

I Regained My Memories and Became Rich After Getting Divorced - Chapter 6

He thought of the matter he had been neglecting all along and was shocked again, "Could it be, Miss Gu, you are actually..."

Zhang Zheng didn't finish his sentence because how surprised he was, but even so, Gu Dai understood what he meant and calmly took over the conversation, "It's me."

After Zhang Zheng received confirmation, his body trembled, and then he quickly said, "Don't worry, I will definitely handle this matter as soon as possible!"

Gu Dai believed in Zhang Zheng's ability, and sure enough, just a few minutes after hanging up the phone, the news of "Miss Gu's Return" had already made the headlines on various front pages, and almost everyone knew about it.

Ten minutes later, a luxurious yet low-key Rolls-Royce stopped at the entrance of the Gu Group.

The car door opened, and a beautiful woman stepped out. Gu Dai looked up at the building in front of her, her eyes becoming more resolute. She whispered in her heart,

Mom and Dad, don't worry, I will take back everything that belongs to you!

At this time, Gu Ming, who was in the top-floor office of the Gu Group, was anxiously pacing back and forth.

More than an hour ago, Gu Ming received news that a large number of company shares had been acquired, reaching up to 50%, which was just a little short of threatening his position. He felt uneasy at this time, and the only person he had seen with such ability was his niece, Gu Dai.

When the idea emerged, Gu Ming denied it.

How could it be possible?

The cruise ship accident three years ago was planned by him and his wife. At that time, they had confirmed multiple times that there were no survivors, so Gu Dai couldn't possibly be alive.

However, Gu Ming didn't expect that he had just thought this possibility a second ago, and the next second, he received the news that Gu Dai was still alive.

Three years ago, it was because Gu Dai who threatened his status, so he decided to get rid of her. If she wasn't dead, wouldn't his position be in danger again?

Gu Ming shook his head, repeatedly hypnotizing himself, "No, it's impossible. How could she still be..."

"Uncle, long time no see. What are you saying is impossible?" Gu Dai leaned against the doorway with her arms folded, she asked with a smile.

When Gu Dai arrived at the Gu Group, Song Ling had already been at the hospital for a while.

"Brother Song Ling, what if my hand never recovers? Then I won't be able to play my favorite piano. Wuuu..." Jiang Yue buried her face in the blanket as she wept.

Song Ling sat on the edge of the bed, gently helping Jiang Yue up, and softly comforting her, "Don't be afraid, Yueyue. It's the doctors in this hospital who are useless! I will find you the best doctor, and I will make sure your hand recovers completely, just like before."
