

ILY Monster 347

Upon Hinari and Zaki entering the office, Sei's voice immediately rang.

"Zaki... come take over and continue from here." Sei said and Zaki could only walk towards him lazily.

"Why don't you call the other four?" He complained but Sei looked at him with a deadly gaze.

"You're two times faster than them so don't complain and just do it." Sei said, obviously being impatient about something.

Looking at how dead serious Sei was, Zaki couldn't help but heave a deep sigh.

"Won't you even hide your eagerness to go home? Your workaholic self suddenly disappeared from existence now, huh." Zaki uttered as he picked up the documents left on the desk and Sei just replied him with a "Shut up and just start!", causing Zaki to sigh again.

He was about to begin when Davi suddenly spoke.

"Sei, I want to have a look around the building while waiting." Davi said and Sei immediately agreed. He called Kir to give them a tour around and when the three of them left the room, Sei and Zaki instantly began working like they were being chased by jungle beasts. Of course, Zaki was able to catch up with Sei's pace easily and after several minutes, Zaki finally leaned on Sei's desk, indicating that the chase is finally over. Zaki was already done but Sei still needed to finalize something so he was still focused on his laptop.

"Anyway Sei, what are you planning to do with Lin Jingyi?" Zaki suddenly asked when Sei simply glanced at him without any interest in his eyes.

"Regardless of the reason, she needs to be punished. I was very disappointed with her performance today." Sei casually answered while his gaze was still glued onto the laptop's screen, when Zaki asked again.

"Sigh... Sei, you really didn't notice anything?" Zaki uttered and Sei finally looked at him but with creased brows.

"About Lin Jingyi... why do you think it was always her who reported to you, even the ones that were supposed to be the reports of the other four? Actually, people here think that you favored her." He continued but when Sei just looked at him with his 'i have no idea what are you talking about' look, Zaki could only take a deep breath as he bent and put his palms on the desk.

"Didn't you notice something about your wife the moment we got here?" Zaki continued asking and Sei's expression finally changed.

"Of course, she's my wife, how could I not notice?" He immediately replied and Zaki could only face palm himself inside his mind. In short, you only care about your wife and she's the only one you notice, huh...

"She's not your legal wife now though." Zaki teased and as expected, Sei's face drastically darkened. As if he was about to choke Zaki to death if he dare say those words again.

"Anyway, you said you noticed something, what was it?" Zaki asked, trying to soothe Sei's darkened atmosphere. However, the man didn't answer Zaki's question.

"She said she wanted to speak about something when we get home." Sei simply replied and Zaki was surprised. Is Miss Davi planning to tell Sei what she thinks about Lin Jingyi? Will she tell him, she's jealous or something?

"Oh, I see. I think you should also tell her about that thing you noticed." Zaki advised out of a whim and Sei glanced at him before he nodded.

"Mm." He replied seriously and Zaki could only smile. Well, Zaki realized that the reason why Davi and Sei's relationship is unbreakable was because of their trust and honesty to each other. They tell each other everything and that's what makes them impenetrable and invincible.

Meanwhile, the three people Kir was touring around ended up going directly into the car that was parked waiting for them, and of course, it was because of Hinari.

Hinari was too excited to speak with Davi about all the things that had happened since Zaki didn't even say a word to her. However, because Little Shin was in Davi's arms, Hinari could only bite her lip hard and suppress herself until they finally entered the car.

"Uhm... Little Shin, can I speak with your mom for a while outside? I have something important to discuss with her." Hinari who was at the edge of her impatience finally spoke to the little boss.

Upon hearing his aunt's plea, Little Shin looked at his mother for a long while before he returned his gaze to Hinari.

"Mm... okay. I will stay here with uncle Kir." The understanding Little Shin agreed and Hinari almost jumped with happiness. She immediately searched for something inside her bag and in no time, a thick book was now in her hand.

"Because Little Shin is super nice, here's my gift for you. Tadah!" Hinari gave him a sci-fi book she knew little Shin would love. Well, she knew about Little Shin's love for reading and the book was indeed a successful trap because Little Shin's eyes sparkled as soon as he saw it.

"I will borrow your mommy for an hour okay?" Hinari said and little Shin blinked.

"An hour?" he replied hesitantly and as soon as Hinari saw the hesitation in his eyes, Hinari immediately coax the little boss.

"It's alright, we will come back as soon as possible. We can't talk properly if we stay outside so we have to go somewhere that is convenient. Don't worry, your daddy will be done in about an hour as well so you can read for an hour too. After that we can all go back home." She reasoned out and after thinking for a while, Little Shin finally agreed. Although, he was still obviously hesitant to let go of his mother.

"Okay, take care of mommy, okay?" Little Shin said and Hinari nodded like a rattle.

Don't worry little boss. Your mommy is a badass now anyway. I don't even need to protect her...

After kissing Little Shin's forehead, Davi and Hinari finally stepped out of the car and Ryou was the one who drove for them.

"Where are we heading?" Ryou asked and Hinari immediately replied.

"To the nearest bar."

B-bar? Eh?!
