina Force, attack Dark Magician! Machine Knuckle!" The rare hunter began to laugh, "I will take the Dark Magician and your rare card!"

"Activate the Trap Card Wall of Disruption!" Yuei Vu activated the set card, "All Attack Position monsters you control lose 800 ATK for each monster you control!"

[Machina Force, ATK 4600 ATK 3000]

[Commander Covington, ATK 1000 ATK 0]

"Muda muda (useless)!" the rare hunter shouted, "Machina Force, keep attacking! Tear the Dark Magician and this stinky boy to pieces!"

"Open the second set card and chain to the activation of Wall of Disruption!" Yuei Vu's operation has not yet ended, "Trap Card Covering Fire! During the Damage Step, if an opponent's monster attacks my monster: Target 1 other face-up monster I control; my attacked monster gains ATK equal to that target's ATK, during the Damage Step only!"

I used the Elemental HERO Avian to support Dark Magician, and Dark Magician's ATK increased by 1000 points! "

"It's actually a double trap!?" The rare card hunter was taken aback, but he didn't retreat, "Then I will also open my set card: Counter Trap Card Trap Jammer!"

This card can negate and destroy a Trap Card activated by my opponent during the Battle Phase! "

The rare card hunter showed a wicked smile: "The activation of Covering Fire is negated, so the attack power of your Dark Magician will not increase!"

This time is really the last blow Machina Force! Kill him for me! "

However, at the last moment of this decisive attack, Yuei Vu twitched the corner of his mouth, showing a triumphant smile.

"What what? What are you laughing at, brat?" The rare card hunter panicked.

Yuei Vu chuckled: "According to the effect of the Hero Signal, I can choose any Level 4 or lower Elemental HERO from the deck to special summon Why do you think I choose Avian? Why not a HERO with higher ATK and DEF?"

(Avian: Master, don't put salt on my wounds==)

"Why why?" The rare card hunter began to panic a little.

"This is the reason. Look, now this is the real final blow!"

With a wave of his arm, Yuei Vu opened the last card on the field the same card that was ignored by the rare card hunter and was set in the previous turn.

"Counter Trap Feather Wind!" Yuei Vu shouted, "When a Spell/Trap Card is activated while I control a face-up Elemental HERO Avian': Negate the activation and destroy it!"

"WhWhat!?"

The rare card hunter turned pale in shock, and then suddenly thought of something.

"Feather Wind This guy set this card last turn, so he chose to Special Summon Elemental HERO Avian when he activated Hero Signal' Could it be at that time, you already calculated the chain of counterattacks now?"

His pupils contracted and his eyes widened in disbelief.

This little kid who he really is?

How can he be so strong!?

At this time, Elemental HERO Avian in the defensive state had already flapped his wings and flew into the air, and the flapping of his wings created a whirlwind on the field. Countless white wings pierced through the rare hunter's "Trap Jammer" like flying knives, smashing the card into pieces.

"Your Trap Jammer' has been negated!" Yuei Vu waved his hand, "So the activation of Covering Fire is still effective! Add the attack power of Avian to Dark Magician!"

Winged Man made a pose similar to that in Dragon Ball, and began to open his mouth and shout, "Ki-ai," as if a green flame was burning all over his body. His power was then superimposed on the Dark Magician under the effect of the trap card.

[Machina Force, ATK 3000]

"Dark Magician, fight back!" Yuei Vu shouted.

The huge mecha robot released a dense barrage attack on the Dark Magician, but in the current situation of reversal of strength and weakness, it has long been unable to pose the slightest threat.

Dark Magician stretched out one palm and released a dark red magic circle from the palm of his hand, which understated all the opponent's offensive. Countless ammunition bounced off the array, and the missiles exploded with gorgeous flame light effects and billowing smoke, but none of them could shake the defense in the slightest.

Immediately after, the Dark Magician raised his staff gently, and the tip of the crystal green staff brewed a thunderous rolling magic ball.

Dark Magic Attack!

The magic wave mercilessly pierced the robot's body in one fell swoop. The huge robot body swayed, and the body was pierced from front to back, and electric sparks continued to burst out. Finally, it exploded with a "bang" after a burst of current screams, and the whole robot was torn apart.

The rare card hunter stared blankly at the three-dimensional image that disappeared in front of him.

"No no way? My strongest mecha is defeated?"

It took him nearly a minute to regain his senses but the whole person was already in a state of extreme confusion.

"But Damn, there must be other means!"

He began to frantically check his hand, check the GY, and look for all possible means of counterattack.

However, it was clear that the hunter has panicked to the point where he was not very sane. Because until the end of the turn operation time that was limited by the rules, not only did he fail to play a single card, but he even forgot to change Commander Covington, whose ATK had been lowered to 0, to the defense position.

But of course, in this situation, even if he turned Commander Covington to the defense, the outcome was not different.

"My turn! This is the real last turn."

Yuei Vu gave the order: "Dark Magician, attack Commander Covington!"

The magician flew out, and the pitch-black magic power pierced the warmaster who had only 0 ATK and also took away the last remaining LP of the rare card hunter.

"Nooooooooooooo!!!"

Chapter 25: Encounter A Ghost

The 2nd one of the 1st day.

After the overnight duel, Yuei Vu was walking back to the card shop, flipping through the "trophies" he had just harvested today.

Yes, after winning against this new rare card hunter, he naturally pulled out the entire deck on the opponent's Duel Disk.

Although it sounded a bit immoral to say "win the opponent's entire deck", but who cares!

Isn't there an old saying that goes like this "There is no need to talk about morality with this group of evil demons!"?

