

I Play Yu-Gi-Oh! Card Game

Chapter 26: A Man Who Is Backed

The 3rd one of the 1st day.

Encounter a ghost?

Yuei Vu was a little puzzled by Snow Wave's statement, but he didn't think it was impossible.

After all, the world of Yu-Gi-Oh! was indeed full of strange things. This world system included various elements such as the underworld, gods and demons, magic, aliens, and different dimensions. It was not surprising that ghosts exist in such a world.

However, even if Snow Wave encounters a real ghost, there was nothing to be afraid of.

Because whether it involved gods and demons, aliens or ghosts, there was one basic rule in the Yu-Gi-Oh! system that was "there is nothing that cannot be solved by playing cards".

Snow Wave began to tell him the ins and outs of the incident.

After separating from Yuei Vu earlier, he immediately began to wander around the streets, picking up daily small tasks, taking the initiative to talk to passers-by and play cards, and trying to trigger hidden quests.

Because most of the mainstream supernatural powers in Yu-Gi-Oh were related to "darkness", there were often villains who like to hide in the darkest and quietest corners in the dead of night to devour people's souls. Therefore, after nightfall, Snow Wave specially picked the darkest and most empty alleys to visit.

When Yuei Vu heard this, he couldn't help but be speechless. He has been playing games for so many years, and this was the first time he has heard of someone triggering a quest like this.

This reminded him of a certain old man he had seen in the forum, bragging that he was tired of reading countless amateurs, and wanted to find a female ghost to try it out. .

If players want to trigger the plot quests, most of them had to study the plot, analyze and decrypt it, and study the strategy to brush the favorability of a specific NPC. Snow Wave's method was different, relying on his luck to get the quest.

What? Hidden quests?

Isn't that something you can just run into when walking around in the street?

In the previous life, Yuei Vu was very disdainful of players with such luck. Especially every time he opened the packs and his money sank to the bottom, he would be as incompetent and furious as countless other bad luck players, shouting something like "Lucky guys eat dog sh*t."

But it's different now.

Now he felt that his mind was obviously a lot more open-minded, and he sincerely hoped that the players would have a lot of dog shit luck and pick up URs on foot.

After all, now, what the players have was almost his.

Of course, his was still his. This was the basic principle.

"it's on the bridge that crosses the river in the city over there." Snow Wave said, "I heard someone calling me when I was crossing the bridge, saying something like come this way'.

Although the voice is small, I am sure I heard it right. I looked left and right several times, and I was pretty sure that I was the only one in the front and back, and there was no shadow of the other half. "

It really has such a supernatural taste.

"Then what?" Yuei Vu became interested.

At the same time, his mind had begun to spin rapidly, trying to recall whether there was such a quest at the beginning of the game in his previous life.

But he couldn't seem to remember.

There were too many side plot quests in World Link Online. Those quests were small in scale, have no impact on the main plot, and were generally rewarded poorly.

"Thenthen I hurriedly ran away"

Yuei Vu: "?"

Ran away?

You stumbled upon a hidden quest turned around and ran away?

"Because I'm afraid," Snow Wave felt a little embarrassed, "I've been afraid of these ghastly things since I was a child"

Yuei Vu: ""

This is just a game! What are you afraid of!

Not to mention that in the world of Yu-Gi-Oh, even ghosts may not have anything to be afraid of (80% of them still had to play cards anyway), what is the big point of being killed by one? Will you be a good guy again in a few hours?

In World Link Online, if the player died, they must wait for a few hours to cool down before they could be revived.

Although it sounded a bit painful, in fact, this function was not usually used at all. After all, this was a card game, and generally speaking, you could not die during the duel.

Only in special circumstances, such as "Shadow Game", players could die if they lost.

So in fact, it was quite a disadvantage for the villains to have a Shadow Game duel with the player. For the villains, they may be betting their lives, but for the players, their ante was that they would not be able to play for a few hours

"Let's lead the way." Yuei Vu stood up from behind the counter, "I'll go take a look with you."

Snow Wave was overjoyed immediately.

Yuei-san is indeed a good person ah no, he is a good NPC!

According to the players' experience in online games, the NPCs who form a team together to play the game were either a load, whose meaning of existence was to force the game to be more difficult; or a thigh that did all the work for the player.

Snow Wave was convinced that Yuei Vu must be the latter type.

He became more and more certain that he was lucky enough to meet a rare NPC who could take him off and throw off several versions of other players.

An NPC can take me through the hidden quest, how dare you believe it!

"Chika, let me go out." Yuei Vu said.

