Chapter 51: They Were Able To Use Cheats

Blue-Eyes White Dragon, summon!

The pressure of the dragon swept across the earth, and the rolled-up storm was like the sky itself venting its anger. In the duel arena, sand and stones were flying, and even the dust particles seemed to be swept away by the gust of wind, making room for the appearance of the dragon king.

The white dragon slowly descended, and its flapping wings rolled up a hurricane. It stretched its neck, raised its head, and let out a roar that shook the sky, and even the dense clouds seemed to retreat in fear in the dragon's roar.

That was the pressure of the white dragon.

Perhaps only Yuei Vu, who stood on the field and faced the white dragon in person, could best appreciate the trembling feeling transmitted through the virtual image at this moment.

That was by no means a pressure that ordinary monsters could match.

The power of monster spirits could not be judged purely by attack power or practical value. The Blue-Eyes White Dragon was the best example. Although it was just a Normal monster with an attack power of 3000, that kind of suppressing power could easily make people feel that they were facing a divine beast.

"Hahahaha! Bow down before the power of Blue Eyes!" The president continued to swell, "Blue Eyes White Dragon, attack! Burst Stream of Destruction!"

The silver-white dragon opened its mouth, and powerful surging energy was brewing in its mouth.

An explosive energy sphere blasted out along the trail of lightning, engulfing the Bladedge's body instantly. The white light that seemed to swallow up all the darkness shattered the body of the Bladedge and charged towards the other side of the night in a mighty manner.

Yuei Vu subconsciously used his arm to block in front of him, and his body took a half step back under the shock of the impact.

Yuei Vu, LP 3850 LP 3450

"Hey, as expected of the White Bride." He smiled and said to himself, "It just feels different."

"Set another card, and I end my turn." Kaiba clenched his fists, "Come on, if you can defeat my Blue-Eyes White Dragon, let's try it!"

Yuei Vu stood up straight again.

"My turn, draw!"

The Blue-Eyes White Dragon with a full attack power of 3000 points. "Its strength is unmeasurable, and destroys everything that faces it." (card description).

Who could stand it?

So Yuei Vu decided to learn from the president as well.

"Activate Pot of Greed!" Yuei Vu continued to take out the forbidden card, "Draw two cards from the deck!"

He glanced at the card he drew, and suddenly had the urge to laugh out loud.

"And then I activate the second Pot of Greed', draw two more from the deck!"

All players who have played cards should know that the coolest thing in the world was to draw Pot of Greed by Pot of Greed

For example, right now, Yuei Vu was in such a state.

"Then I'm going, President!" Yuei Vu shouted, "The first thing I want to summon is this monster Skilled Dark Magician'!"

A magician in a black robe appeared in the field with the light and shadow effect of the three-dimensional image. He wore a top hat, held a black staff, and was tightly wrapped in a robe. The shadow covered half of his face, making it impossible to see his true appearance.

Kaiba frowned.

Dark Magician?

It turns out that this kid's deck is not all from the "Elemental HERO" series?

And Dark Magicianit's easy to make President Kaiba have some special associations.

"Next is the Spell Card Fusion Recovery!" Yuei Vu played the next card, "I return a Polymerization in the Graveyard and the Elemental HERO Sparkman' that was sent to the Graveyard as a fusion material to the hand."

Kaiba folded his arms and watched him operate.

Fusion Recovery Are you planning to use fusion to attack?

He noticed that the "Skilled Dark Magician" on Yuei Vu's field has changed. At this moment, one of the three indicator lights on the staff was lit.

"Next is the spell card E Emergency Call! I can choose a Warrior-Type monster from the deck and add it to my hand The one I want to add to my hand is Elemental HERO Avian! "

Yuei Vu sent the spell card to the GY, took Avian from the deck, and added it to his hand.

Kaiba noticed that the second indicator light of the staff on "Skilled Dark Magician" was lit.

Yuei Vu then inserted the next card into the Duel Disk: "Activate Spell card Polymerization! I fuse Elemental HERO Sparkman, and the WIND attribute Elemental HERO Avian!

Fusion Summon! Elemental HERO Great Tornado! "

The wind roared, and a black cloud image was projected in mid-air. The inverted funnel-shaped tornado descended with thunder and lightning, and the hero of the storm descended from it, his cloak swaying in the wind behind him.

[Elemental HERO Great Tornado, ATK 2800]

"The effect of the Great Tornado!" Yuei Vu waved his arm, "If this card is Fusion Summoned: Halve the ATK and DEF of all face-up monsters on the opponent's field!"

"The Blue-Eyes White Dragon's attack power is halved?" Kaiba gritted his lower teeth lightly.

[Blue-Eyes White Dragon, ATK 3000 ATK 1500]

At the same time, the third indicator light of the staff of the "Skilled Dark Magician" has also been lit.

"You should have noticed it too." Yuei Vu chuckled, "The special ability of a Skilled Dark Magician Each time a Spell Card is activated, place 1 Spell Counter on this card.

And when the magician's staff collects all three counters, his true power will be released.

I sacrificed the Skilled Dark Magician' with three Spell Counters, and Special Summon from the deck

Dark Magician! "

"What!?" Kaiba was taken aback.

The magician's figure disappeared on the field with a burst of blue fluorescence, and a red shadow flew out of Yuei Vu's deck.

The spell power rolled up a blood mist-like vortex on the ground, the red afterimage rose into the air, and the green staff flew flexibly in the hand. The released spell power seemed to divide the field of spell in the space, matching the coercion of the white dragon.

"Dark Magician!" The moment Kaiba saw the monster, he was briefly lost.

There was no doubt that Mr. President must be thinking of his gay friend ah, sorry, his old enemy Yami Yugi.

But he also quickly returned his attention to the current duel.

Although it was a card with the same name, the one in front of him was obviously not the "Dark Magician" in Yugi's hands.

The Dark Magician in Yugi's hand was a bit dark, and the one in front of him was a bit red. The president said that he was not colorblind and of course, he could tell the difference.

"Dark Magician, attack the Blue-Eyes White Dragon!" Yuei Vu ordered.

The Blue-Eyes White Dragon hissed and roared as if trying to fight back against the shadow of the enemy in front of him. But now its attack power has been halved due to the effect of the Great Tornado, and it was unable to counterattack Dark Magician.

The black spell shock easily dissipated the light waves exhaled by the white dragon. The dragon's body was penetrated back and forth and fell to the ground with a scream, and the fragments that turned into images dissipated.

Seto Kaiba, LP 1500 LP 500

"Fuck it! It's so strong!" The friends who were watching began to be restless again.

"Hey, hey, it seems like this kid can really beat that Kaiba Seto!"

"Can even a legendary monster like the Blue-Eyes White Dragon be defeated?"

"That guy has only the last 500 LP left. We still have more than 3000 LP on our side! It's already a one-sided situation!"

But Yuei Vu was not as optimistic as them.

"Set two cards." Yuei Vu said, "I end my turn."

In the eyes of Yuei Vu and even most Yu-Gi-Oh real card players, LP was actually irrelevant.

The HP in this game was actually a very confusing thing. Sometimes the opponent's LP was like a candle in the wind, but you just couldn't kill the opponent no matter what. Sometimes, even if you had 8000LP yourself, you were killed by the opponent in one turn

So even though it seemed that there is a huge difference in LP, Yuei Vu didn't take this difference to heart at all.

However, he did feel that he has an absolute advantage, not because of LP, but because of his hand resources.

Kaiba now has exhausted all the cards in his hand. According to the experience of real card players, he could basically surrender in this situation.

But considering that the opponent was Kaiba himself, Yuei Vu had an ominous premonition

"My turn, draw!"

Kaiba pulled out the next card vigorously, and let out a standard three-segment laugh.

"Hahahaha, as expected, the goddess of fate has favored me again! I activate Spell Card Card of Demise! Due to the effect of this card, I draw cards until I have five cards in my hand! But during my 5th Standby Phase after activation, I'll have to send all cards in my hand to the Graveyard!"
(anime effect)

Yuei Vu almost spat a mouthful of blood again.

That's why it's pointless for players to spend all their efforts in front of NPCs to make a difference, a gap in resources, and so on.

Because they were able to use cheats.

Chapter 52: Trust Your Deck!

Card of Demise was one of the divine cards of the DM era. It had a super card drawing ability and was able to revive a duelist from the brink of death with one card.

In fact, this card had a real card version, but the difference was simply the gap between heaven and earth. The real-card "Card of Demise" could only allow players to draw until having three cards in their hand, and they were also unable to Special Summon during the turn they activated this card, their opponent took no damage this turn, and during the End Phase of this turn, they had to send the entire hand to the GY.

According to the anime effect, "Card of Demise" was regarded by the players as a terrifying card with the same power as "Card of Sanctity". It could refill resources in an instant when the player ran out of cards, and may even make all the efforts of the opponent's entire game so far be in vain.

For example, Yuei Vu watched President Kaiba fill up five cards one by one, and now he had the urge to curse "motherf*cker"

MMD, when this duel is over, I will go back to fill my deck with three "Card of Sanctity", three "Card of Demise" and so on.

Compared with this kind of cheating card, the Pot of Greed, which gave +1 hand advantage with neither cost nor condition, seemed to be nothing

"Dark Magician I didn't expect to meet a duelist with this kind of card in a place like this." Kaiba raised his voice which was full of enthusiasm, "but are you a duelist who is qualified to control this top magician? Let me try it myself now!

Activate a Spell Card from the hand Monster Reborn! Come back to life, my strongest servant Blue-Eyes White Dragon! "

Kaiba inserted the Spell Card into the Duel Disk and raised his arms while roaring loudly.

The ancient Egyptian symbol of life appeared on the field behind the Kaiba, and the wings of the white dragon spread out on both sides.

A dragon roar seemed to penetrate the barrier between the underworld and reality, and the huge body flew up from the ground. The White Dragon of Light roared towards Yuei Vu's half of the field as if to vent his endless anger.

"Hahahaha, surrender under the endless power of the Blue-Eyes White Dragon!" Kaiba waved his arm, and the invisible wind blew the hem of his windbreaker, "Open the set card: Trap Card -Tyrant Wing!

