

ILY Monster 150

Hinari was about to cry the moment the black car disappeared from her sight. She tugged her hair with both of her hands as she walked back and forth.

"What to do now? What to do now? I don't even have a phone or money with me. And I'm still wearing a pajama, who would pick me up here? Ugh! That guy! That normal looking guy. How dare you get angry because I Hinari the great kissed you! You should be glad that I kissed you even though you only look normal damn it! I'm not just kissing anyone, just so you know you stupid normal looking guy! You're the first man to do this to me, I swear I will be going to hunt you down till death, I'm going to take away your breath you despicable foxy idiot! Idiot! Idiot!!"

Just as those rants came of her mouth, Hinari squatted down while she's still tugging her hair as she looked down on the ground. She kept mumbling the word 'idiot' over and over again that she didn't notice the black car that stopped in front of her.

"Whom are you calling an idiot?" A sound that appeared to be the normal looking guy's voice rang and Hinari immediately raised her head.

He... he came back?

"If you behave yourself, I'll let you get in." He said and Hinari immediately nodded like rattle.

"I'll behave, i'll behave... I promise... I won't touch you anymore." She said and she even raised her right hand like an obedient grade school student. Causing Zaki to hid a smile.

"Good... now get in." he said and Hinari breathed a long sigh of relief before she hastily entered the car.

Moment went by and the girl really behaved herself to the point that she's not even moving anymore.

"So Miss Pervert actually does know how to behave huh." the man said and Hinari suddenly felt a bit pissed.

This normal looking guy... did he picked me back just to tease me? Ahh... I wanted to just kick his balls... Relax... relax... it'd be bad if he snaps and throw me out again...

"Ahaha... please don't tease me right now." she said as she forced a laugh.

"Anyway... what brought you here?" she continued, causing Zaki to immediately tell her about his business for coming.

"Well... Sei sent me here to ask something regarding Miss Davi." He said and the girl's eyes instantly turned wide.

"Why? Did something happen to my Davi?" she asked with such worried voice causing Zaki to fell speechless for a second.

My Davi...? It'd be bad if Sei hears her saying that, right?

"Well, she's currently suffering from her hangover." Zaki replied and Hinari immediately sighed with relief.

"Sei is really anxious, he asked me to ask you about what usually works on her when in that state." He continued and Hinari just smiled.

"Ahh... that stone cold man is actually a worrywart? Now that's cute. Haha. Mm, mn... Davi really deserve such a man."

"He even wanted to rush her in the hospital this morning."

"Eh?! Seriously? My gosh!"

"That's why he sent me to see you. He's still there, stiff as log waiting for his beloved wife to recover."

"Heeehhh... that's great, that's great... if he's like that towards her, then they are both really meant for each other. No doubt. They are both cute at least so my Davi is now all for him... And? And? Please tell me more about them."

"Hey... get serious, I'm telling you these to make you talk about what I'm asking, not for you to entertain yourself. I'm not here to become your story teller."

"..." Speechless with the man's words for a while, Hinari scratched her head as he looked at him. "Mister Normal, you know what? I noticed that you always gets too serious when it comes to my Davi and your boss. Is there actually some problem you're hiding?"

"What do you mean."

"Maybe, you're secretly in love with your boss?"

"..."