"This late?" Qian Nai's beautiful eyes showed a hint of surprise, and she looked at Snow Wave next to Yuei Vu in surprise, "With him?"

She must be wondering now in her little head what are the two big men doing out in the middle of the night?

"There is something I need to do. I may be back very late." Yuei Vu said, "Don't wait for me."

"Oh."

The place Snow Wave mentioned was still in another city, and it was a little far away, so the two of them walked for a while before arriving.

The rushing river was supported by a reinforced concrete bridge, and the dark water flowed endlessly under the night.

It was said that this river was a channel gushed out by seawater, and the river surface was not too wide. In the past, before the city was built, a wooden bridge was created here, but because of lacking repair for a long time, no one dared to cross the wooden bridge.

Later, it seemed that the all-powerful Kaiba Corp built a project, demolished the wooden bridge, and built a new solid modern bridge, connecting the two sides of the river again.

"It's right here!" Snow Wave said firmly, "That's what I heard here at the time."

Snow Wave, who came here not long ago, was so cowardly that he turned around and ran away, but now it was different.

After all, now he was a man who was backed!

Snow Wave suddenly felt that he was okay again, so he couldn't help holding his head high, and even the pace of progress began to be recognizable.

Oh, what if there are ghosts?

After all, this is the world of Yu-Gi-Oh, where playing cards are respected.

No matter how powerful you are, can you still beat the big brother next to me at dueling?

Hidden quest, here I come!

Just thinking about it so beautifully, Snow Wave suddenly stopped and let out a scream of "ah".

It sounded like a sleeping cat was trampled on the tail.

Because at this moment, a string of striking red letters jumped out in front of Snow Wave.

[The Closed Beta test is about to end, and there is still one minute before all players are forced to log out. Please be prepared.]

Chapter 27: Let's Duel!

"What!"

Only then did Snow Wave realize that there was only one minute left for the Closed Beta test.

Damn! It's so close. Just a little more and I can immediately get the quest reward!

"What's the matter?" Yuei Vu, who noticed that Snow Wave had stopped, also stopped and turned his head to ask.

Snow Wave showed a "pain in the ass" expression.

"That I'm suddenly in a hurry a very urgent kind of hurry. So do you think?"

Yuei Vu knew what happened: This reaction probably means that the time for the Closed Beta test is coming soon, right?

Yuei Vu made an "I understand" expression and waved his hand: "It doesn't matter, you can go."

Snow Wave automatically understood that the quest could be temporarily terminated and waited until the next launch, so he couldn't help but be grateful: "Thank you, Brother Yuei!"

After he finished speaking, his body became transparent, and he went offline.

Now Snow Wave felt that the game design was really too humane, and the quests that have already been started could be archived for the next time.

As for the case that NPC would take the quests on their own after he went offline?

How could that be possible?

How could there be a reason for NPCs to steal a quest from players?

Right?

Maybe triggering the hidden quest made Snow Wave use up all his luck today, as he happened to be offline at this juncture.

At this point, Yuei Vu was actually hesitant.

Maybe I really should wait for Snow Wave to come back and come here with him to find out?

After all, the quest was found by him, so even if I take the major part, I have to give him a little leftover, right?

Well, actually, it's because Yuei Vu didn't feel too relieved by himself.

Another advantage of taking the player on a mission was that no matter what enemy he encountered, he could push the player forward and let them try first.

Anyway, players were renewable consumables, and even if they hang up for a while, they could be resurrected. They were natural cannon fodder.

The reason why he followed Snow Wave so recklessly was that he had brought an all-purpose shield anyway, so it didn't matter if he encountered any danger.

If things turned bad, he could abandon Snow Wave and take the opportunity to run away.

But now that the shield was gone, Yuei Vu was really hesitant to move on.

However, he immediately found that he didn't have to hesitate. More precisely, he couldn't have the chance to hesitate at all.

Ding!

[Hidden mission is triggered: The Challenge From Mysterious Man!]

[Description: The power of darkness has flowed into the real world from the unknown realm. Try to fight back the darkness!]

[Winning Reward: Unknown.]

[Defeat Penalty: Unknown.]

Although the quest description had a completely unclear meaning, like the previous "The Challenge From Ghouls" series, there was no option to refuse this time.

In other words, coming to this place has been regarded as triggering a specific quest. It may be that someone hiding here has been eyeing him now, and he has no way back.

Snow Wave looked a little timid, but he seemed to have good ears. Yuei Vu walked to the middle of the bridge, and vaguely seemed to hear a "come here" voice.

