Chapter 26

Chapter 26

Yana's performance made Ben who was angry start to laugh. She seduced him. He said nothing. while Yana started to cry. Overwhelmed by rage. Ben stepped forward and looked quite horrible.

He had to ask Yana what did she suffer?

Looking at Ben's movements, the onlookers all sighed in their hearts.

Ben was going to be outraged.

Unfortunately, nobody dared to stop Ben because he was so powerful. Yana would suffer a lot today.

However, before Ben could reach Yana, his arm was gently pulled.

Everyone was shocked.

At that time, someone dared to stop Ben.

How dare she?

Someone recognized that this was Ben's wife. But no one thought that Susan could stop Ben.

After all for so many years, everyone knew clearly that Ben was a vicious tyrant.

But nobody had imagined that.

With a gentle pull from Susan, Ben actually stopped.

Probably because he was afraid that he would scare Susan, his stern eyebrows were stretched out as much as possible. "You also think I bully her?" Ben lowered his voice.

Susan shook her head and said calmly, "If you really want to bully her, how can you give others a chance to witness?" Somehow her words made sense.

Even the guests who were sure that Ben had bullied Yana were stunned.

Yes, for so many years, Ben had been said to be ferocious. But most of them just heard the rumors. They had never seen Ben bully others just because he was powerful.

Not even once!

The guests who discovered that couldn't help feel a little confused. Why did they all think Ben was so terrifying? After thinking carefully, they could find no clues except the rumors.

"Ben, I know you have your own way to solve the problem, but can you let me solve this matter?" Susan continued.

Ben stared at her for a while. Suddenly, he was in a good mood and laughed, "Okay."

Susan took a breath of relief and then calmly walked towards Yana.

"What do you want to do?" Timothy frowned and looked at Susan, his eyes full of disappointment. She had completely changed shortly after she married to Ben.

Or he had misjudged Susan from the beginning. Maybe she was always such a person.

Susan ignored Timothy. She looked at Yana and asked, "I remember that it was Ben who came out to answer the phone first. You followed him, did you?"

Unable to deny the fact, Yana looked pale.

"The corridor is straight, so you should have seen Ben in the beginning. Susan looked at Yana, seemingly knowing everything. "You came over to look for him on purpose, didn't you?"

This was a very obvious fact.

But because of Ben's bad reputation and Yana's pitiful performance, no one had thought of that.

Now that Susan had pointed it out, Timothy was also stunned.

He glanced at her in confusion. "Yana, why are you looking for him?"

"|... 1..." Sweat began to run down from Yana's forehead.

She must find a way to answer.

Otherwise, her hard-earned reputation would be ruined. If even Timothy became suspicious of her, she would be in trouble.

As she was thinking, Yana looked at Susan confusedly with teary eyes. "Susan, | know that there was misunderstanding between us, which made you quite dissatisfied with me. But we are sisters after all. | didn't want the misunderstanding to continue, but | didn't dare come to you, so | wanted to talk to Ben, hoping resolve the misunderstanding between us. While speaking, Yana lowered her head and wiped her tears, looking miserable.

Yana didn't say anything about what did Ben did to her but it seemed that everyone could understand.

Timothy felt pity for her. He wiped away Yana's tears and said, "Yana, if you don't want to say it, just let it go. But don't worry, | will definitely ask those who hurt you to pay back in the future."

Yana leaned into Timothy's arms and sobbed in a low voice.

At the moment, Yana couldn't think about anything.

She had already offended Ben. So she just continued to do that.

But she absolutely had to make Timothy help her.

Yana's performance was excellent.

Susan suddenly wanted to laugh.

She asked Ben directly, "Ben, since she won't say it, then tell me, what exactly happened?"

Ben Landor raised his eyebrows and said, "She tried to seduce me, and then I warned her. That's all."

Seduce?

The crowd were silent for a while, and the next moment, they all showed their interesting expressions. Given the power of the Landor family, it was likely that Ben was seduced.

But as for the face...

It sounded unreliable.

Yana trembled and then immediately put on an excited look. "Ben, for the sake of my sister, I can't forget what he did to me! But you can't slander

When she was framed, Ben chose to believe her.

Of course she chose to believe Ben.

Moreover, compared to other people, Susan knew very well that Yana always liked to take her things. Now Ben was her husband, and it was normal for Yana to try to seduce him.

Ben stared calmly at Susan.

She was very firm.

Ben suddenly smiled.

Even though he was in a terrible mood before, he cheered up.

“Mr. Scott, come here.” Ben who was in a good mood, called the boss of Aroma Restaurant directly. “Mr. Landor.” Joe Scott walked over nervously.

