

I Play Yu-Gi 821

Chapter 821: The Invincible Submarine

People get nervous easily for the first time, especially someone as timid as Marufuji Sho.

At this moment, the Duel Disk was opened. Marufuji Sho's fingers were still trembling, and his thighs were trembling in an embarrassing way.

Fae couldn't help but get close to his good brother and asked: "Hey, can this student of yours do it? Isn't he a chicken? Will he give the enemy a free win?"

"Don't worry, it's no problem." Native Noragami said confidently.

After all, Sho Marufuji has learned his true heritage this semester, and most of the cards with unknown meanings in the entire deck have been kicked out, and he has completely transformed into the shape of Native Noragami.

Brother Noragami crossed his arms, full of confidence.

Come on, Sho, let her see what a real Roid deck is!

Camula got the first turn. The vampire player was very relaxed at this time, thinking that this was just a warm-up activity before the main show, and did not pay attention to the timid little man in front of her.

"Summon the Zombie Werewolf' in attack position!"

[Zombie Werewolf, ATK 1200]

This was an animation-specific card used by Camula. It had weak stats and a mediocre effect and was an ordinary undead mob.

"Set a card, I end my turn."

Camula smiled charmingly.

"You're welcome, try your best to attack me, little brother. If you satisfy me, you will be rewarded~"

Marufuji Sho was trembling all over, lowering his head and not daring to look at her.

Zombie Werewolf's attack power was only 1200, but it had a last-will effect. When it was destroyed, a card with the same name could be Special Summoned from the deck, and that monster's attack power would increase by 500.

Camula summoned the werewolf itself to lure the opponent to attack it, but unfortunately, Marufuji Sho completely ignored this bait.

Marufuji Sho started his turn and directly took a copy of the invincible "Submarineroid"!

[Submarineroid, ATK 800]

Although this thing had only 800 attack power, it was actually very nether. The invincible submarine could ignore the defense lines of any monsters on the opponent's field and directly go up to slap the opposite duelist. After the slap was completed, it could automatically switch to defense mode, and its butt value was a terrifying 1800 points. Such an effect made it gain players' favorites.

Native Noragami has been envious of the submarine of Sho Marufuji for a long time.

After accepting Sho Marufuji as his apprentice, Brother Noragami immediately checked his deck. After looking through it, he found that there was no invincible submarine. He was stunned at the time and asked, "Why doesn't your Roid deck have a submarine?"

Then Sho Marufuji timidly took out a submarine from his pocket and said that he thought this monster's attack power was too low and useless, so he kicked it out of the deck

Native Noragami was furious at the time.

Nani? Are you kidding me? Do you think the invincible submarine is useless?

Then Brother Noragami took out all the Truckroid, Steamroid and other things that he thought were of no use at that time, and then directly filled up three copies of the invincible Submarineroid.

Marufuji Sho was confused at the time and said, "Senzsei, how can I kill someone if I don't even have a decent monster?"

Brother Noragami slapped him at that time, saying that if he slapped the opponent with the invincible submarine, wouldn't it be over? Just like me slapping you!

So Marufuji Sho followed the teacher's instructions and ignored whatever monsters the opponent put on the field. He summoned a submarine and directly bombarded Camula from a distance, causing Camula to roar.

Camula, LP 4000LP 3200

"Huh, that's it? It doesn't hurt or itch at all."

The vampire was obviously not aware of the seriousness of the problem at all. She simply ignored the damage caused by the submarine and even had the energy to sneer, "That's it?"

"After the Submarineroid attacks, it changes to Defense Position." Marufuji Sho said.

[Submarineroid, ATK 800 DEF 1800]

"Set two cards, I end my turn."

Camula's confidence did not waver, and she decided to complete the counterattack in one go in this turn and win this insignificant opponent immediately.

"I will use the Zombie Werewolf' as a sacrifice, and Tribute Summon the Vampire Lord!"

The werewolf disappeared, replaced by white-faced, fanged vampire aristocrats. This was a very old vampire, and Seto Kaiba also had this card in his deck during the DM period.

[Vampire Lord, ATK 2000]

"O open the set card!" Marufuji Sho pressed the button on the Duel Disk nervously, "Trap Card Floodgate Trap Hole! When the opponent Summons a monster: Change that monster to the face-down Defense Position. Monsters changed to face-down Defense Position by this effect cannot change their battle positions."

The vampire lord let out a "haha" when he appeared on the stage. Before he could stand firm on his heels, a hollow hole opened up under his feet, and he fell directly into it and turned into a covered card.

Camula was startled but quickly recovered.

"Oh, you do have a few tricks. Then I will banish the Vampire Lord' on the field and Special Summon this card, my real trump card Show up! Vampire Genesis! "

She obviously didn't need the vampire lord who was covered, so she simply kicked the miserable noble from the underworld to another dimension. A burly vampire with strong muscles fell from the sky and landed heavily on the ground, his aura like a dark whirlwind.

[Vampire Genesis, ATK 3000]

Many onlookers were shocked.

Nani? A monster whose attack power is at the level of the Blue-Eyes White Dragon!

This vampire actually has such a powerful card! And it was summoned in an instant!

Camula was also very proud of summoning the trump card. She then activated the effect of Vampire Genesis, which allowed her to discard 1 Zombie monster to the GY, then Special Summon 1 Zombie monster in her GY with a Level less than the discarded Zombie monster's.

So she discarded the Level 5 "Vampire Dragon" and brought the "Zombie Werewolf" from the graveyard back onto the field.

[Zombie Werewolf, ATK 1200]

"Such a powerful monster!?" Sho Marufuji's face turned green with fear.

"Hahaha, did you see it? This is the absolute strength gap between you and my vampires!"

Camula swelled so much that even her chest seemed to be a little bigger.

"Go, Vampire Genesis! Destroy the Submarineroid!"

Sho Marufuji was so frightened that he trembled. He lowered his head and did not dare to look directly. He whispered: "Oopen the set card: Trap Card Widespread Ruin! When the opponent attacks, destroy 1 Attack Position monster the opponent controls with the highest ATK."

Nani!?

Seeing her majestic ace "Vampire Genesis" stepping on a landmine and exploding before he could stand firmly, Camula herself almost exploded as well.

Now her trump card was gone before she could take action, and there was only one "Zombie Werewolf" left on the field. The most annoying thing is that the werewolf's attack power was only 1200, which was completely unable to shake the invincible Submarineroid's 1800-point big ass

Camula, who had stepped into two pits in a row, looked at the Submarineroid that she had ignored as a threat, and a terrible possibility suddenly appeared in her heart

Could he just want to slap me to death with that thing?

Chapter 822: Can You Still Slap Me To Death?

The vampire Camula gradually began to realize that something was wrong.

But she didn't lose her composure just yet.

Calm down, after all, it's just a trash fish monster with a mere 800 attack power. Even if I was given one shot every turn, it would only be 800 damage, and I could still withstand it.

"Field Spell Megaroid City' is activated!"

Sho Marufuji took out a card, and the landscape was immediately transformed. A modern city rose from the ground, with bridges and roads crisscrossing it.

"I summon the Mixeroid' in defense position!"

Mixeroid, as the name suggested, was an anthropomorphic concrete mixer truck with an oval mixing drum on its back. It looked like a giant snail. In the eyes of many players, it also looked a bit like a road roller

[Mixeroid, DEF 2000]

Camula was disdainful: "Huh, you are indeed a weak man, just some bastard monster who can't stand on the stage."

"The effect of Megaroid City! Destroy another card on my field, and add 1 Roid' card from the deck to my hand." Sho Marufuji said, "I destroyed the Mixeroid' and added Kiteroid' to my hand!"

Camula: "Another inconspicuous fish monster"

"Change the Submarineroid' to attack position, and then enter the Battle Phase! Direct attack from the Submarineroid!"

This time Camula had already been mentally prepared and assumed a fearless posture of "shoot at me".

Haha, just 800 points of damage, this level is not painful or itchy

"The follow-up effect of Megaroid City! If my Roid' monster battles: I can send 1 Roid' monster from my Deck to the GY; switch the original ATK and DEF of my battling monster during the damage calculation only!

"Nani!!?" Camula's voice suddenly broke.

[Submarineroid, ATK 800/DEF 1800 ATK 1800/DEF 800]

Another slap in the face the submarine brother who switched offense and defense under the effect of "Megaroid City" had a terrifying 1800 attack points.

Camula, LP 3200 LP 1400

1800 was still a bit painful to slap on the face, but compared to the physical damage, the metal damage was what made the vampire lady stunned. She was holding her high chest and coughing violently in the black smoke, while glaring at the short in front of her, doubting life.

What the hell kind of tactic is this!?

Forgetting a submarine that directly slaps the duelist, why is there such a weird Field Spell where offense and defense are exchanged?

The vampire, who finally realized the horror of this tactic, began to lose her composure.

She could already see that there was not even a single monster in this guy's deck that was ready to confront her!

He planned to use this shabby submarine to slap her in the face every round, and then use a large number of traps and various defensive methods to prevent her from launching a normal attack.

Such an insidious and cunning tactic!

"S set a card, I end my turn."

