

ILY Monster 131

The moment Davi's hands suddenly slammed on top of the sofa's back rest, Sei was instantly lost for words. He was completely confused on what was currently going on.

Additionally, the moment Sei's gaze fell into her reddish soft lips that were still wet with the water she just gulped, he immediately averted his gaze as his face turned even redder. It was because that moment, the sudden urge to kiss her was strangely stronger than ever that he could barely think straight. That point of time, the only thing that was stopping him to kiss her was the thought that she was currently drunk and not in her normal state of mind.

"Tonight, I'll teach you the French kiss so... I want you to pay attention. One... Hundred... Percent! Understand?!" she said with her same firm voice akin to a strict teacher. Causing Sei to look at her with slightly widened eyes, before he averted his gaze again.

"Y-you... you're drunk. Let's do the lesson next time once you're sobbe---"

Not letting him to finish his statement, Davi suddenly put her forefinger in his mouth to stop him from talking as she uttered the words, "Hush... a student should obediently listen to his teacher."

That very moment, as soon as Davi's finger touched his lips, Sei immediately jolted due to shock. And before he could even react, the girl suddenly wrapped her hands into his neck, stunning him once again.

And the next second... Sei haven't even recovered yet when she suddenly moved and sat on his lap... straddling him.

And as if struck by series of deadly lightings, Sei turned into a solid immovable lifeless object. His brain refused to work the way he wanted, as though it suddenly became someone else's.

"Okay, this... this is the first step. Look at me..." she then said as her hand started to land on both side of his face before she made him raise his face to look at her. That moment, Sei struggled to retrieve his lost perception.

However, before he could manage to move his frozen body, the girl talked again as if she planned not to give him even a second to react. Causing, Sei just felt as though she was suddenly shut him down completely, making him unable to even think properly, nor move, nor talk.

"Gaze deeply in my eyes..." she continued in such a soft voice strong enough to pierce straight through his chest like a powerful arrow. Causing him to just obey her every word as though he was already under her spell.

And by the time he was looking at her deep and passionate bright eyes filled with spirits, the man just ended up gazing at her intensely as ever, that by the time he realized it, it's already too late to break through.

Continuing her lesson without wasting any second, Davi proceeded.

"Tilt... slightly..." she uttered, but this time, her voice turned a little too soft that it's almost a pleasing whisper in his ears.

However, due to her closeness to his face, Sei could hear her loudly even though he could barely understand what she was saying anymore.

And the next second, her words were now reduced into one.

"Close..." she whispered and she moved closer as she closed her eyes before she slowly landed her lips into his.

That moment, all the steps Davi should have said didn't came out of her mouth. She didn't know that as she was explaining the things in her head, she was already applying it at that very same time without word.