

I Play Yu-Gi 631

Chapter 631: The Light of Creation!

The Wicked God of annihilation appeared again, bringing the ultimate darkness that destroyed the world. The icy temperature seemed to freeze everything. Invisible hands stretched out from the dark quagmire, grabbing the Sky Dragon and the Tormentor respectively, dragging the two Egyptian Gods into the deepest dark abyss.

Not only the Egyptian God towering on the field but everything on the field, including the set cards in the back row of both sides, was also dragged into the darkness and annihilated to the point of being invisible.

"Hey, this way you shouldn't have any means of counterattack but just to make sure, let me add this card."

Zorc's powerful voice sounded, and a stone slab in front of him flipped simultaneously.

"Trap Card Hallowed Life Barrier!" Zorc said, "Discard 1 card; I take no damage from the opponent's cards this turn, also my monsters cannot be destroyed by battle this turn!"

A transparent protective layer rose like a sky-high barrier, blocking in front of Zorc.

The Hallowed Life Barrier was an upgraded version of "Waboku" and was a trap of "absolute defense" in the true sense. It was basically equivalent to giving the player absolute invincibility within one turn.

In just a moment, the rolling black wave dissipated, and everything became invisible. In the end, only the dark sphere was still floating in the air, as if watching everything on the ground without sadness or joy.

The Wicked Avatar was the supreme evil god, and the abilities of lower gods were ineffective against it. Naturally, the power of the Eraser could not destroy it.

"Why is this like this?" Anzu, who was watching the battle, looked desperate. "The two Egyptian Gods that Yugi finally summoned were suddenly"

"Do you understand now?" The Great Evil God Zorc only became more proud, "Your power is not worth mentioning in front of me. The so-called supreme Egyptian God among duel monsters is nothing more than a joke to me!

In the face of the endless dark power, your struggles only appear humble and powerless"

Yuei Vu's lips curled up: "That's not necessarily true."

"!?"

The Great Evil God's words stopped abruptly, and his red eyes looked at the two of them in confusion.

At this time, all the cards on Yuei Vu and Yugi's side have been swept away by the power of the Eraser, and not a single card was left. It was still Yami Yugi's turn, but there were only two cards left in the hand available for play, and one of them was a blank card.

Can you still OTK me with only one card?

The more Zorc thought about it, the more he felt that the other party was just bluffing, and couldn't help but snort: "You can use your words now but in the next turn"

"Oh? What makes you think there is another round?"

Zorc: "!"

The set card that was just sent to the graveyard by The Wicked Eraser is this one!

Yuei Vu waved his hand, and a black hole opened in front of him, and a red trap card flew out.

"Trap Card Cross Counter Trap! During the turn this card is sent to the Graveyard by the opponent's card effect, I can activate up to 1 Trap Card from my hand.

The trap card I want to activate is this one! "

Yuei Vu drew a card and inserted it into the Duel Disk.

"Trap Card Graverobber!" he shouted, "Choose a card from the opponent's graveyard and I can use it at any time during this turn. The card I want to choose is Spell Card Soul Charge! "

The Great Evil God Zorc: "!"

Seeing the short grave robber digging out the Spell Card from his grave with a shovel, and running back with the card in his hands, Zorc immediately realized that something was going to happen.

It's over, that card

"According to the effect of Graverobber', I'm going to activate the Soul Charge' in your graveyard!" Yuei Vu said, "Target any number of monsters in my GY; Special Summon them, and I will lose 500 LP for each monster Special Summoned by this effect.

So needless to say more about the monster I want to resurrect, right? "

The Great Evil God Zorc stopped talking. He stared straight ahead at the duelist who was so small and even funny for his size, but felt a little out of breath.

"In the name of Pharaoh, come back to life!"

It was Yugi who spoke this time. He raised his arms high and the king's cloak fluttered like a battle flag.

"Advent! Osiris the Sky Dragon! Obelisk the Tormentor! The Winged Dragon of Ra!!!"

The three-color light awakens again from its slumber in the cemetery. The red one shot into the sky, the blue one shattered the earth, and the golden one turned into the scorching sun and tore apart the dark clouds, deforming and transforming into the posture of a divine bird in the high sky.

The three Egyptian Gods were coming again!

Yami Yugi x Yuei Vu, LP 1697 LP 197

Yuei Vu was 100% convinced that this was definitely the weirdest LP value he had ever seen. It was like a candle in the wind in a literal sense. Even getting touched by Kuriboh would kill them immediately.

But thats enough!

"You still called out the Three Egyptian Gods under such circumstances!?"

Zorc's expression changed again for a moment, and even the faucet on his crotch screamed in surprise and raised his head.

But he quickly calmed down.

Now Yugi and Yuei Vu's LP was down to their last 197 points, which was no longer enough to use the Winged Dragon's effect. And the monsters summoned by the "Soul Charge" effect could not attack during this turn. At the end of this turn, the three Egyptian Gods would return to the graveyard due to their own effects.

Originally, the only option for Yugi and Yuei Vu was to use the other two gods as sacrifices to activate Obelisk's ability "Soul Energy MAX" to directly inflict 4000 points of damage to Zorc. But because the extremely cautious evil god used the "Hallowed Life Barrier", even if that special ability was used, the damage would be blocked.

"Hmph, it's really hard for you to try to summon the Egyptian Gods in this situation, but it's still meaningless." Zorc sneered, "It's just a short-lived last struggle. By the end of this turn, all the Egyptian Gods will return to your Graveyard. Next round, if you have only 197 life points and no cards available, you will lose"

"That's not necessarily true."

Zorc's scarlet eyes shrank again.

It's this line that made people's hair stand on end again but this time it didn't come from Yuei Vu, but from the nameless Pharaoh.

At this time, he looked at Zorc head-on. There was no hesitation or fear on his face, only the unique demeanor of a king who had everything under control.

"Zorc! You can cover up my past and erase my name, but you can't change who I am!" Yami Yugi said coldly, "I have the best comrades, the most trustworthy partners! And it is their existence that made me find myself again!

Zorc's voice suddenly became hoarse: "Could it be that you"

"This is the card that Yuei Vu brought to me, and it is also the past that he helped me recover!"

Yugi raised the card in his hand. Golden light continued to flow from the card surface, and the card picture gradually emerged. The card picture was clearly engraved with hieroglyphs shaped like birds.

What the hieroglyphs told was the lost true name of the Pharaoh that spanned three thousand years of time and space.

His name is

Atem!

At the same moment, the skill "Call The True Name" that Yuei Vu obtained from the trial in the mausoleum finally changed from gray to usable!

[Duel Skill: Call The True Name]

[Skill description: This skill can only be unlocked in a team duel with Atem. When there are 3 monsters whose original names are "Osiris the Sky Dragon", "Obelisk the Tormentor", and "The Winged Dragon of Ra" on your field, by revealing 1 "The True Name", add 1 "Holactie the Creator God of Light" from outside the deck to the hand.]

In fact, "adding 1 DIVINE monster from your Deck to your hand" was originally the effect of the real-life card "The True Name". It's just that in the anime, the card of the "Holactie the Creator God of Light" was not be in anyone's deck and must be printed, so this skill changed the search target range to "outside the deck."

It's similar to how the Spell Card "Legend of Heart" was used to call the three Legendary Knights from the deck when playing against Dartz.

It was obvious that just now, Atem had completed the prerequisite by revealing "The True Name" in his hand.

So needless to say, Yuei Vu certainly chose to activate it directly.

Duel Skill Call The True Name, activate! ! !

Yuei Vu raised his right hand.

At this moment, it seemed as if all the light in the world converged towards his palm. Tiny particles and fluctuations of elements form the foundation of this world, and the original power of all things is gathering in his hands.

Yuei Vu felt the impulse brought by a powerful force sweeping through his body, stimulating his nerve endings. That was a power completely different from everything he had acquired so far. It was not beyond common sense, but more like common sense itself.

It was a very mysterious and inexplicable feeling as if he had the world itself in his hands. The elements flowed, the stars deflected, and the universe was constantly working. Everything flashed through his mind like a fast slide.

Everything finally turned into a card.

It exuded a dazzling golden light, making it impossible to see the card or text clearly, or even know its type.

But holding it in his hand, Yuei Vu felt that this was not a power he could control.

At least not for now.

"The effect of The True Name!" Yugi said calmly, "Declare 1 card name; excavate the top card of my Deck, and if it is the declared card, add it to my hand. Otherwise, send it to the GY."

"Eh?" Jonouchi was shocked, "If you just declare a card name out of thin air how could it happen to be the card you declared?"

"No." Yugi Muto's eyes were firm and there was no doubt in his eyes, "If it's the other me he can definitely do it!"

That's right, now Yami Yugi or should have been called Atem was omnipotent!

"The name of the card I want to declare is, the Spell Card Exchange!"

The moment the words fell, a card was drawn into the hand of the Pharaoh with a golden trajectory.

That card was of course Exchange!

Everything for a true duelist is inevitable.

When the duelist's "force" reaches its peak, every card draw is destined!

"Impossible!" Zorc was shocked, "How could such a thing happen!?"

"Activate the Spell Card Exchange'. Both players reveal their hands and add 1 card from each other's hand to their hand."

In team battles, teammates could also be considered opponents. The Meiky Brothers in the GX animation, who specialized in team battles, also relied on an "Exchange" to exchange resources with each other.

So here, of course, there was no need to say more about the card that Yuei Vu wanted to exchange with Atem.

Yuei Vu flung the card drawn by his skill through the air and exchanged it with Atem's remaining card in his hand. Atem raised his hand to catch it. The moment the thin card seemed to fall into his hand, the dazzling light turned into countless light spots and spread around, finally revealing the true appearance of the card.

Zorc's fear had reached its peak. He was finally convinced of what was about to happen, but there was nothing he could do to save himself at this time.

His thick fingers pointed straight at Yuei Vu, and he screamed sharply: "It's you! It's really you! I knew it! I knew it a long time ago"

His voice was already as dull as thunder, but now his screams were even more deafening. Yuei Vu covered his ears and looked impatient: "What do you know? You know what? It's so noisy"

"Ahhhh!!!"