Marufuji Sho was still too scared to look at the vampire elder sister. However, with such insidious tactics, the more he shrunk his head, the angrier his opponent became.

"My turn." Camula drew the card with a grim look on her face.

She had 1400 LP left, while others' LP was still 4000 points intact. If she was slapped by the invincible submarine's attack and defense exchange in the next round, she would really be slapped to death!

This is so fucking humiliating!

"Spell Card Card of Sanctity! Each player draws until they have 6 cards in their hand."

Obviously, even if Camula was not a top powerhouse, she was at least a Shadow Duelist of a high Rank. In a danger situation, drawing a most needed problem-solving artifact was a basic operation.

Sure enough, there was a sudden twitch in her soul, and she immediately started to throw her head back and laugh sharply. Her mouth twisted and opened in a weird way, and the tongue that stuck out looked more like a vicious snake than a vampire.

This facial manipulation instantly upgraded her appearance from "charming" to "exquisite".

But this couldn't scare everyone.

"I can do this little mouth all day!"

"Brother, although everyone has the right to have their own fetish, I still suggest you go see a doctor"

Marufuji Sho was already extremely scared, but when he saw the inhuman face opposite him, he became even more frightened, and his heart began to beat

"Activate Field Spell Infernalvania!" (anime card)

A dark castle rose out of thin air, instantly squeezing Sho Marufuji's "Megaroid City" to the point of collapse.

Some teachers and students immediately exclaimed: "That's the legendary forbidden card!"

On the contrary, the players looked at each other, with blank expressions on their faces.

What is that? Is there such a card in Yu-Gi-Oh?

It's normal for card players not to recognize it. After all, this was a Field Spell exclusive to Camula. It was called a "forbidden card" by others in the animation. It may be roughly equivalent to a banned card in the animation worldview.

However, everyone was risking their lives in the Shadow Game, and some dishonored duelists would naturally not care about the ban on cards. Camula was one of the typical examples

As long as you can win, what's the point of using one or two banned cards?

There are still people playing fake cards!

As for why this Field Spell was banned

"The effect of 'Infernalvania' is activated! Once per turn, send 1 Zombie-Type monster from my hand to the Graveyard to destroy all monsters on the field!"

The players all heard the sound of their jaw hitting the floor.

What the hell!?

Some players quickly analyzed it.

After all, this was a banned card in the animation worldview you must know that banned cards in the real-life card environment are everywhere in animation. Some animation cards were still banned in the real-life card environment even if they were nefted after releasing.

Considering this difference in intensity, it seemed that the abnormality of banned cards in the animation was indeed normal

Normal my ass!

Why the hell don't you just write "win the game after one turn"?

Actually, Camula was still showing mercy.

In the original work, she also had an even more perverted forbidden card called "Illusion Gate". The effect was to destroy all monsters on the opponent's field, and then special summon any monster in the opponent's graveyard to your own field regardless of the summoning conditions

But she didn't have this card in her deck at this time.

One reason was that she felt that her opponent this time was just a novice, thus there was no need. The other was because "Illusion Gate" was not only a banned card, but also a very evil card. If the user lost, their soul must become a sacrifice to the Sacred Beasts.

In the original work, Camula was extremely mean. She activated the "Illusion Gate" but did not want to take the risk of her soul becoming a sacrifice, so she used petty tricks to bully the students in the protagonist group who did not know the tricks of the Shadow Game and despicably captured her opponent's relatives and friends to serve as sacrifices on her behalf.

However, here Camula not only wanted to win the duel, she also wanted to win and leave a good impression on the Duel King Yuei Vu.

She was afraid that if the means of winning were too despicable, then Yuei Vu wouldn't even listen to her sad story and just kill her directly.

The effect of the Infernalvania was activated here, and all monsters on both sides of the field were instantly destroyed of course not!

"The Zombie Werewolf' is immortal!" Camula shouted, "When my Zombie Werewolf' is destroyed, I can special summon a card with the same name from the deck with its attack power increased by 500 points!"

A new "Zombie Werewolf" appeared, even stronger than before!

[Zombie Werewolf, ATK 1700]

"Quick-Play Spell Double Cyclone!" Camula continued, "Target 1 Spell/Trap on each side of the field and destroy both cards at the same time!"

The red and golden storm simultaneously swept up the set cards in Camula's back row and Marufuji Sho's back row, and two cards were chopped into pieces respectively!

Everyone could see clearly that the set card in Sho Marufuji's back row was a "Magic Cylinder"

Chapter 823: Times Have Changed

Many people became uneasy after seeing the "Magic Cylinder". Fae even put his arm around Brother Noragami's shoulders.

"Okay! You've even got your job done! You have spent a lot of money this semester, right?"

Magic Cylinder could also be redeemed at Yuei Vu's store, but the price was relatively high and not quite cost-effective. In addition, it was an attack declaration trigger trap that was not very popular among players, so even the Native Noragami, the richest nether player, has never redeemed this card.

"I didn't redeem that card." Brother Noragami had no choice but to say, "It belongs to Sho Marufuji himself."

"Huh? Marufuji Sho still has a Magic Cylinder?"

After saying this, the people next to him were slightly impressed. In the animation, he seemed to have actually used a Magic Cylinder?!

It's just that the opponent seemed to be a passerby, and the screen time only lasted for a moment.

But no matter what, now Marufuji Sho's trap has been blown away. At this time, his field was empty, and he looked like a naked little boy.

The vampire eldest sister kept licking her lips with a sinister smile as if to say "Little brother, don't be afraid, it will be over soon and it won't hurt".

"The card of mine destroyed by Double Cyclone' is the Trap Card Zombie Bed'! When this Set card is destroyed and sent to the Graveyard, Special Summon 1 Zombie monster in my graveyard, ignoring the summoning conditions!" (Animation card)

So of course the monster she wanted to summon went without saying.

"The Vampire Genesis' is resurrected!"

The burly giant vampire returned from the depths of the underworld, surrounded by dark bats!

[Vampire Genesis, ATK 3000]

"The effect of Vampire Genesis Discard 1 Zombie monster to the GY, then Special Summon 1 Zombie monster in my GY with a Level less than the discarded Zombie monster's!" Camula said, "I discard the Level 6 Vampire's Curse', and the Level 5 Vampire Dragon' is resurrected!"

[Vampire Dragon, ATK 2400]

Three monsters were placed on the field at once!

To be honest, this lineup was still a bit scary. Many people watching the duel have already begun to sweat for Marufuji Sho.

"Haha, it is indeed a very special duel, but that's it for now." Camula smiled gracefully, "Goodbye, little brother.

First, I use the Zombie Werewolf to attack directly! "

The werewolf launched a charge, the werewolf attacked, and the werewolf typed GG!

Well, it was Sho Marufuji who showed off another invincible monster "Kiteroid" in time.

"I discard the Kiteroid' in my hand to the graveyard and negate a direct attack!"

"Nani? Is it the card that was retrieved by your Field Spell in the last round?" But Camula quickly came to her senses, "It's useless! Then I'll attack directly with Vampire Dragon'!"

Vampire Dragon launched a charge, Vampire Dragon attacked, and Vampire Dragon also typed GG!

"When Kiteroid' exists in the graveyard, it can only negate direct attacks once!" (animation effect)

Camula's expression was a little ugly.

WTF?

Are you kidding me?

That miscellaneous fish monster can actually block two hits?

Camula's face was gloomy: "Then Vampire Genesis', attack directly!"

Direct attack with three consecutive shots!

Can you still take another card out of your crotch?

Nani! ! ?

Camula's eyes almost widened as she looked at the "Kiteroid" that appeared in front of Marufuji Sho again.

How can you still block?

Didn't you just say that this thing can render direct attacks ineffective only once? Do you think the ear of the hundreds-year-old vampire lady will be deaf?

"This is another Kiteroid' sent from the deck to the graveyard through the effect of Megaroid City' last turn!" Sho Marufuji said, "So I can also negate another direct attack!"

Kiteroid: Im going to say it clearly today. If you can touch the hair of my master, Ill lose!

Camula blasted away Marufuji Sho's front and back rows in one breath, and three menacing undead jumped out in one breath to launch a direct attack, but Marufuji Sho was able to neutralize them all with ease!

Many teachers and students began to look at Sho Marufuji with admiration, and some people started to point fingers.

Even many players were starting to get jealous.

"It's so cool to have three kites in the deck!"

At this point, the idea of the deck of Marufuji Sho adjusted by Brother Noragami has become very obvious.

The shameless Submarineroid was responsible for slapping the enemy, and the invincible kite brother was responsible for blocking the attack. Moreover, both cards belonged to the "roid" series, which could be retrieved from the deck into the hand, or directly thrown from the deck to the graveyard.

All in all, the idea of the entire deck was to trap the opponent and use the invincible submarine to deal damage while using the guiding ideology of "nether players must play nether cards" and insist on implementing the tactics of "follow the road to the underworld to the end".

Not to mention its strength in the actual combat, this kind of deck definitely had a way of making people happy, and it was very easy to make people smile.

For example, look at Camula, and how healthy her smile was, even her tongue was hanging out.

....

It was no exaggeration to say that vampires had entered the verge of going berserk.

Do you dare to summon a monster to confront me? ! !