The voice was not loud, it was very soft and thin, and it sounded like it was indeed a female voice. In the surrounding environment where you couldn't see your fingers, it's quite eerie. But if you closed your eyes and listen carefully, the sound was quite good, very light and crisp, giving you a sense of flexibility.

Yuei Vu already had experience in playing so many versions of World Link Online in his previous life.

The environment in the game Link World was not static. The system card pools held by players, cards owned by NPCs, combos and tactics, and even the game rules of dueling monsters were constantly changing with the version.

The later the version, the more types of cards players and NPCs had, the more deck types and tactical combinations there were, and the more complex the environment would become.

But looking at it the other way around, the game has not even launched version 1.0, the story was still in the early days of DM, the types of cards and gameplay were still very limited, and the environment is relatively simple.

Therefore, even if Yuei Vu only had an incomplete set of HEROes and a mixed deck of Dark Magician won from Pandora, in the current environment, there were not many duelists who could compete with him.

After all, even Jonouchi, the runner-up of the Duelist Kingdom, was defeated by him. So conservatively estimated, Yuei Vu felt that his combat effectiveness should be at least 1.5 times of Jonouchi.

With such strength, there should be very few quests at this stage that he could not handle.

The sound just now disappeared, but the sound of the rushing water under the bridge was even louder. A brisk wind blew from the other end of the river, stirring up the dark weeds on the bank.

He raised his head and saw that there was a safety sign on the bridge, showing that it was under construction by Kaiba Corp. It's just that this sign shows a very cute animated Blue-Eyes White Dragon with a funny safety helmet on its head.

Yuei Vu: ""

From this, it could also be seen that President Kaiba has a deep love for White Bride (nickname of Blue-Eyes White Dragon). The sports car that he drove had BEWD patterns, his jet plane was shaped like BEWD, and BEWD was even drawn on a construction sign to emphasize its status as Kaiba's main waifu.

The president was so obsessed that some netizens speculated the thing he used to masturbate solve special needs was also Blue-Eyes White Dragon cards

But it also made sense. The Millennium World arc of Yu-Gi-Oh! revealed that the Blue-Eyes White Dragon's past life was actually a lovely girl with blue hair and white skin, and had a love story with Kaiba, who was an Egyptian priest in his previous life.

A huge circular drainage pipe was placed beside the pier, and water was constantly flowing into the river.

Yuei Vu frowned as if he felt like he saw a cloud of dark gas floating out from the depths of the pipe, circling around his body.

He soon realized that it was not an illusion.

The dark mist gushed out from the depths of the pipe and condensed into a human entity in front of him.

Yuei Vu narrowed his eyes slightly.

It was a black-clothed man with an arrogant face. On the bridge of his nose was a pair of sunglasses in the style of American secret agents.

Yuei Vu recognized who this person was at a glance, but at the same time, he was also taken aback.

Is this Mr. T?

The mass-produced mook of Nightshroud, who was the final BOSS of Yu-Gi-Oh! GX?

In the final chapter of Yu-Gi-Oh! GX, the influx of darkness from a large number of human hearts awakens the ultimate boss named Nightshroud. That BOSS intended to erase the existence of all human beings in the world, and assimilates the consciousness of all human beings into a part of him.

And Mr. T who appeared in front of Yuei Vu at this time was the messenger of that villain. This Mr. T was a bit like Agent Smith in The Matrix. If you killed one, another would spawn.

It's just Wasn't Nightshroud supposed to be the villain of the final chapter of Yu-Gi-Oh! GX?

GX's protagonist Yuki Judai hasn't appeared yet.

But on second thought, it didn't seem unreasonable.

According to Nightshroud's self-proclaimed origin in the anime, it was a part of the rules of the world, but it was only awakened by the darkness in the human heart in the story of GX. That was to say, it has always existed in this world.

That being the case, it wouldn't be surprising even if it woke up early and leaked a small amount of darkness to the world.

At this time, Mr. T has also noticed Yuei Vu. He hummed and smiled, and said, "A duelist in the human world? Interesting, I have been sleeping for so long, and I don't know how far the human race has developed now."

As he spoke, his glare suddenly sharpened, the darkness all over his body rose sharply, and the pitch-black mist erupted like a storm, forming a terrifying and tyrannical power

However, Yuei Vu, who faced this supernatural power, not only had no fear in his heart he even wanted to play cards.

Sure enough, Mr. T raised his arm directly after a burst of explosive air, and the pitch-black mist turned into a black Duel Disk directly on his arm.

The corner of his mouth twitched and he smiled: "Let's duel!"

Chapter 28: Even The Villain Lacks Rare Card

Sure enough, as expected, there was nothing in this world that could not be solved by playing cards.