The great evil god finally couldn't bear it anymore. He no longer cared about the restrictions and backlash of Shadow Game. He waved his huge claws desperately, roared violently, and struck down toward the location of Atem and Yuei Vu like a claw that covered the sky and the sun.

Of course, the moment he did this, he had actually given up his qualifications for the Shadow Game.

He lost. Next, he would be punished by the Shadow Game, and will forever lose the possibility of being resurrected in this "Ultimate Shadow Game". It was very likely that he would be sealed back to the underworld again

But unfortunately, he didn't even have the chance to accept this punishment.

"Osiris, Obelisk, Ra!"

Atem raised the card in his hand high, and endless golden light shot around.

"In the name of the Pharaoh, sacrifice the three Egyptian Gods!"

The crystallization of bonds opens the door of loss, and recreates all things with the glory of creation

Holactie the Creator God of Light, summons! ! ! "

The darkness shattered, the clouds disappeared, or to be more precise, the entire world briefly vanished, leaving no trace of the sky or the earth.

All that was left in this world was dazzling and pure light.

Two parallel rays of light like mercury spread out flatly, recreating the sky and the earth. A vague outline emerged from the incandescent light, a golden body like a golden sculpture, with a feminine posture, and a face as if wearing a golden mask, and the mask shone with the luster of gold.

The sky and the earth are filled with endless light. Only this hard and straight body stood tall, towering into the clouds. There was not even a trace of shadow on the body under the light.

[Holactie the Creator God of Light, ATK ?

Her attack power was "?", not infinite, but in fact, to this ultimate being, things like attack power no longer mattered.

Because this was an existence that transcended the concept of "power".

The creator god of light, her existence itself was the representative of law. Her Type was "Creation God", a unique Type in the entire Yu-Gi-Oh card pool regardless of manga, anime, or real-life cards, and the effect text embodied in the card was also a simple and crude, but absolutely irresistible supreme law

This card's Special Summon cannot be negated. The player that Special Summons this card wins the Duel.

"Ahhhhh!!!"

Zorc gave one final cry. As the incarnation of darkness, he has done his best just to maintain the existence of his body under such strong and pure light. Even now, his body was constantly collapsing and disintegrating every moment.

The Wicked Avatar had long since been torn to pieces under the shroud of light and disappeared. The duel was over at this moment, and everything on the field had disappeared. Only the unwilling Great Evil God Zorc was still struggling, still trying to attack despite the pain of his body being crushed.

He was unwilling to give in.

How could anyone be willing to do so?

Three thousand years of sealing, careful planning, and exhaustive attempts, but in the end it ended up like this.

The Great Evil God roared like a wounded lion, and black flames of chaos brewed in the dragon's mouth. That was the final blow that seemed to exhaust all the power in the underworld, and it was all he had left.

And the Creator God of Light only calmly raised one palm.

The Light of Creation!

The black flame was crushed to pieces before it was blasted out. The great evil god's huge body finally broke into pieces, like filth being washed away by the water.

Chapter 632: There Is A Kind of Pain

The Light of Creation!

The brilliance of the creation of heaven and earth enveloped the Great Evil God as if thousands of lightsabers penetrated the huge body of the mountain. The incandescent light exploded continuously in every vein of the Great Evil God's body, tearing its entire body's tendons and structures into pieces.

The black flesh, which was stronger than steel, was shattered, and the bone-like horns protruding from the top of his head were broken. But this was not the worst thing. The worst thing was that the dragon head under its crotch was broken into two pieces with the scream, and the cervical spine was mutilated with blood and flesh in the crackling sound.

Miss Yuehua's game screen recording completely recorded this scene. For a while, a dense rain of comments rolled through the live broadcast room, which was very lively.

Some used "666", some used airplanes and rockets when they are excited, and there were also a bunch of comments saying "Isn't this more flammable than XXX?", and then there were other comments that follow up and reply, "Please don't compare this to non-combustible materials."

Whats even more unclear was that when the supreme creation god Holactie appeared on the scene and killed the great evil god with a "Light of Creation", there were still a bunch of screwballs painting "Toilet Cleaning Spirits"

This was another old joke that only old viewers understood. It was said that the line that the Creator God of Light yelled the moment she made her move sounded homophonic to "toilet cleaner".

Screwball players also have their own explanation for this. They said that the dark and unclean evil god Zorc was like a stubborn stain in the toilet that could not be flushed away. Not only could it not be flushed away, but it would also stain all the surrounding water into a dirty mess. However, it could only be killed instantly in front of the invincible toilet cleaning spirit

It can be said to be a very screwball-style explanation.

And when Zorc's body fell apart and the exaggerated dragon's neck was broken, the screwballs became even more excited.

"Damn, it's so miserable!"

"There is a kind of pain that hurts even when you just look at it."

"What a miserable evil god"

In any case, there was no doubt about the result. The appearance of Holactie the Creator God of Light represented a change in the rules not only it determined the victory of this duel, but also the victory of this entire Ultimate Shadow RPG.

In addition, Zorc Necrophades the great evil god who could corpsing infinitely and keep on jumping around like a weakling no matter how many times he lost in Shadow Game was completely wiped out.

The big black guy's whole body was split open, and endless streams of light traveled across its black body. The huge body fell down as if it was on fire. The wild waves of flames shot up into the sky like a sea tide.

Then Holactie slowly turned around. The gentle and peaceful golden light was released, covering the two victors of the duel.

The pouring silver light crisscrossed the sky and the earth, and a curtain of pure light seemed to hang around it. There was nothing in the entire space.

It looked like a dimensional space built with light.

"Atem."

Holactie, the Creator God of Light, spoke. Her voice was very soft, gentle, and approachable yet majestic. Like her appearance, her voice was more feminine.

Atem raised his head: "Holactie."

"Three thousand years ago, you were alone and failed to find a way to defeat the great evil god Zorc, so you had no choice but to seal him back to the underworld at the cost of your own name and memory."

Holactie spoke slowly.

"At that time, you chose the path of sealing yourself along with Zorc. But today, three thousand years later, when you face Zorc again, I am glad that you have found a way to defeat him.

Now you have trustworthy comrades to protect you, and the best partner by your side.

The bonds you build with others become the only way to defeat Zorc. "

Holactie was talking there, and Yuei Vu was thinking wildly beside him.

Three thousand years ago, there was no one around the Pharaoh?

I think you are looking down on our Pharaoh's priests.

Well, it seems that the group of priests who fought against Zorc were indeed wiped out.

At the end of that battle, the only person standing on the battlefield and facing Zorc with his flesh and blood was the only sixteen-year-old Pharaoh.

So this story tells us that unity is strength

While Holactie was explaining to Pharaoh Atem, a certain passerby stood aside with his arms folded, thinking wildly, with this familiar melody rolling over and over in his head until he suddenly realized that the Creation God seemed to be looking at him.

Only then did Yuei Vu come back to his senses.

Ah? The God of Creation has something to do with me, a passerby?

"Yuei Vuright?" she said.

"Hmm." Yuei Vu was pulled back from his thoughts and listened carefully to what she had to say.

"Zorc erased the pharaoh's true name from the tomb in an attempt to have that name buried forever in history," she said, "but luckily you showed up.

You passed the Trial of the Pharaoh' and won the key to retrieve the true name of the Pharaoh. The bond between you called for a miracle. "

Ah? Isn't that what you gave the Pharaoh as the cheat?

Atem cast a grateful look at Yuei Vu.

He only now knew that his true name had been erased by Zorc. Although he didn't know what the "Trial of the Pharaoh" was like, from Holactie's words, it sounded like he was able to find his true name thanks to Yuei Vu.

If this was true, then it was not an exaggeration to say that he owed Yuei Vu his life.

Yuei Vu thought of the image of Holactie that he briefly saw in the light at the moment when he confronted the three Egyptian Gods summoned by the phantom of the Pharaoh at the end of that trial.

Could it be that

Yuei Vu thought about it and decided to ask the deity directly.

"Trial of the Pharaoh', that duel was it you who appeared there at the end?"

He felt like it was really possible.

In any case, the Pharaoh AI Bot was just a little too powerful, which made him suspect countless times that it didn't look like an AI Bot at all. It might make sense to say that Holactie was controlling the phantom.

But Holactie shook her head.

"I am just a bystander." She said, "The opponent you are fighting is the Pharaoh of three thousand years ago that is, Atem before he sealed himself, he was worried about the future and could not sleep peacefully, so he left behind a remnant of his soul.

Just like the great evil god Zorc who was sealed back to the underworld, his lingering resentment attached to the Millennium Ring' and left fragments of his soul waiting for the opportunity to be resurrected, the Pharaoh's true soul was sealed in the Millennium Puzzle', but at the same time, the remnants of his consciousness three thousand years ago were sleeping in the stone slab that preserved the memory of the Pharaoh. "

Yuei Vu was stunned for a moment after hearing this: "In other words, the opponent I fought with"

"It's the Pharaoh from three thousand years ago, yes." Holactie gave a positive reply, "You let him see your strength and proved to him that there is already someone worthy of entrusting the future to him. He has nothing to worry about, thus the remaining soul just dispersed."

After a pause, she smiled slightly.

"That was a very exciting duel. I also saw in you the possibilities of duelists in this era. With such a reliable duelist like you, the Pharaoh will surely be able to rest in peace."

Yuei Vu seemed to suddenly understand something, and some joints that had always puzzled him were suddenly opened.

Although the opponent in that "Trial of the Pharaoh" was not Holactie, she also watched the entire duel. Maybe it was in that duel that she saw Yuei Vu's strength, so she decided to give "The True Name" card to Yuei Vu.

In fact, if Bakura didn't run into this memory world to cause trouble, then according to the normal RPG process after the ancient Egyptians created this memory tablet, the Pharaoh three thousand years later would experience exactly what he did three thousand years ago in this memory world. His final outcome was to die together with Zorc and be sealed together.

The Creator God of Light would not be involved.

After all, if the villain doesn't jump out to cause trouble, how can the protagonist cheat?