After this Trap Card is activated, it can be equipped as an Equip Card to a Dragon-Type monster on my side of the field. It gains 400 ATK/DEF, also it can make up to 2 attacks on monsters during each Battle Phase! "

The silver-white wings of the Blue-Eyes White Dragon turned pure gold, shining with divine brilliance. The power of the already powerful white dragon has been further enhanced, as if the king's aura descended, making people feel suffocating.

[Blue-Eyes White Dragon, ATK 3000 ATK 3400]

"Blue-Eyes White Dragon, attack!" Kaiba shouted, and at the same time began to tactically sing the president's iconic lines, "Burst Stream of Destruction!!!"

Yuei Vu: ""

Hearing the president's hoarse voice, he couldn't help but worry about the other party's throat. It's just a game of cards, but the president was too deeply involved

Anyway, he was prepared to deal with it: "Open the set card- Covering Fire! During the Damage Step, if an opponent's monster attacks my monster: Target 1 other face-up monster I control; my attacked monster gains ATK equal to that target's ATK, during the Damage Step! "

He waved to the Great Tornado beside him.

"I use the Great Tornado to support the Dark Magician! Add the Great Tornado's attack power to the Dark Magician's !"

The hero who controlled the storm let out a low roar, and a faint green flame ignited on his body. At the same time, the Dark Magician was also enveloped by the same power, and the power of the two superimposes each other under the effect of the trap card.

[Dark Magician, ATK 2500 ATK 5300]

Attack power 5300!

The spectators were boiling!

For them, Red-Eyes Black Dragon with 2400 attack power was already a bigshot among dueling monsters.

Higher attack power was almost invisible in normal play.

The attack power value of 5300 was simply an unimaginable peak. If you could control a monster with this kind of attack power, it was almost invincible!

However, for a duelist of the level of President Kaiba, things were different.

"Tricks of this level are completely within my calculation!" Kaiba shouted, "Activate Quick-Play spell Shrink! Halved the ATK of a monster on the field until the end of this turn!"

"Oh? It's actually this card."

Of course, Yusei was no stranger to this card. It was a very powerful and practical Spell Card in the Yu-Gi-Oh! DM environment. President Kaiba was indeed a local tyrant, as he had no shortage of rare cards with the strong single-card ability.

And it was worth noting that the anime effect of "Shrink" was that "the ATK of the monster" has become half, not "the ATK of the monster" like its real card version. Which meant that the attack power gained by the card effect was also counted.

In other words, if this was the real card version of "Shrink", Dark Magician would only lose half of its original ATK of 2500, which was 1250 points. But now

[Dark Magician, ATK 5300 ATK 2650]

"The first-class duelists are always two steps ahead, and I am three steps ahead!" Kaiba started to boast again, wishing that his nostrils would be turned upside down, "I had long expected that you would use the card to strengthen the Dark Magician, But this kind of trick won't work in front of the invincible Blue-Eyes White Dragon!"

Yusei couldn't help but feel ashamed.

So how did you know that the card I set was an attack power-enhancing card? What if I set a Magic Cylinder?

Does the president admit in disguise that his cards were all just printed on the spot?

Because he expected that I would increase my monster's attack power, so he printed a counter card on the spot?

That's worthy of being a true duelist. Even the cards used in actual combat are created on the spot. but it doesn't matter!

The president thought he was three steps ahead, but Yuei Vu was actually five steps ahead.

"Open the set card!" Yuei Vu turned over the second set card on the field, "Trap card Black Illusion! Until the end of this turn, all DARK Spellcaster-Type monsters with 2000 or more ATK I currently control cannot be destroyed by battle, their effects are negated, also they are unaffected by your card effects!"

"What!?" Kaiba finally showed a look of surprise.

"The Dark Magician is the top magician, and magic is ineffective for him!" Yuei Vu shouted, "So the effect of the Spell Card's Shrink' cannot affect the Dark Magician, and the effect of the Covering Fire is still valid!

So the attack power of the Dark Magician remains at 5300 points! "

[Dark Magician, ATK 5300]

[Blue-Eyes White Dragon, ATK 3400]

"You can't stop the Blue-Eyes White Dragon's attack order, President Kaiba." Yuei Vu smiled, "This duel I won!"

The audience began to boil.

"Really or not, this kid really seems to be winning!"

"No way? Can he really beat that Kaiba Seto?"

Kaiba gritted his teeth: "It's not over yet! I'll activate a Quick-Play spell card from my hand- Interdimensional Matter Transporter!"

A dark green Spell Card appeared on the field, and a white metal machine was projected in the center of the field.

"This card can target 1 face-up monster I control; banish that target until the End PhaseI target Blue-Eyes White Dragon!"

The white mechanical device was activated, and the released energy enveloped the Blue-Eyes White Dragon on the field. A wormhole opened in the sky, and Blue-Eyes White Dragon turned into a ray of golden light and flew into the wormhole, and disappeared from the field area.

Blue-Eyes White Dragon's attack was therefore canceled at this critical moment, and at least the remaining LP of Kaiba was barely kept. It's just that Tyrant Wing was destroyed because the equipped monster left the field.

Yuei Vu pouted.

As expected of a plot character, he is quite a survivor. No matter what the situation is, there must be a card in the hand that can just be dealt with

Wait, "Interdimensional Matter Transporter" in real life seems to be a Trap Card?

So it seems that this quick attack magic may be a special edition for the president, and Kaiba himself printed it for himself

(Note: In the anime, Kaiba used this card in the Sky Duel Colosseum against Yugi. The animation version is Quick-Play Spell Card)

Well, it seems that the boss may still be stronger. It is estimated that President Kaiba should be ten steps ahead.

"Set a card, I end my turn." Kaiba hummed softly, "Then at the end of the turn, Blue-Eyes White Dragon, due to the effect of the Interdimensional Matter Transporter', will return to the field Roar again, Blue-Eyes White Dragon!"

The entire space was once again ruled by the storm set off by the dragon wings, the wormhole opened, and the powerful and unparalleled white dragon returned to the field through the tunnel of another dimension, protecting President Kaiba behind him with his body.

[Blue-Eyes White Dragon, ATK 3000]

At the end of the turn, the effect of Black Illusion also disappeared, and the Dark Magician no longer had full immune resistance.

However, the effect of the trap card "Covering Fire" would not disappear by the end of the turn, so the attack power of the Dark Magician on the Yuei Vu's field remained at 5300. (1)

With this attack power, he could win with just one hit in the next turn.

If the opponent was a normal player, Yuei Vu had a high probability of winning at this time. In such an endgame, there was a high probability that the opponent just set a bluffing card to scare people.

However, since he was facing President Kaiba, he couldn't have such a fluke.

After all, true duelists always have cards that could be used in their hands. Yuei Vu must assume that the president's Spell/Trap zone was covered with something that could help him get through this turn safely

And there was a high probability that it would be a trap that would be triggered by an attack. After all, there were many traps of this type in Yu-Gi-Oh!

So at this time, as a true duelist, all Yuei Vu could do was trust his deck.

Didn't Yami Yugi always put these words on his lips?

"Since you put all of your feelings into building your Deck, it can be relied on to help you win!"

He put his hand on the deck, closed his eyes, and prayed in his heart

Can you come, Mystical Space Typhoon!?

Using Mystical Space Typhoon to blow Kaiba's set card away, this is a sure win!

"Draw!"

It was said that "great effort produces miracles". Yuei Vu learned from the magic draw poses of the protagonists of all eras, and forcefully pulled out the top card of the deck, opened his eyes, and looked at it His expression suddenly became difficult to express.

He drew "Dark Magician Girl".

Chapter 53: The Scent Of The Burning Card

Yuei Vu fell into a long and strange silence when he looked at the "Dark Magician Girl" he had drawn in his hand.

He wanted to say that the bond with the deck was not enough but it didn't seem right.

After all, the deck really "responded" to him, and the only card in the entire deck that had a spirit in it came to his hand.

However, what he wanted was a Mystical Space Typhoon

"I'm sorry, master!"

The spirit of the Dark Magician Girl appeared beside him, bowed a standard ninety degrees to apologize, and held the staff uneasily in her small hands.

Yuei Vu sighed softly, but he couldn't blame her for anything.

After all, it wasn't her own intention to appear at such an unfortunate time, and the Dark Magician Girl who was shuffled to this position during the shuffle was also very helpless.

The one who should be blamed was her master, for not being a "true duelist" and not being able to draw the cards she wanted at a critical time.

And when Yuei Vu looked at her sincere apology and two big white balls under the neckline of her clothes (which were revealed after she bent down), he certainly couldn't blame her

.Even if she should be punished, it must wait after we go back. At most I can only spank her

Since that's the case, then Yuei Vu could only use the simplest and most rude method no matter what kind of trap waiting, just step on it.

"Battle!" Yuei Vu chose to directly enter the Battle Phase, "Dark Magician, attack the Blue-Eyes White Dragon!"

The Dark Magician with an attack power of 5300 raised his staff, and the particles of magic seemed to gather from all corners of the air, like iron filings pulled by a magnet.

The pitch-black electric current surrounded the deep black light waves visible to the naked eye and condensed into a sphere on the Dark Magician's staff, and the fluctuation of magic power surrounded the magician's body like a whirlwind, like a layer of the dark iris.

As expected, the card in the back row of Kaiba was activated at this moment.

"Open the set card!" Kaiba shouted, "Trap card Waboku!"

The trap card was flipped, and three benevolent women appeared on the field. They used their weak bodies to block the front of the Blue-Eyes White Dragon, closed their eyes, and prayed softly, and the magic power released from their bodies was linked together and transformed into a transparent spherical barrier, protecting the dragon and its master Kaiba.

The impact of the dark magic hit the transparent barrier and was scattered like a stream of water hitting a stone.

Kaiba chuckled lightly: "In the turn this card is activated, I take no battle damage and my monsters cannot be destroyed by battle."

Yuei Vu knew this card well.

This trap was also a divine weapon for stall decks produced in Yu-Gi-Oh DM, making the user become almost invincible in one turn. And unlike Negate Attack, this card didn't even require the opponent to declare an attack, and could be activated freely at any point during the entire turn.