However, Yuei Vu was still very sure that he has never heard of such a quest in the 1.0 version of the game in his previous life. Obviously, in the animation of Yu-Gi-Oh! GX, Nightshroud was powerful, and he even had the consciousness that could drag all mankind into Nightshroud and let everyone fall into an infinite loop in their own fantasy.

That's right, it sounded like a Yu-Gi-Oh! version of Infinite Tsukuyomi

If such a powerful boss were to appear in version 1.0, it would have caused a lot of commotion, right?

The only explanation that Yuei Vu could think of at the moment was that the Nightshroud at this stage should not have fully awakened, and it was estimated that he could at best send one or two cannon fodders to the world to explore the way.

This quest may be solved by a normal player casually, and the difficulty was not high, so even if he entered the game so early, he has never heard of it.

"Duel!" x2

Mr. T, LP 4000

Yuei Vu, LP 4000

"It's been a long time since I moved my muscles and bones, so let me try you out a little, human duelist." Mr. T's mouth was crooked, revealing a weird smile.

"It's up to me to go first. Draw!

I summon the Dark Archetype in attack position. "

As the cards were placed on Mr. T's Duel Disk, the surrounding darkness seemed to be restless. The pitch-black mist rolled closer and gathered on the field in front of him, gradually condensing into some kind of reptile entity.

It was a weird monster wearing a white mask, with four thick legs sticking out from its bulky body, like a bastard with a turtle shell on its back.

The low-Level monster with an attack power of only 1400 seemed to have no aggressiveness at all, but it gave an ominous premonition.

Yuei Vu noticed that the darkness around him seemed to be getting more intense at some point. He found that he could not even see the stars in the sky.

"Set a card. I end my turn."

There was an image of a card with its back facing up at Mr. T's feet. He raised his head, with a confident smile on the corner of his mouth: "Okay, it's your turn."

Yuei Vu narrowed his eyes: "My turn."

Although the power of Nightshroud belonged to the god level in this world, the playing skills of Mr. T, his messenger, was not very good.

"Summon the Elemental HERO Heat!"

Sparks burst out from the dark gap, forming a flame in the space. The hero who controlled the flame took a gesture from it, and the moment he spread his arms, a translucent heat wave erupted.

[Elemental HERO Heat, ATK 1600]

"The effect of Heat is applied," Yuei Vu continued, "This card gains 200 ATK for each Elemental HERO' monster I control!"

[Elemental HERO Heat, ATK 1600 ATK 1800]

Of course, this card couldn't be a part of his initial deck which was full of Normies. Heat was also a new hero that Yuei Vu got after unremittingly opening packs these days.

Heat's initial attack power was 1600, but with his own effects, he would effectively have 1800 ATK. In today's version of the game, it was quite useful as a Level 4 monster.

(Sparkman: Great, I finally don't have to go to work today!)

"Fight!" Yuei Vu waved his hand, "Elemental HERO Heat, attack!"

"I'm going to activate my set card at this moment," Mr. T still maintained a calm smile, "Trap card Zero Gazer. This trap card can only be activated when a face-up Attack Position monster on my side of the field is selected as an attack target. That monster's ATK becomes 0 and I draw 1 card from my Deck."

[Dark Archetype, ATK 1400 ATK 0]

At this time, the flame hero has also reached his target. Dark Archetype whose attack power was reduced to 0 had no power to fight back. Its body was easily penetrated by the flames, and exploded from the inside out, and a large cloud of black mist erupted from the body.

After the flames penetrated the monster's body, it directly impacted Mr. T, who was the controller. The hot shock pierced through his body literally.

Mr. T's body looked as if it had been shattered for a short time, and the small half of his body was blasted out by the Heat's flame and disintegrated into countless cards in mid-air along with a large cloud of black mist.

But then those cards flew back to Mr. T's body on their own under the guidance of the black mist, filling up the part of his body that was blown away, and returned to their original state in the blink of an eye.

Yuei Vu suddenly realized something.

In this duel, the monsters they summoned It seemed that it is not just a three-dimensional image, but an entity transformed by the dark power that pervades the field.

In other words, the attacks of the monsters on both sides could cause a real impact on the other side.

The reduction of LP also corresponded to the reduction of real life. If he lost the battle, he might really die or worse.

Mr. T, LP 4000 LP2200

Mr. T, whose LP has been greatly reduced, should have suffered a considerable degree of physical damage just now, but this had no effect on him who was only a dark aggregate.

