

ILY Monster 358

The next morning...

Davi awakened with another hangover. However, because Hinari was there to take care of her, Davi recovered quickly. Little Shin already went to school so after Davi took a shower, Hinari immediately took her to the dining room to eat.

"Do you feel better now?" Hinari asked and Davi nodded.

"Mm. The tea you made is effective. My hangover seemed completely gone." She replied and Hinari heaved a sigh of relief.

"Anyway Davi... do you remember what happened last night?" Hinari asked and Davi just blinked before she began to try recalling the things that happened. However, the only thing Davi remember was the events before she passed out inside the bar.

"I passed out, right? I can't remember anything after that. Did something happen? Did I do something wrong?" Davi was starting to be curious when Hinari just smiled, as the words 'as expected, she doesn't remember a thing' were flashing across her eyes. Hinari was almost tempted to tell her how cool she was last night and that she had also cried but oh well, she will let her husband decide if he tells her about what happened or not. After all, Hinari was restricted to speak much and do much from now on.

"Mm. Well yeah. You indeed passed out. But your husband was the one who brought you home so, it's better if you will ask him about it." Hinari replied and Davi just agreed. However, the next moment, Davi raised her head again as she looked around.

"Speaking of Sei, where is he? Did he already go to work?" Davi asked and Hinari coughed a little. Hinari was planning to tell her about it after she finish her breakfast but it looks like she has to tell her now.

"Err... actually... your husband is sick." Hinari answered and Davi stood noisily as her eyes widened.

"Why? Where is he?!" She exclaimed but before Hinari could answer her, a familiar deep voice had rung.

"I'm here..." He said and Davi immediately turned her head towards the source of the voice.

As soon as Davi saw her husband leaning on the door's frame with a messy hair and wearing sky blue pyjama, her heart skipped a beat. Well, this is the first time she saw her Sei wearing not a gray or black pyjama so she couldn't help but look at him with a mouth agape.

For a moment, Davi fell in dazed but she soon quickly moved her feet as soon as she recovered from his beauty attack.

"Sei... you're sick?! Are you alright now?" She said with a worried look while approaching him. And by the time she reached him, before could tell her that he's alright, Davi's palm was already on his forehead.

"Hey, you still have a fever! Let's go back to your bed." She continued as soon as she felt that his temperature was still normal. Davi held Sei's wrist to lead him back upstairs but Sei pulled her towards him instead.

"I'm fine now. This is just because of my allergy." He said as he hugged her and Davi's brows knotted.

"Allergy? Why? It's not rainy days yet, so how did you..."

"I accidentally showered with cold water last night."

"Huh? Accidentally? How could you even..."

"It's because my body is so hot that I failed to notice that the water was cold."

"..."

Somehow, Davi was starting to doubt Sei's words. Well, how could he even accidentally do something like that? He's not drunk last night, right? How could the Mighty Sei make such stupid mistake?

However, to her surprise, when Davi looked at him, she saw nothing but honesty in his eyes. Err... he's not actually kidding me?

"Why? Are you perhaps also drunk last night?"

"Mm. I think I was drunk. No... I was drugged by you."

"... Huh? Me? Wait... could it be that I did something bad to you last night?!"

"It's not something bad... you just did something naughty."

"N-naughty?"

"Mm. You called me darling then you bit me and licked me."

"...I... I bit you?!!!"

"Mm. You also provoked me. You told me you wanted to eat me."

"Until I lose control and when I stopped, you told me not to stop."

"...?!!!!!"

"And after that, you called me a pervert."

"What?!!!!!! I... I said that?!"

"After that, you fell asleep. And this happened..."

"..."

Davi was speechless and her face slowly went red as tomato. She again stared at Sei's eyes to confirm whether he's just joking but to her dismay, he was not lying at all. Moreover, as Sei was saying those words, fragment of memories about those were appearing in her mind and she couldn't help but cover her face due to embarrassment.

S-sei... m-must you really need to remind me those embarrassing things? Is this your way to punish me or something?

"I... I am drunk and I don't remember what I did so... just forget about those, okay? A-anyway, let's go back upstairs. You have to rest. Let's go." Davi tried changing the topic quickly as she started to pull Sei when the man didn't budge.

"Davi... why did you drink last night? Is... is it because of Lin Jingyi?" Sei suddenly asked and Davi blinked as she looked at him with a confused and surprised look.

"I'm sorry, i didn't have an idea about her motives." He continued and Davi could only fall speechless.

Sei actually asked Hinari why Davi drink last night and it was Zaki who immediately answered him. He told him that Davi was jealous towards Lin Jingyi and that was the reason why she got drunk. Zaki also spilled the beans about Lin Jingyi's fantasy about him and that his obliviousness was one of the root of the problem. Because of that, Sei who was sick was restless the whole night, feeling like he needed to speak with his wife about it as soon as possible.

"Davi... I... promise, this will not happen again. I already sent her back to Country H and i won't hire any female secretary from now on." Sei said. His eyes was firm and serious as if he was declaring a new law and Davi couldn't help but want to tear up. She could see the emotion in Sei's eyes and her heart was being softened to the core that it almost melted into liquid.

That moment, Davi stepped closer to Sei and she reached out her hand before caressing Sei's hair.

"What should i do? My husband is really so adorably sweet right now." She said as her eyes twinkled with happiness. Davi actually planned to talk about Lin Jingyi since she doesn't want her to stay by Sei's side anymore but who would have thought that Sei already dealt with her as soon as he heard that she's jealous? Must her Sei be this perfect?

"I will always trust you Sei. No matter what happened, you are mine. I will never let anyone take you away from me." Davi added and it was Sei's turn to widen his eyes with surprise.

However, before Sei could move or speak, Zaki suddenly spoke behind them.

"Sei... i'm sorry to interrupt but you need to know this. Our parents and your grandfather are coming."