It seemed that even if Yuei Vu have just drawn Mystical Space Typhoon, Kaiba could still activate this card in response. No matter what, Yuei Vu won't be able to defeat Kaiba in this turn.

Unless he had a Night Beam, but that card was not in Yuei Vu's current card library.

(Night Beam (Spell Card) Target 1 Set Spell/Trap your opponent controls; destroy that target. Your opponent cannot activate the targeted card in response to this card's activation.)

So it seemed that his Dark Magician Girl shouldn't take the blame

"I end my turn."

There was nothing to do, so Yuei Vu directly ended his turn.

"My turn."

The control power came to Kaiba again, but he did not rush to draw cards but stared at his deck, and his eyes began to heat up.

At this point, he has completely abandoned his previous attitude of contempt and really treated the opponent in front of him with all his strength.

He found that his fingers on the deck were shaking slightly, and every cell in his body seemed to be mobilized.

A frenzy for fighting was surging uncontrollably from the bottom of his heart and rushed to his brain along with the boiling blood in his veins.

Kaiba Seto has not felt this way for a long time.

The last time there was this kind of blood boiling, the fighting spirit of every cell in the body was mobilized to the maximum, this kind of unbearable heat and full of hunger and thirst it was still when he was fighting against Yugi Muto.

Although the previous battle with Pegasus also made him fight hard, after all, Pegasus used the power of the Millennium Eye to cheat, and he also used the soul of Kaiba's younger brother Mokuba as a threat, so he did not let him have this kind of feel.

Kaiba once thought that only Yugi Muto in the world could bring him the pleasure of being pushed to the limit and the potential of his whole body being fully exploited. Now he realized that he seemed to be wrong.

And this time, the opponent was even the controller of the "Dark Magician", which made him even think for a moment that he has seen the shadow of his old enemy.

Kaiba's eyes gradually became hot.

This time, if he wanted to do his best, he must defeat the monster in front of him!

he wanted to draw "that card!"

"Draw!"

Kaiba raised his voice, and at the same moment, he drew the top card from the deck.

Then he opened his eyes, and there was an undisguised smug smile on the corner of his mouth as if he was already winning.

"I activate Spell card Silent Doom!" Kaiba started the operation, "Target 1 Normal Monster in my GY; Special Summon it in face-up Defense Position, but it cannot attack. Come on! I'll resurrect another Blue-Eyes White Dragon!"

A beam of light rose into the sky, and another white dragon with blue eyes flew out, and its wings were protected like a shield in front of him.

[Blue-Eyes White Dragon, DEF 2500]

Yuei Vu narrowed his eyes: "The second Blue-Eyes White Dragon Was it discarded from the hand when Cost Reduction' was activated earlier?"

But even if the second Blue-Eyes White Dragon was summoned, the situation on the field wouldn't change. Blue Eyes White Dragon couldn't defeat the Dark Magician with 5300 ATK.

Kaiba himself should be aware of this as well.

"Next up is another Spell card Foolish Burial!"

Kaiba played another divine card that was famous among Yu-Gi-Oh players.

"Due to the effect of this card, I can choose a monster from the deck and send it to the graveyard. What I want to choose is 'Peten the Dark Clown!'"

Kaiba selected a monster card with the appearance of a clown from the deck and sent it directly to the cemetery.

"Then I activate Peten the Dark Clown's effect at this very moment! When this card is sent to the GY: I can banish this card from my GY; Special Summon 1 Peten the Dark Clown' from my hand or Deck!

I Special Summoned another Peten the Dark Clown from the deck!"

[Peten the Dark Clown, ATK 500]

At this time, there were already three monsters on Kaiba's field.

Yuei Vu suddenly had an ominous feeling.

Kaiba's eyes suddenly widened, revealing an almost hideous smile.

"Open your eyes and get a good look This is God!"

He held up the card in his hand.

"I tribute Peten the Dark Clown and two Blue-Eyes White Dragons on the field Come on! God of Destruction, Obelisk the Tormentor!!!"

The billowing black clouds covered the sky at some point, and blue thunder tore through the clouds and crashed down.

A dark phantom appeared in the sky as if a huge palm pushed away the clouds. Scarlet eyes lit up behind the clouds, like a god overlooking the world.

A huge, incomparably large shadow emerged from behind the clouds, accompanied by a rumble of deafening thunder.

The pale lightning that cut through the sky illuminated the huge blue body, and the giant with the power of destruction appeared heavily on the half of the field behind Kaiba.

For such a brief moment, Yuei Vu felt as if his body was locked.

It was an illusion as if the soul was being grabbed, a strong sense of oppression rising from the deepest part of the body. His hands and feet seemed numb, and his brain refused to think.

It was not until the Dark Magician Girl in the spirit state blocked Yuei Vu with her body and activated a certain ability by waving a small staff, that Yuei Vu felt the pressure in his heart ease a bit.

"Master, are you okay?" she hurriedly asked.

"It's okay, thank you." Yuei Vu breathed a sigh of relief.

As expected of the God Card, it would be a huge burden for ordinary duelists to fight against the coercion of such a god.

Yuei Vu's attention returned to the duel.

But even if it was a god, Obelisk the Tormentor's attack power was only 4000. According to the rules of the game, it still couldn't defeat the Dark Magician on Yuei Vu's side.

Unless Kaiba had another move. For example, thinking of a way to gather two sacrifices and activate the special effect of Obelisk destroying all monsters on the opponent's field, and inflicting 4000 damage to the opponent.

If the president used this skill, then Yuei Vu would accept his defeat, as he really couldn't handle this trick.

Except for Yugi who, combining with his BISS ability, could forcibly use the Kuriboh to block the damage, who could stand it?

However, in such a situation, it should be impossible to gather two sacrifices, right?

Unless the president could print another card for him on the spot

But it's a pity that he didn't seem to be able to see the president's next move.

Because just a few seconds after Obelisk appeared, the Duel Disk in the hands of President Kaiba issued a "zizily" sound.

The three-dimensional images trembled like erratic flames and then disappeared in an instant.

Even the giant soldier that covered the sky flickered for a while and then disappeared as a phantom.

The Duel Disk in President Kaiba's hand emitted black smoke, accompanied by a faint burnt smell.

This taste was familiar to Yuei Vu.

that's the scent of the burning card.

The Duel Disk newly developed by President Kaiba seems to be unable to withstand the pressure of the god's image being embodied it burned.

Chapter 54: Rich Harvest

Yes, that's right, at the moment when Kaiba shot his ace monster Obelisk the Tormentor, one of the three gods known as the apex of the dueling monster, his Duel Disk seemed to be unable to withstand the mighty power of the gods and burned on the spot

Yuei Vu: ""

So President, does this count as pulling out a screw?

(In the 5DS anime, the protagonist Fudo Yusei once lost the duel due to the failure of the D-Wheel, which caused the duel to be suspended. Netizens joked that Yusei deliberately pulled the screw of the D-Wheel when the situation was not good, and it has become a famous meme ever since.)

Could it be that the president found that he couldn't beat him, so he quickly summoned Obelisk the Tormentor to pull out the screws

No, no, the president was not that kind of person.

In any case, it didn't look like this duel can go on.

However, for Yuei Vu, his goal should have been achieved. After all, his original purpose of playing this card was not to win.

Kaiba glanced at the burnt Duel Disk in his hand and couldn't help frowning.

This kind of thing has happened when doing the Duel Disk test. However, after many modifications and improvements to the trial-type Duel Disk, the Duel Disk officially released today should be able to carry the power of God, and this was unlikely to happen.

But even if the odds were low, the possibility still existed. This was like forcing a computer to run a large program that is just at the limit of its performance. In theory, the computer may indeed be able to carry it, but it was not surprising that the host computer overheats and shuts down at any time.

Kaiba snorted and put away the Duel Disk.

He looked up at Yuei Vu: "What's your name?"

"Yuei Vu."

President Kaiba was thoughtful, it seemed that he remembered the name, maybe he was still thinking of "It's a guy with the Yu' prefix again" in his heart.

"You said before that you had an opinion on the game of dueling monsters?"

"Just some personal suggestions." Yuei Vu also put away the Duel Disk and said, "Because as you can see, I am also the most loyal fan of this game. I believe that the president also hope that it will become better. ."

"Humph."

Kaiba turned around and threw the windbreaker dashing before he left, he didn't forget to show off.

"This Saturday, if you are interested, come to Kaiba Corp."

After he finished speaking, he left without waiting for anyone to answer.

The helicopter flew away from the scene, and the men in black also returned to the car without saying a word, and the vehicles that surrounded the port also drove away one after another.

it is finally over.

Although tonight was completely different from what was planned in advance, for Yuei Vu, the result was quite good.

Although the mission of raiding Ghouls was completely in vain, in the process, he also triggered the faction mission of "Fighting Kaiba Seto".

"Representing the Nightcrawler World to duel with Kaiba Seto", no matter whether the duel was won or not, he would get a lot of rewards of course, if he could win, the rewards would be even more generous.

However, this duel was not finished due to an accident at the end, and the result was neither a victory nor a defeat. The rewards are given a lot of experience and crystal, which is much richer than the rewards of ordinary tasks.

It's just that Yuei Vu was a little curious: If he won this match, what would be the additional victory reward?

Since winning the Pandora gave him a Dark Magician, wouldn't it be a Blue-Eyes White Dragon?

Shouldn't it be?

NTR-ing Kaiba's waifu was too exciting.

Could it be Obelisk the Tormentor?

If that's the case, it would be too painful.

In the setting of Yu-Gi-Oh, three gods were temperamental. If it was not for the masters they approve of trying to use the God Cards, not only would they not be able to make gods work for them, it would even attract the wrath of God and be punished by heaven.

In the DM animation, it was mentioned that there were many twists and turns when the three God Cards were made. After the slate of the Three Egyptian Gods was unearthed, the work of card making was handed over to a number of world-renowned card designers.

However, none of these designers successfully made the phantom slate into a card. Each of them died suddenly in the middle of the night or suffered from mental illness, and spent the rest of their lives in a state of extreme fear.

In the end, it was Pegasus, the father of dueling monsters who possessed the power of Millennium Eye, to make the card of the Three Egyptian Gods.

