

ILY Monster 151

"Maybe, you're secretly in love with your boss?"

As soon as those words left Hinari's mouth, Zaki could only puffed two more veins in his forehead before he closed his eyes and breathed deep.

This pervert... she's not only shaming me calling a handsome guy like me normal looking, she's even saying I'm gay now? Is there something wrong with her head?

"So what if I do?" Zaki just said thinking that the girl will freak out but to his surprise, the girl suddenly sidled towards him with her eyes suddenly filled with excitement and happiness.

"Oh my god... my god... really? Really?" she exclaimed happily as though she just heard an out of this world news.

This pervert... there's really something wrong with her head... I'm sure of it...

"Mr. Yu, stop the car." Zaki then said, causing the girl to immediately kneel on the car's seat in a blink of an eye and started begging.

"No, please don't throw me out. I'm sorry, I'm really sorry, forgive me, I was wrong. I just said that because I actually read a BL last night so that's why my imagination kept straying away... you know what's BL? It stands for Boys Love... it's actually cute and I really like it that's why I couldn't help but think like this. Believe me I didn't mean it, please forgive me, I know you're a real man..."

"Be quiet and just answer my question, or else I'll throw you out."

"Yes, yes, yes... I'll answer, I'll answer. Please forget what I said... I'm behaving now. I'm behaving."

"Sigh... You don't have any idea what kind of trouble will befall on me if I go back without anything." He just said calmly, before he signaled the driver to keep going.

Hinari then heaved a long sigh of relief before she sat properly again as she started answering the man's question. Please visit freewebnovel.com

"Okay... well, Davi is the type who can't really deal with alcohol. So she rarely drinks and it's just a sip, one or two shots, three is her limit actually. I think, yeah, this is actually just the second time she got drunk."

"Then why did you let her drink if you're aware she can't handle alcohol?"

"Don't blame me. She's clearly hurt last night. Isn't this your boss's fault?"

"Well, yeah... I admit you're right."

"See? That girl won't get drunk without serious reason so better tell your boss. You understand?"

"Okay, I'll make sure to tell him."

Upon hearing the the man's sudden obedient and serious words, Hinari could only sigh again and she started talking seriously.

"Well, the first time she got drunk was right after our graduation in high school. That time... yeah, she also suffered an awful hangover and I was the one who nursed her. Tell me, what remedy did you already applied to her?"

"Sei just followed the doctor's advice, he gave her plenty of water, and he gave her a pain reliever."

"Then, isn't that already enough? She just needed to sleep the entire day and tomorrow she's already fine."

"The problem is, Sei is still worried. He even began to doubt if those remedies are working."

"Pfft! Seriously? How could he be such a worrywart?"

"You said it."

"Well,..." Hinari was about to tell him she had no idea which will work on her when some mischievous idea popped in her head.

Well, why not use this opportunity to create a steamy scene between them? Hmm... hmm... consider this as thanks for sending your body guard that happened to helped me today Mister Sei...

"There's actually one thing that is effective towards her." She said and the man immediately looked at her intently as he waits for her answer.

"Are they the only people in their house right now?"

"No, there are some helpers in their house."

"Ehh? Are there women in their house?" She asked again, causing Zaki to look at her with puzzled look.

"There are two maids."

"Do something and make those two disappear for today."

"Huh? Why?"

"Just do what I say, or else I won't tell you anything."

"Okay, I get it." Doing what Hinari asked despite being puzzled on what she was trying to do, Zaki called the butler to chase the maids away for a day without telling Sei.

Thus, after everything was settled, Zaki turned to Hinari.

"Now tell me the remedy you're talking about." He asked and the girl just smiled mischievously as she replied.

"A cold bath. Tell him to bath her himself."