ILY Monster 243

In the master's bedroom.

The couple were already lying in the bed. Davi was thinking about the next seduction move. However, for some reason, there's something that seemed to be quite unusual with Sei. He used to be unmoving like stone the moment he lies but now, he seemed to be uncomfortable. He kept moving that Davi couldn't help but get distracted setting herself in her mission mode.

Davi was actually thinking about the seductive massage 101 that Hinari listed for her. She thought it was the best thing she could do to test Sei's reaction when she touches him. However, the man was acting strange. He was almost at the edge of the bed, obviously keeping distance away from her as he continued moving, facing towards the lamp.

Observing him, Davi hesitated in executing her plan. She fought with herself whether it's the right time or not and she kept remembering what Hinari advised her.

'The atmosphere and the situation is vital, so make sure to consider the mood. If you think it's the perfect time, then don't hesitate and just go for it.'

Davi spent another five minutes making a decision. She turned towards him for the last time before she decides but her brows slowly creased the longer she observe him kept moving constantly as if he was having a hard time staying still.

Looking at him, Davi slowly went worried.

"Sei? Are you okay?" She then asked. Both of the lamps on the bed side were still lit and Sei didn't replaced his mask yet so Davi rose as she moved closer to him. She touched his arm to make him turn towards her.

"I'm alright." Sei replied as he looks at her. However, for some reason, Davi still felt uneasy.

"You seemed uncomfortable. Are you feeling something disturbing? Do you feel unwell?" Davi asked again. Her face was worried and Sei was about to insist that he's fine when he remembered her getting angry at him for not telling her that he's wounded.

Sei also couldn't bear lying to her again so he rose and he finally spoke.

"I think I ate too much. My stomach felt uncomfortable." He said as he rubbed the back of his neck and Davi's eyes turned wide.

She bit her lip, realizing that she fed him too much and now he might be suffering indigestion.

"I'm sorry. I..." Davi uttered when Sei cut through her words.

"It's fine. This is just stomach upset. This will go away after a while." He said and the moment Davi heard the words 'upset stomach' she immediately remembered her grandmother teaching her the technique of massage for upset stomach. Her grandmother actually taught her well because her little brother, Haru, was always suffering indigestion when he was young. That was why, somehow, Davi mastered the said technique.

Davi then looked at Sei with such confidence as she speaks.

"I know a great remedy to relieve you." She said, looking enthusiastic and Sei curiously looked at her. The girl suddenly jumped out of the bed and after a while, she returned with a towel and a bottle of mustard oil in her hands.

"Let me massage your stomach. I'm really good with it." She said as she sat and before Sei could even talk, Davi continued talking.

"I learned this massage therapy from my grandmother so I'm really skilled." She said as she kneeled. She held his shoulders and then she gently pushed him down.

"You need to lie down so we can start now. This is partly my fault for feeding you too much so let me do something to help you, okay?" She continued and Sei who was now laid by her remained speechless.

Without wasting any time, Davi immediately put an oil in her hands and she rubbed them to make her palms warm. Sei just watched her quietly, anticipating what she was about to do next.

However, the next thing Davi did made his senses went into chaos.

Davi kneeled and she arched towards him and without any warning, she started unbuttoning his pajama top. The girl's face was so close to him as she continued undoing the button slowly. Please visit freewebnovel. com

That moment, Sei immediately felt like his upset stomach worsened. He felt like every button she took off were like ball of fire that was slowly adding warmth in his body. Sei suddenly felt like time was slowing down and his heart started beating fast.

Until finally, Davi reached the last button and the moment Sei's body appeared before her eyes, blood almost gushed out from her nose. Well, anyone could already tell that Sei's body is perfect just by looking at his physique, however, looking at his perfectly chiseled body this close and those mouthwatering abs of his almost knocked her senseless. Davi never saw a man's body more gorgeous than his, she could even swear that her husband's body was much better than the ones she saw in magazines. He was really like an imaginary character too perfect to be be true.

Reflexively, Davi couldn't help but bit her lip. She struggled dragging her knocked out senses to wake up again until Sei suddenly lifted his hand.

Davi's extreme focus on his sexy body was broken as her sight followed his hand. The man landed the back of his hand on top of his mask as he quietly inhaled as though he finally relaxed a bit.

Seeing this, Davi finally snapped. She thought that he might be feeling worse now so she hastily rubbed her palms again.

Sei on the other hand was feeling quite troubled. Well, he didn't expect that by just a simple undressing like that was already considered too much for him. He felt like his breathing was also affected and he have no idea on how to deal with everything that was happening to his body that he could only hold his breath. That was why, he couldn't help but heaved a deep breath the moment she finished unbuttoning his shirt. He was trying to calm his breathing and act normally. He didn't want her to notice him acting weird.

However, the next moment, something beyond his expectation occurred.

The instant his wife hands slowly landed on his stomach like gentle fire appearing out of nowhere, a catastrophic meteor seemed to suddenly fell.
