

ILY Monster 259

As the strip tease goes on. Both of them were now red like some over ripe tomatoes.

Davi started removing her short and as it fell on the floor and Sei couldn't help but gulp.

The girl was biting her lip while the man just sat there, unmoving, with a mouth slightly opened, watching her.

After a few moments, following the advice her friend gave her, Davi let down her hair and her long black hair cascaded on her shoulders covering half of her breasts. That sight of her was so breathtaking Sei reflexively bit his lip.

She then turned back and unclasped her bra. But because of their cuffed hands, the bra didn't fall on the floor. As per Hinari's advice, Davi then turned back around covering her breasts with her hands.

That moment she turned, Sei's spirit almost left him. He gasped in awe and all he wanted was to pull her towards him and kiss her all over. His desire, seeing her like this was stronger than ever he couldn't even control his own brain anymore. His eyes were brimming with desire and marvel, looking at her as though he's saying the words 'god, my wife is so beautiful'.

Just as the last string of his rationality was about to snap, the girl talked.

"S-sei. Uhm... I-isn't this enough?" she uttered. Her voice stammering and she's clearly embarrassed to the core. Well, she prepared herself for this before, however, now that it was happening, she realized that this kind of thing takes a courage beyond measure to execute. She was naïve to think that she can do it all the way in one go.

Gladly, her voice instantly reached the man's ears and the fog of desire that was clouding his every senses somehow started to subside. He looked at her eyes and the moment he realized how embarrassed she looked, his conscience began to sternly scold him. He can't deny that he wanted her to keep going and he was shocked by it himself. But realizing that what she did wasn't easy for her, he couldn't bear seeing her being uncomfortable, he never wanted to force her to do the things she didn't find comfortable after all.

Thus, the next moment, Sei stood and he took her bra hanging on the cuff's chain and quietly helped her wore it. After that, he also helped her wear her oversized t-shirt, and then her short.

Davi just stood there, letting her husband dressed her.

"T-thank you. I'm sorry, even though I promised to do it." She then uttered softly as she was still blazing red.

Sei on the other hand remained silent for a while and he just kissed her forehead gently.

"No, don't say sorry. You fulfilled your promise. That's enough for me." He said and Davi buried herself into his embrace.

"Shall we sleep now?" she asked and Sei nodded.

"Mm. I'll just have a shower---" Sei paused in the middle of his statement. It was because he realized that they were still cuffed. He looked at his wife and she seemed to already understand the situation since she was already blushing hard just like him.

The two of them never changed clothes since they were cuffed this morning. They also spent the day doing all sort of chores and they felt somewhat sticky with the sweats.

Thus, realizing that there's no other choice, the couple finally stepped inside the bathroom. Davi cut Sei's sweatshirt using a scissor to remove it and the man also did the same to her t-shirt.

Sei was about to pull his trousers down when Davi spoke.

"Wait! Are you really going to shower with me completely naked?!" she exclaimed and Sei looked at her cluelessly.

"Y-you don't want to see me naked?" he asked and Davi covered her face with her hands.

'God, this shameless Sei is too much... bring back my innocent Sei!' she could only yell within her. She couldn't help but think that since their first night, Sei seemed to immediately graduated from being innocent.

She then took the handheld shower head and pointed it on his face, wetting him as she pouted.

"Shameless Sei." She uttered.

Davi was still wearing her short and her bra while Sei was half naked. His chiseled perfect body covered with the drops of water almost made Davi drool due to his mouth watering physique and she could only turned her back.

"L-let's bath like this." She said and she started wetting her body as if she was in a haste.

Noticing that Sei didn't move, Davi looked at him.

"What. Don't tell me you want me to bath you." She said jokingly when the man suddenly bent his body as if asking her to wash his hair. Davi was speechless for a while, but in the end she couldn't resist him at all.

"Okay then, sit." She ordered and the man sat at the edge of the tub. Davi then put a shampoo in her hand and she began rubbing his hair gently. She put plenty amount of shampoo as she enjoyed rubbing his hair until Sei's head almost became a mountain of fluffy white clouds.

Looking at him, Davi couldn't help but chuckle with the sexy man's cuteness. She continued playing with his hair until Sei told her that he will wash her hair as well.

Until time passed and the couple enjoying their bath together happily suddenly fell on the floor. Davi slipped just after they rinsed themselves. Thankfully, Sei manage to caught her before the fall and prevent her head from bumping on the floor.

"Are you okay?" he immediately asked but Davi who was stunned just blinked the moment their eyes met.

Sei also realized just how close they were, and that he was on top of her. That moment, their eyes locked and a certain part of his body who was hard for a long time now throbbbed and the girl obviously felt it touching her.

Their faces slowly turned scartlet and before they knew it, they were already kissing hard and deep as the drops of water kept falling on them.

"S-sei." She moaned the moment their lips parted but the man continued kissing her. The fire enveloping them seemed to be hot enough that they almost forget about the water falling on them.

Until the two of them were finally naked.

Sei carried her and gently put her down on the bed before he kissed her deep again.

"Sei... can we turn off the light? I... I want to touch your face." She uttered and Sei immediately did what she asked. He hastily turned the light off before he removed his mask.

Davi then caressed his face as though she was trying to memorize and visualize the appearance of the man in her arms.

"When I come back, you can finally see my face. I promise." He said and Davi's heart almost explode like a firework.

"Mm. I will wait." She uttered and Sei delved deeper in her mouth.

"Davi... if I'm not being gentle again, please hit me." He said in a hoarse voice as he pants and Davi chuckled briefly.

"Mm." she uttered and they both slowly drifted once again into a heavenly place of desire and pleasure.