Ben smiled, “I remember that there are surveillance cameras in the corridor of Aroma Restaurant, right?”

Joe was stunned for a moment before he quickly caught the drift. “Yes, we don’t have any surveillance cameras in private rooms because we need to protect our customers’ privacy. But our Ben replied flatly, “Show us the surveillance video of this corridor, and let’s see what happened just now

With the surveillance video, they would soon know what happened.

People would lie, but the surveillance system wouldn’t.

The people present were eager to watch the surveillance video.

“It’s great that we have surveillance video here,” Timothy said with a sneer. “With so many of us watching, you can’t twist the facts no matter how powerful you are, Ben.”

Timothy truly wanted to watch the surveillance video. Yana went pale upon hearing what Timothy said.

She suddenly tightened her grip on Timothy's hands. Timothy looked at her, confused.

Yana forced a smile and said, "Timothy, I think we'd better not check the video. If the word about it gets out, it will harm Ben's reputation."

"Yana, you are such a kind girl that you are still thinking about his reputation," Timothy replied, pitying Yana. "Don't worry, I believe it's a just world, and Ben couldn't get away with what he did."

"But... but..." Yana got anxious.

"I know you are worried that he would take revenge on me after this, but don't worry. I will do you justice at all costs," Timothy said with a fearless look.

Yana felt embarrassed.

She should be moved by Timothy's words..

But the fact was that she felt helpless about it.

Clap! Clap! Clap!

Ben clapped his hands and said, "What a loving couple you are."

"It's too late to try to flatter us. I will check the surveillance video no matter what," Timothy said expressionlessly. Ben glanced at Timothy as if the latter was a fool.

"Is he an idiot?"

Isn't he the one who proposed to check the surveillance video?" he wondered.

But since he was in a good mood today, he decided not to take it seriously.

Ben gave Joe a look, and the latter immediately led the way to the surveillance.

None of the guests left because they didn't want to miss the fun.

Joe felt a little uneasy.

Ben and Yana accused each other on the matter.

The surveillance video would prove whose fault it was. In that way, Joe would either offend Ben or Timothy. He didn't care about Yana.

Compared with Timothy, Ben meant much more to Joe.

Thus, Joe silently prayed that the surveillance video would prove that Ben was innocent. Yana herself knew very well what happened.

She wished she could leave the place at once, but she couldn't as Timothy held her closely. With a pale face, she was taken into the surveillance room.

How to proceed with the matter was simple.

The security staff found the surveillance video of the corridor and played it back by several minutes. A clear video started to play on the screen.

The security staff raised the video volume considerably.

Thus, everyone in the room could hear the voices in the video clearly. "What a small world, Ben."

Chapter 27

Sure enough, it was Yana who started the conversation.

She had a shy look on her face as she spoke in a very soft and sweet voice. Timothy's expression changed slightly at the voice.

He could still bear it at that point. "Yana was here to make peace, so it was natural she would act so flatteringly to him," he thought.

However, what he heard the next second shocked him.

In the video, Yana continued in a sweet voice saying that Ben deserved a better woman, suggesting that Susan was not tender and attentive enough to him.

The people present were rendered speechless. They recalled how Yana lied about her purpose of looking for Ben there.

When Yana claimed that she loved Susan and came to see Ben hoping that he could help her reconcile with Susan, the people present took pity on her.

Now that they had seen the video, they realized how ironic the whole thing was. Timothy couldn't help glancing at Yana.

But she lowered her head, avoiding his eyes.

Timothy let out a sigh and found another excuse for Yana's behavior.

In his eyes, it was very rude of Susan to have pushed Yana before, so it was natural that Yana would speak ill of Susan behind her back.

"Yes, it was natural Yana would do that," he thought.

With this in mind, Timothy began to feel that the facts didn't matter; what mattered was that Yana was bullied, and he should avenge her.

Thinking that the part about how Ben bullied Yana was yet to play on the screen, Timothy pulled himself together and continued watching the video.

In the video, Ben looked indifferent when Yana tried hard to please him.

He kept his usual poker face even when she offered to cook for him.

Everyone present could tell that Yana was indeed trying to seduce Ben, who, however, ignored her. Ben made no response and tried to leave with a poker face.

AAA

Chapter 27

However, the video wasn't over; it recorded what the people saw back then.

As the video continued to play, the people in the room saw that Yana caught up with Ben, who had taken a few steps away, and tugged at his clothes while calling out his name softly.

It was obvious that she was trying to seduce him, given the flirtatious look on her face.