I cant believe that I can't beat you!

"Set two cards, I end my turn!" Camula was furious, gasping for breath and screaming one after another.

Damn, so unlucky! I thought I had caught a harmless little sheep, but I didnt expect that his heart would be so dirty and dark!

When she got angry at showed her face art, Sho Marufuji didn't dare to look at her directly, and just said: "Then it's my turn, draw."

Camula took two deep breaths, trying to calm down her state of mind that was about to explode.

There is nothing to be angry about, I still have an absolute advantage in the situation. The three monsters on my field have strong attack power, but his field is completely empty.

She has already seen through this guy's deck. It was full of miscellaneous fish monsters with troublesome effects but very weak combat power. It should be difficult for them to threaten her vampire army.

Can you still call another submarine?

"I summon the Submarineroid in attack position!"

[Submarineroid, ATK 800]

Camula: ""

The water flow gathered, and the anthropomorphic small submarine quickly emerged from the water and lay in front of Camula, as if it was silently taunting her with its appearance.

Yes, I can.

Camula: @%^#^ you!

But it didn't matter. As a dignified member of Seven Stars, a glorious vampire duelist, how could she die in such humiliation at the hands of a mere submarine!?

"Open the set card: Counter Trap Horn of Heaven!" Camula shouted, "Tribute the Zombie Werewolf, negate the Summon of your monster, and destroy it!"

The undead werewolf exited as a sacrifice. The submarine that was ascending encountered the power of the ascending horn flute, and finally failed to make its debut and exploded on the spot!

Camula was proud: "Do you think using such a trick will work on me twice!?"

Marufuji Sho still didn't dare to look at her, he just lowered his head and continued to operate on his own.

The cards in his Duel Disk's tomb area were spit out one after another, like a printer operating at full power.

"Banish the Mixeroid' from my GY, banish the two copies of Kiteroid' from my GY, and banish the two copies of Submarineroid' from my GY"

Camula looked at him confusedly.

WTF? What is this operation? Can you banish freely it if you want to?

What are you calling for?

"The effect of Mixeroid! Pay half my LP and banish any number of Machine monsters from my GY, including this card; Special Summon from my Extra Deck, 1 roid' Fusion Monster with the same Level as the number of those banished monsters, ignoring its Summoning conditions. "

Marufuji Sho, LP 4000 LP 2000

Sho Marufuji showed the five cards withdrawn from the graveyard.

"I removed five cards from the game and Special Summoned a Level 5 Fusion Monster-
-Pair Cycroid! "

[Pair Cycroid, ATK 1600]

Camula was confused when she saw this cute little bicycle.

Ha? A fusion monster with 1600 attack power? Isn't that still a trash fish?

Until Sho Marufuji explained to her the special effects of this monster, the text description was simple and crude, just one line and one sentence.

"This card can attack directly."

Ah! ! ? ?

Camula's jaw nearly dislocated in shock, and she could fit more than one apple into her open mouth.
Why the hell do you have all these things in your deck!?

Camula, LP 1400

The vampire felt like he was about to burst apart. In the end, she was not slapped to death by the invincible submarine, but was run over by an even more invincible bicycle!

What's even more annoying was that she didn't even have the feeling of having a serious fight.

She spent a lot of time here, blasting cards and summoning big monsters, and finally made such a handsome and powerful upper-level vampire. But the opponent didn't even summon a monster with an attack power of 2000 or more in the entire duel, yet she would be slapped to death.

It felt a little like two masters fighting a legendary battle. One of them showed off years of training with a sword, and then the other directly took out his submachine gun and fired.

Sir, times have changed. JPG.

"Pair Cycroid, attack directly!" Sho Marufuji ordered.

Camula's expression twisted and she shouted: "Open the set card: Trap Card Altar for Tribute! Send 1 monster on my field to the GY and increase my Life Points by an amount equal to the original ATK of the monster!"

This was her last struggle, the last layer of tenacious defense!

To be on the safe side, the vampire chose to directly sacrifice her most powerful ace, the "Vampire Genesis", and restored a full 3000 points of LP!

Camula, LP 1400 LP 4400

The Vampire Genesis disappeared with a series of roars similar to "MMP", and turned into a blood mist and was replenished into the master's body.

4400 LP! Even if the legendary Blue-Eyed White Dragon or Obelisk slapped her in the face, she still had a breath left!

"Hahahaha!!!" Camula laughed proudly, her expression seemed to say

Come! Attack directly!

Aren't you very good at slapping? Come if you can!

Why is it so weak? Don't you have enough rice to eat?

Then she saw Marufuji Sho shrinking his head again and showing a card.

"Quick-Play Spell Concentrating Current! Target 1 face-up monster I control; it gains ATK equal to its current DEF, until the end of this turn!"

[Pair Cycroid, ATK 1600 ATK 2800]

Camula: "!"

She was startled for a moment but quickly calmed down.

Good guy, he actually hid such a killer move.

It was still a little painful to be slapped with 2,800 points. Fortunately, her LP was thick enough, so she could still withstand a slap at this level.

I can't believe that this dwarf looks so mediocre on the outside, but it's so dark on the inside!

But that's it, just wait until the next turn

"Quick-Play Spell Limiter Removal!" Sho Marufuji beeped softly, "Double the ATK of all Machine monsters until the end of this turn!"

Camula: ""

Wait a minute, double what?

[Pair Cycroid, ATK 2800 ATK 5600]

The vampire's beauty faded.

W-w-what! ! ? ?

This broken bicycle has an attack power of 5,600!?

"Ahhhhh!!!"

The bicycle ran over Camula without mercy and took her remaining LP away with a clean and smooth operation.

Camula, LP 4400 LP 0

Chapter 824: Still Need To Duel

"Vampire? Marufuji Sho deals with her?" Yuei Vu was a little surprised when he received a call from Chika.

The second person in Seven Stars, the vampire named Camula. As I remember, in the original work, she was quite capable. Both Chronos and Ryo Marufuji were beaten by her (although it was a dirty trick), but now she is actually beaten down by Sho Marufuji?!

"Well, that child is quite surprising." Chika said, "Now she has been caught by the academy."

Yuei Vu was satisfied. He spent so much effort and busy for so long, arranging a group of screwball players to do one-on-one teaching, not just to let this group of useless teammates in GX come in handy and stop holding back Judai.

If all the big and small problems had to be solved by Judai himself like in the original work, then his work would be in vain.

But for some reason, Camula didn't seem to play any Shadow Game like "the loser has to hand over his soul" this time. Thanks to this, she was fine and was just captured alive.

"Originally, the school was planning to hand her over to the relevant departments, but she seemed to insist on meeting you no matter what." Chika said, "So after a discussion at the school, we decided to wait until you return to deal with it."

Most Shadow Duelists had a special nature, many had extraordinary powers, and some like Camula simply belonged to a race other than humans.

Therefore, for some duelists who abused their abilities, the government departments, with the help of the Kaiba Corp, have also established special prisons to detain relevant criminals.

It was somewhat similar to the four super criminal prisons of SHIELD in the studio next door. It's just that to imprison supercriminals, you had to find ways to use black technology to seal their superpowers. But for Shadow Duelists, it was much easier. You just needed to pull out his deck and it would be fine

Yuei Vu was also very pleased that Marufuji Sho could finally be put to use, which may mean that his policy of arranging one-on-one teaching and tutoring for screwballs is indeed effective.

If the subsequent teaching results were satisfactory, then he might have to consider recruiting a second batch of players to be tutors. If possible, he hoped that all students in the entire college could be greatly improved, so that if the entire school was dragged into the whirlpool of an accident like in the Different Dimension arc, at least everyone would have the ability to protect themselves.

But this was something to consider later.

While the "Seven Stars" organization was eyeing the academy, they may be thinking about how to avoid the big trouble named Yuei Vu. But that's because they think too highly of themselves.

Yuei Vu had no intention of caring about them from beginning to end.

Sooner or later, the students of the academy would have to come into contact with real battles not the usual petty card games, but Shadow Games accompanied by real damage.

In this world, no matter how many skills you taught them and how you optimized the deck, it was still just strength on paper. A duelist could only hone his true strength through actual combat.

Seven Stars was undoubtedly a very good experience package in Yuei Vu's opinion. They were not too strong, and they were not too outrageous opponents for students, but they were all serious Shadow Duelists, perfect punching bags.

In the original anime, Judai could easily deal with the Seven Stars, so there was no reason why they could overturn it here.

Among the seven of them, only the leader of the Seven Stars, the alchemist Daitokuji, was considered a real master yes, he was the teacher in the academy. He was actually a subordinate of Chairman Kagemaru and the leader of the Seven Stars.

However, Yuei Vu never revealed Daitokuji's identity, nor did he want to trouble him.

First, he knew that Daitokuji was actually on his side. In the original work, the teacher finally entrusted his hope to Judai, asking him to stop Chairman Kagemaru's conspiracy. It could be seen that he cared about Judai very much, and even entrusted Judai with the ultimate artifact "Philosopher's Stone" that he spent his entire life to find.

This was also the second reason why Yuei Vu hasn't exposed him, it's because of the "Philosopher's Stone".