There was no way for players to obtain the Three Egyptian God cards in the World Link Online because these three cards would not be given to players as a reward for any mission, nor can they be opened in the system card pool.

Even if the player manages to grab these three cards from the NPC, the cards were only equivalent to "quest items" to the player, and could not be used in a duel.

As an NPC, Yuei Vu shouldn't have had this problem, but he didn't have the confidence to control the Egyptian God for the time being. It would be too sad if it directly caused the wrath of God to kill himself.

However, in addition to these personal rewards, Yuei Vu's reputation in the "Nightcrawler World" has also soared thanks to the assistance of Brother Marik.

Undoubtedly, Yuei Vu instantly became the focus of the entire organization.

A duelist who was comparable in strength to Seto Kaiba!

This was at the pinnacle of the world of dueling monsters!

Although in the end, due to some unexpected situation, the winner could not be determined, from the scene, Yuei Vu really suppressed that Kaiba Seto temporarily.

That was enough!

The world of duelists revered dueling skills, especially in the world of Shadow Duelists who needed to gamble their lives.

The absolute strength immediately made Yuei Vu, a newcomer who just joined, attract the attention of the whole society. That night, President Kawasaki Gai immediately announced that he would be promoted to the cadre of Nightcrawler World.

It was unprecedented in the history of the organization that a newcomer who has just joined for a few days serves as a cadre, but no one in the entire organization showed any dissatisfaction, because everyone knew that this was won fairly by Yuei Vu through strength.

In addition, President Kawasaki Gai also showed great concern for the fact that Kaiba Seto invited Yuei Vu to talk at the Kaiba Corp's headquarters, and had a discussion with Yuei Vu specifically about this.

Because he was also a local force in Domino, Kaiba has always had a bad impression on their organization.

One was that Kaiba had an antipathy for things like Shadow Games, and the other was that Kaiba Seto only cared about a duelist whose skills were acknowledged by him.

In the eyes of President Kaiba, the dueling skills of this group of Shadow Duelists were all the same. Even Kawasaki Gai was a relatively capable cannon fodder in front of him.

In his thought, a member of a weak organization was obviously a weak duelist too, so naturally, it didn't attract Kaiba's attention.

However, Kaiba's attitude seemed to be at least acknowledging Yuei Vu's strength tonight. President Kawasaki Gai attached great importance to this. He believes that this may be the beginning of a friendly relationship between his own organization and the Kaiba Corp, and now the key lied in Yuei Vu.

In other words, when Yuei Vu went to Kaiba Corp this weekend, he not only needed to propose to President Kaiba the standardization of the duel rules as originally planned but also shouldered diplomatic responsibilities

However, even though he has only joined for a few days, Yuei Vu said that he still had a collective sense of honor. Since he has this opportunity, he would naturally go all out to fight for the rights and interests of his own society.

All of this stems from his sense of responsibility and honor as a member of the Nightcrawler World. It has absolutely nothing to do with the extra three million bonus that President Kawasawa Gai gave him tonight!

Even if there were, it would only be a million points!

But in this way, Yuei Vu's harvest tonight was really a bit rich. So rich that he couldn't help but want to go back and open three or five hundred packs of cards to celebrate.

Yuei Vu found that after the battle with Kaiba, having three Pot of Greed and three Graceful Charity in the deck seemed not enough to satisfy him.

Now he planned to open three "Card of Sanctity" and three "Card of Demise"

Chapter 55: Card of Sanctity

Card of Sanctity (Normal Spell Card) Each player draws until they have 6 cards in their hand.

If it was used in an empty-handed situation, the player could replenish six cards in the hand in an instant, which was equivalent to earning a +5 card advantage. It was simply a divine weapon with the ability to change fate.

Card of Demise (Normal Spell Card) Draw cards until you have 5 cards in your hand. During your 5th Standby Phase after activation, send all cards in your hand to the Graveyard.

Needless to say, this thing was also of the same level as the Card of Sanctity. This point did not need to be introduced, it was not difficult to see from the duel between Yuei Vu and President Kaiba before.

At that time, Kaiba's side was empty-handed, his LP was like a candle in the wind, and his field was empty. According to common sense, ordinary Yu-Gi-Oh players must have already surrendered directly at this time, and it was impossible for this situation to be overturned anyway. However, the president really almost turned over.

The more cards in hand, the greater the possibility, and it was precisely because of this that the Treasure Cards series with such a terrible card drawing effect was regarded by players as divine cards that brought them back to life.

In the entire DM anime, it seemed that only President Kaiba has used the Card of Demise, so this card might not be easy to get.

On the contrary, the Card of Sanctity has been used by many people including Muto Yugi, Kujaku Mai, Pegasus, Marik, etc. In theory, it should be a card that was very common to supplement the hand in this world, at best it's just an R card.

In theory, it should be like this. However, Yuei Vu has already opened more than 170 packs of cards and still hasn't found one.

Theoretically speaking, it really shouldn't be possible. The list of cards in this Booster Pack definitely contained the Card of Sanctity.

Yuei Vu felt that his face was so dark that he could go straight to Africa without needing make-up to blend in with the natives perfectly, but when he thought of his Lucky 20, it didn't seem surprising

However, he has made a lot of money recently, thus he didn't care too much about opening more than 100 packs of cards.

But at this moment, he has already started to consider whether to give up opening the packs and go directly to someone to buy a Card of Sanctity

Directly spending money to buy a specific card was relatively lossy, because when a specific card was named, even a card with a general value would have a higher market price.

Generally speaking, duelists would spend money to directly acquire only rare cards that have a very low probability of being opened. Spending money to buy an N card or R card was generally considered to be a cash-throwing behavior.

But Yuei Vu couldn't do anything about it. It's not his fault to have Lucky 20

Besides, he was not the same as when he first came to this world. With the amount of money in his pocket, he could naturally be a little arrogant.

In another week, when Open Beta players arrived, he could gain even more money.

Just thinking about this, the store manager, Mr. Ito Shin, came out: "Yo, are you trying to find a card?"

The appearance of the store manager was really cool. He was wearing a plaid shirt, shorts, and sandals, holding a glass of watermelon juice in his left hand and an open book in his right.

Yuei Vu immediately felt admiration. As expected of the former card designer of Industrial Illusions, he perfectly interpreted the phrase "you are never too old to learn"

Taking a closer look, the title on the cover of the book seemed to be "A Quick Guide to Picking Up Girls"?

Yuei Vu: ""

WTF!

It's hard to find a girlfriend these days. Incels could be found everywhere. Did this old man still want to grab resources from the young?

Didn't he still have any morality?

Well, of course, Yuei Vu was just feeling sorry for the majority of male compatriots.

As for himself?

Handsome people didn't have such troubles

The old man leaned forward and glanced at the large pile of packaging bags beside Yuei Vu: "It doesn't look like you have opened what you want?"

"Well, I'm not very lucky." Yuei Vu shrugged helplessly and turned to ask, "By the way, the store manager, do you have the card Card of Sanctity?"

"I should have, but I can't remember clearly." The old man asked strangely, "Do you want that card?"

"Yeah." Yuei Vu nodded, "If there is, is it convenient to give it to me? I just need it, and I can pay at the market price."

The old man raised his eyebrows and said suspiciously, "Yes, but are you sure you want this? If I remember correctly, it's just an R card, and generally, no one buys a card with a rarity below SR. "

"Well, I know." Yu Yu said confidently, "but I really need this card in my deck construction."

The old man was very witty, rolled his eyes, and smiled, "I do have this card. But my Card of Sanctity' is different from the one outside. It is made by the president of the Industrial Illusions, Father of Duel Monsters' Pegasus himself.

So you should be able to understand that the value of my collection card is extraordinary. If you insist on buying How about 3000$? "

The old man gave a wicked smile.

A collection card made by President Pegasus? How is this possible? That's all his bullshit.

As for the reason, it's actually a little funny.

Mar. Shin came back only a few days ago, but he could already see at a glance that his little granddaughter had impure thoughts about this kid.

In fact, the old man would agree with her. After all, this kid was really handsome, and even an old man like him found it pleasing to the eye.

but the irritating thing was that this piece of wood seemed to be completely indifferent to the thoughts of his granddaughter!

3000$ was just what he said casually, just to make things difficult for Yuei Vu. As for the possibility that the other party would accept this price, he had never considered it at all. It was a great loss to spend 1000$ to buy an R card. If anyone spends 3000$ to buy an R card, it must be a rusty brain. ..

"Okay." Yuei Vu agreed immediately.

Mr. Shin: "?"

Did he accept? Did this child has a fever?

He wouldn't really believe his "special collector's edition" nonsense, would he?

Of course, Yuei Vu didn't believe it, but in fact, he didn't care about the money.

After all, he just an N-card "Chainsaw Insect" produced by the system with the price of 80 million $. Let alone 3000$, he would not feel a loss even if he used 3 million $ to buy a "Card of Sanctity".

This month, Yuei Vu has also received a lot of care from Chika-chan in the store. If he had to buy this card with money, he might as well just buy it from this shop.

Mr. Shin frowned and thought for a while, but he felt that it was wrong.

There must be something wrong with this!

So he brazenly changed his words: "No, I just remembered it wrong, 3000$ is for another card. In the case of Card of Sanctity', the price of the three cards I have here should be 5000 No, 8000! 8000$ per copy!"

He looked at Yuei Vu triumphantly, with an expression like saying: You can't possibly want it, right?

Yuei Vu was a little speechless, but still nodded: "Okay, eight thousand is eight thousand."

The old man: "?"

8000$? Is it real or fake? What's so special about this card?

Or sell it to him for 8000$?

However, selling three R cards for 24000$ was too expensive, making the old guy feel uneasy.

But going against his own words now, it's like being slapped in the face again

Fortunately, he won't need to worry about it any time soon. His good granddaughter Chika appeared in time to resolve the dilemma for him.

"Here, the card you want." Chika directly handed the three "Card of Sanctity" to Yuei Vu, "I just found them in his warehouse."

Apparently, Chika heard their conversation long ago and silently ran to the warehouse to help Yuei Vu find the card.

Mr. Shin was shocked: "Oh my good granddaughter, that is a special collection card"

Chika rolled her eyes at him: "So you just throw your special collection card in such a dirty corner, covered with spider webs?"