Think about it more carefully, if it hadn't been for Bakura scratching off the true name in the tomb of the Pharaoh, Yuei Vu might not have had the chance to accept this trial, and he might not have been able to get "The True Name" card, it was even more impossible to unlock the skill "Call The True Name" and directly print "Holactie the Creator God of Light" from outside the deck to make a comeback.

In that case, Yuei Vu was really just a passerby with the Yu- prefix and had nothing to do with the memory of the Pharaoh or the grudges from three thousand years ago.

It's okay now. Originally, Yuei Vu and Holactie had nothing to do with each other, but thanks to Bakura the troublemaker, they now had a relationship

Chapter 633: All For Nothing

After explaining to the two Duel Kings who won the duel respectively, the figure of Holactie the Creator God of Light gradually turned into a shadow and disappeared bit by bit.

The sky-wide light curtain also faded away like a tide. Both light and darkness disappeared, leaving behind a blue and clear sky, and the land of Egypt that was devastated but still tenaciously supported to the end.

The palace was riddled with holes and looked like it had been baptized by an eight-magnitude earthquake. The luxurious and splendid golden palace collapsed in the earthquake, and half of the treasure house that stored countless rare treasures sank into the ground and was on the verge of collapse.

Withdrawing from the field of light, Atem and Yuei Vu both fell back to the ground.

Turning his head to look at the palace, which was already covered with wounds, and looking at the dark smoke that was gradually filling the air, Atem, as the pharaoh, couldn't help but feel sad for a moment.

Everything in front of him was an illusion, a virtual game it felt real and lifelike, but it was still just a Shadow Game.

But at the same time, he also understood that everything he experienced was history. What happened in the land of Egypt in the past was an epic that shocked the world and made ghosts and gods weep.

He thought that three thousand years ago, this country had experienced the same baptism, but the ending was not as satisfactory as it was now.

Holactie was right.

He was able to win because he gained new bonds in this world, which became his most powerful weapon against Zorc.

"Yugi!"

The friends had already rushed up enthusiastically. They were about to come up and hug him like they did when he won a game, but they stopped when there was only one or two meters left.

Because even though he had a familiar face and a familiar voice to them, the man in front of them was actually an ancient king. The man who should have been buried three thousand years ago seemed to be a world away from them.

"Ah, sorry, you're not Yugi anymore." Jonouchi rubbed his nose, "Now you have your own name, right?"

"Yes." Atem nodded, "My name is Atem."

"Atem" Yugi Muto repeated softly and smiled, "What a good name. But from now on, I can't call you other me'. You are who you are, not anyone else.

Yugi Muto subconsciously touched the place on his chest where the Millennium Puzzle should have been hung, but now there was nothing there. He felt a little empty as if there was an empty space in the room in his heart.

But it doesn't matter.

He was sincerely happy that Atem could find his identity and his true name although he might feel a little lonely.

"No, just call me like before." Atem shook his head, smiled, and said seriously, "Thank you, AIBO. Without your help in finding my name, I wouldn't have been able to win this battle.

Yugi Muto shook his head: "No, you should be more grateful to Yuei Vu. In fact, I didn't do anything. Since entering the memory world this time, whether it is formulating tactics, commanding operations, or personally participating in duels, it is all thanks to Yuei Vu.

Also when we go look for your name too. It was Yuei Vu who led us to the location of the tomb, and it was he who passed the duel trial and got the key card engraved with your name.

Without him, we might not be able to help"

When Atem thought about it, it seemed like it was true. In comparison, he still owed Yuei Vu more.

So he turned to Yuei Vu and said solemnly: "Thank you very much, Yuei Vu. I don't know what to say"

"No need." Yuei Vu shrugged generously, "Don't be so polite, we have fought side by side so many times, we are already partners, right?"

If you must thank me, to be honest, I kind of want the "Dark Magical Circle" that Mahad printed for you

Of course, this kind of talk must not be said aloud.

It would ruin the atmosphere and the scenery.

Atem then turned to Yugi Muto: "But I still need to thank you, AIBO. Not only because you have been supporting me this time, but also for the countless battles so far.

Without you, I wouldn't even be where I am today

The most important thing is still AIBO.JPG.

Of course, he didn't forget the other three people who came with him.

"So do everyone." Atem bowed to everyone solemnly and said, "Thank you, everyone. I will never be able to persist here."

Yuei Vu: ""

Okay, at least I'm in front of "everyone".

If Atem's favorability is regarded as the progress of clearing the level, this should be regarded as significant progress, right?

When everything has settled, this journey into the world of memory has finally come to an end.

Atem has recovered all his lost memories, which also means that this ultra-realistic ancient Egyptian RPG has come to an end. It's just that every good thing would come to an end, and no matter how good the game was, there would eventually be an ending.

In this game, completing the level meant the end of the journey.

He must bid farewell to everything in this world.

Although he knew that all this was just an illusion, Atem still didn't want to end hastily. He wanted to bring the story to a perfect end.

First, he needed to find the best successor to the throne of Pharaoh after he left.

So he found the past life of President Kaiba, Priest Seto.

While the Pharaoh was fighting against the great evil god, the president was sleeping with the white dragon girl in the room.

Ah, no, to be more precise, he should be sleeping while others were watching over him.

There was nothing he could do. As soon as his father Akhenaden finished his work, the great evil god Zorc appeared. Priest Seto was in a state of being hollowed out throughout the whole process. He was lying in bed and unconscious, and it was impossible for him to come out to fight.

As a result, when Seto woke up, opened the door and took a look, he was stunned.

Nani? Where is the royal palace?

How could such a huge palace be lost after just one sleep?

What made him even more confused was still behind. Priest Seto had just woken up, and the white dragon girl Kisara's slender white hands were tightly hugging his arm like a beautiful pendant. Everyone else was still confused, but the Pharaoh came directly to the door.

"This." Without saying a word, Atem directly handed his Millennium Puzzle to Seto.

Seto was so startled that he quickly took two steps back. Even Kisara, who was hanging on his arm, almost fell down.

"PharaohPharaoh, what do you mean?"

If someone suddenly gave up his position for no reason, whoever replaced him would be in a panic.

Atem gave a brief explanation. In summary, it meant "There is no time to explain, but the organization has already studied and decided to let you be the pharaoh, and it will be left to you from now on"

In fact, to put it bluntly, the game was cleared. From now on, Atem's memory journey was over, and he had to leave from here.

Seto declined in every possible way, kneeling down and expressing his loyalty. It was not until he saw Atem's body becoming transparent and gradually disappearing that he finally believed that the Pharaoh was really not joking with him.

So he was forced to take over the Millennium Puzzle and replace Atem on the throne of Pharaoh.

Until Atem completely turned into a phantom, returned to the soul form, and disappeared from his eyes, Priest Seto held the Millennium Puzzle in his hand, and he was still confused about the situation.

At this moment, Seto didn't even understand what happened. He fell asleep in a daze, and when he woke up, he found that the palace was gone and the capital seemed like it had experienced a war. Then he became a pharaoh in a daze

Oh, by the way, there was also a cute and obedient silver-haired girl beside him.

Seto, who had become a winner in life inexplicably, didn't even know whether he should be happy or not.

So judging from the results, the old man Aknadine died unjustly.

The old man's biggest long-cherished wish was for his son Seto to ascend the throne. However, in fact, even if he just sat there and did nothing, in the end, Atem naturally gave up the throne and the position of Pharaoh to his son Seto. The process was even completely legal.

So this old man sold his soul and became the High Priest of Darkness, busily working here and there, but in the end, all he did was for nothing

Chapter 634: Yuei Vu-san's True Identity Is Revealed!

There was another strong dizziness, and it felt like his body was thrown into a washing machine. After a moment of spinning, Yuei Vu finally felt the cold, hard floor again.

The journey to the memory world is over, and he has returned from the long RPG world.

"Master!!!"

As soon as Yuei Vu opened his eyes, he felt a gust of fragrant wind blowing through his nose, and his body was caught off guard by two soft and large balls of evil.

The Dark Magician Girl, whom he hadn't seen for a long time, couldn't help but hug him: "Master, you are finally back! You haven't been seen for a long time"

"Okay, okay, I'm back now." Yuei Vu touched her golden little head, "How long have I been gone?"

"Three hours, twenty-seven minutes, and fifty seconds!"

So precise?

"It turns out that only three hours have passed"

In the memory world, it clearly felt like many days had passed, but I didn't expect that only such a short time had passed in reality.

Having said that, I had only been gone for more than three hours, why was this girl so anxious?

Do seconds really pass like years?

But to Yuei Vu, it really felt like he hadn't seen her for a long time. The Dark Magician Girl was the first spirit he got, and she has been by his side almost since he traveled to this world. He hadn't seen her for so long, so he really missed her.

The magician girl bit her lip, her clear eyes flashed, and she looked like she was about to cry. Yuei Vu gently stroked her little head to comfort her, feeling like he was petting a cat

Compared with the Mana he met in the memory world not long ago, Yuei Vu was even more convinced that it was not an illusion

As expected, my own one is bigger!

The Dark Magician Girl hugged her master as soon as she came up. She seemed to have a lot to say after not seeing her for three whole hours. Unfortunately, other people who participated in the Shadow Game also came back one after another. She had no choice but to pout, temporarily dematerialize, and shrink back into Yuei Vu's deck.

Everyone sat up from the floor one after another. Everyone felt exhausted, their bodies were as soft as cooked noodles, and they couldn't exert any strength at all.

Everything that happened in ancient Egypt, and the decisive battle with the great evil god Zorc, every scene was just like a dream. It was clear that not long had passed, but looking back it seemed so unreal.

Screwball players should be the most energetic. This journey to ancient Egypt excited all of them even other players who were not able to participate in person and cleared the game online were extremely excited.

At this time, a new hot thread appeared in the forum.

"Shocking news! Yuei Vu-san's true identity is revealed! The credibility is over 80%!"

When he caught a glimpse of this post, Yuei Vu himself went in curiously to read it. He wanted to see what background stories the screwball players had made up for him.

Then as soon as he entered, he saw the poster's statement: "The plot of version 1.0 is coming to an end. It is estimated that those damned game designers are also planning to take this opportunity to drop a bombshell and reveal the information that everyone is paying attention to, that is, about Yuei Vu-san's true identity!

