

I Regained My Memories and Became Rich After Getting Divorced - Chapter 13

Restructuring the Company

Chu Min cautiously looked at Gu Dai, who was looking down to fiddle with her pendant tassel since getting in the car. However, he quickly looked away, only to find himself unable to resist stealing glances at her again.

After he did this a few times, it was Gu Dai who couldn't stand it any longer. She looked up at Chu Min and spoke in an emotionless tone, "If you want to say something, just say it. Your constant turning of your head is making my eyes hurt."

"Eh, really?" It wasn't until Gu Dai pointed it out that Chu Min realized he had been turning his head to look at her repeatedly. He scratched his head sheepishly, laughed awkwardly, and then softly shared his thoughts, "That kind of man is not worthy of you at all. Boss, don't be sad over him. There are 3.5 billion men in the world, and I don't believe there isn't someone better than him."

Chu Min quickly observed Gu Dai's expression after he finished the sentence. Seeing that her face didn't change, he finally had the courage to continue, "For example, my older brother is an excellent man. He's not only wealthy, but he's also 185 cm tall and has a handsome face. Moreover, both of you are genius hackers, a perfect match. Most importantly, he likes you. If you were with my brother, our whole family would like you."

Gu Dai slowly furrowed her brows as Chu Min talked, then shook her head helplessly, "Although I'm divorced and you want to comfort me, there's no need to bring up your brother. If Chu Han knew you were scheming behind his back like this, he definitely wouldn't let you off easily."

Chu Min subconsciously wanted to argue, but he could only hold back his words as they reached the tip of his tongue. After all, his brother liked her but didn't confess his feelings, secretly admiring her instead. As a result, when he expressed his brother's thoughts now, Gu Dai didn't believe him and thought he was lying.

Seeing Chu Min's aggrieved expression, Gu Dai softly comforted him, "Alright, alright, I understand your intentions. Don't worry, I don't like Song Ling. I'm just lamenting my wasted three years."

After Chu Min heard Gu Dai say that she didn't like Song Ling, he breathed a sigh of relief and then said, furious, "That scoundrel was the luckiest man in the world when he got to marry the boss. Yet, he didn't cherish you! I'm sure he'll regret it in the future!" At the same time, Chu Min made a mental note to find an opportunity in the future to give Song Ling, that scoundrel, a few good beatings.

Gu Dai glanced at the time and then casually said, "Alright, let's not talk about Song Ling anymore. It's getting late, and we need to hurry up and clean up the mess left by those people who are just wasting time in the company."