The old man: ""

"Okay, thank you very much." Yuei Vu accepted the three cards and smiled at her, "The money will be sent in a while."

Looking at him smiling at her, Chika couldn't help but be startled, and a string of "Favorability +3" appeared on her head.

Yuei Vu speculated that the reason why "Favorability +1" and "Favorability +3" only pop up from time to time in her head recently may be because the favorability level was too high and it was about to overflow

Chika shook her head: "No. These cards are actually worthless, and they are just kept in the warehouse to be dusted. Grandpa must have already forgotten these cards. It's useless to keep them if you don't want them

The old man beat his chest in anger.

It's over, it's over, I haven't even talked about marriage, yet my granddaughter has already started to care for this kid more than her own grandpa!

Chapter 56: Domino's White Dragon

Pot of Greed, Graceful Charity, and Card of Sanctity which he just bought from the store manager Yuei Vu sat cross-legged on the bed, looking at the nine cards in front of him, he couldn't help showing a smile.

The future was bright!

Yuei Vu still didn't take these cards for free, because to be honest, he didn't need to take advantage of this little money right now.

However, because Chika insisted so much, Yuei Vu did not pay the outrageous price offered by the store manager in the end but paid the market price of the ordinary R card.

With these nine cards added to the deck, Yuei Vu felt that even a gimmick deck for entertainment might be able to be competitive

The spirit of Dark Magician Girl appeared on his bed at some point. She was lying on the bed, her knees bent, her two white calves dangling in mid-air, like a naughty child.

"Master, you seem to particularly like these cards that can speed up card drawing?" She turned her blonde hair aside and moved her little head curiously.

Yuei Vu glanced at her sideways, his eyes especially stopped for a moment on a certain part that was severely squeezed because of her prone position.

Because she was a spirit, it shouldn't affect her development

Maybe.

Dark Magician Girl: "?"

"Oh, yes." Yuei Vu coughed, pretending that nothing happened, "Although these cards haven't attracted much attention yet, they are actually quite powerful."

"Is that so?"

Dark Magician Girl tilted her head in confusion, but she didn't question her master.

Following Yuei Vu as his spirit partner for so many days, she now admired this master from the bottom of her heart. In her opinion, she should be lucky enough to run into a top duelist as the master, so what he said was naturally correct.

"Think about it, if I have a particularly powerful combination, I only need a few cards to complete the winning formula," Yuei Vu explained, "Then if I only put these few cards in my deck, I'm guaranteed to start with the hand I want, wouldn't I have an absolute advantage in the beginning?"

"But according to the rules of the game, the deck must have at least 40 cards, right?" Dark Magician Girl said, "If there are 40 cards, there is no way to guarantee that the starting six cards are exactly the six you want, isn't it?"

"That's right, so the fewer cards in the deck, the better. 40 cards are the best choice, which can ensure that the cards you wanted have a higher probability of being drawn."

He picked up a Pot of Greed from the bed.

"So if I put this card"

The girl suddenly said: "Ah, so it is. If you draw it, you can draw two other cards immediately, which is equivalent to compressing the space"

"That's right." Yuei Vu smiled, "For example, if the core of our deck is the legendary Exodia the Forbidden One', we only need to get all the five parts in the hand to win. Then if there are 35 remaining cards in our deck that is all searching and drawing cards, only five are Exodia parts"

"It's amazing!" The magician girl's eyes lit up, looking at Yuei Vu's big eyes full of admiration.

Wow! How could you come up with such a powerful strategy?

My master was not only beautiful but also very skilled!

Indeed, if you can play Exodia with a set of banned cards, you should be invincible

But that's really overthinking it. First, Exodia was a very rare series in the world. The only complete set was in the hand of Yugi Muto, but it has been thrown into the sea by the Insector Haga.

So these five cards were considered out of print in this world.

There seemed to be a lot of replicas in Ghouls' storage, but they were all fake cards and couldn't be used.

Of course, the strengths of these spell cards were far more than that. What Yuei Vu just explained was just the concept of "thinning deck".

In fact, if you could use forbidden cards, there were other Traditional combos you could try. It's just that Yuei Vu still lacked too many cards, so he would not consider it for the time being.

As for the difference between earning cards and thinning deck, it was too laborious to explain. Dark Magician Girl may not understand it, and Yuei Vu does not intend to mention it for the time being.

"Okay, it's getting late, I'm going to sleep." Yuei Vu yawned and stretched comfortably.

Tomorrow he had to go to Kaiba Corp to talk with the president. It's highly likely that Kaiba would pull him to play cards.

Playing cards with President Kaiba was a strained task, so Yuei Vu decided to rest early today to recharge.

"Okay!" Dark Magician Girl smiled sweetly, "Good night, master!"

"OK, good night."

Turn off the lights.

After a while.

"Well, Dark Magician Girl?"

"I am here, master."

"I can't sleep well when you are here"

"Oh."

The Kaiba Corp was originally known to people as a world-class arms factory. They are the leaders of the world's technology, and the weapons they manufacture were ahead of the entire world by several generations. At that time, the trademark of Kaiba could be seen everywhere on battlefields all over the world.

Kaiba Gozaburo was once the original founder and CEO of Kaiba Corp, and Kaiba Seto was his adopted son.

It was said that Gozaburo Kaiba, who was the world chess champion at the time, visited the orphanage in person during the charity event and was challenged by a child of the orphanage in chess with the condition that if he won, Gozaburo would agree to adopt him along with his brother.

Of course, that child was Seto Kaiba.

He won that game of chess, also won his current identity and status, and rewrote the tragic fate of the brothers.

After the death of Gozaburo, Seto Kaiba immediately took over the entire Kaiba Corp. He was only 16 years old now, and has completely transformed the world's top arms manufacturing industry into an entertainment company by himself, especially the chess and card game business that he cares about most

It felt similar to Tony Stark's claim that "we're going to sell baby pacifiers from now on".

It was said that Gozaburo once built a high-tech island, which gathered the advanced weapons created by the world's top technology, which was the origin of Gozaburo's ambition to "conquer the world by weapon manufacturing".

But the island has now been flattened by Kaiba Seto. It was said that Kaiba Seto also planned to transform the island into a large-scale entertainment center mainly for playing cards. Simply put, it was a high-end chess and card room

If Gozaburo knew anything, he must have vomited blood from anger?

At nine o'clock in the morning on Saturday, at this moment, Yuei Vu had also arrived in the hall of the headquarters of the Kaiba Corp, which had undergone a complete makeover.

Today's Kaiba Corp has long left no trace of a weapons company. It seems that all the imprints of Gozaburo Kaiba have been artificially erased from this place.

On the most eye-catching electronic screen right in front of the hall, there was a domineering image of Seto Kaiba himself, and behind him was his loyal Blue-Eyes White Dragon. In this way, everyone entering and leaving the hall has to look at the picture.

He was probably the only CEO who hung his pretentious photos in the hall for fear that others did not see him.

In fact, Kaiba himself seems to be very popular among the people, especially among the girls. His nickname was "Domino's White Dragon", and there were thousands of girls in his fan club.

Countless young girls have dreams of encountering a domineering president and imagine that one day they would have a romantic encounter with the president.

After all, at the age of 16, he took the CEO of the Kaiba Corp and appeared on the cover of a magazine, the second in the world in dueling skills. Being young, handsome, rich, and powerful, Kaiba was really the perfect dream man for girls.

However, the tens of millions of his fangirls were probably destined to be disappointed.

One of the reasons was that President Kaiba only cares about playing cards, and has no interest in girls. In contrast, if Kaiba had to be forced to choose someone to spend his life with, he might choose Yugi Muto because they could play cards together.

As for the second reason

Haha, want to sleep with President Kaiba? Then you must first be able to withstand the wrath of the white dragon.

Yuei Vu walked through the hall and entered the direct elevator. He leaned against the metal wall at the back of the elevator, watching the numbers on the electronic screen gradually climb to the top floor.

The next time the metal door panels were separated, the president's office appeared in front.

Kaiba Seto leaned behind the desk in a pretentious posture, with an "I've been waiting for you for a long time" on his face.

Chapter 57: New Rules

"What do you think about the existing Dueling Monster game?" Kaiba sat behind his desk, his fingers crossed on his chin.

Yuei Vu entered the door generously, dragged away the chair that was obviously prepared for him in front of the desk, and sat down.

"That's right," he said, "I have a little personal opinion on this game."

"Is it about the flaws in the existing rules? I guess," Kaiba narrowed his eyes. "You mean, about the availability of Spell Cards and about the attack limit of fusion monsters, right?"

Yuei Vu was a little surprised.

It should be said that he really deserves to be President Kaiba. If the opposite was Pegasus, Yuei Vu may have begun to doubt whether he used a mind scan on him at this moment.

Seeing his surprised expression, Kaiba was quite satisfied, and couldn't help humming and smiling: "A first-class duelist only needs one duel to understand the other's heart. I have already roughly understood what you want to say through the duel."

Yuei Vu vaguely felt that he had heard these words somewhere before, and it seemed that a well-known boy in the studio next door also said something similar

Talking to a smart person saves time and effort. Kaiba already understood what he meant without him even opening his mouth.

"Tell me what you think, I want to hear from you in detail, and why you think so." Kaiba leaned back into the seat like an interviewer doing an interview.

Of course, Yuei Vu had already prepared the speech in advance.

He briefly talked about his views on the attack limit of fusion summoning and the timing of the activation of Spell Cards and cited various practical combat cases that had been prepared to demonstrate his views.

He focused this discussion on the usual use of Spell Cards because this was also one of the places he felt most uncomfortable with the existing rules.

According to the current rules, Spell Cards could be activated from the hand, immediately after being overlaid on the field, or activated during the opponent's turn, and even in the Battle Phase, when the two monsters were already at war.

In this way, the role of Trap Cards was very tasteless. They could not be used in the turn they were set, and could not be activated directly from the hand. After being drawn in the hand, it must be delayed for a turn, which made the role of Trap Cards particularly useless.

In fact, Yu-Gi-Oh DM has always been like this in the early days. Most people used Spell Cards, and the frequency of Trap Cards was far less than that of Spell Cards.

