

I QUIT MR 379

Chapter 379 No Regrets For The Kiss

Isabella had a restless night, and when she woke up the next morning, she looked alarmingly pale. Surprisingly, Erin kept quiet about the events of the previous night, only persistently reminding Isabella to come back in the evening. Isabella was nervous and determined not to return later that night.

She wanted to avoid Seth to avoid the embarrassment of recalling the events from the previous night, but she didn't see him at all.

"The young master left an hour ago," the old butler simply replied when Erin asked.

Isabella was surprised. Looking at the time, it was just after seven. Did Seth get up before six? Was his brain not functioning properly, and his biological clock abnormal?

She complained about Seth in her mind, ate a little, and then hurriedly left.

As she left the mansion, Erin kept reminding her to come back in the evening.

Isabella verbally agreed, but she already had a plan to escape in her mind. Even if she had to pretend to be on a business trip, she absolutely couldn't come back tonight. At the company, the bidding matter was still ongoing. Keira and Mandy each led a team, and preliminary plans had been formed.

Isabella thought both plans were good and held a meeting to discuss them.

When she came out of the meeting room, Phoebe was waiting for her anxiously.

“What’s wrong?”

“Someone is looking for you.”

Isabella was puzzled, wondering who could boldly come to her office. As she opened the office door, Erin rushed towards her.

“My dear girl!”

Isabella gasped in surprise and quickly closed the door.

“Why are you here?” “I had a dream during my nap that you lied to me and didn’t come in the evening.” Erin hugged her doll, sighing a little sadly.

Isabella was in disbelief. Okay, um, have another dream. See the exact time I get to inherit your son’s wealth. She was caught off guard and could only laugh awkwardly, then invited Erin to sit on the couch.

“You work. I’ll wait for you to get off work, and then we’ll leave together.”

Isabella was in a dilemma. She couldn’t even go out for lunch, so Erin had food delivered to the office. She was stuck. She couldn’t just easily go back to the wolf’s

After thinking for a while, she sent a message to Phoebe to prepare something.

Shaffer Group. Seth entered the office before half-past six in the morning, causing the entire thirty-eighth floor to be in a state of fear all day.

As the workday neared its end, Seth didn’t move, and no one dared to leave. In the office, Seth was looking at the documents with his head down. He hadn’t relaxed all day. As soon as he relaxed, all sorts of messy emotions would surge up. Impatience,