Daitokuji was seriously ill and was about to die. His current body was created through forbidden alchemy. It's just that this artificial body couldn't hold on any longer, and he might die soon.

As long as the plot was left to develop normally, Daitokuji would soon entrust the omnipotent artifact "Philosopher's Stone" to his favorite student Yuki Judai before he died.

So yes, to put it bluntly, Yuei Vu just wanted that unreasonably powerful fake card

I'm jealous of his card, I'm honest. JPG.

In the original work, one of the seven stars was killed by Manjoume, one was eliminated by Asuka, and five of them were defeated by Judai alone.

But at this moment, the first two Seven Stars have been dealt with by Asuka and Marufuji Sho respectively, and Judai didn't even have a chance to make a move.

Seeing people playing life cards in full swing, but he could only watch from the side, Judai-san's hands were so itchy that he wished he could just grab a random Shadow Duelist to accompany him in the three hundred rounds of battle.

If this momentum continued, maybe by the end of the matter, he wouldn't be able to catch any of his opponents, and all the heads would be snatched by his teammates!

Compared with the Seven Stars who were not a threat, Yuei Vu also had more important things to do here.

He had been pressuring Department D through Kaiba Corp for several days, trying to get the other party to explain the details of the mission when Hibiki Koyo disappeared, but the progress was not very smooth.

The head of the department, Fujino, was very polite, especially when receiving President Kaiba. But soon Yuei Vu couldn't help but suspect that the officer might be more interested in "quarreling with the president" itself, and did not reveal any really useful information.

It could be summed up in two words top secret.

Yuei Vu felt that the other party might not be willing to explain anything if this continued for another year, so he might as well take the initiative.

He wanted to hack directly into Department D's server.

But like many movie scenes, this was difficult to do from the outside. He must take the Kaiba Corp's special terminal equipment given by Mokuba, try to sneak into the computer room of the organization's headquarters, and connect the equipment to the server through wired means, and then Mokuba could start hacking in.

Of course, this kind of operation usually required a professional agent or spy with max-leveled stealth skills, or someone with superpowers who had the ability to fly over fences or pass through walls.

Yuei Vu obviously didn't have this ability. After all, he was only a card player, and he may be invincible in poker, but it was too difficult for him to play infiltration games.

Besides, with my charm level, even if I cover myself from head to toe, I can't hide my handsome aura, so I'm not naturally suitable for sneaking. Even if I stand in the team with a complete set of military equipment, I will definitely be the most handsome guy in the whole room, and will not be able to hide from others' sight.

Fortunately, he didn't need to do it himself.

Anyway, the mission goal was very simple. Just sneak into the computer room with the terminal equipment and plug it in. There was no technical work involved.

So Yuei Vu handed over this glorious task to his spirit, specially Masked HERO Dark Law.

Although he didn't know why, he felt that Dark Law's armor was dark, and although he was a hero, he had an aura of "dark evil forces" in him, and he felt like he was a very good sneaker.

Dark Law did not disappoint him. The masked hero skillfully relied on his extraordinary physical strength and experience to bypass all sentry posts, smoothly slip into the computer room, and connect the equipment to the server.

Mokuba was sitting in front of the computer, ready to show off his superb computer skills in front of Brother Youyu.

Although the firewall of Kaiba Corp was like a public toilet, and anyone could get in and out as they pleased, the computer skills of the Kaiba brothers, who could always repair it in time, were still impressive.

Mokuba bypassed the security protocol and hacked in with three clicks. Then his expression became a little stiff.

"What? Were you discovered?" Yuei Vu, who was behind him, stepped forward and asked.

"No, there is still a final security lock in the system." Mokuba looked a little strange.

"Can't it be cracked?"

"It's not that it can't be broken" Mokuba looked at Yuei Vu helplessly, "The only way to break this defense system is to rely on duel"

Yuei Vu: ""

Okay, this is indeed very Yu-Gi-Oh.

Chapter 825: Even A Hacker Has To Play Cards

"Then leave it to me." Yuei Vu was helpless.

It was said that in the world of Yu-Gi-Oh, everything was solved by playing cards, and it seemed that it was indeed true. These days, even a hacker has to play cards.

But if you think about it, in the subsequent works of the Yu-Gi-Oh series, there have been more than once or twice the use of cards to hack the system. Especially in the sixth anime "Yu-Gi-Oh! Vrains", the entire battle stage was simply moved to the Internet. The main story was about the battle between humans and machines.

Yuei Vu directly connected the system to his Duel Disk from Mokuba.

His duel disk was also connected to the "Duel Link" system built by Kaiba, which could cross spatial barriers, connect the two warring opponents through virtual projection, and fight online with digital cards.

It's just that he didn't usually use this function.

"Brother Yuei Vu, be careful."

Although he didn't think Yuei Vu would lose, Mokuba still reminded him.

"The duel computer system of Department D was developed with the help of the Kaiba Corp. It is equipped with the most advanced AI that my brother uses in daily battles. It is even connected to the card database of the Duel Link System' which contains the data of all top duelists.

Even my brother cant win easily.

Yuei Vu believed this.

The AI Bot developed by Kaiba Corp in recent years was really impressive. Five years ago, during the timeline of the "Dark Side of Dimensions" theatrical version, Kaiba almost overturned in a duel with the Atem Bot at that time.

After so many years, the strength of top-level AI Bot must have improved a lot.

Of course, no matter how powerful it was, it was still a program, and it has not reached the level of artificial intelligence in the subsequent "Yu-Gi-Oh Vrains".

The talent of humans and machines in the context of that anime could not be underestimated. In that work, humans developed real artificial intelligence, and a racial conflict broke out with the artificial intelligence that "must be resolved through playing cards." Those computer card games were really fierce. The protagonist group (lets call it the protagonist group for the moment) couldnt even compete with the mainstream high-end decks at the time.

Sometimes Yuei Vu thought it would be interesting to get President Kaiba into that anime to play cards with AIs that were trying to start a war. After all, although those AIs were very powerful, our presidents title of AI Bot Killer was not a joke.

After going online, Yuei Vu stood in the room of the Kaiba Corp. The surrounding scene changed. The light blue data flow built a virtual room. On the opposite, his opponent, the avatar of a duelist simulated by the firewall of Department D, appeared.

The ID registered by the opponent in the Duel Link system was a long and smelly complex number. It was the kind of ID that could be recognized as a bot at first sight.

[Yuei Vu, LP 4000]

[Computer, LP 4000]

First, it's the computer's turn. Yuei Vu's avatar narrowed his eyes slightly, preparing what deck it was playing against him.

It didn't surprise him too much. The computer took a "Volcanic Slicer" first.

[Volcanic Slicer, ATK 1800]

"Volcanic Slicer's effect Once per turn, inflicts 500 points of damage to the opponent. This card cannot attack this turn."

The Volcanic Slicer opened its mouth and fired a "Fireball Technique" into the face, briefly blasting a gap in the right-click area of Yuei Vu's avatar. The data stream composed of 0 and 1 data disappeared with the impact like light blue blood.

Yuei Vu, LP 4000 LP 3500

It's the Volcanic deck.

When Department D was first established, Yuei Vu also played against their deck. It may be that this deck performs well in actual combat. In the 4000 LP environment, ordinary duelists rarely had ability to fight back against such a bombardment deck that directly burned blood, so now this deck has gradually become the standard equipment for Department D's special duelists.

"Set a card, I end my turn." The cold mechanical sound of the computer sounded.

"Then it's my turn." Yuei Vu said, "I activate the Spell Card Reasoning'. The opponent's opponent declares a monster Level from 1 to 12, and I start excavating cards from the top of the deck, until I excavate a monster that can be Normal Summoned/Set.

If that monster is the same Level as the one declared by the opponent, send all excavated cards to the GY. If not, Special Summon the excavated monster, also send the remaining cards to the GY. "

Of course, the computer wouldn't get entangled, and it directly chose the level with the highest hit rate possible: "Level 4."

Yuei Vu turned over five cards in a row, and the sixth one was the monster card.

"The monster I excavated was a Level 1 monster, Treeborn Frog'." He said, "So I sent all the other cards I turned over to the graveyard, and Treeborn Frog' was Special Summoned."

[Treeborn Frog, ATK 100]

The computer directly opened the set card in the back row.

"The Continuous Trap Blaze Accelerator Reload' is activated."

The trap flipped, and a white heavy cannon full of modern firepower appeared on the field.

"I use the Treeborn Frog' as a sacrifice," Yuei Vu continued, "Tribute Summon! Rise, Mobius the Frost Monarch!"

The frog holding the light circle disappeared, followed by the sweep of ice and snow, and the arrival of the white emperor!

[Mobius the Frost Monarch, ATK 2400]

"The effect of Mobius When this card is Tribute Summoned: I can target up to 2 Spell/Trap Cards on the field; destroy those targets." Yuei Vu said, "I will destroy the trap Blaze Accelerator Reload' on your field!"

The Ice Emperor punched hard in the air, and the ice and snow turned into two balls of cannonballs and flew.

"Then the effect of Blaze Accelerator Reload' is activated." The computer continued, "Send 1 Volcanic' card from my hand to the GY, and draw 1 card."