Yuei Vu made his point clearly. He said that spell and traps should have their own characteristics, and they should be irreplaceable for each other.

The advantage of Spell Cards should be that they could be used from the hand immediately, but they could not be used during the Battle Phase or the opponent's turn.

Trap Cards could be used during the Battle Phase and at any point during the opponent's turn, but as a limitation, they could not be activated immediately during the turn they were set, and they must be delayed by one turn to function.

In fact, this is only the most basic. In Yuei Vu's opinion, the activation speed of monster effects, spell card and trap card effects, Quick-Play Spell and Counter Trap under the existing rule system was also messed up.

However, the chain processing and timing of effects was the most complicated part of the Yu-Gi-Oh! ruling system, and Yuei Vu didn't expect the rules to be perfected to that level immediately.

After all, most duelists were still worrying about the painful new rule of "advance summons require Tributes". It was indeed difficult for them to understand the high-tech concept of timing.

In this part, he didn't spend much effort to convince Kaiba, because he soon found out that the president seemed to have really reflected on this part of the rules.

However, in some parts, the president still refused to give in completely.

"What you said about spell cards and trap cards needs to be differentiated, and they are not substitutes for each other, which is indeed reasonable." Kaiba said, "You said that Spell Cards cannot be activated during the opponent's turn, which is indeed more reasonable. But you say you can't even use it in your own Battle Phase, that's ridiculous. "

Yuei Vu raised his eyebrows.

Is it absurd?

Why do I think it's more outrageous for you to open the set card when the opponent declares an attack, revealing a Monster Reborn, and kill the attacking monsters on the opposite side?

Then, regarding the "Attack Limit of Fusion Summoning", Yuei Vu tried his best to change President Kaiba's mind

Kaiba's reason was very simple: "If I can attack in the turn of fusion summoning, then if I fuse and summon the invincible Blue-Eyes Ultimate Dragon' in the second turn and attack immediately, wouldn't the duel be over in an instant?"

That's absurd! This kind of thing affects the balance too much, don't talk about it anymore. "

Yuei Vu was speechless.

Blue-Eyes Ultimate Dragon in the second turn? Do you really think everyone was like you, can draw three White Brides and one Polymerization as if they're glued all together?

Moreover What's so proud of just changing four cards to a non-Effect monster with an attack power of 4500?

Not to mention others, just the one whom you were dueling with the most. If Yami Yugi set a Mirror Force or Magic Cylinder or something similar, wouldn't it explode on the spot?

However, Yuei Vu couldn't help but admire Kaiba, at least he seemed to be a conscientious president who was trying to balance the game.

It was the first time he saw someone add restrictions to himself on the grounds that "such rules would make me too strong", in stark contrast to the company where he traveled through a former game director who could only "So Cooooool" all day long and the game balance was indescribable. ..

However, Yuei Vu still did not give up. He tried his best to explain to Kaiba that the method of fusing the "Blue-Eyes Ultimate Dragon" with his hands requires a lot of cards to be consumed, which was inherently a high-risk behavior, and it should have a high reward.

Or it would be better to say that the player used 4 cards to exchange for an ultimate dragon, yet it was unable to attack this turn and could only wait for the opponent to solve it in the next turn. That's called serious imbalance

In the end, Kaiba rolled his eyes: "Humph! Defeat my Blue-Eyes Ultimate Dragon' in one turn? That's impossible!"

Yuei Vu: ""

"There is no need to continue discussing this point." Kaiba waved his hand, "If I can attack immediately in the turn of fusion summoning, doesn't it mean that I can use the three Blue-Eyes White Dragon to attack first, and use Polymerization during the Battle Phase to fuse them into the ultimate dragon and then continue to attack? Do you think this is reasonable?"

Is it reasonable? Certainly not reasonable.

So you should delete the rule that "spell card can be activated during the Battle Phase" for me!

Yuei Vu found out that even a super genius and top duelist like Kaiba Seto, after all, has long been accustomed to the existing framework of dueling monster rules.

It was not easy for him to listen to other's opinions and make so many changes. However, some long-term habitual thinking caused Kaiba to not be on the same channel as Yuei Vu in many parts of his thinking, and it was no use talking to him

In the end, Yuei Vu put forward the concept of "Battle Replay".

This concept has indeed attracted the interest of the Kaiba.

"During the battle step, if the number of monsters on both sides changes, can you reconfirm whether to attack or not?"

Kaiba held his chin and pondered for a while, his eyes twinkling.

"Interesting, really interesting." He nodded and said, "This may indeed be feasible, but if it is actually put into operation, we need to consider more situations and do some tests."

Yuei Vu nodded in understanding.

For such an important change to go live, testing was definitely necessary. However, judging from Kaiba's interesting reaction, he felt that there should be some drama.

However, Yuei Vu immediately thought after the battle replay was applied, would Kaiba be trapped by himself?

For example, the famous anime scene he made up in his mind before

Yugi: "I will attack the XYZ-Dragon Cannon' on your field with Osiris the Sky Dragon! Take it, Super Electrical Conduction Wave!"

Seto Kaiba: "Hahaha, at this moment I opened the set card, Interdimensional Matter Transporter! I transferred XYZ-Dragon Cannon to another dimension! In this way, Osiris lost his attack target, and this attack is ineffective!"

Yugi: "Kaiba, didn't you read your own rules carefully? The moment you removed the monster, you caused a battle replay'. I attacked directly with Osiris the Sky Dragon. Kaiba, YOU LOST!"

Kaiba: "What? I forgot! Damn Yugi ah ah ah"

Hmm Probably not, right?

"A lot of your ideas are very interesting." Kaiba said, leaning back in the chair, "I can see that your understanding of dueling monster cards is very deepdifferent from some horse bone duelists who have no talent."

(Jonouchi: You never miss the chance to mock me, don't you?)

Although Kaiba Seto was very stinky and looked arrogant anytime and anywhere, in fact, he was relatively easy to communicate with people who have gained his approval.

Take, for example, Yugi Muto, whom he considered his number one enemy.

Although Kaiba always liked to be cynical and sarcastic every time he saw Yugi and disdained the friendship that Yugi paid attention to, whenever Yugi encountered any trouble, the president would do anything within his capability, and at the same time, he always liked to say something like "Don't get me wrong. It was because of XXX reasons that I did it and didnt intend to help and so on.

"Your suggestion has given me a lot of inspiration. The rules should be adjusted again before the game starts."

Kaiba said, paused, and a sharp light shot out from his blue eyes.

"I originally hoped to invite you to work at Kaiba Corp and be in charge of the Dueling Monsters department but forget it." He hummed and smiled, "I know that a true duelist like you will neither be moved by money nor want to be tied to the Kaiba."

Yuei Vu: "?"

What? Why not?

President, you can move me by money! How can you give up without even trying?

I'm a true duelist? Why don't I know that?

"However," Kaiba said after changing the conversation, "the rule adjustments you just mentioned will require a lot of testing in the follow-up. Time is running out, and I can only postpone the Battle City competition for a week at most. All tests and adjustments must be completed within the remaining time.

So if you're interested, I hope I can invite you as a special advisor to the Dueling Monsters department to oversee this part of the revision work to ensure that the new rules don't have any loopholes.

This job does not require you to stay in the Kaiba Corp HQ all the time, nor does it require you to report to work every day. I just need your opinion and your deep understanding of this game.

I don't trust so-called professional designers to make a duel monster game what it should be. I need a real duelist to be in charge of this job. "

Yuei Vu probably understood.

In fact, it was Kaiba who hoped that he could make a name for himself in the department and make real-time adjustments to the follow-up rules for dueling monsters. After all, there would be more and more new cards, the game environment would continue to change, and the rules would need to be adjusted accordingly.

And if he can be named as a consultant, he was equivalent to the communication link between the Nightcrawler World and the Kaiba Corp. The task given to him by President Kawasawa Gai could be considered complete, killing two birds with one stone

While thinking about it, Yuei Vu listened to Kaiba and said again: "The salary will naturally be relatively low because it is only a special consultant. If you have no opinion, the first month's salary will be this amount"

The president pushed a cheque that was apparently already prepared down the table.

"No problem!" Yuei Vu glanced at the check hastily and agreed immediately.

Salary? Hehe, he didn't care about this kind of thing at all.

The reason why he accepted this job was to live up to the expectations of the president, and for the future of the card game!

But then again, President Kaiba really gave a lot

Chapter 58: Open Beta

Come, come, come!

After a long wait, World Link Online finally ushered in the official Open Beta.

The players in the other world were already itching to wait in the game's login interface at this time, and prepared to rush in to play cards.

Isn't there a saying that says so?

My right hand was already thirsty!

[The update is complete the Open Beta begins the link data is being obtained the acquisition is complete!

[Version 1.0 of World Link Online is opened. All duelists, please get ready!

There may be no warning to this world, and a large number of visitors from other worlds suddenly descended on this land.

This time was different from the Closed Beta. Although it was only the first batch, the number of players in the Open Beta was much larger than that in the Closed Beta. The probability of players landing in the same position was naturally much higher.

Of course, as the core stage of the Yu-Gi-Oh world, Domino City is still the first map that players come to.

The total number of people in the Closed Beta was only three digits, so most of them are logging in to World Link Online for the first time. New players were all full of expectations for this brand new game.

"Is this really logged into the game?"

"Fuck, it feels like real, so real!"

"Brother, did I log into the wrong game? Why is this not a card game so realistic?"

"That money-hungry K company is really not trying to exaggerate this time, this game can really be a buster!"

""

It's only been a minute since the server started, and the players have already begun to show their screwball nature.

Some people were jumping, some people were rolling in place, some people were hopping left and right, and a buddy is holding a tree trunk and trying to test whether he can climb the tree.

Someone was urging their friends who were playing with them to find a brick as big as possible, and try their best to slap it to their forehead. The reason was to test whether people can die in this game other than playing cards

In addition, another buddy touched his whole body from head to toe, and after confirming that he could take off his clothes and pants after a test, he began to beat his chest: "Fuck! If I had known that this game was so open and so real, I would have chosen to play as a girl!"

And then unexpectedly, it got the approval of many guys around him

"Why don't I think of it sooner?!"

