

I QUIT MR 280

Chapter 280

Phoebe had recently tied the knot, so Isabella was taken aback when she witnessed her receiving a bouquet of flowers.

“Phoebe, did your husband send these?” Isabella inquired.

Phoebe chuckled and replied somewhat helplessly. “I’m not that fortunate.”

She handed the flowers to Isabella and shrugged. “The flowers are for you. They were delivered early this morning.”

“For me?” Isabella pointed at herself, looking surprised and bewildered as she accepted the flowers. “Is there a mistake?”

“How could there be a mistake?” She leaned in, pointing to the letter enclosed with the flowers. “There’s a signature.”

Isabella opened the letter and immediately n

Corey?

Although it was just one word, Isabella was

▪

The letter was pink, adorned with several chi indicating that they were drawn with serious better.

“The flowers are pansies, quite unique,” Phoc Isabella agreed. Such a bouquet would gene all, it wasn’t a rose with a clear implication, le
Just as she was pondering, her phone vibrate message from Corey.

His profile picture was a rabbit, clearly indicat

“Bella, are you available this afternoon?”

She held the flowers and returned to her offic

“Then, come find me.” Corey quickly replied, 1

Isabella frowned, not understanding what he

Corey said, “My brother asked me to meet sc and it's a bit annoying." ‘

She thought about Comptons' business, whi manufacturing. Nemotors must need the cc.

▪

Before she could reply, Corey's messages ke

“Bella, there's a Mr. Bolton who is in charge of the  bidding.”

Isabella sat up straight, immediately captivated by his message. She had boasted about this bidding to Seth before taking office. She had been concerned about the connections, but she didn't expect them to be delivered to her so quickly.

Corey continued to ask, his tone playful, “Bella, come save me for the sake of the flowers.”

She pondered for a moment, then sent a patting head emoji. “Send me the address.”

Corey replied immediately, providing her with a location.

She recognized the general direction but had never been there.

He also reminded her of the route, giving detailed instructions, and his words were 1 with gratitude, never making Isabella uncomfortable.

After discussing the business, they chatted for a long time.

Isabella deeply felt that young people were indeed adorable.

She retrieved the plan she had learned from Seth, guiding it step by step, planning to complete all the work in the morning.

Yesterday, a video of the Zimmers causing trouble was posted online. With the police's announcement, public opinion was completely on Isabella and Shaffer Group's side.

"Shaffer Group is truly honorable. They compensated Nemotors with over 150 million right away."

"I'm repulsed by this surname now. What kind of people are they?"

"The one with the Zimmer surname seems very innocent."

Isabella scrolled through the comments, confident that the Zimmers would never be able to recover this time. She set aside her phone and confirmed the progress of the bankruptcy reorganization with Phoebe.

By noon, most of the day's work was almost finished. Isabella borrowed a company car and headed straight to the location Corey had provided.

The will be updated daily. Come back and continue reading tomorrow, everyone!