I spent a lot of effort and collected a lot of clues, and found that all the clues pointed to a unique truth

Yuei Vu-san is actually Holactie the Creator God of Light! "

Then the poster began to list the known information and clues below to demonstrate the reliability of his inference.

"For example, Yuei Vu-san is clearly a character that does not exist in the anime, but his record is terrifyingly impressive; for example, he clearly does not have a Millennium Item in hand, but he can easily make the three Egyptian Gods, who are known for their arrogance, obey

What's even more important is that Yuei Vu-san actually has a set of Three Egyptian Gods in his hand!

Anyone who knows a little bit about Yu-Gi-Oh knows that all three Egyptian God cards are unique. With the second set of Egyptian God cards, in addition to his identity as "Holactie the Creator God of Light", there is no other explanation.

In addition, everyone has witnessed that before the final duel with Zorc began, "The True Name" blank card was given to Atem by Yuei Vu.

In the last round, when Atem retrieved his true name and called out "Holactie the Creator God of Light", it was obvious that the card of Holactie was also printed by Yuei Vu on the spot. In the end, Atem relied on "Exchange" to take the card from Yuei Vu's hand.

If this is not enough to prove it, then there is one more important point that is also listed as decisive evidence by this poster, and that is

The Great Evil God Zorc obviously thinks so too!

People with a discerning eye have discovered through the entire Pharaoh's Memories arc that Yuei Vu-san suppressed the great evil god Zorc throughout the whole process as if he were a prophet. Zorc was outperformed by Yuei Vu in both tactics and dueling skills.

And from the tone of the evil god's words and his reaction during their several fights, it can be seen that he does seem to know Yuei Vu, and he obviously shows fear.

In the animation, the invincible great evil god punched Exodia, kicked White Bride, and tore apart the three Egyptian Gods. Other than Holactie, who can make him feel fear?

Then, at the last moment when "The Light of Creation" came and obliterated Zorc, everyone could clearly see Zorc pointing at Yuei Vu in horror and screaming, "It's you! It's really you! I knew it! I knew it a long time ago! and the like.

Others may mistake, but how can the Great Evil God mistake recognizing his nemesis?

From this, it is proven that Yuei Vu-san = Holactie the Creator God of Light!

Seeing this, even Yuei Vu couldn't help but be secretly surprised.

Good guy, you actually dug up so much evidence for your theory. I was almost convinced by them myself.

There were quite a few people who agreed with the post below, but of course, not everyone agreed. Some people soon expressed a different view.

For example: Yuei Vu-san was a man, but the Creator God of Light was a female, no matter how you look at it.

Yet such small details can easily be refuted. Someone quickly replied, "For an ultimate being like the Creator God, does a trivial thing like gender matter?"

"The three Egyptian Gods are parts of Holactie. Why don't you see that the three Egyptian Gods are all male?"

Immediately, someone expressed a different opinion: "What evidence do you have to prove that the Three Egyptian Gods are male? Did you confirm it on the bed or something?"

There was also an even more ruthless buddy who directly responded: "Hold it up. Just like Yami Bakura is the human form of the great evil god, Yuei Vu-san must be the human form of Holactie!

The evidence is solid and there is nothing to say. If future plot developments prove me wrong, I will do a live broadcast of standing on my head and eating a catty of nails! You can quote this post as proof! "

One stone stirred up a thousand waves, and a group of idiots who were not too concerned about the excitement responded one after another and immediately supported him

Yuei Vu closed the forum and began to think deeply.

It seemed that thanks to the great evil god, Yuei Vu's reputation among the players has now reached a higher level. Before, he was just the protagonist of the world, but now he was the God of Creation.

But Yuei Vu was a more realistic person.

He has already begun to think about whether the identity of "the Creator God of Light" could help him develop a new leek-harvesting method

After leaving the secret room, everyone met the Ishtar siblings who were waiting outside the door. The siblings first congratulated the Pharaoh for successfully passing the trials and retrieving his memory, and after Atem's inquiry, they confessed that the Tablet of the King's Memories was also stored in the hands of their Tomb Keeper clan.

As long as the seven Millennium Items were placed into the stone tablet, the door to the underworld would open.

The great evil god Zorc wanted to open the door to the underworld so that he could come to the world and bring darkness and destruction. But now Zorc has been completely wiped out and ceased to exist under the blow of the Creator God of Light. Therefore, even if the seven Millennium Items were collected and the door to the underworld was opened, Zorc would not appear again.

Now there's only one last thing left.

The Pharaoh was a dead person, and his soul had been wandering for three thousand years. Now that the mission was finally completed, it was time to return to his friends who were waiting for him in the underworld three thousand years ago.

What they needed to do now was to open the door to the underworld and send the Pharaoh to the afterlife.

Chapter 635: A Story That Ends In Light

Recover the true name of the Pharaoh, retrieve the lost memory of the Pharaoh, defeat the great evil god Zorc, and collect the seven thousand-year-old artifacts

If DM's entire set of main storylines was listed and written into a long list of quests, then the completion rate would undoubtedly reach 99%, and only one last bit was left to clear the entire main storyline.

A small regret compared to the anime was that President Kaiba did not attend the decisive battle in the end.

Of course, Yuei Vu felt that this was the president's own loss.

He was already considering whether to take back the video of the duel with the Millennium AI Bot when he passed the "Trial of the Pharaoh" in the memory world and showed it to Kaiba. At that time, he would play the video in front of the president and say: "Do you see? This is what an AI Bot is. President, what do you call the things you usually play with?"

Oh, let this tsundere be greedy to death! Who made him decide not to come to Egypt?

But looking at it from another perspective, it might be a good thing that the president was not present. After all, there were too many supernatural phenomena in the memory world from beginning to end. In particular, the Great Evil God Zorc and the Creator God of Light were coming out one after another, and that was really not very friendly to a staunch scientific superstitious person like the president.

What if the president had witnessed so many unscientific scenes with his own eyes, and his three views were shattered? Would he no longer be superstitious about science and switch to studying the supernatural?

Then after returning home, he sold off the Kaiba Corp on the spot, established a paranormal research institution called SCP Foundation, and recruited a number of young talents to join

So it became another story.

The last step of the main plot was to put the seven Millennium Items into the Tablet of the King's Memories, open the door to the underworld, and send the Pharaoh back to sleep but there was one small detail before that.

"The Pharaoh cannot enter the underworld with his sword." Sister Ishizu explained to everyone, "In order for the Pharaoh to sleep peacefully, his soul must be satisfied. He must no longer have worries and leave his sword in this world."

The so-called "sword", in the world view of Yu-gi-oh, naturally referred to the deck.

To be more specific, someone must step forward to satisfy Atem's 3000-year-old card addiction, and he must win. Only in that way could Atem rest in peace.

This was a bit uncomfortable.

Anyone who has been addicted to playing cards for three thousand years, but suddenly had to quit, would feel uncomfortable too.

But this time Yuei Vu didn't join in the fun, saying that he would have one last fight with the Pharaoh to send him on his way.

He had already fought against Atem three thousand years ago, and he had nothing to regret. This sacred final duel belongs to Muto Yugi, and it was also the most important turning point in this boy's life.

If this opportunity is taken away, even if he wins the duel, the Pharaoh's soul will not be able to let go of all its worries, right?

When Yugi put on a Duel Disk and embarked on the stage of the final battle with a deck composed of all his thoughts, even his friends would inevitably have some doubts about his strength.

After all, it has always been Atem who has stepped forward to fight when facing various enemies so far. Yugi Muto has always been a bystander, the one who silently supports his other self from behind.

Because he had never taken action before, it was inevitable that he would leave everyone with the impression of insufficient strength.

But Atem accepted Yugi as his final opponent without any hesitation. It seemed that this was something that had been decided a long time ago. Just like the encounter between their two souls spanning three thousand years, this battle was also destined.

Only by being satisfied through this battle could Atem truly sleep in peace; and only by defeating Atem in this battle could Yugi take a new step toward the future.

Luckily, Yugi didn't let anyone down.

This taciturn and introverted boy showed a tyrannical strength that surprised everyone in this battle. He showed no sign of weakness even when faced with the three most powerful Egyptian Gods of the Pharaoh.

Although Atem has printed a lot of new cards and was stronger than in the original animation, as the saying goes "the rising tide makes the rising boat", the progress of Yugi was not slow either. He had a lot of fancy cards, such as the Kuriboh series, the Magnet Warrior series, and even the Magician Girl series that was released in limited edition not long ago

Even the powerful forbidden card "Gandora-X the Dragon of Demolition" that should be printed in The Dark Side of Dimensions movie has appeared, making the screwballs who observed this battle drop their jaw in surprise.

As for the three Egyptian Gods, Yugi has prepared even more tactics.

For example

Atem: In this way, I will have three sacrifices on the field! I hereby offer three sacrifices to heaven and call Gods name

Yugi: Open the set card! Continuous Trap Summon Limit! Neither player can Summon more than two times per turn! You have already summoned twice this turn, so you can no longer summon gods!

At this time, Jonouchi and Honda actually exclaimed: "Oh! This is the card Yuei Vu used against the three Egyptian Gods at that time!"

Atem's movements were stiff and his face was expressionless, but his eyes glanced at Yuei Vu in the audience intentionally or unintentionally.

Another example

Atem: I activate the Spell Card "Foolish Burial" and send "The Winged Dragon of Ra" from the deck to the graveyard! I believe I don't need to say more about what kind of abilities the Winged Dragon has when it revived from the graveyard, right?

Yugi: Open the set card! Continuous Trap Macro Cosmos! While this card is face-up on the field, any card sent to the GY is banished instead! Therefore, the Sun God does not enter the cemetery and is directly removed from the game!

Jonouchi and Honda: "Oh! It's the same as when Yuei Vu used Masked HERO Dark Law' against the Winged Dragon! Nice move, Yugi!"

Atem's movements froze again, and he silently removed the strongest Egyptian God from the game. At the same time, he glanced sideways at Yuei Vu next to him.

Soon after

Atem: Come! The God of Destruction, Obelisk the Tormentor! Use two monsters as sacrifices, destroy all the opponent's monsters and inflict 4000 points of damage! It's over, AIBO!