He kept a calm sneer and continued to explain: "At this moment just now, the effect of Dark Archetype has been activated. If this card is destroyed by battle and sent to the Graveyard, I can choose 1 monster in my Deck with an ATK equal to the Battle Damage I took from that battle. Send monsters whose total Levels equal the Level of the chosen monster from my hand to the Graveyard, and Special Summon the chosen monster.

The damage I took just now was 1800 points, so I can Special Summon a monster with 1800 ATK from the deck. "

Apparently, he just used trap cards to lower the attack power of his monsters just to trigger this effect.

"Come out, Meteor Dragon!"

A beam of light shot into the sky from the deck on his Duel Disk and turned into a shooting star. The flaming meteor dragged an arc-shaped trajectory in mid-air, drew a huge semi-circle, and swooped down toward the ground.

A dragon spread its wings in the flames, crouched on the field behind Mr. T, and roared loudly at the flame hero on Yuei Vu's side.

[Meteor Dragon, ATK 1800]

Yuei Vu frowned.

Jonouchi had summoned this monster before in a duel with him, and Yuei Vu naturally had an impression.

At that time, Jonouchi used Polymerization to fuse it with his ace monster, the Red-Eyes Black Dragon, and summoned Meteor Black Dragon with an attack power of 3500. In this 1.0 version that's already a pretty awesome monster.

So it seems that this Mr. T may also be aiming for this purpose?

But it stood to reason that such a rare card as the Red-Eyes Black Dragon should be unique. Although it was not the only copy in the world, the rarity should also be the top one.

Was it possible to print any rare card that exists in this world with the power of Nightshroud?

With this ability, wouldn't he be invincible in the world of Yu-Gi-Oh?

Yuei Vu: "I end my turn"

"My turn, draw!" Mr. T looked at him and smiled strangely, "This turn, I will show you the might of Nightshroud! I will activate Polymerization from my hand!"

It really came!

Yuei Vu's expression tightened.

Could it be that this guy really has Red-Eyes Black Dragon in his hands?

It's too much to print cards casually. I'm not as arrogant as you although I have a system!

"At this moment, I want to activate the monster effect of King of the Swamp' in my hand." Mr. T smiled and drew a card from his hand, "This card can be used as a substitute for any 1 Fusion Material whose name is specifically listed on the Fusion Monster Card.

I used it as a substitute for Red-Eyes Black Dragon!"

King of the Swamp in his hand was quickly projected and turned into a real body. Its body began to twist and deform like a pool of mud and gradually transformed into a dragon's body with pitch-black wings.

"I fuse King of the Swamp with Meteor Dragon on the field!" Mr. T shouted, "Fusion Summons! Meteor Black Dragon!"

Yuei Vu: " Wait a minute. Dude, did you use this thing instead because you couldn't afford money to buy the Red-Eyes Black Dragon'?"

Mr. T: ""

At this time, Mr. T, the agent of darkness, the incarnation of evil, and the truth-teller, fell into silence for a minute.

"Nonsense," he said.

Is there a problem with no rare cards? Who do you look down on?

Who said that you can't be a villain without a rare card?

Chapter 29: Please Take Care Of Me!

"Fusion Summon, Meteor Black Dragon!"

The two monsters were caught in the huge vortex of fusion, and a huge black dragon was born from it. Huge wings rolled up the hurricane, and the heat wave spread among the black mist.

[Meteor Black Dragon, ATK 3500]

Here again, it was the powerful fusion monster that Yuei Vu had only seen when he fought against Jonouchi not long ago. Unexpectedly, even if there was no Red-Eyes Black Dragon in his hand, this guy found a way to merge it out.

"Originally, according to the rules, fusion monsters cannot attack during the round they are fused summoned." Mr. T smiled slightly, "But now I want to activate this card Spell Card Quick Attack!

This card allows Fusion Monsters to attack in the turn they are Fusion Summoned! "

Yuei Vu: ""

How can there be such a foolish card?

Fusion monsters had to rely on Spell cards to attack in the round they were summoned This was unbelievable for modern Yu-Gi-Oh players.

"Battle!" Mr. T said in a dull and authentic voice, "Meteor Black Dragon! Attack Elemental HERO Heat!"

The black dragon roared, flapping its wings and rolling up a hot hurricane. It opened its bloody mouth, and a red-hot swirl rolled up in its dark and deep mouth.

Boom!

The scorching fireball engulfed Elemental HERO Heat's body, and the violent explosion tore him into pieces. In the space, billowing black smoke with flames erupted, and the heart-piercing pain was mixed with the burning sensation of high heat.

Yuei Vu, LP 4000 LP2300

Yuei Vu, who was directly under the impact, couldn't help groaning in pain.

