

ILY Monster 292

Sei felt like he's in heaven. They have been kissing for a while now but Sei can't seem to stop himself. He felt like he was drugged by the warmth of her lips and the sweet taste of her mouth. The world was shining so bright and he felt his heart turned as soft as marshmallow. He felt it bouncing with happiness and he can't seem to get enough of her, he was insatiable.

Matching the speed of light, Sei was already pinning her down on the couch. He desired her so much. He just can't get enough of her. She was like a potion so irresistible that there seem to be no antidote. His brain was so full of her and he couldn't think about anything else.

His hand crawled around her back as he kissed her while his other hand was on her hair. He had forgotten time itself and he held her as if they were never separated. He felt that the day he told her to wait for him five years ago, seems just like yesterday.

Everything was just so magical.

However, Davi's eyes opened the moment she felt Sei's body pressing into hers. It was then that she realized that she was already pinned down on the couch. Her brain that was drifting in fluffy white space for a while now was somehow awakened by the scorching heat of Sei's body, consuming her. Sei's lips then left hers and he swiftly buried his face on her neck. Davi moaned as his lips slither on her nape. She gasped and her fingers tugged his hair.

"S-seiii... Uhm... Sei... wait." Davi uttered but Sei didn't stop. However, the third time she called out his name Sei manage to snap due to her voice and her hands tugging his hair hard. He raised his head and looked at her. Puffs of warm air were leaving their mouths as they both stared at each other.

"Uhm... that... we're in the living room." Davi said. Her face was red as her eyes wandered around. She was obviously flustered and yet Sei seemed to be oblivious as his eyes were filled with overflowing desire.

"It's okay, no one's here." He replied and Davi was shocked. She looked at him and he was about to kiss her again when Davi caught his face.

"But... still... this is the living room, someone might---" Sei held her hands away and cut her words with a kiss, causing Davi's eyes to dilate.

"Don't worry, if someone comes I'll make sure they won't see any part of you." He assured and Davi's face burned. She swiftly raised her hands and covered her face before Sei could kiss her again. She couldn't believe what Sei just said.

She was speechless. She expected him to at least felt a bit embarrassed. She thought that he might have just lost his control in the heat of passion but he's actually aware that they're in the living room and yet he was doing this? It was unbelievable for Davi, and as she looked at his face that was so calm despite the kind of words he's spouting, she couldn't help but bit her lip. How could this man have turned like this? How many level did this shameless Sei accelerated?!

She was already overwhelmed with the way Sei kisses her. And now he's assailing her relentlessly like he was someone so shameless from the very start. In her current state, Davi could tell that she's no match against this upgraded version of him right now. She just felt like she couldn't handle him at all. Well, Davi's romantic power and knowledge had come into a complete standstill the moment she left five years ago. And during those years, she never once thought about romance or anything related to it. That was why, in romance aspect, Davi stagnated. She is coming up from where she had been five years ago.

"S-sei. You... you really have gone from shameless... you've gone to super shameless now. You're not adorable anymore." Davi couldn't help but complain. She didn't remove her hands on her face while Sei just blinked. However, the next moment, his expression darkened when he realized that she was flustered and embarrassed. He construed that she seemed not yet ready and he understood her.

"I'm sorry. I thought you're ready and... I... I'm sorry, I'm too impatient..." Sei said. His voice was saddened as he immediately pulled away from her when Davi suddenly rose and spoke.

"No, I-it's not like that. I didn't say I don't like it, I want you, it's just that we're in this..." Davi paused and her face went even redder. She didn't know how she manage to just blurted out those words like that.

Sei who just ran his fingers through his hair also stopped the moment he heard her say 'I want you'. He returned his gaze to her and Davi who expected him to freeze but didn't was dumbfounded. It was because Sei suddenly showed her again that sexy killer smile, effortlessly throwing invisible arrows straight to her heart. He wasn't fazed by things and words like this anymore. Instead, of blushing, he was now showing his happiness and joy so blatantly.

"..." Davi was speechless, and yet Sei moved casually towards her. He didn't say a word but the look in his eyes became just so arousing. Causing Davi to fall in daze that before she realized it, Sei already swooped her in his arms.

"I'm sorry, I failed to realized that it's not comfortable for you here."

"A-are you saying, you're comfortable here?"

"As long as no one's around but us, and I forgot everything so---" Google search free web novel. com

"Sei... you really are so shameless now."

"You don't like me being like this?"

"Uh... i... I prefer the moderately shameless Sei. This version of you might give me a heart attack if you continue being like this."

Sei paused just as he was about to step on the stairs as soon as he heard what Davi said. He was puzzled. Sei was about to ask what she meant by 'moderately shameless' when someone spoke from behind them.

"Big bro, I'm ho..." The pink-haired young man stood still as soon as he saw a woman in Sei's arms.