Game: Not yet! I send the Continuous Trap "Ground Erosion" on the field to the graveyard! When this trap is sent to the graveyard, select 1 Monster Card Zone on the opponent's side of the field that is currently used by a Monster Card. Negate the effect of the monster in the selected Monster Card Zone and decrease its ATK by the number of my Standby Phases this card has been face-up on the field x 500!

Jonouchi and Honda: Because it targets the Monster Zone instead of monsters, it is effective against gods! Another card used by Yuei Vu against the Egyptian God!

Atem looked at Yuei Vu again, his eyes seeming to say: Good damn it, how many tricks did you teach AIBO to mess with me?

And Yuei Vu Yuei Vu had innocence written all over his face, looking at the scenery as if it had nothing to do with him.

After another moment

Atem: I already have Osiris and Obelisk on the field. Can you still solve this situation? AIBO!?

I have two gods, how can I lose?

What do you mean, why are there two gods and not three?

Of course, it's because the Crispy Chicken has been exiled to another dimension

Yugi: I combined three Magnet Warriors to special summon Valkyrion the Magna Warrior!

Atem: It's useless! Sky Dragon, fire Summon Thunder Bullets!

Yugi: Trap Card Magnet Force! During this turn, if any of my face-up Rock or Machine-Type monsters are targeted by an opponent's card effect, switch the target to an appropriate monster the opponent controls! I reflect Summon Thunder Bullet to Obelisk!

Obelisk who was hit by his teammates: Sky Dragon you traitor #! %

Yugi: Then activate the effect of Valkyrion the Magna Warrior! Tribute this card, then target 1 "Alpha The Magnet Warrior", "Beta The Magnet Warrior", and "Gamma The Magnet Warrior" in my GY; Special Summon them! At this moment, Sky Dragon's Summon Thunder Bullet was activated again! However, the trap card "Magnet Force" will bounce the three thunder bombs to the two Egyptian Gods respectively!

Sky Dragon: Ah ah ah, I cant control myself! (While roaring, he sprays out three thunder bombs)

Obelisk: Shut up

Double kill!

Seeing the Egyptian Gods on Atem's field being destroyed by his own Summon Thunder Bullet, the two brothers Jonouchi and Honda didn't say anything this time. Atem had already glanced at Yu in the audience

Yuei Vu suddenly felt bad.

What? Why do you look at me like that? What did I do?

But the withdrawal of the three gods is not the end of the battle. On the contrary, it was more like the beginning. Atem seemed to have already calculated that AIBO could defeat the Three Gods, and had even laid out the follow-up tactics.

It was an extremely exciting duel, with both sides fighting so heartily that they even unconsciously forgot the purpose of the duel, and simply immersed themselves in the duel itself.

But everything would end sooner or later.

This duel finally came to an end.

Final round.

Its a good fight, AIBO, but it looks like its over, here and now. Atem said, This turn, I will activate the Spell Card Monster Reborn to resurrect Osiris the Sky Dragon from the graveyard!

The number of cards in my hand is four, so Sky Dragon's attack power is 4000! I won, AIBO! "

And Yugihe didn't speak.

He lowered his head and said nothing in a gloomy manner, making it difficult to tell whether he was happy or sad.

He knows Atem so well, maybe even better than Atem himself.

A golden box slowly rose up surrounded by light.

Gold Sarcophagus (Spell Card): Remove from play 1 card in your Deck face-down. Neither player can use a card of the same name during this Duel. (animation effect)

The seal was lifted, the box slowly opened, and the seal card rising from it was "Monster Reborn".

Sister Ishizu was the first to understand the meaning.

"Dead people should not stay in this world." She said softly, "The dead should not be resurrected. This is the guidance given by Yugi to the Pharaoh's soul, and it is the trump card infused with the determination to separate."

Atem offered no more resistance.

Without setting any card, without summoning any more monsters, he ended the turn.

No more twists, no more suspense, the sacred duel ceremony has ushered in the real final round. The final attack in Yugi took away all of Atem's remaining LP, which also meant that their precious memories had come to an end.

Atem's LP returned to zero.

He was clearly the winner, but Yugi lowered his head and fell to his knees, crying in frustration.

Atem smiled calmly and took the final attack, as if everything was in his plan. He put down the Duel Disk, walked forward slowly, leaned over, and helped up Yugi, who was kneeling on the ground and sobbing.

"Stand up, AIBO. The winner should not be on his knee." Atem said with a smile.

Yugi stood up with his help. He was clearly the winner, but the tears couldn't stop flowing out. His eyes were so hollow as if a large piece of his heart had been ripped away.

"Another me"

Atem shook his head and interrupted.

"I am no longer another you'." He said, "From now on, you are you, not anyone else. I believe that even without me, your courage will not be lost to anyone."

He patted Yugi on the shoulder.

Yugi was silent but nodded vigorously.

This was the agreement between them, and it was something that could still connect them across the edge of life and death.

The title of Duel King was the most precious thing Atem left to Yugi. The young man has made up his mind that from now on he will hold on to this title no matter what and will not lose to anyone.

The door to the underworld opened, and endless warm light poured out as if the companion who had disappeared three thousand years ago was welcoming the Pharaoh's long-lost return.

It's like coming home.

Atem turned around and took steps towards the light.

"Yugi!!!"

Anzu was the first to speak out. Jonouchi and Honda also couldn't help but come forward.

Atem stopped in his tracks.

Yes, he was no longer Yugi, and this name had nothing to do with him anymore

But how could it really not matter?

Even if his past memories were recovered, this was still the most precious memory for all of them.

But even so, Atem did not look back.

Maybe I still lack the courage after all.

No matter how much we are reluctant to leave, no matter how much we try to stay, it is impossible to change the fact that we are about to separate.

"Yugi!" Jonouchi stepped forward, "It doesn't matter who you are, Atem or whatever your name is, you will always be Yugi! No matter how many hundreds or thousands of years pass, we will always be good friends!"

Atem smiled in relief.

He finally turned around and faced his friend who was bidding farewell to him.

"Um."

He paused and didn't forget to look at Yuei Vu behind him. There was trust, recognition, and gratitude.

"The rest is up to you."

Yuei Vu was stunned for a moment and said nothing, but still nodded.

Atem turned around, took another step, without looking back, gave a thumbs-up to everyone, and disappeared on the other side of the light.

Chapter 636: It's Unacceptable!

Domino.

The sun seemed to rise extra early today, and the early morning light softly shone on the sleeping Battle City, coating the sidewalks with a layer of golden light.

Sunlight penetrated into a small room from the skylight. It was cut into square shapes and projected on the floor. Countless dust particles flew in the light.

The starfish-headed boy in pajamas opened his sleepy eyes and sat up from the bed, murmuring drowsily: "Good morning"

No reply.

In the quiet morning, there was no movement inside or outside the house. Only the boy's own voice echoed in the room.

Oh, he's gone.

Muto Yugi landed on the floor with his bare feet and saw the sunlight casting the shadow of the window pane beside his feet. To be honest, his bedroom was not that big. After the desk, bed and other furniture were crammed in, the space for movement was actually very limited.

But now he felt that this room was so big that it even seemed a little empty. The early morning breeze blew in through the half-open windows and wandered around every corner.

He sat alone by the bed for a long time, staring blankly at the gold box on the desk used to store treasures.

The Millennium Puzzle was once stored in that box. Yugi spent eight years putting this block together and obtained the most precious treasure in the world.

But he was gone now.

From now on, no one would listen to him complain about the troubles in life, and no one would give him advice when he was worried about his wardrobe. He must learn to build deck alone, duel alone, and face any challenges that may arise in the future alone

"Yugi!"

A shout from outside the window interrupted his thoughts.

Yugi poked his head out of the window and found Jonouchi, Honda, and Anzu.

The three friends seemed to have made an appointment long ago and got up earlier than usual. They had already dressed up and appeared in front of Yugi, waving vigorously at him.

"The sun is shining on your butt, haven't you gotten up yet?" Jonouchi shouted in a loud voice.

"Jonouchi"

Yugi couldn't help but be moved.

Is it because you knew he had just left, so you deliberately made an appointment to wait for me here?

Yugi couldn't help but recall the moment when Millennium Puzzle was put together, and the wish he made to it.

He wanted friends. Because he had always been alone, he was cowardly and did not have the courage to take the initiative to speak, so he longed for friendship.

Now this dream has really come true.

Yes, he had just left, how could I be so decadent and sad?

I have made a promise to him, and I have to walk my own path from now on.

"Yeah!" Yugi raised his head and replied forcefully, "Wait for me, I'll be down soon!"

However, it was obvious that not everyone could accept this fact as calmly as Yugi.

"Gone!?"

When Yuei Vu stood in front of the desk in the president's office and reported his work, President Kaiba's eyes were as wide as bells.

No way, this trip to Egypt was technically considered an "official business trip". President Kaiba reimbursed the group's air tickets. Many steps along the way were spent with the president's money. Logically speaking, when Yuei Vu came back, it was his duty to report to the boss obediently.

Hence the current scene.

"Yeah." Yuei Vu shrugged, "He's gone."

"Where did he go?"

"Go to the underworld, where he should go." Yuei Vu said, "He was originally a dead person, a soul that should not remain in this world. Now that he has fulfilled his wish and completed his mission, he should go back to where he belongs."

"That's nonsense!"

The president slapped the desk so hard that even the Blue-Eyes White Dragon model on the desk seemed to jump in fright.

Yuei Vu looked helpless. In fact, before he came back to make this report, he had more or less anticipated President Kaiba's possible reaction.

Now Kaiba's face was full of anger, his expression was like a child who had his favorite toy taken away, with "unacceptable" written all over his face.

But president, its useless even if you cant accept it. He is indeed gone.

Now that Tsundere regrets his life. If you had come with us when I invited you, you would have at least been able to see him one last time, right?

Although Atem might still ignore Kaiba in the end and choose Yugi as his opponent in the final battle, at least the president could enjoy it.

Unlike now, he left without even saying goodbye to the president, an old friend.

Kaiba was obviously getting angrier as he thought about it, clenching his fists so hard that his bones cracked.