"Wouldn't it be self-sufficient if you play a female character and create a prettier face?"

"If you are lucky, and the charm value is randomly higher, maybe you can seduce President Kaiba or Yugi for some benefits?"

Well, the latter one was just for talk.

After all, this was the Yu-gi-oh! world.

As we all know, the only people who could make the president feel interesting were Blue-Eyes and Yami Yugi.

And the only thing that could make Dark Yugi interested was AIBOU (1)

In fact, the number of Open Beta slots was also limited.

The two-day Closed Beta was basically just to test whether the game was running well and whether there is any major bug or not. It was difficult for players to progress considerably.

But the Open Beta was different. Because the Open Beta timeline covered the plot of the entire Battle City arc of Yu-Gi-Oh! DM although the Battle City arc actually happened in only a few days according to the animation, in these few days, it has condensed a crucial part of Yu-Gi-Oh! DM.

This was a plot that only Open Beta players have the opportunity to participate in. Not to mention that in the Battle City Competition, there was the ante rule which was extremely rare. If a player was decent, they could get a lot of cards.

However, each account has only one chance to create a character. Once the face was created, it could not be changed unless the account was deleted and the user registered again.

But now if the account was deleted, the Open Beta qualification would definitely be scrapped.

Therefore, the idea of a group of men playing the female character could only be put on hold

After a long and agonizing wait, Snow Wave hurriedly logged into the game as soon as the server opened.

Because he was a Closed Beta player, the login location was of course the location where he logged off the last time that was, the bridge where he triggered the hidden quest before.

But of course, there's nothing left there by now

Snow Wave stared at his quest list with a bewildered expression, and fell into deep thought for a long time.

What about the quest?

Before, he was very sure that there was a quest called "Challenge From Mysterious Man" in the quest list before he went offline.

Although nothing was written in the quest description at the bottom, the reward and content were all inexplicable but the title was on the list anyway!

I'm such a big hidden quest, why don't I end it if I don't?

Could it be that Yuei Vu finished it first by himself?

Shouldn't it be?

How could there be such absurd things as NPCs robbing players of quests?

Just as he was stunned, someone suddenly patted him on the shoulder from behind.

"Hey, what a coincidence, brother, we actually met again!"

The moment Snow Wave heard this very distinctive voice, he had already guessed the identity of the person who came. He turned around and shouted in surprise, "Brother Fae!"

Yuei Cannot Escape Fae inevitably pushed his black frame, showing a "simple and honest" smile: "What a coincidence, we meet again."

Seeing the sturdy and reliable figure of "Brother Fae", Snow Wave immediately felt much more at ease.

The two reached an agreement during the Closed Beta and secretly established the "Yuei Vu's Fan Club". There were only two of them in the whole group so far, and they planned to stay that way for a long time to come.

They wouldn't dare to think about monopolizing Yuei Vu forever. After all, he was an important plot NPC, and sooner or later, he must be involved in the main line and would be known by all players sooner or later.

So they wanted to take the time to bootlick before Yuei Vu appeared in front of other players, bootlicking until their Favorability was possible to exchange for powerful rare cards and become the leader among players.

In short, their goal was to become the top player who dominated the World Link Online and stood above thousands of other players!

But even if it's all bootlicking, you had to be skillful. First, you had to find the right target.

At this time, Snow Wave watched a bunch of newcomers in the forum who were not familiar with posts. Some people asked how to get in and see President Kaiba, and some people were asking where Yugi's address was so he could follow the map and bootlick the main character.

Snow Wave sneered in his heart at that time.

Heh, what a naive newbie.

What's the use of bootlicking Yugi?

He didn't play cards with you, didn't give you quests, and couldn't sell you cardseven if you tried to buy cards from Yugi's card shop, you couldn't use them.

For Yugi, the chattering players around him may be just ordinary "Duel King's fans". If you tried to bootlick him for a long time, your Favorability may drop instead of increasebecause he would think you were annoying.

How could that boy be compared to our Yuei Vu?

Not only would he give you quests, but also sold you rare cards, and even went out to help you do your quest when he was in a good mood!

It's just that occasionally if you get disconnected in the middle of the quest, maybe he would rob you of the quest

But that's just a little problem!

Snow Wave thought about it carefully, and felt that it should all be his own fault for disconnecting without authorization during the mission, and it couldn't be counted as Yuei Vu's fault!

Yuei Vu, wait for me, here I come!

Chapter 59: Players' Discovery

"Ah? He isn't here?" At the Dream Card shop, Snow Wave and Fae were surprised, "Yuei-san went out?"

"Well, yes." Chika, who was standing behind the counter, nodded lightly, "He went out early in the morning."

The two looked at each other, and after a while, Fae asked, "Then did he say when he would come back?"

"No, he didn't. It might be a little late, I think." Chika said, "He's been running to Kaiba Corp for the past two days. He said that Kaiba Seto has something important to do with him, and he came back very late ."

The eyes of the two players lit up, and they felt that they had received important information.

Kaiba Seto has something important to talk to Yuei Vu about? So they are very familiar?

Yuei Vu is really an important plot NPC!

This detail may be related to the main thread.

"Then let's wait for him to come back?" Snow Wave asked.

"Wait!" Fae clenched his teeth.

Although every day in the Open Beta was very precious, it was better to wait for their golden thighs to come back instead of running around to find some trivial novice quests.

Now, Yuei Vu was the direct ticket for the two of them to enter the top of players. In any case, they must grab enough benefits before other players!

but they might be disappointed in this.

Because while they were patiently staying in the store waiting for the return of their golden thigh, he had already run off to find other players

Domino City, an open space in a park.

This park in Domino City was also a place frequented by duelists. Although this was not a dueling gym, thanks to the new generation of Duel Disks from Kaiba Corp, the era of needing a specific venue to play cards was a thing of the past.

As long as there was a Duel Disk, anyone could have an exciting duel at any time and anywhere.

At this moment, a large number of new players were gathering in the park.

"MMD, how do you play this game? The initial deck has only a bunch of Normies with low attack power. It's hard to play against a passerby!"

"Help! Has anyone received the quest of Complete an advance summoning in a duel with an NPC? I don't even have a monster whose level is higher than 4, how the hell do I complete this quest?"

"The quest I received asked to defeat an NPC once without taking any damage I've exhausted my stamina and haven't passed this quest yet. It's impossible to pass this initial deck, which is full of Normies, right?"

"Being stuck in the novice quest, don't you believe it"

A group of novice players chatted and chatted for a while, and exchanged their game experience on the first day of the Open Beta. Suddenly someone cried out as if they had discovered a new continent.

"There are two NPCs dueling over there!"

The first reaction of all players who heard this shout was what was so strange about a NPC's duel?

Anyway, wasn't it just a battle between Normies?

Although everyone only played a few duels on the first day of the Open Beta, players have basically figured out the level of duelists in this era.

The passerby NPCs that the players played against seemed to only summon one Normie per turn, just like the simple dueling bot in the traditional Yu-Gi-Oh game. There were very few spells and traps in the deck to match.

To say that these duelists were stronger than the players who only use the initial deck, it may be that some NPCs had some Normies with high attack power in their hands.

At this time, the players were all smug and confident and felt that when they got a rare card, even if they assembled a slightly higher-strength gimmick deck, they might not be able to kill the local duelists in this world.

At this time, someone shouted again: "Damn it! Look at that monster does it look like Clayman?"

"Huh? Which Clayman?"

"Elemental HERO Clayman! You don't even know that?"

I suspect you are a cloud fan"

"How can there be Clayman in the DM?"

The players quickly discovered Hua Dian.

A bunch of players in the square got news of each other and quickly gathered over, and soon saw the two NPCs who were dueling here.

Standing on the left was a non-mainstream uncle who looked very evil at first sight. He was dressed in a bright black jacket. The muscles on his arms were tattooed with an unknown monster pattern. Just by sight, anyone could tell that this guy was not easy to mess with.

Uncle's LP was the untouched 4,000 points, and there were two low-star Normies on the field.

On the opposite side of this uncle was an impressively handsome young NPC.

"Wow! That little brother is so handsome!"

Immediately, some female players began to have twinkle eyes completely ignoring the resentful eyes of the boyfriend beside him.

"Wow, he's really handsome! This art style looks like the protagonist!"

"I feel like I'm in love"

"You are a man, why did you follow these blondes?"

The players began to riot.

But handsome or not was not the primary factor to attract players, the key issue was not here.

"Speaking of which, why does this NPC have Elemental HEROes in their hands? Shouldn't there be such a series now?"

Needless to say, the one using the "Elemental HERO Clayman" was naturally Yuei Vu.

"My turn!" The non-mainstream uncle drew a card and laughed loudly, "Hahaha! This card will mark your defeat!

Because this turn you will see the trump card in my deck, a super rare and powerful monster! "

The uncle raised the card he had just drawn.

"I tribute the two monsters on my field!" The non-mainstream uncle shouted, "Come out, my most powerful monster Red Ogre!"

There was a roar from the ground as if the black energy from the underworld erupted vigorously. The crimson ghost drilled out from the ground, jumped high in the air, and then landed on the ground with an extremely heavy slam.

It was a ghost that seemed to have come out of a legend, with black horns, strong muscles, and a black mace in his hand, with a ferocious image of grinning.

[Red Ogre, ATK 2800]

"The effect of Red Ogre is activated!" The non-mainstream uncle shouted, "When this card is Normal Summoned: I can send any number of cards from my hand to the Graveyard, then target the same number of cards on the field; return those targets to the hand!

I send two cards from my hand to GY, and returned the Elemental HERO Clayman', as well as the set card from your S/T zone to your hand! "

The Red Ogre danced with his mace, and a pitch-black whirlwind rolled up in the field. The gloomy airflow turned both Clayman and the set card in the S/T zone of Yuei Vu into a golden glow and blew it back into his hands, instantly clearing Yuei Vu's field.

Some players were shocked: "Damn, holy light lance!?"

"Just a nefted holy light lance, the effect is somewhat similar."

"This effect is very powerful in the DM! It should be a rare card, right?"

