Chapter 14 Lord eternal, Karma-Kalm

If that Book has the answers I seek, and can help me get out of here, then its better I look for a way to unseal the path or maybe you can help me, with that thing in your hand, Fairest one.

I've already seen, on what it can do. You surely, have no idea on what you're talking about, Yoshida replied, My staff doesn't unseal the paths within this realm, the Energy it has, can only create or break someone.

Its true, you Frankenstein must understand, there's much about yourself and things around here that you need to know, but the book is beyond your reach now and you have to accept it.

Then what should I do? How do I find my way to the uplands?
and
Why are mine even here?

There's someone you must meet, someone you say, I don't even know anyone around here, I'm only just meeting you.

He is Lord Eternal but you can call him Karma-Kalm.
Karma-Kalm! What kind of a name is that? I said. And why are my called Frankenstein? What really are my?
You can go and see him now, Yoshida replied.

Where are my suppose to go? Where can I find him?
I don't even know any place around here or any where to go, so how do I get to see the Lord Eternal, Karma-Kalm.? I anxiously asked her.

Yoshida points at the mirror, using the staff in her hands.

Her arm stretches towards the direction of the mirror, a very large mirror on the wall, standing differently by my right hand side.

But nothing happens after she significantly points her staff towards the mirror.

Nonetheless, I've witness on what the mantle in her hands can do, like the wardrobes stunt she pulled with it the other time. But this time, nothing interesting had happened.

Fairest one, I can't see anything, no one is there, it's just a mirror that's standing out there.
"Go" touch at the mirror, and make sure you step away from it, Yoshida advises.

I'll do as you wish for, fairest one, I said.
I strongly believed her, and I know she wouldn't ask me to do a thing that will harm me or try to harm me herself.

The first time I touch a mirror in this realm, I was struck to the ground by some flashes of light which was shunned by the mirror. But this time, I'm cautioned and guided by Yoshida, to touch a mirror and then step away from it. So I went to the mirror to exercise, on her simple instruction.

The mirror was mightily beautiful, and extremely decorated, and something tells me, I'm about to meet someone very special and great, someone very powerful, magnificent and beyond my knowing.