Unforgivable, unforgivable, Yu gi!

Do you still have me as your old enemy in your heart?

"The final settlement between us has not been completed yet, so we just walked away talking to ourselves!?" The president sounded like he was talking to himself, "I misjudged you, are you actually such a guy who runs away from battle? !

"UmPresident," Yuei Vu reminded in a low voice, "Didn't you guys break it off a long time ago? And it happened many times. I remember you lost"

Kaiba suddenly turned his head and gave him a vicious look. Yuei Vu immediately began to look at the scenery outside the window skillfully.

Atem just flicked his sleeves and left, but Yuei Vu was actually under a lot of pressure.

Because it meant that whenever the president could not restrain his urge to play cards, he would definitely have to look for him

"Humph."

Kaiba leaned back in his chair, pondered for a moment, and asked, "Where is the door to the underworld you mentioned where that guy left?"

"That place collapsed"

"It doesn't matter." Kaiba said coldly, "Tell me where it is!"

Yuei Vu: ""

Why so serious, president?

Don't you just want to play cards? To dig someone's grave

However, from the firm tone, the president's unwavering determination could be heard.

It seems like Atem can't just sleep peacefully for the time being

Somewhere in Egypt.

"Pharaoh is gone."

A dark figure opened its eyes.

The shadow was not tall, with a medium build, but its eyes shone with a strange dark orange light, like two fireflies in the darkness.

"Finally, is it time to reach this point?" Another black figure appeared and said calmly.

No one spoke for a while, but dark shadows appeared one after another. Some of them were tall and some were short, some were fat and some were thin, and judging from their body outlines, there were men and women. They looked like some kind of weird cult.

"The moment Lord Shadi talked about is coming." someone said.

Between the shadows, a young man walked out.

He had flowing blue hair in pigtails and wore round-toed boots. There was a dark orange cube floating in his hand with one edge missing.

As we all know, there were seven Millennium Items in total, and now they have ceased to exist with the accession of the Pharaoh's soul.

But there are always exceptions to everything.

At this moment, floating in the hands of this young man was the eighth Millennium Item in the world!

The dark orange cube gradually lit up like a lantern, illuminating the young man's confident and smiling face.

"The future belongs to us Prana."

Chapter 637: Come And Duel!

"YuGi!"

"Kaiba!"

Seto Kaiba stood in the center of the square dueling arena, the high-end Duel Disk full of technology in his hand shining with blue light, and his white windbreaker flying behind him.

"I've been waiting for you for a long time, YuGi!" Kaiba shouted, "Come on! Let's put an end to our fateful battle!"

The man standing in front of him had a brightly colored seafood hairstyle, a golden pyramid-shaped pendant hanging upside down on his chest, and the chain made a crisp sound of metal friction.

His expression was solemn and hard, and his eyes were like a general's unsheathed sword, shining with a cold light.

Duel King Muto Yugino, or more accurately, Atem.

The Pharaoh from the underworld, the undefeated God of War!

"Since you are so persistent, then come, Kaiba." "Atem" said coldly, "But no matter how many times we come, the ending will be the same."

"Hmph, arrogant!"

"Duel!" x2

""

Yuei Vu, who was standing in the observation deck on the second floor, lost interest when he saw this.

It was said to be "testing a new Duel Disk", but everyone knew that it was actually President Kaiba's daily routine of torturing an AI Bot

Almost a year has passed since Atem left.

The departure of this real world protagonist not only means the end of a story, but also means a peaceful life. For a whole year, there haven't been any villains one after another like before. There are no 10000-year-old bastards suddenly shouting about the destruction of civilization, and there are no artists with big black and long dragon heads sticking out from their crotches, threatening the destruction of the world.

Of course, it was impossible to calm down completely. Yu-Gi-Oh is such a world that is mainly about playing cards, but where gods and demons are rampant. Even if there are no major events, there are always various supernatural events happening around the world, and most of them are related to playing cards.

According to Yuei Vu's observation, since President Kaiba's long-cherished enemy left, President Kaiba, who has always scorned the "supernatural", had clearly become more aware of various supernatural phenomena in his actions and attitudes, although he didn't say it in words.

And a more obvious change was that President Kaiba, who was already known as the "AI Bot Slayer", seems to have become even more obsessed with AI Bots this year.

But don't think that Kaiba's obsession with Atem AI Bot will temporarily make him forget Yuei Vu. Just two days ago, President Kaiba suddenly went crazy and pulled Yuei Vu out of bed in the middle of the night, forcing him to play cards with the president sleepily in the name of "testing the new duel system"

Test the new duel system my ass!

Yuei Vu was yawning and wanted to curse.

What a lunatic! Why do you suddenly want to play cards in the middle of the night?!

In the end, he was so tortured that he didn't sleep a wink all night. The next day when he went to the store with panda eyes, Chika-chan immediately became alarmed and asked him what he did last night and why he looked like he hadn't had any sleep

Of course, if Yuei Vu didn't want to fight with the president, he could still refuse. He guessed the president wouldn't be able to do anything to him.

The reason why he got up in the middle of the night and ran to duel with the president was because the bonus was too much.

There was no way, Yuei Vu felt that as a true duelist, he could not disobey his inner voice. And the deepest voice in his heart told him over and over again "If you don't take the money, you are a fool."

It was actually true to test the duel system. The invincible Kaiba Corp has made outstanding progress in technology this year. Now President Kaiba was obsessed with developing online card games.

According to his vision, in the future, duelists could call card data from all over the world through the Duel Disk, transmit it to the Duel Disk through the cloud network, and directly link with the duelist's nervous system and link the memory module of the human brain. Then Kaiba Corp's black technology would visualize the brain images in space, achieving duel performance far beyond the previous President Kaiba stubbornly called this system "Duel Link".

In fact, although this system was very powerful, it was still unrealistic to completely replace the old-fashioned card duel.

On one hand, this kind of black-tech Duel Disk would be very expensive, and not all civilian duelists could afford it. Furthermore, because it involved the "neural link" module, the safety factor is actually unknown.

But Kaiba didn't care, he still insisted on completing the development of this system.

The reason was actually very simple.

Because based on research, Kaiba believed that this system could concentrate and synchronize the consciousness data of any duelist, and theoretically had the potential to transcend the dimension itself and open up pathways to unknown dimensions.

For example

to the underworld!

Whenever he thought of this possibility, Kaiba couldn't help but clench his fists, and his blood boiled.

YuGi!

Do you think you can escape our fate by going to the underworld?

Wait for me!

I'm going to fight you!

In fact, President Kaibas bold and unconstrained imagination had something to do with screwball players.

Because "World Link Online" was temporarily closed for maintenance, it is said to be preparing for a new version.

Yuei Vu was already mentally prepared. After version 1.0 of "World Link Online" in the previous life ended, the relevant servers were indeed maintained for a period of time. Although in reality, it was only a few days of maintenance and version updates, when players went online the next time, time had already fast-forwarded to version 2.0, which was the "Yu-Gi-Oh GX" period corresponding to the animation.

When he was bored, Yuei Vu also thought about it, thinking that the World Link Online might really be a parallel world. Somehow someone found a way to send players over in the form of projections, so they just threw them over.

Because it was essentially a parallel world, even the people who sent the players here naturally could not interfere with the game process, plot, and activities here, so they euphemistically called it an "absolutely open and free game" and promised, "The official will not interfere with any game process."

To put it nicely, its probably because they simply couldnt do it.

This made Yuei Vu couldn't help but think about the behind-the-scenes novels he had seen in his previous life. Roughly speaking, the protagonist of the novel has obtained a special golden finger, which allows him to project game players as his own chess pieces into other worlds to fight for him. However, those players who participated in the war thought that they were just playing games

Of course, it was just a thought he had when he was too busy.

There was no point in thinking about all these things, just make peace with them as they come. Anyway, he was already a part of this Yu-Gi-Oh world.

It was conceivable that the NPCs would be surprised that such a large number of screwball players had integrated into this world, but all of them suddenly disappeared into thin air in one breath.

But soon an explanation spread among the NPCs.

These screwballs behaved strangely, dressed strangely, and sometimes liked to gossip and say things that no one could understand. They all looked like aliens. However, at important moments that threatened the survival of the world and the safety of human civilization, they clearly contributed actively, saved many lives, and played a key role.

So the NPCs quickly reached a consensus

These people may be duelists from other dimensions!

Many professionals have expressed their agreement and said that this hypothesis was possible. The more they studied, the more they felt that duel was the key to all technologies. Relying on the power of playing cards to transcend time, space, and dimensions, was not impossible even from the current perspective

As soon as this theory was put forward, it immediately attracted the attention of President Kaiba.

So the president's new goal was set

Transcend dimensions through the power of playing cards!

Then go to the underworld to play cards with that person!

To be honest, the president's energetic look made Yuei Vu a little worried.

What if one day in the future, Yuei Vu returned to the real world by chance? One day many years later, when he returned to his peaceful and ordinary life and walked on the pedestrian street of his original world, a dimensional crack suddenly opened in mid-air. President Kaiba stepped on the edge of a certain space-time machine, holding a Duel Disk and shouting YueiVu! I found you! Come and duel!

....

It made him sick just thinking about it.

Chapter 638: Drink More Hot Water

Not interested in the president's subsequent brutality against AI Bot, Yuei Vu said hello to Mokuba and left Kaiba Corp first, returning to the card shop.

World Link Online is undergoing maintenance, and all the screwballs have gone offline collectively. Naturally, the card shop was no longer as busy as it used to be. Although business was booming here every day with Yuei Vu as the "Duel King", it always felt like something was missing.

But maybe it's because we arrived early today and there were not a lot of people in the store yet after all, not everyone was like President Kaiba who got up before dawn to play games. When Yuei Vu walked in, as usual, there was only Chika-chan alone in the store.

Chika seemed to be out of energy today. Yuei Vu opened the door, and the first thing he saw was Chika lying on the counter without energy, with her beautiful long silver hair spread to one side.

Noticing Yuei Vu entering the door, she steeled herself, stood up from behind the counter and waved hello to him.

It's a bit like being out for a day and being greeted with "You're back" when you come home.