It was the real pain as if he was in a Shadow Game, definitely not a mere three-dimensional projection-level tactile sensation. At this moment, he could feel a burning pain in half of his arms, and even the sweat oozing from his body seemed to evaporate on the spot under the burning flame.

At this moment, he felt that the darkness around him seemed to have become more intense. The deep and persistent black mist enveloped the two of them, and even the sound of the flowing water seemed to fade away at some point.

It was as if this duel was really sinking into deep darkness unknowingly.

Regardless of the opponent's duelist level, the dark power they possess is undoubtedly genuine. If I lose here, the consequences will be really serious.

"What's the matter, are you already afraid?" Mr. T sneered confidently. "If you are afraid, giving up is an option. Darkness welcomes anyone at any time."

"My turn, draw!" Yuei Vu didn't bother him at all.

He glanced at the card he had drawn, which happened to be a trap card that he "won" from the rare card hunter (or perhaps "rob" was more appropriate), which made the attack powerless.

Although this card couldn't get rid of Black Meteor Dragon on the opposite side, he should be able to survive the next round.

Yuei Vu made up his mind: "I summon Elemental HERO Clayman in defense position!"

[Elemental Hero Clayman, DEF 2000]

"Set a card. I end my turn!"

Mr. T laughed a few times: "Can you only strengthen the defense? But that's right, you have no way to fight back in front of Meteor Black Dragon.

My turn! I summon Molten Zombie in attack position! "

Flames reappeared in the dark field, and a burning zombie crawled up from the center of the scalding flames. It staggered from left to right, its arms drooping lifelessly as if the bones had melted.

[Molten Zombie, ATK 1600]

"Let me tell you, facing the power of Nightshroud, ordinary duels are not applicable!" Mr. T waved his arm that was wearing a Duel Disk.

"Meteor Black Dragon, attack Clayman!"

The pitch-black dragon opened its huge mouth again, and a ball of flame pierced through the darkness, dragging a bright-eyed hot track, flying toward the clay man with a scalding whirlwind.

"Activate the set card!"

Without any hesitation, Yuei Vu immediately prepared to activate the trap he set on the field, but the moment his fingers were about to touch the buttons on the Duel Disk, they suddenly stopped.

"what!?"

He found that his fingers just stopped less than half a centimeter away from the button, and no matter how the brain gave instructions, his fingers would not move half a centimeter.

There was a weird smile on Mr. T's face, and a pale blue light shone faintly behind the dark black super, which flickered in the darkness like a ghost fire.

Yuei Vu suddenly understood something.

It's mind control!

Mr. T was using the power of darkness to influence his mind and prevent his intention to activate the trap card.

Damn!

Why is this guy so dirty? It is said that Yu-Gi-Oh! BOSS must abide by the rules and play cards with others?

Is it okay to use superpowers to interfere with the opponent?

Boom!

As he was unable to activate the trap card, Clayman was instantly reduced to ashes under the impact of the fireball.

"It's not over yet, next is the Molten Zombie," Mr. T pushed the glasses frame on the bridge of his nose, "Direct attack!"

Still unable to move his body, Yuei Vu still couldn't activate the trap cards cover, so he could only use his body to resist the attack of Molten Zombie. The scorching pain almost paralyzed his nerves, and his whole body seemed to be taken away.

Yuei Vu, LP 2300 LP700

After the attack was over, black smoke began to rise from Yuei Vu's body. He involuntarily knelt on the ground halfway, and sweat dripped down his forehead as he gasped.

His control of the body was restored. (f)ree

Yuei Vu gritted his teeth.

With only 700 LP left, the scene was also overwhelmingly unfavorable, and the conditions for triggering the skill "Draw of fate" have been met.

But if he continued to be suppressed by the opponent in a way other than duel, no matter what card he drew, it would be meaningless.

He must figure out to deal with that trouble first

Yuei Vu was thinking about it, and a voice suddenly appeared in his ears a girl's voice that was crisp and sweet, and seemed a little immature.

Although it was very vague, so he couldn't understand what she was saying, it should be the same voice as the call he heard on the bridge above.

Yuei Vu was stunned for a moment.

He looked left and right, and there was still deep darkness around him, and there was no one except him and Mr. T on the opposite side.

Then he looked down at his Duel Disk with some uncertainty.

This voice is it from my deck?

For some reason, he looked at the back of the card at the top of his deck and had a strong premonition for no reason.

"My turn draw!"

Yuei Vu drew out the top card.

Maybe it was an illusion, but the moment he drew the card, he felt that the tightness in his chest seemed to be relieved a lot, and the darkness around him seemed to be dispelled a little as if he had sensed something.

