

ILY Monster 354

Sei's lips were like snowflakes melting onto Davi's mouth. The sensation it gave her was so alluringly irresistible, that even in her drunken state, his kisses were like hypnotic potions. It was something impossible for her to reject no matter what state she was in.

Their kiss was deep and passionate even though Davi's response was sloppy. Sei let himself get lost in the warmth of her mouth until they both ran out of breath.

As their lips parted, Sei gently gazed at her and his heart was soothed when Davi finally stopped crying out loud. She was still sniffing but the endless flow of tears that were like a dam of water gushing out of her eyes had finally stopped.

"Darling... it stopped. You're amazing!" She suddenly exclaimed with a glint of amazement in her eyes as if a miracle just happened, startling Sei who was still in a daze due to the kiss and because of those watery eyes of hers that were like shining dewdrops, mesmerizing him.

"Mm. It looks like a kiss is way more effective than coaxing you with words and hugs." Sei replied as he smiled before he gently wiped the remnants of tears from her face, while Davi just looked at him as she continued sniffing.

When Davi remained silent, Sei once again spoke. "Did you like it?" he asked playfully to distract her for fear that she might cry again, not expecting a reply from her.

However, what Davi said the next moment was something unexpected and somehow, lethal to Sei's heart.

"Mm. I liked it. Darling tasted sooo sooo sweet." She said and Sei fell in daze again, this time, longer than three seconds.

"Darling... I... I want more, I want to eat you." She continued as she raised her hands and wrapped them around his neck while looking at him like he was her favourite strawberry ice cream cake. Her watery eyes glimmered as she looked like she was about to drool over a certain extremely delicious food in front of her.

That moment, Sei was losing his mind. He wanted to yank her and just kiss her again so bad. She just looked so seductive that Sei couldn't help but want to just swoop her up and teleport them anywhere with a bed.

Gladly, Sei was still able to think straight again so he moved and carefully swooped her up in his arms.

"You can eat me whenever you want but... wait until you're sober, okay?" He said as he walked towards the car when Davi violently shook her head.

"But I'm sober now... look, I also stopped crying... Darling... I don't want to wait anymore." She replied and Sei again stiffened. His Adam's apple bobbed up and down as he bit his lip hard.

He cleared his throat as his steps went faster as Ryou opened the car's door for him. Noticing that Sei seemed to be in extreme haste, Ryou hurriedly went to the driver's side of the car and started it up. Sei set Davi gently in the back seat of the car and he followed her in, closing the door after him. As soon as the door closed, Ryou immediately stepped on the gas to drive them home.

"Wait until we get home, okay?" Sei said gently. However, As soon as she heard him said the word 'wait', Davi pouted in disappointment and she looked like she was about to cry again, causing Sei to panic.

By the time the car disappeared, Hinari who was standing just beside the other car that Sei and Zaki arrived in, finally heaved a long sigh of relief. She felt like she could finally breathe again as if she was finally back to the beloved planet earth after a long time in outer space.

However, just as she was about to relax, she suddenly felt a tingling sensation on her back, like someone was trying to create holes in her with their laser eyes. She somehow could tell where these were coming from so she turned around and her eyes widened as soon as she saw Zaki heading towards her in long, forceful strides.

Upon seeing his cold expression as he strode quickly towards her, Hinari's heartbeat raced as if a beast was about to eat her and the first thing she did was took a step back.

Panicking, Hinari quickly opened the car and jumped into the back seat and locked both the back doors in haste, leaving Zaki speechless as he put his hands on his waist. Well, Zaki was actually quite surprised on how fast Hinari reacted this time. She actually manage to enter the car that quick before he reached her? Did she mistook him as Sei or what for her to act like that?

Somehow, Zaki was a bit confused. After all, Hinari was never afraid of him before. She didn't seem to have any sense of fear towards him even when he's angry, so what's with her reaction just now? Is she that afraid to receive another punishment?

Thinking about Hinari's rare reaction, Zaki slammed his palms on top of the car with a meaningful smile flashing across his beautiful face.

Well, even if she begs, there was no way he would let his little miss pervert get away from throwing her fiance into the wolves, scott-free. He had to teach her a lesson or else, she might just kept doing this again. Moreover, who knows what will she do next if he kept being lenient of her?

After Zaki breathed deep, he bent and looked at the tinted window glass with a serious expression. He looked like he could see Hinari and his eyes were narrowed like a cat's.

"Well, my dear fiancée, are you satisfied with yourself? Did you want a new fiance that badly that you would have me die at your best friend's hands?" Zaki said loudly for her to hear him loud and clear, startling Hinari as she turned at the man looking at her across the window.