"Holy light lance" was the nickname of "Brionac, Dragon of the Ice Barrier", a Level 6 Synchro monster. Its effect was to discard any number of cards from the hand to the Graveyard and bounce the corresponding number of cards on the opponent's field back to the owner's hand.

Brionac, Dragon of the Ice Barrier was also well-known, and it has been one of the most popular Synchro monsters for real card players for a long time in the past.

"In this way, your field will be completely empty!" The non-mainstream uncle laughed, "Red Ogre! Direct attack!"

The field was completely empty, both in the front and in the back, but Yuei Vu didn't panic at all. He looked up at the rapidly approaching giant shadow and the rapidly falling mace and calmly took a card

"I discarded Kuriboh' from my hand to activate its monster effect." Yuei Vu said lightly, "Reduce the Battle Damage inflicted to your Life Points by 1 of your opponent's monsters to 0."

Players: "!?"

He just saiddiscarded what!?

Chapter 60

Did he just sayKuriboh!?

Wasn't that an exclusive divine card of Duel King?

Anyone who watched Yu-Gi-Oh should know about the Kuriboh. For many years, the Kuriboh has been one of Yu-Gi-Oh's signature monsters, and it has gained a lot of popularity with its furry and cute appearance.

And it was also an unwritten rule of all dynasties that each generation of Yu-Gi-Oh would have a new Kuriboh as the mascot. From the first Kuriboh who always saved the king at the critical moment, to the Winged Kuriboh in GX, which appeared throughout the whole anime, to the Junkuriboh, Rainbow Kuriboh, Performapal Kuribohble, Linkuriboh, and so on.

The Kuriboh family was truly loyal and devoted to helping the protagonist block the attack for 20 years. This felt a bit like Pikachu, the signature Pokmon of the studio next door. As usual, a new electrical mouse must be released every generation

Yuei Vu didn't get this card from the system card pool. The rarity of "Kuriboh" was marked as SR in the system card pool.

This did not surprise Yuei Vu. After all, Kuriboh was one of the few "hand traps" in the Yu-Gi-Oh! DM era the effect could be activated by discarding the cards from the hand in the opponent's turn. It could be considered the originator of a large number of hand traps in the later Yu-Gi-Oh eras.

In fact, he originally thought that a rare card like Kuriboh should be exclusive to Yugi in the DM, but he didn't expect that after opening hundreds of packs of cards a few days ago, he actually opened such a card.

In this way, Kuriboh was actually not particularly rare, but it just happened that only Yugi put it into the deck in the DM animation.

As for the reason, Yuei Vu guessed that most duelists think that a monster with only 300 attack ATK and no attack effect was trash, so all of them looked down on it.

It could only be said that the duelists of this era were still too naive and simple. They haven't experienced society's cruelty and thus didn't know the danger of hand traps.

As for now, of course, Yuei Vu deliberately chose a place where players would concentrate, and deliberately showed his card pool in front of the players.

Haha, did you see it? I even have a first-generation hand trap like Kuriboh, isn't it amazing?

Do you want it?

Seeing that Red Ogre's big thick and black stick was about to fall, Kuriboh abandoned by Yuei Vu in the cemetery quickly turned into a three-dimensional image and appeared in front of him, sending out a string of cute and soft "Kuri Kuri".

Red Ogre's giant stick slammed down fiercely, but all the power was blocked by the Kuriboh, completely failing to touch Yuei Vu's LP.

The girls couldn't hold it anymore: "AWSL, this is too cute!?"

"I want Kuriboh too! I want to take one home and raise it!"

"What kind of big shot is this NPC? Why are the Elemental HEROes and Kuriboh in his hands?"

"His name should not be Muto Judai"

""

The non-mainstream uncle watched the Red Ogre return without success, smacked his mouth, and hummed, "Then I end my turn."

He followed with a slight smile: "But even if you use the trash monsters to survive this turn, I still have an absolute advantage on the field. With such a powerful monster as the Red Ogre, no matter what you summon, I can instantly shatter it!"

The player next to him: "It's over, that person just called Kuriboh trash!"

"Wow, is it so fierce? Haven't you heard that in Yu-Gi-Oh, anyone who dares to call Kuriboh trash has all gone with the wind?"

"Rest in peace, uncle"

Yuei Vu smiled slightly, didn't take it seriously, just continued the duel: "My turn, draw!"

He glanced at the cards in his hand, and his eyes moved.

It finally came!

In fact, the reason why he dueled here was that there were many players here, which attracted more attention.

One more thing, the name of the non-mainstream uncle on the opposite was Keita.

He was specially called by Yuei Vu to be the sandbag opponent.

Because if he just grabbed a passerby on the side of the road and fought, and that guy was too bad, it might not achieve the advertising effect he wanted.

Since it was a show, he must do things that could impress players the most.

Just like

"Activate from my hand Pot of Greed!" Yuei Vu said, "According to the effect of this card, I can draw two more cards from the deck!"

Not surprisingly, the players exploded as expected.

"Wow, Thousands of Years Banned card!"

"My buddy didn't lie to me, it's true that forbidden cards are everywhere in DMs!"

"555! I want a pot too"

However, it was too early to be shocked.

"Next is the spell card Graceful Charity!" Yuei Vu made the second strike, "I can draw three more cards from the deck, and then discard two cards."

The players were even more excited.

"Thousands of Years Banned card again!"

"It's too much! Two banned cards in a row!"

Yuei Vu heard their reaction from a distance, the corners of his mouth twitched slightly, and he was very satisfied with this reaction.

It was this effect that he needed.

If players don't jump around with jealousy, how can my business be booming in the future?

But it's not over yet!

"I set three cards in my hand on the field!" Yuei Vu put three cards in front of him, "Then activate the last remaining card from the hand

Card of Sanctity!

Each player draws until they have 6 cards in their hand! "

Players: ""

""

"This is it too much?"

"Does anyone count how many cards this NPC has drawn in one turn?"

"Two for Pot of Greed, three for Graceful Charity, and six for Card of Sanctity There are already eleven!"

"The referee, I reported someone for cheating!"

"Fuck! When will I be able to play like this?"

Yuei Vu smiled.

The preparation was complete, the main show was about to start now.

"I activate Field Spell- Fusion Gate!" Yuei Vu's Duel Disk flicked open the dedicated slot for Field Spell, and quickly retracted after he placed the card on it.

"With the effect of Fusion Gate, both players can Fusion Summon by banishing Fusion Materials from their hand or field without using Polymerization!"

Lightning appeared in the sky of the venue, and the black clouds condensed into a pitch-black vortex, resembling a rotating wormhole residing in the sky above the venue.

In principle, Fusion Gate was also a rare UR card in the system card pool. But after seeing the forbidden cards three times just now, players now felt nothing about "a mere UR" Field spell.

The players all have the same thoughts now.

What is the origin of this handsome NPC?

How do I feel that the things in his deck are different from other NPCs?

"Open the set card: Spell card The Warrior Returning Alive! I can select 1 Warrior-Type monster in my GY and add it to my hand. I choose Elemental HERO Clayman!"

Next was another set card: E Emergency Call! Choose an Elemental HERO monster from the deck and add it to your hand. I choose Elemental HERO Avian! "

At this moment, Yuei Vu had as many as seven cards in his hand, and he picked two cards out of them and faced the pitch-black vortex in mid-air.

"First, I fuse the Elemental HERO Blazeman' with the EARTH Attribute Elemental HERO Clayman! Fusion Summon Elemental HERO Gaia!"

The two heroes were projected and both flew into the pitch-black vortex in midair. A beam of black light slammed onto the floor, causing debris to splash on the floor. The giant hero in jet-black armor rose from the ground, and the earth trembled with his appearance.

"Gaia's effect: When this card is Fusion Summoned: Target 1 face-up monster your opponent controls; until the End Phase, its ATK is halved and this card gains the same amount of ATK!" Yuei Vu said.

[Red Ogre, ATK 2800 ATK 1400]

[Elemental HERO Gaia, ATK 2200 ATK 3600]

The non-mainstream uncle Keita on the opposite side gritted his teeth: "The attack power of the Red Ogre"

"It's not over yet!" Yuei Vu raised two more cards from his hand, "This time it's a fusion of Elemental HERO Sparkman' and the FIRE attribute Elemental HERO Heat! Fusion Summon Elemental HERO Nova Master!"

The two heroes disappeared in the whirlpool again, and a new warrior descended with a pillar of fire that fell from the sky. The warrior in red-golden armor slammed into the ground in flames, with their cloaks fluttering behind them, and the scorching airwaves dominated the audience.

"Then I fuse the WIND attribute Elemental HERO Avian' and Elemental HERO Necroshade!
Fusion Summons! Elemental HERO Great Tornado!"

A storm descended from the wormhole of the fusion gate, and the hero of the storm descended from the black hole. The roaring gust of wind suppressed the entire field of the enemy, and the already weakened Red Ogre was crushed to the ground by the gust of wind, and it seemed that even the mace on his shoulders was unsteady.

"Great Tornado's effect!" Yuei Vu said, "If this card is Fusion Summoned: Halve the ATK and DEF of all face-up monsters on the opponent's field!"

[Red Ogre, ATK 1400 ATK 700]

The poor Red Ogre used to be a big monster with an attack power of 2800, but now it was so pitiful

[Elemental HERO Gaia, ATK 3600]

[Elemental HERO Nova Master, ATK 2600]

[Elemental HERO Great Tornado, ATK 2800]

[Red Ogre, ATK 700]

At this moment, Keita's face seemed to be haunted: "In one turn, you summon monsters with ATK of 3600, ATK of 2600, and ATK of 2800!?"

No, I know you're very arrogant, but this is too exaggerated!?

Yuei Vu smiled slightly and pointed to his feet: "Then I want to activate the last set card on the field Quick Attack! Fusion monsters can attack during the turn they are Fusion Summoned."

Gaia! Nova Master! Great Tornado! Attack! "

The wind roared, the earth trembled, and the flames were wrapped in the whirling storm, sweeping away with overwhelming momentum.

With a total output of 9,000 points, the Red Ogre with only 700 attack power left, endured the pain that he should not endure, and was instantly shattered in the sea of storm fire. The exaggerated and gorgeous images engulfed Keita and burned all his LP at the same time.

Keita, LP 4000 LP 0