"What's wrong?" Yuei Vu walked to the door and asked, "Are you feeling uncomfortable?"

Chika-chan's face was pale, her soft lips were dry and white, and there was no color on her face.

"It's nothing." She shook her head, "It's a little uncomfortable but I'm okay."

Yuei Vu seems to understand a little bit.

Could this be the girl's time which visits every month?

Is it just that serious? Chika-chan's pale face looked like she was suffering from some serious illness, which seemed quite bad.

The passerby with the Yu- prefix might be a good player at cards, but this kind of thing involved a bit of a blind spot in his knowledge. After much thought, the sentence "drink more hot water" went back and forth in his mind, but in the end, he held it back.

He saw that Chinka-chan did not have the habit of drinking hot water. She usually drank cold water directly. Logically speaking, she should drink more hot water

How about drinking more lava?

"Have you had breakfast?" Chika asked, "If not, I can get you some."

"Eat at the company." Yuei Vu replied casually.

In this state, he was honestly too embarrassed to ask her to go to the kitchen to do some dishes for him.

Chika, who was lying on the counter, immediately raised her little head: "The company? At President Kaiba's place? Did you go there so early?"

You don't just spend the night there, do you?

"Well, some tests of the new system." Yuei Vu answered casually, without saying much on the topic, "If you feel uncomfortable, why don't you go and rest first? I'll just watch here."

"No, it's not that serious." Chika shook her head stubbornly.

The screwball players were not here at the moment, and to be honest, Yuei Vu had nothing particularly important to do. After thinking about it, he went to the convenience store on the opposite corner and bought some brown sugar and ginger, preparing to stew some brown sugar water.

Classic plot When the girl's time visits, drinks brown sugar and ginger water.

After all, that's what it says on TV, so it shouldn't be wrong, right?

The salesperson at the convenience store was also a pretty young girl, and she could be considered a little fan of Yuei Vu. However, it was not surprising. In a city like Domino with a strong dueling atmosphere, he had many fans.

Who made him to be both a good card player and a handsome guy?

The girl was quite enthusiastic: "Yuei Vu-san~ You came very early today!"

Because it was basically opposite the card store, they were considered a neighbor. Yuei Vu came to this convenience store from time to time and became familiar with it.

After finding brown sugar and ginger, Yuei Vu put the things on the counter. The cashier girl suddenly showed an expression of "discovering big news".

She quickly lowered her voice: "Yuei Vu-san, how far have you progressed?"

"No, this is"

"Don't worry, Yuei Vu-san, you know me, I have the tightest mouth." The girl smiled, "I understand. I won't go around telling people nonsense."

Understand? You understand nothing.

And how would I know if you are tight-lipped or not?

Yuei Vu didn't bother to explain. After paying, he picked up his things and went out directly. The cashier girl waved goodbye to his back from behind and said some blessings with unknown meaning.

When Chika-chan held the steaming cup of stewed brown sugar water with both hands, her little head was confused for a moment.

Did he buy it specifically for me?

Did he stew it for me?

"!"

She looked up at Yuei Vu in surprise, only to find Yuei Vu sitting on the side with his legs crossed, holding the newest "Duel Generations" magazine in his hand, flipping through the book with a nonchalant expression, as if this matter had nothing to do with him

But Chika felt that it didn't matter anymore.

He has me in his heart!

The girl jumped for joy. The glass of sugar water held in her white hands was still untouched, but she felt that it didn't hurt that much anymore.

Chika sipped the sugar water, carefully approached Yuei Vu, and said softly: "Thank you, I feel much better."

that's a lie.

In fact, even if you drink sugar water to be honest, it doesn't really help.

But she really felt better now.

"Wellthat's good."

A passerby with the Yu- prefix was still concentrating on flipping through the magazine without raising his head.

"Brother Yuei Vu!!!"

In the evening, the jellyfish-headed child came in excitedly and ran as fast as he could fly.

Judai's parents were as ridiculously busy as ever, and they were nowhere to be seen for three days. However, Little Jellyfish Head didn't seem to care about this. He liked to run to the card store whenever he had free time. He would come here almost every day after class to check in.

When Yuei Vu was around, he would pester Yuei Vu to play cards with him, communicate with him about his new playing experience, and test some of the new things he added to his deck that had unknown meanings.

When Yuei Vu was away, he stayed here for a long time, looking at new card packages, magazines, etc., chatting with sister Chika, and sometimes helping her when the store was busy.

As time went by, the relationship between Judai and Chika became closer and closer. This child now told Sister Chika about all kinds of interesting things that happened in school, including things like when he was late for class and failed to turn in his homework for examination.

Chika was also willing to listen to him and sometimes help him resolve some of his worries.

After all, he is Yuei Vu's student.

Isn't it right to pay more attention to the life and mental health of Yuei Vu and his students?

Besides, Chika also liked this child. She thought the child was lively and cute, extremely talented at playing cards, and had some hidden aura of a king.

The child's eyes were still sharp. When he entered the door, he noticed that his sister was in poor condition: "Eh? Does Sister Chika have a stomachache?"

"Wella little bit."

"Ah?" Little Judai became nervous all of a sudden, "Then sister, do you want me to rub it for you? When I had a stomachache, my mother would rub it for me, and the pain stopped immediately!"

Seeing the seriousness on Judai's face, Chika couldn't help but feel a little moved. It's a pity that her ability to convey emotions through expressions was limited, so she just nodded: "Thank you, but no, it's okay."

"Oh." Little Judai nodded, "Then sister, please drink more hot water!"

Yuei Vu on the side took a cold breath

Kid, you said something I didn't dare to say so easily.

You do have the potential of a Duel King

Chika touched his jellyfish head: "I will, thank you."

Little Judai thought for a while and looked at the master cautiously: "Then Then why don't you ask Brother Yuei Vu to help you rub it"

Chika blinked her big eyes and paused.

"Ahem"

Yuei Vu felt that he couldn't stand the magazine anymore, so he put down the book and coughed twice.

"Well, Judai, I remembered that you had a test at school today. How many points did you get this time? Can you show me the paper?"

Little Judai: "!?"

Chapter 639: Brand New HERO

Ah? Examination papers?

Little Judai suddenly became mute and closed his little mouth without making a sound.

Um? Something fishy.

Yuei Vu immediately realized the problem: "You won't fail again, right?"

"No that's not true! I passed this time!" Judai defended with a red neck.

"Can you show me the test paper?"

Yuei Vu felt that as a teacher, it was necessary to pay attention to student's academic performance in all aspects.

Little Judai hesitated for a long time, and finally muttered: "The test paper the test paper can't be found"

Can't be found?

Yuei Vu was happy: "That's really unfortunate. I suddenly remembered that the new Duel Disk I said I would bring for you last week can't be found either."

"Eh!?" Little Judai acted as if he was struck by lightning, "Why is this? Brother Yuei Vu, you are too cunning"

In the end, the young child finally had to bow to the evil forces and slowly took out the test paper that was rubbed like pickles from his schoolbag

Yuei Vu opened the paper and took a look.

Oh, good guy, 31 points.

Yuei Vu remembered that the passing mark for Little Jellyfish in school seemed to be 30 points.

One point over the passing line was indeed considered a passing grade.

But how to put it

Thinking on the bright side, at least he is better than Nobita Nobi, a zero-point professional?!

Strange to say. Judai obviously has a high IQ, especially when playing cards, his mind works very fast, but why can't he even understand elementary school arithmetic?

Yuei Vu looked at the little Judai and saw that the little guy's hair stood on end, and he subconsciously hid behind Sister Chika.

He must have gone to sleep during class and didn't listen to the lecture at all.

According to the GX animation, even though Judai's written test scores were among the lowest in the school when he took the entrance exam, he passed the exam no matter what!

The Duel Academy where the Judai studied in GX was of a high standard, so it was conceivable that the written test score requirements were not too sloppy. Since he passed the exam, it meant that he at least had this potential, but he wouldn't be able to learn without a clear goal.

This is not okay.

When Judai entered the Duel Academy, everyone in the school knew that this little jellyfish was the apprentice of the first Duel King. When they checked out the transcripts, if they found that he failed all the tests, as his teacher, Yuei Vu would be disgraced.

Thinking of this, Yuei Vu looked at Judai again, and couldn't help but reveal a gentle and kind but a little weird smile.

"Judai, is your birthday coming next month?"

Little Judai's eyes lit up, quickly came out from behind Sister Chika and nodded vigorously.

For his birthday last year, Brother Yuei Vu gave him a super-handsome new hero "Elemental HERO Shining Flare Wingman" that was in limited release on the market at that time. That card was still the trump card of his HERO deck.

Therefore, although there was still one month left, Little Judai was already secretly looking forward to what Yuei Vu would give him for his birthday this year.

If only I could celebrate my birthday every day!

Yuei Vu smiled: "How about that? This year, I will give you a set of "Guide To Answer All Tests" books. You won't be bored during the holidays"

"Eh!?"

Little Judai: No Love in Life. JPG.

At this moment, Yubel's spirit floated out from behind Judai like a ghost again, folding her arms and groaning: "Huh, it doesn't matter even if Judai doesn't know how to do this!"

My Judai is the man who would be king!

Why should he learn this kind of thing?

Yuei Vu glanced at her wordlessly and ignored her.

But Yubel hasn't gone to the sky yet, which Yuei Vu didn't expect.

Not long after Atem left last year, President Kaiba suddenly began to vigorously expand various businesses. One of them was development in the aerospace field.

At this point you may have to ask, does a game company have anything to do with the aerospace field?

Hey, you don't understand this. Playing cards involves the ultimate truth of the operation of the universe and is inseparable from any industry or field.

Not long ago, President Kaiba built a space station in low-Earth orbit. It looked like the space outpost in Ultraman that monitored alien invasions (although that one was generally useless). However, it was said that the president built this space station to better serve card games

Then not long after the space station was built, Kaiba Corp immediately detected special energy fluctuations somewhere in the universe. According to expert research, they had reason to believe that the fluctuation has a chance of giving birth to a very powerful card spirit.