But Ben pushed her away and warned her to stay away.

After that. Joe walked over with some guests.

The surveillance video brought everything to light.

Ben hadn't crossed the line from the very beginning to the end.

What he did was merely stop Yana from pestering him and warn her to stay away. In no way could that be regarded as bullying her.

Instead, it showed that he was a good man.

At that moment, a female guest cut in. "Without this surveillance video, I would never know that Sorae is who appeared to be Bure and kind actually tried to seduce her brother-in-law. Susan and Ben left directly.

Thinking of Susan's words before, the crowd changed their view towards Ben gradually.

Wasn't Ben misunderstood because of the rumors?

It was said that Ben was ferocious, but no one had seen what Ben had done except the rumors. The rumors were not trustworthy.

At the same time, the crowd looked at Yana meaningfully.

Without this video, they would have believed what Yana said.

Moreover, Yana even wanted to seduce his sister's husband. Nobody knew how many people had actually been seduced by her in private.

Then, everyone looked at Timothy, full of sympathy.

Mr. Leen was young and achieved great results. How could he bear that?

No one said it explicitly, but Timothy could sense the atmosphere.

He had always thought that he was capable of everything and he was arrogant.

Now his face suddenly turned pale.

"Timothy, let me explain." Yana said softly.

Giving her a glance, Timothy suddenly shook off her hand viciously and left without hesitation. Explain? There was nothing to explain.

He was embarrassed enough today.

"Timothy." Yana chased after him in a panic.

She tried all her efforts to win Timothy's love, so she would never let him go.

Timothy said he loved her, but was that true?

She just had a short talk with Ben. Why was he so angry?

And Ben.

He was never touched by her kindness. And he behaved so cruelly.

Did the man have the ability to find out what beauty was?

Of course, the most despicable person was Susan.

A trace of resentment flashed across Yana's eyes. What did Susan do to capture Ben's mind so that he was so loyal to her? Yana thought about it and complained about everything. She felt that the whole world was bad. "I haven't lost yet. There must be another idea. I will definitely come up with one!" Yana muttered. Inside the car.

Susan pursed her lips, looking unhappy.

On the contrary, Ben couldn't hold back his joy any more.

Finding Susan's anger, Ben raised his eyebrows, "Are you angry?"

Everything would be found if Ben didn't ask.

As soon as he asked, tears welled up in Susan's eyes.

Ben was stunned, his body stiffening.

What did he say?

Why was she crying again?

It was not the first time he saw Susan cry, but Ben was still at a loss.

He hurriedly wiped Susan's tears and said gently, "What's wrong?"

Susan sniffled. "I just feel that you suffered so much."

Ben was speechless.

What?

He suffered so much?

Susan looked at Ben with tears shining. "I'm just thinking that if there is no video, you must take the blame as a scapegoat. In the past, many of those bad rumors about you were also spread like that."

Susan felt really uncomfortable.

She thought she didn't love Ben. When she married Ben, she was even filled with fear.

But what was the truth?

Ben was not what it was said at all. He had helped her many times this period.

He was just a little ugly and a little harsh, and thus he was inexplicably accused of many false crimes.

Ben was a little confused.

Susan, was she crying because of him?

Ben hesitated for a moment and whispered, "These things are not important to me."

He really didn't care about these rumors.

He also knew in his heart who was spreading the rumors.

But he didn't care at all.

These rumors, even if they were spread all over the world, would never do harm to him. Moreover, with such bad reputation, he sometimes could do many things without much scruples. "How could it not be important." Susan cried even harder.

For some reason, she felt sorry for him.

So kind a person as he was, Ben was slandered to such extents.

Yana won a lot of times over Susan thanks to her weak body and her performance. But since Yana was her sister, Susan chose to put up with it.

Well, Susan stole Yana's healthy body, so she owed her, and she had no choice but to be tolerant.

Ben Landor never owed her anything.

It had been a long time before Susan stopped crying.

She wiped her tears and suddenly said firmly, "I won't cry anymore."

That couldn't be better. Ben breathed in relief.

He didn't want to experience the feeling of being at a loss anymore.

The driver sent Susan home with mixed feelings.

He suddenly perceived that Mrs. Landor seemed to be made for Mr. Landor.

At the very least, no other one dared to declare his or her protection to Mr. Landor... Ben said, "I have to go to the office and | will come back for dinner tonight.

Despite his frequency of being home for dinner recently, this was the first time he had told her in advance. It made her feel like they were really a married couple.

"Got it," Susan responded obediently.