A card transformed from data also appeared in its avatar's hand, going to the Duel Disk's graveyard. The cards disintegrated into streams of data at the entrance to the graveyard area.

"I send Volcanic Scattershot' to the graveyard and draw a card."

The computer drew a new card from the top of the deck.

"Then the effect of the Volcanic Scattershot' sent to the graveyard will cause 500 points of damage to the opponent when entering the graveyard."

The flame cannonball hit Yuei Vu's body, and the violent impact left an empty hole in his abdomen. But soon more data flows filled the hole.

Yuei Vu, LP 3500 LP 3000

"The subsequent effect of Volcanic Scattershot' If this card is sent to the GY by the effect of a Blaze Accelerator' card, I can send 2 Volcanic Scattershot' from my hand and/or Deck to the GY; destroy all monsters the opponent controls! "

New shells were loaded and fired. Mobius the Frost Monarch was bruised by the flaming cannonballs, but the white cannon that fired the shells was also shattered by the Ice Emperor's punch.

Both sides suffer.

"Then there are the effects of the other two Volcanic Scattershots' sent to the graveyard." The computer's voice was still cold, "Each one gives 500 points of damage."

Yuei Vu, LP 3000 LP 2000

The monsters on Yuei Vu's field were all blown up in his own turn, and his LP was cut in half. The firepower of the Volcanic series was indeed overpowering.

"Brother Yuei Vu!" Mokuba, who was watching the battle, was a little nervous.

"It's okay." Yuei Vu only smiled slightly, "It would be boring otherwise."

Chapter 826: Do You Like Burning?

The Ice Emperor was destroyed before he could gain a firm foothold, so naturally, he couldn't launch another offensive. So Yuei Vu showed two more cards in his hand.

"Due to the effect of Swap Frog' in my hand, I can Special Summon this card from my hand by discarding 1 other WATER monster.

I discarded Ronintoadin' in my hand to the graveyard, and Swap Frog' was Special Summoned."

[Swap Frog, DEF 500]

"Set a card, I end my turn."

"Then it's my turn." The computer continued its duel mechanically, "The Continuous Spell Blaze Accelerator' is activated."

A ball of flame rose from the ground, and a simple cannon was mounted in the center, with the muzzle locked on the frog in the playground.

Blaze Accelerator, the core output of the Volcanic deck, could blow up any monster on the opponent's field by sending 1 Pyro monster with 500 or less ATK from the hand to the GY.

And this "Blaze Accelerator" could also be upgraded to the "Tri-Blaze Accelerator", which could not only blow up monsters but also burn LP. At the same time, "Tri-Blaze Accelerator" could be used as a sacrifice to summon the deck's trump card "Volcanic Doomfire", which has an ATK equal to that of a Blue-Eyes White Dragon

So Yuei Vu decided to simply interrupt the combo here.

"Open the set card: Trap Card Dark Advance!" Yuei Vu said, "During either player's Main Phase or Battle Phase: Target 1 monster in my Graveyard with 2400 or more ATK and 1000 DEF; add it to my hand, then immediately after this effect resolves, I can Tribute Summon 1 monster with 2400 or more ATK and 1000 DEF in face-up Attack Position!"

"Huh?" Mokuba said he had never seen such an operation before, "Tribute Summon during the opponent's turn?"

"I return the Mobius the Frost Monarch' in the graveyard to my hand."

The data stream lingered at his fingertips, transforming into the shape of a card.

"Then I use the Swap Frog' as a sacrifice, and Tribute Summon Mobius the Frost Monarch!"

A storm of ice and snow rolled up, and the white giant seemed to burst out of the underworld, its cloak flying like a battle flag.

[Mobius the Frost Monarch, ATK 2400]

"The effect of Mobius! When this card is Tribute Summoned: I can target up to 2 Spell/Trap Cards on the field; destroy those targets." Yuei Vu waved his hand, "Destroy the Blaze Accelerator!"

The Blaze Accelerator was hit from the air by the Ice Emperor's fist, and exploded into pieces under the sweep of the white whirlwind.

The operation was interrupted, but with the computing power of the bot, there would naturally be no hesitation. It immediately adjusted its strategy: "The effect of Volcanic Slicer"! Once per turn, giving 500 points of damage."

Another fireball shell hit him head-on, and half of Yuei Vu's shoulder was blown away, but it was quickly repaired under the flowing data.

Yuei Vu, LP 2000 LP 1500

"Then take the Volcanic Slicer' as a sacrifice! Tribute Summon! Show up, Volcanic Hammerer!"

The Volcanic Slicer disappeared under the flames, and an armor-covered Volcanic monster fell heavily to the ground. Flames burned between its claws, and flames rose from the tip of its tail.

[Volcanic Hammerer, ATK 2400]

Mokuba was a little nervous: "The ATK is comparable to Mobius"

But it was obvious that the Volcanic deck didn't focus on battles. The computer continued: "The effect of Volcanic Hammerer' Once per turn, inflicts damage equal to the number of Volcanic' monsters in my graveyard x 200 to the opponent."

The "Volcanic" monsters in its graveyard now included three "Volcanic Scattershot" and one "Volcanic Slicer", a total of four.

"800 points of damage!" Mokuba exclaimed.

Four fireballs in a row!

[Yuei Vu, LP 1500 LP 700]

The four holes in Yuei Vu's body that were continuously blown up were constantly restored with data repair: "Oh, it sounds like that."

The powerful damage burst ability of the Volcanic was fully reflected. In fact, if Yuei Vu hadn't blown up the opponent's key output "Blaze Accelerator" in time, the output might have been even higher, and he might have directly completed the instant kill.

"My turn is over," the computer declared.

Sure enough, when playing against a burn deck like Volcanic, you should win as quickly as possible.

"Do you like burning?" Yuei Vu curled his lips, "Then I'll play with you. My turn, draw!

In my Standby Phase, the effect of the 'Treeborn Frog' in the graveyard is activated. When there are no Spell/Trap Cards on my field, 'Treeborn Frog' can be Special Summoned!"

[Treeborn Frog, ATK 100]

"Then I summon the 'Substoad' in defense position!"

[Substoad, DEF 2000]

The preparation was completed.

At this moment, the duel was actually over.

"The effect of 'Substoad'." Yuei Vu said, "Tribute 1 monster to Special Summon 1 'Frog' monster from my Deck.

I Tributed 'Treeborn Frog' and Special Summoned the second 'Treeborn Frog' in the deck. "

[Treeborn Frog, ATK 100]

"The effect of 'Substoad' is not limited to once per turn, so this effect is activated again. I Tributed the second 'Treeborn Frog' and Special Summoned the third 'Treeborn Frog'."

[Treeborn Frog, ATK 100]

Mokuba began to be confused.

Tribute "Treeborn Frog" to Special Summon "Treeborn Frog" What's the point?

"The effect of 'Substoad' is activated again. I Tributed 'Treeborn Frog' and Special Summoned the second 'Swap Frog' in the deck."

[Swap Frog, ATK 1000]

"Tributed the second 'Swap Frog' and Special Summoned the third 'Swap Frog'."

"Tributed 'Swap Frog' and Special Summoned 'Flip Flop Frog' in the deck."

""

The effect of 'Substoad' could be activated infinitely, so Yuei Vu could constantly use the frog as a sacrifice to summon the next frog.

Mokuba was confused when he saw countless frogs jumping around in Yuei Vu's field, like some kind of weird frog-themed large-scale performance scene.

After a series of mechanized storytelling, Yuei Vu threw a total of three "Treeborn Frog", three "Swap Frog", three "Flip Flop Frog" and three "Poison Draw Frog" into the cemetery, a total of twelve frogs.

Of course, it was impossible for a computer to have emotions such as "surprise" or "confusion", but Mokuba was confused now.

Then what? That's it?

What's the use of dumping so many frogs?

Yuei Vu leisurely showed off the "ultimate weapon": "Activate Continuous Spell Mass Driver! Tribute 1 monster on my field to inflict 400 points of damage to the opponent."

Then another card popped up from his graveyard and was shown to the opponent.

The effect of Ronintoadin If this card is in my GY: I can banish 1 Frog' monster from my GY; Special Summon this card.

Therefore, I banished Treeborn Frog from the GY and Special Summoned the Ronintoadin. "

[Ronintoadin, ATK 100]

"The effect of the Mass Driver', Tribute the Ronintoadin' to deal 400 damage."

The ronin turned into energy and was fed into the cannon. It fired out and hit the computer avatar head-on in the chest.

Computer, LP 4000 LP 3600

"The effect of Ronintoadin' is also not limited to once per turn." Yuei Vu smiled, "So I activated the effect of Ronintoadin' again, banished the second Treeborn Frog' in the graveyard, and resurrected it again. "

[Ronintoadin, ATK 100]

"The effect of the Mass Driver', using the Ronintoadin' as a sacrifice, will cause 400 damage."

Computer, LP 3600 LP 3200

Even Mokuba realized what was going to happen next.

"Ronintoadin" could be resurrected as long as the "Frog" monsters in the GY were banished, and there were a total of twelve "Frog" monsters in the GY. Didn't it mean that it can be resurrected twelve times!?

Every time it was resurrected, Yuei Vu immediately used the "Mass Driver" to deal damage. Doesn't that mean a total of 4800 damage?

