

ILY Monster 350

Sei was stunned at the scene that appeared before him while Ryou, who looked like he was being chased by monstrous creatures, ran for his life as if he didn't care if he crashed into Sei. His fear of his boss' wife was way greater than his fear of his Boss at that particular moment. So he ran, hoping to find cover behind his boss, while shouting for help, not knowing that Davi had already stopped.

Ryou was running so fast that he could not have stopped himself from crashing into big boss man, but in that split second, Sei simply dodged the desperate Ryou as his gaze remained focused on his wife, causing Ryou to crash into the car instead.

Davi, at that moment, stood rooted in place while Sei's eyes glimmered with something inexplicable as he looked at the girl standing away from him. She was as beautiful as ever even though she looked like she was possessed by a certain spirit. As if she was a dangerously beautiful guardian of a serene forest. Looking like she will devour anyone who would dare go beyond the boundary.

Her narrowed eyes were flashing with a little hint of madness as her long black hair danced in the wind like light black silk. She was just so alluringly mystical, as if she was someone who had suddenly teleported from the world of fairytales.

Everyone might feel a chilling sensation looking at her at that moment and some may even tremble in fear, but not Sei.

Sei was completely mesmerized by her.

However, the moment he took a single step towards her, his face stiffened with great shock. It was because Davi suddenly took a step back as soon as Sei moved. She was like a mythical beast, wary before the presence of an even more powerful beast in front of her. She was the queen of the jungle before this godly being showed up.

Her stance changed, indicating to Sei that she was being overly cautious of him; a movement that was like a series of thunder bolts that shook Sei's world. I-is my wife afraid of me?!

Davi that moment, was still feeling the burning sensation in her body. She felt like her body was flying with the wind and there was nothing but thick haze in her mind. But she could feel a strong, extremely dangerous yet familiar presence sending her signals of danger, causing her instincts to act accordingly.

Her blurry gaze couldn't recognize the man standing ten steps away from her, but his aura was just like of a powerful monster she couldn't possibly beat. Her innate instincts were telling her that it was impossible for her to beat this monster which made her instinctively step back the moment he moved towards her.

However, for some reason, what she felt wasn't seemed to be fear. She also felt something warm coming from him and it was targeted at her heart, as if he was a monster alluring her with his hypnotic aura, calling out for her to stay still and let him devour her whole. He seemed to be powerful enough that Davi who was trained to attack no matter how strong the opponent was without fear, seemed to refuse even the command of her reflexes to attack.

"Davi..."

After a long while of silence, Sei finally called out her name. He couldn't bear seeing her being wary of him, like she was afraid of him, even if he knew it was because she was in such a state.

Thus, Sei called out her name in the sweetest voice anyone had ever heard him use. He slowly reached out his hand towards her once again as he uttered her name softly, like he was chanting a song.

"Davi... it's me, come over. Everything is alright now." He said slowly and gently.

The scenario at that moment was exactly like a beast tamer was trying to tame a certain feral beast with all the softness and sweetness he could muster. He was moving slowly and deliberately, trying so hard not to scare her. .Google search free web novel. com

Sei looked like he was extremely anxious, as though he was afraid that she would run away and disappear into the forest.

However, the girl didn't move. Her eyelashes slowly opened and closed as though she was having a hard time keeping her eyes open.

After another while of silence, Sei spoke again as he slowly moved his feet forward, doing his best not to make her notice his advance as he continued calling out her name.

As Sei moved closer, inch by inch, his brain was already trying to come up with a solution, when a certain word popped in his brain. He remembered that when she called him that he had felt like million arrows pierced through his heart, blocking all his senses for a moment. If i will call her that, would she react the same as i did? Will it affect her as much as it affected me?

Thinking about it, Sei thought about saying it and if she fall in daze and lowered her guard even for a second, he would move to catch her. Well, Sei was getting impatient. He wanted to hold her now, embrace her and sooth whatever it was that she was feeling right now. He wanted to extinguish the wariness from her eyes and turn her to her usual self again.

He knew that she was acting on instinct and he understood why she was acting like this because he had already been informed about everything that she had gone through this whole five years. He knew this would take a toll on her body and mind so he needed to stop her now so she could rest.

After taking a deep breath, Sei once again raised his hand as he prepared himself to move and catch her.

He smiled sweetly as ever, and his eyes shone like sparkling diamonds full of love as he spoke gently.

"Davi... Darling... come over."
