

I QUIT, MR. SHAFFER BY ISABELLA SYMONS

Chapter 421

Chapter 421

Ten minutes later, three black cars arrived at the suburban shooting range.

Seth stepped out of the car in his leather shoes. His face was sullen, and his tightly pursed lips carried a faint red hue.

Observing him, Isabella smiled sweetly. "Thank you for your cooperation."

Seth remained silent.

He strode inside after letting out a snort.

With his upright posture and handsome face, his presence outshone others even when standing under the sun.

The heads of the Lime Family and the Dawson Family were both around forty years old.

They had been waiting in the clubhouse near the shooting range. As soon as they saw

Seth arrive, they all stood up to greet him.

Meanwhile, Christopher sat on the side and pretended not to move.

“Mr. Shaffer, your presence is truly an honor for us,” Kaiser casually commented. His gaze unintentionally scanned Seth from head to toe.

That’s strange. According to the information received, the Shaffer Family had offended a group of individuals in Peru, and Seth was particularly badly injured. But why does he look perfectly fine?

Everyone was suspicious, and their first reaction was that the information from the Larson Family was incorrect.

“Mr. Shaffer, you are indeed fortunate. Not only are you always accompanied by Miss Symons, but now there’s another beautiful woman by your side?” Christopher either kept silent or made sarcastic remarks.

Since Ariana was most annoyed by others treating her frivolously, she simply ignored him and turned to the other two.

“Long time no see, gentlemen.”

“You are the daughter of the Years Family, aren’t you?”

“Last time, the Years Law Group helped our company resolve a legal dispute.
We

haven’t had a chance to thank your family yet!”

Ariana smiled faintly. Then, she casually glanced at Isabella.

Isabella could feel the sense of victory in her eyes, but she pretended not to see it

After all, she wasn’t here today to compete with Ariana but to protect Seth’s life.

Ariana greeted everyone and solely ignored Christopher.

However, Christopher was the typical type with a cheeky nature. He became more

“This shooting range is well built. Why don’t we have a go?”

Kaiser looked at Seth, studying him with his gaze.

With a cold expression, Seth casually said, “Ladies first.”

Kaiser was taken aback a little before laughing. “Alright. We’ll wait.”

“Ms. Years, do you know how to shoot?” Christopher approached Ariana, not eve Annoyed with him, Ariana simply turned to Isabella and asked, “Do you know how to,

I knew she would turn the tables. Well, it doesn't matter. I intended to wait for her here, after all. Isabella deliberately emphasized that it was Seth who taught her. “I know a little. Mr. Shaffer taught me.”

Sure enough, regardless of whether she knew how to or not, Ariana immediately stood up upon hearing that.

“I don't know how. So, why don't you teach me, and we can compete?”

The duel between the two beautiful ladies sparked an obvious tension in the air.

In addition to knowing about Seth's extravagant inauguration ceremony for Isabel everyone was also well aware that the Years Family had always relied on the Shaffe

Family. Because of that, the confrontation between these two women was bound to exciting.

Since Isabella had a clear understanding of the situation, she slightly lifted her chin and agreed, "Alright."

As soon as she accepted the challenge, the atmosphere heated up.

The staff, who were all retired soldiers, swiftly prepared everything before leading them into the field.

Due to the restrictions on the type of guns used, the lethality wasn't deadly, and only two layers of tempered glass separated the viewing area and the shooting area.

As soon as Isabella turned around, she could notice Seth's deep gaze.

Indeed, Seth was the one who taught her how to shoot. But since she was afraid o hardship at the time, she didn't learn well.

Furthermore, despite her high level of skill, she could only utilize a small portion of her abilities during this particular round.

Ariana's voice came through, cautioning, "Be cautious. Overthinking can lead to a misfire."

Isabella smiled and teasingly retorted, "It appears that you are not familiar with it.

Modern firearms do not experience misfires."

Isabella forcefully pushed Ariana forward. In order to maintain her respectability, Ariana couldn't back down.

She followed the assistant's instructions and loaded the magazine. Before anyone could react, she raised her hand and fired a shot at the distant target.

Meanwhile, Isabella was familiarizing herself with the gun on the side. Then, she heard

She skillfully disassembled the gun for inspection and then quickly loaded the magazine. Her movements were quick, confident, and efficient.

"Three shots to determine the winner. Are both of you clear on the rules?" the assistant asked again.

Isabella nodded, whereas Ariana responded indifferently.

Just then, a voice came through the earpiece from outside the field.

"Mr. Shaffer, who do you think will win?" It was Christopher's voice.

Seth didn't say anything.

As for the other two, they simply responded perfunctorily.

"Ms. Years' shot just now wasn't bad either.'

Isabella and Ariana heard every word of their discussion outside the field clearly.

"Her aim is extremely below standard."

Seth's cold and indifferent voice sounded.

Isabella knew what he meant. She turned her face to look at Ariana and realized that Ariana was actually listening attentively.

It's just a game. Being too serious will only make her lose.

The voices in the earpiece quieted down as everyone waited for the result.

After having made up her mind, she looked up at Seth and smiled.

Seth's lips were tightly pressed together, the corners of his mouth lifting slightly. He