WTF!?

Even though he has known Yuei Vu for so long, Mokuba still felt shock and awe.

It turns out that cards can still be played like this!?

""

[Computer, LP 400]

After a series of indiscriminate bombings, the computer's LP bottomed out, and the victory was irreversible.

"The Swap Frog' in the graveyard is once again banished from the GY, and the Ronintoadin' is Special Summoned."

[Ronintoadin, ATK 100]

"The last shot." Yuei Vu smiled and snapped his fingers.

"Activate the Mass Driver', use the Ronintoadin' as a sacrifice, and inflict 400 damage!"

The last shot, the decisive blow. Ronintoadin turned into a cannonball, accelerated from the long barrel, turned into a golden light, and shot out, piercing the avatar on the opposite side with an indomitable momentum.

This time there was no data restoration, as the loss of all LP also meant a complete defeat in this virtual world. The virtual image immediately collapsed and disintegrated, turning into a stream of data and disappearing into thin air.

[Computer, LP 400 LP 0]

Chapter 827: Secret

Mokuba was still in a daze as he watched Yuei Vu resolve the battle gracefully and exit the Duel Link system calmly.

Is this over?

The 4000 LP that remained unscathed were actually blown up to nothing in just one turn by a heavy cannon called the "Mass Driver" There was even some overflow!

The people of Mokuba were all stupid.

He couldn't help but think of the time when he had gathered around to watch the duel between Yuei Vu and his brother. At that time, Yuei Vu was still playing a "pure hero" deck, using "Elemental HERO Electrum" as the core to play an infinite chain that Yuei Vu himself called "Electrum OTK", which could reduce the opponent's LP through infinite loops. No matter how much LP the opponent had, it would go away in one breath.

At that time, the chain of infinite burn deeply shocked Mokuba's young mind he knew it should also shock his elder brother.

At this moment, he felt that this shocking feeling seemed to be replicated again

It turns out that cards can still be played like this!

I must let my brother know!

Mokuba knew very well that his brother would be extremely excited when he saw this scene. So here he made full use of the video saving function of the "Duel Link" system, and skillfully stored the duel between Yuei Vu and this computer into the local system. When Kaiba came back, he would show him Yuei Vu's cool operation

Yuei Vu didn't realize that Mokuba actually recorded the video. Otherwise, he must supervise him to delete it.

It took a lot of effort to divert the misfortune Eh, to divert hatred, so that the president's current interest has shifted to Yugi. If Mokuba showed him this video, and his attention shifted back to me, how can I fix that?

Unfortunately, Yuei Vu didn't notice Mokuba's little move. After exiting the Duel Link system, he only asked: "Has the firewall been fixed?"

"Ah yes."

Only then did Mokuba come to his senses and focus on the operation again.

The security protocol was handled by the main computer of Department D. The computer was equipped with today's top duel AI Bot, and the security protocol was tightly bound to the duel, and no one could circumvent it. This made it impossible for hackers no matter how powerful they were to break through this layer of defense. The only way to overcome it was to beat the computer by playing cards

Well, this was what Yuei Vu made up on his own.

In fact, he didn't quite understand the principle of "hacking into the server by playing cards". All in all, that's how they got in.

It has been many years since Department D was established. They were responsible for various supernatural phenomena related to duels in this worldview, it basically meant all supernatural phenomena even some non-supernatural phenomena.

Because almost nothing didn't have anything to do with cards, the department's jurisdiction was very broad. Over the years, they have received more and more attention from their superiors, and the resources and power allocated to them have also increased.

So it could be imagined that there was a lot of top-secret information in Department D, and it was impossible to browse through it in a while.

Their time was limited according to Mokuba's calculations, if they exceed three minutes, they may trigger a new alarm mechanism in the system and be noticed by the other party. Therefore, he could only directly search for the content they wanted based on the file number, date, and other information.

After this long and by no means an easy-to-track trail of clues, the truth finally came.

About the last mission that Hibiki Koyo received when he disappeared, and about the things that the archaeological team unearthed, which they described as "the evil that perhaps should never see the light of day", they were finally told silently in the information carried by the data.

The amount of information was greater than Yuei Vu had expected, and he had no idea what he would see.

He had thought it might be about Tragoedia, the demon that had been sealed away three thousand years ago. This can explain why Hibiki Koyo, who disappeared that year, became Tragoedia's puppet, and why Yuei Vu was blocked by Big Lobster when he tried to understand the matter.

But now he found that he was completely wrong.

The so-called "evil that perhaps should never see the light of day" seemed to have nothing to do with Tragoedia. In other words, compared to things that the archaeological team dug up, a mere lobster was not a threat at all.

Yuei Vu quickly became convinced that this was worthy of his serious treatment the priority level of the threat even instantly jumped in front of Tragoedia.

This was a real threat that could affect the entire human world, and indeed the spirit world, and should be dealt with without any delay.

Mokuba watched from behind Yuei Vu, not saying a word the whole time not even when they browsed the information for more than the three-minute limit. He also realized the seriousness of the problem, which was far more serious than the fact that the second-in-command of Kaiba Comrp and hacking into government department servers from the group headquarters.

The video call happened to come to his office at this moment.

"Sir." Uncle Isono's calm face appeared on the screen, "The helicopter of Department D has just landed on the tarmac of our company. Officer Fujino insisted on coming in saying that he wanted to talk to Yuei Vu.

Mokuba frowned and said: "Tell them that they can't meet without an appointment. This is the rule. It will be the same for anyone else"

"It's okay Mokuba, let him in." Yuei Vu said calmly.

Mokuba was startled: "Brother Yuei Vu"

"It just so happens that even if he doesn't come, I plan to ask some questions in person."

"All right."

Mokuba has always obeyed Yuei Vu's words. Since he agreed, Mokuba naturally had nothing to say.

"Let him come here," Mokuba said to Isono.

Word got through and the doors to the company's top floors soon opened. Officer Fujino, with two special duelists behind him, arrived at their location without any hindrance.

When they entered, the projection screen in the office still displayed confidential matters from the server of Department D Yuei Vu had no intention of hiding it.

He had planned to ask the question head-on.

After not seeing each other for many years, this Officer Fujino Let's just say, he seemed to be getting closer to President Kaiba.

He had the same hairstyle as the president, and the style of his windbreaker and belt were very similar to the president's. He looked like a cosplay fan.

Fujino was not too surprised when he saw the content on the screen behind him. He just said calmly: "It seems you already know."

"It's just part of it. I still have a lot to ask you in person." Yuei Vu said, "But now that you're here, it saves me a lot of trouble. Let's get straight to the point

So this is all about the Three Sacred Beasts' from the very beginning, right? "

Fujino was silent for a moment, then nodded.

"Yes."

The Three Sacred Beasts, the existence corresponding to the "Three Egyptian Gods", were depicted in the original animation as extremely powerful and extremely evil elf incarnations, and are said to have power that rivaled the Three Egyptian Gods.

It's just that from the plot development and actual combat performance, it was completely impossible to tell that these three Sacred Beasts have that level of strength.

And that mission many years ago, that archaeological team's excavation, the evil secrets that were buried in the archives of Department D

It was the reason why they were called "the rivals to the Egyptian Gods".

Chapter 828: Excavate

"Uria, Lord of Searing Flames', Hamon, Lord of Striking Thunder', and Raviel, Lord of Phantasms' are powerful beings collectively known as the Three Sacred Beasts'."

Fujino gestured to his subordinates to wait at the door, and at the same time slowly began to talk.

Of course, I believe you are not unfamiliar with these. After all, your contribution is indispensable in the process of sealing the three Sacred Beasts.

When the Sacred Beasts started to cause chaos, Department D also sent out duelists to try to fight against them. Relying on some counterintuitive black technology, they could also use technological means to summon duel monsters to a certain extent in high-quality three-dimensional images and had good combat effectiveness when facing ordinary spirits and Shadow Duelists.

It's just that it's not strong enough when faced with such a behemoth as the Three Sacred Beasts.

The special duelists of Department D had no power to fight back against the Sacred Beast. If it hadn't been for the action of several legendary duelists, including Yuei Vu, the incident might have turned into a head-on battle between planes, cannons, and phantoms across the country. It's quite exciting to think about.

You should already know the reasons for those riots? Fujino asked.

The arrival of the Duel Generation has led to the general awakening of monsters and spirits. The three Sacred Beasts that were dormant in ancient times were affected by environmental factors and awakened. Yuei Vu said lightly.

"Exactly." Fujino nodded, "Thanks to your activity, the three Sacred Beasts have been sealed. However, in the records left by some ancient people that were unearthed later, we found that they seemed to have a certain understanding of the matter by interpreting the relevant ancient text records. These three demons are comparable to the Three Egyptian Gods'."

Perhaps it's just that the ancients didn't see it too often. Yuei Vu said.

That's not surprising. After all, the three of them look a lot like the Egyptian Gods, especially Uria. Those who didn't know better thought they were Osiris's long-lost brothers.

Perhaps the ancients who left the records had never seen the power of the Egyptian Gods at all, but after witnessing the pressure of the three Sacred Beasts with their own eyes, the strongest creatures they imagined with their limited brain power were only of that level, so they left such records.

