

ILY Monster 205

In the masters bed room.

Sei who quietly laid beside his wife a moment ago was looking at her face when all of a sudden, he turned and he faced towards the lamp on the bedside. His face was red and his heart was starting to flutter.

That moment, Sei, quietly breathed a really deep sigh, desperately trying to calm down. However, he was still in the process of clearing up his mind when a soft arm suddenly wrapped on his waist, causing him to immediately froze.

Sei held his breath while his wife just moved her body even closer to him. She spooned him as though she was trying to protect him. However, the moment Sei felt her warm body and her warm breath touching him, Sei began to feel a scorching heat spreading throughout his body like unstoppable wild fire. His already reddened face went even redder and his already fluttering heart went even wilder. Until sweat drops eventually started flowing from his forehead.Google search freewebnovel.com

It was the first time Sei felt that way. He's been sleeping beside her since she came. He likes her gentle touch; he loves her warm embrace. And her mere existence was enough to soothe him, as though she was a fresh rain drops watering his withering self. Ever since she came into his life, she became his lullaby, she ended his sleepless nights. She became his relaxing and comfortable haven. She became his home.

However, that very moment, strangely enough for him, he couldn't calm down. It was the first time his desire to touch her was strong enough that he could barely think straight. He finally discovered what was the so called sexual-desire.

He realized that it's not something to be taken lightly, it was powerful enough that it could even overturn even his iron will and knock him senseless.

Thus, the next moment, thinking that he better move before he lost control, Sei gently held her hand and slowly lifted it. Afterwards, he quietly moved and sat on the edge of the bed. He reached out his hand and took the white teddy bear and put her arm around it.

The girl who was still sound asleep squeezed the bear as she began to sleep talk.

"Sei's... so soft..." she said before she loosened up her grip to the bear. Causing Sei to continue blushing like red tomato. And just as he thought that he finally felt better now that their bodies were no longer in contact, his line of sight fell on her red kissable lips and he felt extremely hot again.

He reflexively covered his mouth with the back of his hand as he stood and stepped back. As though, red lights of warning all lit up at once.

...

Zaki who couldn't sleep anymore finally stepped out the room and to his surprise, Sei was there standing like a statue and leaning on their bedroom's door. And looking at him, Zaki just couldn't help but smile mischievously.

'Er... what's this? Fufu, I bet he's struggling. Pfft!' he said within him as he walked towards Sei with his usual mischievous grin on his face.

"Didn't I tell you to go back and sleep?" Zaki said with taunting voice, causing Sei to just throw a glance at him.

That moment, looking at the traces of sweat on his forehead, Zaki giggled as though he was so amused to the core. He then sidled towards Sei as he spoke.

"Did you finally realize how hard it is to hold back? You thought it's easy, right? Haha. Not easy, right? I wonder how long you last though. Pfft!" he shamelessly said, causing Sei to just looked at him with his usual unaffected expression.

"It's strange, I didn't feel like this before." Sei said and Zaki just leaned on the wall as well.

"Well, didn't this started that night she French kiss you? Hmm. Or maybe its because you finally started opening up. And I think because you finally told her your feelings and she too told you hers so I think that's the reason. Maybe you're unconsciously restraining yourself too much before. But oh well, that's not important anymore Sei. What you should be thinking right now was the fact that you're finally turning like this, a normal man. Pfft!" Zaki said as he chuckled again.

"Let's go." Sei just said as he brushed off him.

"Fufu. Are you finally turning so damn impatient? You realize you can't last long anymore?"Zaki spoke again mischievously like a child taunting his friend as he continued talking while following Sei who just remained quiet.

"Fufu, well, that's a good thing though. But the shops are still closed this hour. Wait, there are 24hours shop in Blue city. Anyway, what kind of ring do you want? There are lots of rings in this world you know...?"