

ILY Monster 281

Series of events passed and the time for Little Shin to shine has finally arrive. The gorgeous masked young man went to the stage to play a piano piece and Sei heaved a sigh of relief. Well, it was because his son monopolized his wife the entire time and he was treated like some body guard on the sideline.

At last, he could be with her alone. Sei was very careful, he didn't want to do anything that could disrupt her current pleasant mood. She was seated just beside him but the girl's attention was completely focused to the young man on stage. Her eyes were locked onto him that she almost didn't blink at all. She was practically afraid to even blink for fear that the little boy might vanished once her eyes flickers.

That instant, Sei was trying to grab her attention. He called out her name but the girl seemed to have placed an invisible barrier around her as if telling him the words, 'Please don't disturb me. My dear son was about to start playing the piano. I want to give him the 100% of my attention.' Making Sei felt a bit dejected once again.

And the moment Little Shin started playing, Davi became immersed in her own world as if she and her son were the only ones in the world obliterating everyone. As the melody drifted in the room, her eyes started brimming with happiness and at the same time throwing him loving gazes as she cheered him on inwardly. She had not felt happiness since five years ago that a little anxiousness was also visible in her eyes

Sei rested his face onto his knuckles as his gaze were glued onto her. The longer he watched her the more his desire to hold her became stronger. He badly wanted to be intimate with her again, kiss those lips again, hold her hands and embrace her just like the way they were five years ago.

The song little Shin was playing was Liebesleid's love sorrow and it made everyone in the hall felt emotional and at the same time bewildered with this genius talent at such a young age.

Davi in her heart began to feel the emotion of the song. She knew it was exactly the feeling she was experiencing right now, the so called love's sorrow. Her heart was bouncing with happiness but at the same time, sorrow seemed to be stuck in her heart.

However, as she continued listening to the song her son was playing, the pain and sorrow in her heart was being mended slowly by the warmth and love he was trying to convey. It was as if he was playing that particular song to free the anguish and emptiness they all felt because of their separation for a long time, and she couldn't help but held her breath.

In a flash, Sei noticed the blazing emotion from her. He could see her holding her breath, causing Sei to instinctively move and hold her hand. Sei hesitated a bit, checking Davi's reaction but he didn't withdraw his hand. Instead, he pressed her hand, conveying her that everything will be alright and to his delight, his wife also gripped his hand.

Even though Davi was still engrossed with her son and might be unaware that she's actually holding Sei's hand, Sei's heart is still doing the somersault. He finally held her hand again, His love within his grasp after all these long agonizing years. And what surprised him was that, he still actually felt the same way as he did five years ago, that her every simple touch literally put his heart into chaos.

With their palms embracing each other's, Sei's heart was jumping with happiness and his world seemed to finally brighten again. His eyes were glimmering with intense emotion as if saying the words, 'Ahh... It's been five years when I last felt like these.'

In Sei's inner world, the only one in his eyes was only her. But his blissful moment ended when Davi pulled her hand from him and she began to clap. Pride and happiness were flooding her eyes. He could tell she was really happy even though she wasn't smiling.

Just then, Sei immediately recovered. However, the next thing that happened made his cool gone disarrayed. It was because as soon as Little Shin approached them, while the crowd was still clapping incessantly, full of admiration, the young man reached out a single red rose towards his mother.

Sei's eyes bulged. But the show didn't end there. As soon as Davi took the rose from his hand, the little man stepped closer to her, uttered the words "I love you, mommy" before he gave a peck on her cheek.

Like a flash of lightning, Sei's world seemed to halt in place. He couldn't believe what was happening.

W-when did Little Shin planned all this? Is he purposely doing this to compete with me or something?