When Yuei Vu glanced at the card he drew, he couldn't help being stunned.

The card he drew was "Dark Magician Girl".

The only designated apprentice of the top magician "Dark Magician" in the duel monster world, one of the representative monsters of Yugi Mutou

More importantly, it was the first love of countless players.

Blonde blue eyes, cute appearance, long wavy thighs, cool and hot magician costume, the perfect combination of cute and sexy No otaku could resist such attributes.

However, Yuei Vu was puzzled by something else he didn't have this card at all!

How can I draw a card that is not in the deck at all?

"I can finally talk to you, Master!"

A black magician girl with a translucent body appeared beside Yuei Vu, floating in the air like an insubstantial ghost.

"This is our first meeting. I'm the Dark Magician Girl, please take care of me!"

Chapter 30: Magical Girl

"Dark Magician Girl?" Yuei Vu was a little stunned at the moment.

"Yes, yes," the transparent magician girl nodded again and again, "I was calling you before. I tried to contact many duelists in this world, but no one responded to me"

Yuei Vu suddenly understood. It turned out that the voice that Snow Wave heard before was the Dark Magician Girl who was a Duel Monster Spirit, so that's why he couldn't see her

Not so fast! This still doesn't explain why I draw a card that doesn't exist in my deck!

"But I don't remember having you in my deck, right?"

"That's right, but now I'm temporarily possessed by you, so the card which is my real body is automatically added to your deck."

The girl shook her head as she explained, and accidentally slipped the wide magic hat down, and the wide brim blocked her eyes.

"So now you are my master."

As she spoke, she quickly straightened her hat back, and her movements looked a little clumsy and a little cute.

Yuei Vu roughly understood. All in all, it meant that the Dark Magician Girl in front of him was a spirit from the Duel Monsters Spirit World.

Although there were countless monster cards in the world of Yu-Gi-Oh, Duel Monster Spirits were quite rare. Not every monster card had a spirit inside.

The more famous ones were the three Blue-Eyes White Dragons in the hands of President Kaiba. There was no doubt that there must be monster spirits hosted there. The Dark Magician in Yugi's hand was also a spirit.

In the later Yu-Gi-Oh! GX, the Winged Kuriboh held by the protagonist Yuki Judai, the three Ojama brothers held by Jun Manjome, and the Crystal Beasts held by Johan Andersen were all relatively famous Duel Monster Spirits.

Oh, of course, the Dark Magician Girl in the Yugi's hand must also be a spirit, but it's not the same entity that Yuei Vu met right now.

Even the spirit of the same monster would have many different individuals. For example, in the Academy Festival arc of Yu-Gi-Oh! GX, there was also a Dark Magician Girl appearing, which should be different from the Dark Magician Girl held by Yugi.

"The world of we spirits is made up of thoughts in the world of your world, but our world, in turn, supports your world. The two worlds are an inseparable relationship like the two sides of the same coin."

The Dark Magician Girl began to explain: "To put it simply, there is an evil will that is trying to draw energy from our world and invade your world, master.

Although he has not fully awakened yet, once he awakens, it will be a rather terrifying evil force. That's what I'm here to inform the people of this world"

At this moment, Mr. T, who had been watching the play with his arms crossed, also spoke up, and said lightly: "Is that so, a Duel Monster Spirit trying to make trouble? Since that's the case, I will solve it together with you. "

The Dark Magician Girl showed an angry expression and stared at Mr. T with "super fierce" eyes.

"Huh~ The little magical girl is angry, it's really scary." Mr. T shrugged and smiled indifferently, "but I would like to remind you that the duel is still going on. You don't have much time left. If you continue to do nothing like this, I will count you as the end of your turn."

The Dark Magician Girl rolled his eyes at him, then turned to look at Yuei Vu, holding a small fist to cheer him up: "Anyway, defeat him here first! I will do my best!"

"Wellthank you," Yuei Vu said helplessly, "but even if you came to my handI can't summon you now!"

Not to mention that Dark Magician Girl was a Level 6 monster that needed a Tribute, and couldn't be summoned now as Yuei Vu's field was empty; even if she could, honestlyshe was not really useful.

In fact, in the last turn, Yuei Vu's LP has dropped to 700, which fulfilled the conditions for using Draw of fate. However, the magician girl miraculously jumped into his hand from outside the deck, and now he has missed the opportunity to activate the skill

Dark Magician Girl covered her mouth with a "Yeah" and realized something: "I broke in so rashly, did I did it trouble you, Master?"