The mission "The Challenge From Ghouls 2" was completed, and the reward given by the system was exactly the ace used by this rare card hunter, "Machina Force".

However, its high ATK seemed to be its only positive property. The conditions for summoning this thing were also troublesome, thus most of the time, it would be a dead draw.

Yuei Vu flipped through every card he "won" and returned, in fact, most of them, as expected, were monsters and support cards from the "Machina" series, which were of no use to him at all.

However, UR and SR cards have also been harvested. Even if they were useless, they were quite a good choice to expand the card library. At that time, if these cards were put into his private store, maybe they would attract the favor of some mecha enthusiasts?

When he returned to the store, Chika-chan dressed as a maid was cleaning among the rows of shelves.

Noticing that Yuei Vu entered, she temporarily stopped her movements: "You're back."

"I am back."

Chika tilted her head and thought for a while, then said, "When you went out today, the two weirdoes who came in the morning came to you again."

Weirdo? She must mean about players.

"Are they both here?"

"No, just one." Chika shook her head, "It's the one who is shorter and looks a little thinner."

Looks a little thinner?

Hmm that sounds like Snow Wave.

Yuei Vu had sent him out to find a quest before, but he found it so quickly?

"Did he say what to do with me?"

"No. He just said that he was looking for you in a hurry, but he left when I told him you weren't there."

Chika looked at him suspiciously: "By the way, those two people are they your friends?"

"It doesn't count, I know him in the dueling gym." Yuei Vu said, "If you have to say it's a customer."

This was also true. In Yuei Vu's eyes, the players were all his customers, and he would definitely patronize his business a lot in the future.

"Oh." Chika nodded her head lightly and said seriously, "Then I think you should be more careful."

"Ah? Be careful of what?"

"Those two." Chika said, "especially the one with glasses, who doesn't look like a serious person, as if it seems she has an idea for you."

Yuei Vu: "?"

Girl, your thoughts are dangerous!

How could you understand this at such a young age?

Chika's serious face didn't look like she was joking at all of course, the girl with facial paralysis might not understand what a joke was. The expression on her face clearly said: I suspect that those two just desire your body!

How can that be done? Obviously, I came first!

"I read in the news that sometimes it is not uncommon for boys to be attacked while walking alone at night." Chika continued to "implement education", "Now even boys have to protect themselves, especially when they look good. Good-looking boys need more attention."

It's rare that this girl took the initiative to grab him and say so many words today, it seemed that she should be really worried.

Everyone had a love for beauty. After all, Yuei Vu's Charisma value was so high, that it's only natural for her to worry.

If such a handsome man just became gay like this, it would be a huge waste!

"Well, Chika, things are not what you think"

It took Yuei Vu a lot of effort to convince Chika that the player was really just his customer. There was only a money relationship between them and nothing else!

But speaking of this, Yuei Vu couldn't help but think of "Yuei Cannot Escape Fae", and felt that this guy might have a problem

He wondered if Snow Wave, who was hanging out with Fae, was fine now

When the working hours were over, Yuei Vu started to browse the game forum.

Because there were only so many people who were qualified for the game during the Closed Beta, there were not many people who could speak in the forum, which was far less lively than Yuei Vu remembered after the official launch of the server.

"Wow, the authenticity of this game is too high, right? When did that unscrupulous card-selling K company become so conscientious?"

Apparently, it was a post that was just released.

"OMG! This game is a little too real, right? I just wanted to test the details of this game on the street to see if the pants can be taken off, but the NPC girl on the side of the road pointed at me and screamed! A few people dragged me into the police station, and now I'm still receiving criticism and education in it, which made me vomit"

"6666! I never bow to anyone before, but now I bow to you."

"Hahaha, you deserve it."

"It scared me to death, it was very dangerous, I almost wanted to take it off at the time, but luckily I didn't take it off"

"Damn, this novice deck is too useless. Playing cards with NPCs has been hammered into pigskin! Can you tell me where I can get cheap and awesome rare cards? I can't stand this Normie deck anymore!"

"Don't bother us, you must learn to think for yourself."

"I advice you to go to bed, everything can be found in the dream."

"Hahaha, I triggered a hidden mission and joined Ghouls! There are a lot of rare cards as a reward for joining!"

"Damn it, I want to enter no matter what!"

"Ghouls? Could it be the gang of rare card hunters founded by Marik?"

"Are you not afraid of being beaten by the Duel King in the future when he confronts Ghouls"

The time to browse the forum always flew by quickly. These screwball players were all talents, and they spook nicely

However, it seemed that the players were still in the novice exploration period, and there was nothing surprising to Yuei Vu in the forum. Most players were still doing some small daily tasks, or at most playing cards with people in the dueling arena, and no one has triggered any important quest.

Then, of course, many players immediately started to search throughout the city for the house of Yugi Mutou as soon as they landed.

After all, he was the protagonist of the anime and the only designated Duel King throughout the Yu-Gi-Oh! series. If you wanted to find an NPC to lick his boots, this high school student was undoubtedly the first choice.

Yugi's residence was not difficult to find, and soon some players found his address.

As a matter of course, the player immediately tried to get in touch with him, but unsurprisingly, he was only responded by the opponent as an ordinary "Duel King's fan" and failed to trigger any plot.

Yuei Vu was browsing the forum behind the counter when the door of the store was suddenly pushed open, and a person rushed in with a panic face and threw himself on the counter.

"Yu Yuei Vu-san, please help me!" Snow Wave said straight to the point, "I encounter a ghost!"