Ben resisted the urge to fondle her hair again, and let the driver drive away.

At Storm Group.

Ben asked his assistant to come in.

The video, received from Joe, was played before the assistant and then copied for him to keep. “I will prosecute Yana Miller for reputation infringement,” ordered Ben calmly. “Make some arrangements.” The assistant froze for a moment and couldn't believe his ears.

Reputation infringement?

When did his boss have a reputation?

No, no, no. His boss took nothing of his reputation at all.

“You don't understand?” Ben frowned.

The assistant was startled and hurriedly replied, “No problem. I'll be quick. Miller Yana's intention to slander Mr. Landor is in evidence. There are many other people on the spot. There are various elements to make sense. If sued, Ms. Miller is doomed to failure. But it's just... a trivial matter, after all. Even if we win the trial, Miss. Yana won't be punished too much.”

Ben sneered, “It doesn't matter. Just do it and sue her.” In fact, it was impossible to punish Yana too harshly according to the law. Chapter 29

However, once the matter spread, the reputation that she cared about most would be ruined. It was the biggest punishment for her.

The assistant nodded at Ben's order and immediately made some arrangements.

With regard to what happened at Aroma Restaurant, Yana was keen to explain it clearly to Timothy Leen.

But her effort was only rewarded with his indifference.

Yana had no choice but to revolve herself more around Timothy.

Fortunately, despite his coldness and attitude, Timothy had never mentioned breaking the engagement. That relieved Yana a bit.

Carl Miller and Jane felt that there seemed to be something wrong between Timothy and Yana. They inquired Yana, but she dared not to tell the truth. She just dodged the question with minor contradictions between them as the explanation.

Carl and Jane thought that there were just some quarrels between the couple, so they didn't ask anymore.

They flung themselves into the preparation for her engagement party.

A few days later, the Butler suddenly sent in a subpoena.

"From the court? Really?" Carl was puzzled.

"Probably," Jane wore a scowl on her face, "Such a thing shouldn't be sent wrong. I have to complain. about the deliveryman." At this time, Yana, while going downstairs, saw her parents holding an unknown document in their hands. "Dad, Mom, what are you looking at?" Yana blurted.

"A subpoena from the court." Carl replied. In the meantime, he opened it...

“Dad, you must have a way,” Yana continued to bawl, “I can’t go to court. Timothy is already angry with me. What if he dumps me for my notoriety?”

“Now you are afraid? Why did you provoke Ben, the psycho?” Carl snapped sharply.

Jane’s eyes flashed, and she softly comforted, “Carl, relax. Don’t put all the blame on Yana. There is numerous gossip about Ben, some of which causes more serious consequences. Why doesn’t Ben sue those people but Yana?”

“Aunt Penelope, you are right,” Susan nodded repeatedly and looked at Ben expectantly, “Ben, don't do this later.” She felt obliged to finish what Ben gave her.

If this continued, however, she would become fat.

Seeing through her thought, Ben said faintly, “You just added 2.5 kg. Not enough.”

Susan was helpless.

In less than a month, she had already gained 2.5 kg weight.

Although her weight base was low, the rate of weight gain was amazing.

“Have a taste of the soup,” Ben took a bowl of porridge. “You are skinny. If you go outside, others may assume you are abused by the Landor family. Then they would pin this on me in private.”

Susan had wanted to argue for a while, but when she heard Ben’s words, she had to follow his instructions. Well, she must try her best to gain more weight, leaving no one misunderstand Ben!

Looking at Susan who was eating obediently, Ben had a mocking smile for a split second.

The Miller family had tortured her for so many years. Now he wanted to spoil her.

She had been underweight for a long time because of blood drawing. Now he would make up for her.

Staring at the harmonious couple, Penelope gritted her teeth and continued, “Ben, I know you and Susan are newlyweds. It is inevitable that you are more clingy, but you are the one to do great things. Don’t always keep an eye on women for such a small matter like eating. Dad, you should also teach Ben a lesson. Before Mr. Landor could say anything, Ben said blankly with a squint at Penelope, “In your mind, it’s a trivial matter, but I don’t think so. Aunt Penelope, I know you and my dad have a mediocre relationship, but this is your fate, so don’t envy others.”

Penelope had no idea what to say.

Penelope gritted her teeth with her pale face.

Now she even lost the right to say something?

Did she have her influence in the Landor family?

Penelope was full of resentment, but she didn't dare to show it, not to mention her grievance.

At that time, the Butler came in and said respectfully, "Mr. Landor, Mr. Miller and his wife come to visit.