Just at the end of last year, Kaiba Corp launched an unimaginable plan. The president personally took the stage and said that he would collect cards from children all over the world, allowing the children to open their minds, design their own cards, and send them to Kaiba Corp. Kaiba Corp would select a batch of images that they like and send them directly to the other side of the universe using rockets to create new monster cards.

Judai responded very actively to the call of the Kaiba Corp. He scribbled on the drawing board with a crayon and designed the ideal hero image in his mind.

According to Judai's imagination, the hero should have a strong silver body, red lines, and a diamond-like blue crystal on his chest preferably round. He was extremely powerful, proficient in various fighting techniques, and could also emit light beams

Then his work was "luckily" selected.

When he heard that his masterpiece had been selected, Little Judai ran to Brother Yuei Vu with joy to report the good news. He was so happy that he couldn't sleep all night.

But what he didn't know was that his work had already been approved long before he submitted it, even before the image of his handsome hero was designed.

When President Seto Kaiba launched the event, he called the heads of relevant departments and told them to pay attention to the work of a child named "Yuki Judai".

Then when Judai's crayon sketch of a hero with one big eye and one small eye, and severely asymmetrical body proportions was sent to him, President Kaiba personally held the drawing and looked at it for a while, with a smile on his face.

It was like seeing an old acquaintance.

Then Judai's "masterpiece" took off into the sky with the rocket.

Yeah, the rocket didn't take Yubel with it this time.

If the plot continued like the animation, Yubel should be taking off with the rocket together with that painting, suffering torture in outer space, returning to Earth after many years, and turning into a villain.

But even Yuei Vu didn't expect that she would learn to behave after ambushing him at night and being defeated.

Maybe Yuei Vu's words to her, "Be careful if you do things all day, don't get dumped by Judai." It seemed that Yubel was really worried that Judai would dump her one day, so he was cautious from then on and never did it again. It's easy to cause trouble.

It was precisely because of this that Judai did not even realize that there was such a behind-the-scenes spirit around him

Sister Yub didn't make it to the sky, so GX lacked such a high-end BOSS. Although it saved a lot of trouble in the future, Judai may also lose an important opportunity for growth

Yuei Vu didn't know if it was a good thing or a bad thing.

"Brother Yuei Vu~" Judai suddenly said, "Your Duel Disk is ringing."

"oh?"

Yuei Vu picked up his "Smart Duel Disk" and took a look and found that someone had sent a message.

It's Mr. Phoenix, whom he hasn't contacted for a long time.

Mr. Phoenix seemed to have had a job transfer and was transferred to the headquarters of the Industrial Illusions in the United States. Little Aster also went with him, and they had less contact after that.

"Hello, Mr. Yuei Vu, I am going to take Aster back to Domino in the past two days. Are you free recently?"

Yuei Vu replied: "Yes."

"That's great. I was thinking that we could have dinner together when we have time. Aster would also like to see you."

Mr. Phoenix added a mysterious expression behind it.

"Furthermore, I have brought back some brand-new heroes, and I want you to see them first anyway."

As soon as he mentioned this Yuei Vu suddenly became excited.

Brand new hero?

Does this mean that there is a new series?

Chapter 640: Why Do You Take This Kind Of Thing With You When You Have A Meal?

Later in the evening, Yuei Vu came to the private room of Domino's "Blue Eyes Hotel" and brought the jellyfish-headed Judai with him.

Whether it was from the name of the hotel or the architectural style of the building that seemed to have a white dragon lying on its roof, it was very obvious that this was the handiwork of the Kaiba Corp.

On the roof of the hotel, two beautiful blue night lights are installed in the position of the eyes of the white dragon's head. They flicker and go out under the dark night. From a distance, they really looked like the two shining eyes of the white dragon.

Over the past year, Kaiba Corp's control over Domino has become stronger and stronger. Sometimes Yuei Vu even felt that compared to today's President Kaiba, Domino's mayor was just a puppet.

The most intuitive and obvious manifestation of this was that within a year, buildings in the BEWD style had sprung up from all corners of the city. One after another, they were about to unify the residences and win over the entire city.

In fact, not only Domino but also many cities in other parts of the world have seen more and more "Blue-Eyes White Dragons" popping up this year. There are those lying down, those lying down, those with wings spread high, the Q version

In short, all the buildings and bridges built by the Kaiba Corp must have something to do with the Blue-Eyes White Dragon.

Yuei Vu finally saw that this was actually President Kaiba's ambition hidden deep in his heart. President Kaiba's goal may be to one day dominate the world through his Blue-Eyes White Dragon, and he must unknowingly turn all the prototypes of buildings around the world into his beloved white bride

Mr. Phoenix reported that he had just arrived at Domino today and had returned from the Industrial Illusions headquarters with Aster. He has reserved a private room at the "Blue Eyes Hotel", the room number was "Unbeatable"

Yes, that's right, there were other similar private rooms named "Toughest", "Invincible", "Strongest", "Crush" and "Cheers"

Yuei Vu couldn't understand what kind of brain circuit the president had to put his chuunibyou lines on the door sign as if he feared that others wouldn't see it.

Maybe this was what called "As long as I am not embarrassed, the embarrassed one will be others."

When Yuei Vu came to the private room, Mr. Phoenix was already waiting there. When he saw Yuei Vu, Mr. Phoenix stood up enthusiastically, held his hand with both hands and said, "Long time no see, Mr. Yuei Vu is really more magnanimous than ever"

Yuei Vu shook hands with him and wanted to say a few nice words of courtesy. But when he looked Mr. Phoenix up and down, what he saw was Unkempt hairstyle, heavy dark circles and bloodshot eyes, and the oil on his face that he wished he could just scrape off for cooking.

And even though he's not too old, Mr. Phoenix's hair

Let's put it this way, there was a slight tendency to develop towards the strong.

Seeing this image, Yuei Vu couldn't help but curse in his heart.

Is that Pegasus exploiting his employees like this?

At this moment, Mr. Phoenix looks like a programmer who worked overtime for several days and nights because Party A suddenly changed his requirements.

When little Aster saw Yuei Vu, his little blue eyes visibly lit up. He stood up from the chair with a bang. His little face clearly showed excitement, but he also looked a little shy. He was clearly a young shota but acted like a shy loli.

Although they were both leaders of the younger generation in GX, and both are representative duelists in the anime who use HERO decks, Aster and Judai had quite distinct differences in their childhood personalities.

After not seeing each other for a year, Aster was so shy that he was even embarrassed to say hello to Yuei Vu. At this moment, Little Judai's eyes widened and he tugged at the corner of Yuei Vu's clothes: "Brother Yuei Vu, this uncle looks like a giant panda. It's so interesting"

Yuei Vu: ""

Mr. Phoenix didn't mind what the child said. He just laughed and turned to Yuei Vu: "This child is"

"Oh, this is Yuki Judai." Yuei Vu introduced, "My student, so to speak."

Originally, Yuei Vu didn't want to bring Judai with him, but when he responded to the message, Judai saw him, and the little jellyfish pestered him and insisted on coming.

Yuei Vu thought about it and felt that Aster and Judai were also destined rivals in the original work, and they were both HERO users. There was nothing wrong with meeting each other in advance.

"Oh?"

Mr. Phoenix suddenly became interested and began to look at the child carefully, as if he wanted to see something different about him.

The disciple chosen by the Duel King must have something special about him, right?

"Ah!?"

Little Aster, who was still hiding behind his father and was too shy to speak out, was stunned for a moment.

Brother Yuei Vu apprentice?

But shouldn't I be the one who came first?

That should have been me, not him!

Aster: Everything is Dad's fault. JPG.

So the shy young lady now seemed even more depressed, her silver little head shrank to one side, and she remained silent for a long time.

Yuei Vu still felt a little strange.

This kid was quite friendly with me when we met last year. Why didn't he even say hello today?

They say women are fickle, but is shota the same?

It doesn't make sense!

Little Judai was quite enthusiastic. He came up to Ed and said, "My name is Yuki Judai! What's yours?"

Aster raised his jewel-like blue eyes and glanced at him. When he met his gaze, he quickly retracted it as if he was electrocuted. He lowered his head and hid behind his father and whispered softly: "As Aster Phoenix" .

"Aster what a nice name!" Judai was very happy, "Do you also duel? What deck do you play?"

"HERO"

"Oh oh oh what a coincidence, I also use the HERO deck!"

Little Judai remembered something, slapped his forehead, rummaged through the backpack on his back for a long time, and took out a shiny card with the card name "Elemental HERO Shining Flare Wingman" printed in large gold letters.

Aster took the card and his eyes suddenly shone.

Children are irresistible to handsome heroes, especially this kind of gold-lettered flash card that is currently a global limited edition.

"Isn't it awesome?" Little Judai said proudly, "Brother Yuei Vu gave it to me!"

Little Aster pouted and remained silent, but silently took out a card and handed it to Judai to see.

Judai grabbed it, took a look, and immediately exclaimed: "Oh oh oh, so handsome! Destiny HEROI don't even have such a card!"

Little Aster puffed up his chest proudly: "My dad designed it!"

"Awesome!" Judai praised sincerely and from the bottom of his heart.

Little Aster's chatterbox unknowingly opened up all of a sudden and even the grievance of "I was the one who came first but couldn't be regarded as Brother Yuei Vu's apprentice" was temporarily forgotten.

The two children chatted for a while. After chatting, they discovered that these two people with completely different personalities actually had a lot of topics in common, and even seemed to regret meeting each other at such a late age

This revolutionary friendship suddenly sublimated.

The food was served quickly. Not long after eating, they got straight to the point.

Yuei Vu asked: "You said before that you have developed a new deck?"

"That's right." Mr. Phoenix pushed up his glasses, "Because it's a HERO' themed deck, so I want to show it to you first anyway.

But it would be difficult to express clearly just by speaking. so"

Mr. Phoenix put down his chopsticks and like a magician magically pulled out the dueling plate from under the table.

"Let's rely on actual combat to explain." He said seriously.

Yuei Vu: ""

Why do you take this kind of thing with you when you have a meal?

If it were my old self, I would have complained like this.

Yuei Vu also took out the Duel Disk from under the table as he was well prepared.

"Okay, come on then."