"There is such a possibility." Fujino said, "But have you ever thought about other possibilities? For example, maybe the three Sacred Beasts we have seen are far from their final forms?"

You are referring to the findings of that archaeological team. Yuei Vu said.

You have read the information, and you know what I am referring to, Fujino said.

That mission, those evil objects that no one mentioned, were exactly the things that are closely connected with the Sacred Beasts.

Slabs that sealed their power.

The archaeological team at the time did not realize what they were excavating at the first time. They used modern technology to break through the secret chamber that had been sealed layer by layer by the ancients and perhaps hoped to never see the light of day again, and found the exquisite stone slabs buried deep underground.

The magical alchemical material meant that the stone slabs would never be corroded by time, and even the chains binding them shone like gold.

Those stone slabs were engraved with abstract and twisted demons. Although the painting skills of the ancients were relatively clumsy and the lines were crude and abstract, these lines that looked like children's graffiti quickly awakened the deepest fears in the hearts of everyone in the archaeological team.

The joy of a major discovery was quickly dashed by unfounded fear. In fact, none of them had heard of the story of the "Three Sacred Beasts", and they didn't know what the clumsy and rough lines on these stone slabs and the abstract and complicated ancient characters meant, but they still felt fear, as if they were their ancestors. The instinct left behind was imprinted in the DNA.

This was why the matter was quickly handed over to Department D.

"Those are not actually the stone slabs that seal the Three Sacred Beasts' themselves, but some of their powers." Fujino said, "The mantras engraved on the stone slabs describe in detail these powers in the Holy Battle Ritual', that is, what we call 'duel' nowadays."

"Spell and Trap Cards that support Sacred Beasts." Yuei Vu said.

This was why the three Sacred Beasts in the animation were said to have comparable power to the Egyptian Gods, but you couldn't see such expressive power at all.

Just like the Blue-Eyes White Dragon, the Red-Eyes Black Dragon, and the Black Magician were all Normal monsters themselves, but among duel monsters, they were the strongest monsters at the top of the pyramid. Their strength was not only in their own bodies but also came in a bunch of messy support cards and even new vests that changed into various forms.

The same was true for the three Sacred Beasts.

Unlike the Egyptian Gods, whose effects were contained in their own cards and sometimes were not even written in the card text, the strength of the three Sacred Beasts was not all contained in their cards.

The three Sacred Beasts have their support cards, a fully functioning system, and a complete and quite powerful deck.

In the Rise of Sacred Beast arc of GX, Kagamaru only exerted a very small part of the power of the three Sacred Beasts. Except for three Sacred Beasts and one Field Spell, he had almost no support cards related to Sacred Beasts.

Yuber, as the villain in the chapter of another dimension, also once obtained three Sacred Beasts. As a villain, Yubel was obviously much stronger than Kagamaru. She has discovered more of the hidden potential of the Sacred Beasts. She printed a lot of specific support cards on the spot and even summoned the three Sacred Beasts together to create their ultimate form.

But that was still not the truly complete state of the Three Illusions.

The discovery of that archaeological excavation is the secret to the true power of the three Sacred Beasts, and it is also the correct way to control the Sacred Beasts.

Fujinos expression was very serious, and it seemed that even for him, this was a secret that he didn't want to remember.

The archaeological team contacted us, and I immediately arranged for a team stationed nearby to come over and ask them to transport all the stone slabs back to the headquarters.

But all of us underestimated the horror of that power.

On the first day of departure, the entire transportation team has been suffering from mental distress. They heard murmurings, and some said they heard the growls of unknown creatures.

When they were on the boat, they always felt that there were strange noises outside the windows of the room, but when they opened the windows, all they could see was the boundless sea.

Within half a day, some people were on the verge of a mental breakdown. They imagined that the transport ship encountered tsunamis and storms, and some said they saw ferocious demons protruding their claws from the clouds.

The fragile nerves of the scholars on the archaeological team finally couldn't bear the stimulation, so they jumped off the deck on the first night and disappeared into the waves forever. "

Yuei Vu frowned: "It sounds like the time when the stone slab of the Three Egyptian Gods was unearthed."

In the early stages of the DM animation, similar things seemed to have happened when the three Egyptian Gods first appeared. All the designers who had worked on the slab went insane. In the end, it was Pegasus himself who completed the three cards.

However, the three illusory gods are just three arrogant tsunderes. Although their power was too powerful for ordinary people to control and caused many people to go crazy, after all, they were still gods and did not have offensive evil thoughts.

Three Sacred Beasts were different. These three are originally the incarnation of evil, products of distortion, and may have evil thoughts towards anyone and anything.

Yuei Vu quickly thought of something: "So you contacted Hibiki? Do you hope that the second-generation Duel King can suppress that force?"

"That's right. Powerful duelists can suppress spirits. This is the conclusion we reached after research." Fujino said, "Facts have also proved that we are right."

After Mr. Hibiki arrived, the transportation quickly became smoother. No one saw the hallucinations anymore, and the gibbering disappeared. It's as if the Duel King's existence itself is accompanied by a powerful aura, suppressing the evil of the Sacred Beast. "

"It sounds like it went well." Yuei Vu leaned into the chair in the office, "Then how did Hibiki Koyo disappear?"

Officer Fujino looked a little ugly.

"Because the transport team was attacked. The news about the slab sealing the power of the Sacred Beasts was leaked. Other beings besides us are eyeing this power, a very ancient and very terrifying powerful being."

Hearing this, Yuei Vu had completely guessed what happened next.

It was Tragodia.

Chapter 829: Take Advantage of The Situation

"An ancient and evil monster has attacked the transport ship, and his goal is very clear"

"The power of the Sacred Beasts, right?" Yuei Vu said.

"Yes." Fujino nodded, "That monster is very powerful. His power let's put it this way."

He tidied up his language and said solemnly: "Department D has been responsible for supernatural events and phenomena around the world since its establishment. You may not be able to imagine how many strange events and powerful beings we have come into contact with.

But even so, our duelists have never encountered such a powerful existence before. "

Yuei Vu knew he was referring to Tragoedia.

Although Big Lobster was not the best among all the final bosses in the Yu-Gi-Oh series, it was still a final boss after all, and its power could not be matched by ordinary duelists.

Playing cards was an absolute law in this world, and a duel between truly strong players must be the only way to determine the outcome.

This strange world law favored the weak to a certain extent. This allowed ordinary humans with only flesh and blood to have the power to fight against aliens, superpowers and even world-destroying demons.

However, the fact was that if you were really an ordinary person with no background and no cheats, this rule would only give you the opportunity to try and fight. Strong power could also be reflected in a duel. Most people had little chance of winning in a duel when facing a god-level boss.

There were only a handful of people who have been blessed by this world and have extraordinary talents.

"Let me guess, Hibiki is ready to fight?" Yuei Vu asked.

"Well." Fujino said, "If it weren't for him, things might have been even worse. Mr. Hibiki is indeed worthy of the title of Duel King. He showed a strength that was far beyond the reach of all my men."

In the face of times of adversity, he miraculously created opportunities and dealt heavy losses to his opponents more than once."

"But he still lost." Yuei Vu said.

"That's right." Fujino sighed, "But although Mr. Hibiki failed to win, he still caused enough damage to the opponent in that Shadow Game.

The monster itself didn't seem to be fully resurrected. He was unable to continue fighting and could only withdraw temporarily. "

In other words, although Tragoedia defeated Hibiki Koyo during the transportation, he had to give up his original intention and evacuate because he was too seriously injured.

"But so you still have the slab?"

When this topic was mentioned, Fujino's eyes suddenly turned cold.

"Until a few days ago, yes."

"A few days ago." Yuei Vu noticed this unpleasant statement, "This doesn't sound good."

Fujino motioned to his subordinate who had retreated to the door to step forward and handed over a tablet device.

The screen appears to be some kind of military installation. Yuei Vu couldn't tell where it was from the background, but the damage to the entire facility was so severe that it looked like it had experienced a carpet-like air raid.

"This used to be our facility to seal the slab. But it was attacked, just this week."

Yuei Vu frowned: "Attacked? By whom?"

"There is no definite information. The system is paralyzed, the surveillance screen is blank, and everyone in the entire facility either died on the spot or fell into an unexplained coma you know."

"Shadow Games."

Yuei Vu pondered briefly.

Now he was convinced that the last time Tragoedia came to the Duel Academy island to explore the information about the three Sacred Beasts was not a temporary decision. Tragoedia might have been plotting against the Sacred Beasts from a long time ago.

What's worse was that there was a high probability that all the slabs related to the Sacred Beasts had fallen into his hands.

"This is top secret information, and leaking it to unrelated parties like me could land you in a military court."

Fujino took back the tablet in Yuei Vu's hand and handed it back to the subordinate behind him.

"But I'm here anyway because I think telling you this is more important than keeping my chair." He glanced at the computer screen in the office and added, "Even if you didn't hack in, I originally planned to tell you this.

Even the second-generation Duel King was defeated, and the strength of his opponent should not be underestimated. If there are only a few people left in our world who might not be afraid of that devil, Duel King Yuei Vu, you will definitely be one of them.