"The Miller family?" Mr. Landor was stunned for a moment, "Is it Susan's family?"

"Yes, the Butler nodded.

"Please let them in. Be a sensible butler! There's no reason for the in-laws to wait, complained Mr. Landor. Previously, due to the change of the marriage, he was unsatisfied with the vile action of the Miller family. But now, being impressed by Susan, Mr. Landor would show more respect to the Miller family.

When they changed the bride, the Miller family announced that Susan fitted Ben more. He thought it was an excuse at that time. Now it seemed that they were considerate.

"Take out my treasured coffee." "In addition, tell them to prepare some exquisite desserts ladies might adore." "You can also pick some of my favorite collections. I'll appreciate them with my in-laws.

Mr. Landor made thoughtful arrangements because he knew nothing about the evils of the Miller family. Now, he really wanted to treat his in-laws well.

Also, there is still

Ben.

"I'm relieved to hear that from you," Carl gently put down his cup and then glanced at Susan amiably, "Susan, forcing you to marry Ben was my mistake. Come on. Let's go home."

What the hell?

Susan frowned, not sure what Carl meant.

Mr. Landor was also confused, "Mr. Miller, what are you talking about?" 1. h. She cried for

Carl let out a sigh. "Mr. Landor, honestly, Susan was initially unwilling to marry several days of that. I was thinking that the Landor family would provide her with a dream life after the marriage and she would understand my intention. But I didn't expect... She went to extremes, and even regarded us as enemies."

Jane then added, "A few days ago, Yana encountered them at Aroma Restaurant. The rumor spread that Ben had a bad temper. Yana was afraid that Susan lived a hard life, so she took the initiative to say nice things about Ben, hoping that her efforts would be helpful to their relationship. Unexpectedly, Susan accused her of seduction due to the conversation. Today, Yana received a subpoena from the court. Mr. Landor, they just had a talk. What kind of seduction is it?"

Chapter 30

Carl sighed out a long breath, “Well, just drop this. Susan didn’t want to marry, but we forced her. She’s now leading a tough life while Yana has her Mr. Right. Susan is... of course envious. I fully understand why she’s targeting Yana.”

“Susan, I can understand your choice.” Jane wore a motherly look. “Although you slandered and framed your sister, I believe it was a spur of moment. If you don’t like Ben, just get a divorce. The Miller family will always be your home.”

“Right. Don’t be afraid. As long as you can be happier, we are not afraid to offend the Landor family. We will take you home.” How righteous Carl’s remarks sounded!

They sang a duet and attributed that matter of Yana to Susan’s jealousy, suggesting that Susan was living a tough life!

Mr. Landor’s face had turned ugly.

Mr. Landor didn’t know the details about what happened to Yana, but Carl and Jane both expressed their dislike for Susan married Ben, and how terribly she lived in the Landor family. What did this mean? Could it be Susan's complaint to them? The content is on Read the latest chapter there!

Mr. Landor thought that he treated Susan nicely. In the Landor family, she looked rather delightful. But if she whined to her family behind his back, then he might have to re-examine his granddaughter—in-law.

Penelope's eyes flickered as she mocked, “Ah, it turns out that marrying into the Landor family is a grievance. Gag. & is hard to see treating Stishh'so well. She’s not struck on Ben. Our family will not force anyone to do anything. Since Susan is reluctant, let her go. She's not good enough for Ben.” The content is on Read the latest chapter there!

Mr. Landor was heavy minded without speaking.

A hint of complacent flashed across Carl's eyes.

Great.

Wasn't there a rumor that Ben doted on Susan?

Carl wanted to see if Ben could continue to do so after knowing that she disliked him.

“Susan, let's go.” In spite of that thought in mind, Carl pretended to be more affectionate on the surface, and then he began to drag Susan.

“Come with us. We'll help you divorce Ben.” Jane also reached over.

The two of them, on each side, were trying to take her away by force.

Chapter 30

These two people...

Susan's body quivered with anger.

She didn't want to marry into the Landor family before, but they forced her. Now that she strived to make her life better, they coerced her to divorce.

If she really got divorced and went back to the Miller family, wouldn't she continue to serve as a blood transfusion tool? She knew it very well.

Carl and Jane weren't so much amiable at all.

They came here to justify Yana and disgrace Susan.

Regardless of the divorce, they claimed that Susan didn't apt to) marry Ben in the Bedirinn and that she ftarned Yana out of jealousy and dissatisfaction. The content is on Read the latest chapter there!

What would Mr. Landor think of it? What about Ben?

Their remarks had wiped away all the efforts she had made in the past few days.