Yuei Vu: ""

In fact, without her help, Yuei Vu would be affected by Mr. T's strange dark power in the next round, and would still lose.

It seems that there is really nothing to blame her for.

"I summon Elemental HERO Avian in defense position'." Yuei Vu said, "I end my turn."

[Elemental HERO Avian, DEF 1000]

"Hey, can't you do anything other than strengthening the defense?" Mr. T sneered, "I'll get rid of you and that unsightly spirit now. My turn, draw!

Battle! Molten Zombie, take down that trash monster! "

Avian gritted his teeth, tensed his muscles, and straightened his waist, ready to meet the upcoming impact. The Molten Zombie dragged the rolling fire line and rushed straight to the Winged Man, and opened his hot five fingers and pressed it towards his face.

Yuei Vu repeated the operation of the previous turn again: "I activate my trap card!"

Mr. T also repeated his old tricks. His eyes lit up like ghost fire, and the dark spiritual energy shot towards Yuei Vu from the air, trying to interfere with his actions again like the previous turn.

This time, the energy he released hit a transparent magic circle less than half a meter in front of Yuei Vu and sputtered away.

The Dark Magician Girl waved her small staff with a swirling spheroid, puffed her cheeks and stared at Mr. T angrily, and seemed to be very angry with his behavior in a duel.

"Counter Trap Negate Attack!" As Mr. T's dirty trick was blocked, Yuei Vu finally successfully activated his card, "negate the attack, then end the Battle Phase!"

The whirlwind rolled up by the trap card blew the Molten Zombie back, and the Battle Phase was forcibly ended, and the remaining Meteor Black Dragon that had not attacked could no longer fight.

Mr. T snorted: "Cut, hateful spirit. But it's just lingering, the next round is the death of the two of you. I end my turn!"

It finally made it through.

It seemed that no matter what, this was probably Yuei Vu's last round.

"My turn draw!"

Without hesitation, Yuei Vu directly activated the skill Draw of fate.

"Activate Pot of Greed!" Yuei Vu inserted the newly drawn card into the card slot without even looking at it, "The effect of this card is to draw two more cards from the deck. Draw!"

Yuei Vu once again drew two cards from the deck.

He squinted at the card he had drawn, and couldn't help but twitch the corner of his mouth.

It's here!

"I'll sacrifice the Elemental HERO Avian' on the field.."

Yuei Vu glanced at the girl beside him who was waving a staff and stood in front of him, met her, and exchanged glances.

"Advance Summoned the Dark Magician Girl!"

The white whirlwind enveloped the winged hero on the field, turning into a golden light and dissipating.

A powerful wave of magic power was released, condensing a slender figure in the middle of the field. The ghostly phantom that floated by Yuei Vu's side disappeared, and then the entity of the magician girl emerged from the magic storm in the center.

She skillfully turned the staff several times in her hand and swept it lightly in front of her, her pink short skirt fluttering gently under the air.

Yuei Vu instantly felt the pressure in his heart ease a bit, and the darkness that had accumulated in his own half of the court seemed to dissipate a little.

"Next, I'm going to activate a Spell card from my hand Monster Reborn!"

Monster Reborn, a Spell Card with a rarity level of SR. This card was also a rookie gift package from Pandora Thinking about it, Yuei Vu has really picked up a lot of good things from him in his rookie period. That Mr. Magician was really a good person

"Monster Reborn," Mr. T chuckled, "but there is only a bunch of trash in your GY. No matter what you revive, it is not the opponent of the Meteor Black Dragon!"

"Who said I was going to revive the monster in my GY?" Yuei Vu smiled.

"what?"

"What I want to revive is" Yuei Vu stretched out his hand and pointed straight at Mr. T's Duel Disk, "that King of the Swamp' in your GY!"

Monster Reborn (Normal Spell Card) Target 1 monster in either GY; Special Summon it.

Mr. T was stunned to see a golden light released from the grave area of his Duel Disk, and the King of the Swamp card flew out of it, like a magnet that was pulled into Yuei Vu's hand, and was immediately summoned to the field.

"Thank you for lending me your all-purpose fusion material." Yuei Vu smiled, "I activate Polymerization from my hand!

Then at this moment, I will also use the ability of the King of the Swamp to substitute it for a Fusion Material! The material I'm going to choose is Elemental HERO Flame Wingman! "

"What?"

Mr. T looked bewildered.

Elemental HERO Flame Wingman? I've never heard of such a monster.

"I fuse Elemental HERO Flame Wingman with Elemental HERO Spark in my hand. Come out

'Elemental HERO Shining Flare Wingman!' "