So if I were you, I would return to the Duel Academy island immediately. "

Of course, Yuei Vu understood what Fujino meant. Tragoedia's next target was likely to be the three Sacred Beasts sealed on the island of Duel Academy. If the three Sacred Beast cards were obtained by the lobster, it may turn into a very difficult situation.

but

"Don't worry, it's okay." Yuei Vu waved his hand as if he didn't care at all, "He can't get the three Sacred Beasts."

His confident attitude made even Fujino feel a little dazed.

So confident?

Could it be that the seal of the three Sacred Beasts is so unbreakable that Mr. Duel King believes that no matter how strong the enemy is, it is impossible to break it?

However, he still reminded: "It's better to be cautious. Normally, the opponent might not dare to take action when you are in charge, but now that you are not in the academy, it is the perfect time for the enemy to launch an attack"

"It's okay, it's okay, I know it in my heart." Yuei Vu still didn't seem to hear it at all.

After a pause, he smiled mysteriously.

"Furthermore, do you think that I have been out for so long just to search for traces of the enemy?"

Fujino was stunned: "Isn't it?"

He has been watching the movements of Yuei Vu in the past few days since he left the island. It was not difficult for an organization like Department D to monitor a person's whereabouts.

Since he knew, Tragoedia had no reason not to know. After all, Yuei Vu must be Tragoedia's key concern, and he must keep an eye on Yuei Vu's whereabouts at any time.

Yuei Vu has been away from the island for so long, so he should seize this opportunity to attack.

But that's exactly what Yuei Vu wanted.

At this moment, Duel Academy Island.

The undulating waves hit the rocks on the shore, and a pair of black square-toed boots landed on the edge of the college island.

It was a man with broad shoulders, a square face, an angular chin, and eyes filled with darkness that at first glance looked like a dark and deep quagmire, but they also lurked a surging undercurrent.

This was Tragoedia, or the host he was using now.

As Officer Fujino expected, he had indeed been monitoring Yuei Vu's whereabouts. Yuei Vu's departure was undoubtedly a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for him, and of course, he could not let go of this excellent offensive opportunity.

Tragoedia curled up the corner of his mouth and showed a cruel smile.

That stupid Duel King actually thought that he could take the initiative and find his traces. It was extremely stupid.

Little did he know that he was only on the first step, and he was already on the fifth step!

Tragoedia felt that as long as he broke the seal and obtained the three Sacred Beasts, even if the Duel King rushed back by then, it would already be too late.

This academy no, this world is already in his pocket!

He was proudly thinking about the blueprint for a better future when he suddenly heard someones voice from behind.

"You are finally here. I've been waiting for you for a long time."

"Um?"

Tragoedia, who was immersed in the joy of thinking, was stunned for a moment and turned around, but his heart and lungs suddenly stopped.

That thin but powerful figure, that colorful afro that looked like a starfish, and that inverted pyramid ornament that reflected the shining golden light in the sun

The first generation Duel King Muto Yugi!

Chapter 830: Three Set Cards In The Back Row?

Tragoedia realized almost at that moment what was happening.

This was a trap.

The last time they met, Yuei Vu left a deep impression on him. In addition, Yuei Vu carried the title of "Honorary Principal" on his head, and it was indeed easier to attract hatred, so Tragoedia paid almost all attention to him.

This made him ignore that Yuei Vu was not the only person in the world who could pose a threat to him.

For example, the young man who appeared in front of him at this moment, Muto Yugi, a duel king as famous as Yuei Vu, and was rumored to have been the vessel of the Nameless Pharaoh.

This made Tragoedia quickly realize that Yuei Vu's departure itself was a trap.

Tragoedia was not only an extremely powerful demon, but his abilities were also quite troublesome. He was incorporeal and could jump from medium to medium in the form of a dark miasma.

He could attach himself to other human beings and occupy other human beings' bodies like a dove's nest. He could also attach himself to spiritual objects or cards and jump from one place to another, like an invisible ghost.

As you can imagine, it would be very difficult to catch such a guy. As long as he focused on hide-and-seek, any reconnaissance methods or search techniques would not work on him.

After all, how did you catch a ghost?

Unless

The ghost gave up hiding himself and jumped out arrogantly to cause trouble.

Yuei Vu was indeed very strong now, even if he faced Tragoedia head-on, he got the upper hand but that's only for now.

Strength has never clouded Yuei Vu's judgment. He knew all his advantages and all his shortcomings.

In a game, he preferred to be the one who took the initiative. Not only did he take the initiative in action, but he also liked to be in a proactive position when it came to intelligence.

He preferred to be able to actively choose when to attack, rather than passively waiting for the enemy to come to his door.

There were no absolutes in the world of dueling, and no matter how powerful a duelist was, there may be cards and tactics that he could not cope with. Maybe Tragoedia hasn't figured out his details yet, but as time went by, it's natural that more variables would occur.

If Yuei Vu really did nothing and just sat on the island calmly and waited for the Big Lobster to come to him, by then maybe the Big Lobster would have found a way to defeat him. Maybe he would have acquired some unknown power that was a headache, or printed a bunch of new cards and the like that weren't in the original manga.

That's when it got really tricky.

That's why Yuei Vu chose to leave voluntarily on the one hand, it was indeed to try to track down Tragoedia's clues, and on the other hand, he also deliberately made a feint to lure Tragoedia to attack.

Then the simple-minded Big Lobster took the bait as expected.

In order to ensure nothing went wrong, when Yuei Vu left, he placed on the island the most powerful and most trusted duelist in the world besides himself.

So Tragoedia had almost just set foot on the academy island and ran into Muto Yugi before he could do anything.

"Damn." Tragoedia snorted, "Did you deliberately ambush me but that's all."

The man's pupils were occupied by the sudden burst of darkness, and his eyes were as deep as the netherworld.

"Then come on." He said coldly, "Anyway, you Duel Kings will become my obstacles sooner or later. Muto Yugi, then let me deal with you here!"

The villain's typical bloat syndrome occurred again, and Big Lobster felt that he was very good again

"Yuei Vu told me about your origin." Yugi said seriously, "He said that you are the darkness bred from the birth of the Millennium Items, and you are the aggregation of sin.

In this case, then you are the enemy that another me' should defeat and are part of his mission. "

"Pharaoh?" Tragoedia said disdainfully, "But he is no longer in this world."

The expression that needed to be beaten was like saying

Could the Pharaoh still crawl out of his grave and face me?

However, Big Lobster didn't know that it was actually possible. The only question was whether he had the qualifications

"That's right, he is no longer here." Yugi said firmly, opening the Duel Disk and taking a stance, "So, this mission will be shouldered by me!"

"Oh, a mere host like you?"

He's still talking about "mere host" after all these years. Maybe Big Lobster was the only one left among the villains in the world who dared to do that

"Duel!" x2

Tragoedia, LP 4000

Yugi, LP 4000

"It's me who goes first, draw!"

Tragoedia glanced at the cards in his hand and sneered twice, seeming very confident.

"Ha, you may be the Duel King of mankind, Muto Yugi. But I guarantee you have never seen a duel like mine!"

Yugi held his breath and braced himself.

He knew the origin of Tragoedia, and naturally also knew how powerful the other party was. It has been a long time since the game has faced an opponent of this level seriously, so there is no room for error.

Tragoedia waved his hand: "Set two cards, I end my turn."

Yugi couldn't help but be a little startled when he saw two more set cards in front of him.

Set two cards and just pass the turn?

Is this a "duel never seen before"?

"My turn then."

He suppressed his doubts and entered his turn.

"I normal summon Delta The Magnet Warrior' in attack position!"

Light blue electromagnetic force emerged, and the metal parts slid along the electromagnetic track in mid-air, spliced and combined with each other, and quickly transformed into a compact electromagnetic warrior.

[Delta The Magnet Warrior, ATK 1600]

"Magnet Warrior?" Tragoedia curled his lips, "Then open the set card: Trap Card Trap Hole! When the opponent Normal or Flip Summons 1 monster with 1000 or more ATK: Target that monster; destroy that target!"

Before the poor magnet warrior had time to stand firm, he fell into a huge hole in the ground and was blown to pieces.

Yugi frowned slightly.

Good guy, why does this move look so familiar?

But he continued: "Then the effect of Delta The Magnet Warrior' is activated. If this card is Normal or Special Summoned: I can send 1 Level 4 or lower Magnet Warrior' monster from my Deck to the Graveyard."

A card automatically popped up in Yugi's deck.

"I sent Beta The Electromagnet Warrior' from the deck to the graveyard."

Of course, even so, his normal summoning this turn has been used up, and he could not summon any more monsters.

So Yugi handsomely held out two cards with two fingers and set them down with a wave of his big hand.

"I also set two cards, then I end my turn!"

Tragoedia felt his unique aura belonging to the Duel King, looked at the two black set cards, and couldn't help but think.

Good guy, why does this move look so familiar?

"Hmph, then it's my turn, draw!"

Tragoedia drew the card, glanced at the two set cards with unknown uses in the back row of Yugi, thought about it for a moment, and seemed to have decided to adopt a conservative strategy and not take the initiative to test for the time being.

"Then I'll set another card, and my turn is over!"

Yugi:""